100,000 Men Try To Stem 50-Foot Waves In Serious Tokyo Flood

68 Dead, 66,000 Homeless After Typhoon
Biggest Danger To Come,
Japanese Red Cross Feeding 49,000

TOKYO, Sept. 1—(AP)—Dead and injured piled up today in Tokyo's flood-ravished area with 68 known dead, 223 injured and 50 missing in the Metropolitan area which includes Yokohama. Some 100,000 men worked feverishly to sandbag river levees against a repetition of flood which in 1947 drowned 2,000. Reports of property damage from wind and water mounted steadily after a typhoon that lashed the Tokyo Bay metropolitan area Wednesday night. The big blow left 66,000 homeless, verified figures from the National Rural Police showed.

Victims still were being pulled from shattered buildings when the flood toll started trickling in over partly-patched communications. Thirty-one drowned in a levee break that let the Waterosi River sweep through in the mountains northwest of Tokyo.

But the big danger was to come when the Tone River and other streams—swollen by 13 inches of rain in the mountains—raged down onto the Kanto Plain north of Tokyo.

Crest Not Reached

Waters of the Tone already lapped at the bridge of the main rail line. And the flood crest was yet to come.

The typhoon whipped Tokyo Bay into 50-foot waves with 100-mile winds.

In Tokyo alone, 49,000 persons were being fed and sheltered by the Japanese Red Cross and government agencies.

The storm did extensive damage to United States military installations housing areas and aircraft. Tokyo was littered with uprooted trees and debris.

Fifteen crew members were missing from a Japanese ship that grounded between Sendai and the northern tip of Honshu. Thirty-one others were rescued.

Britain To Get 962 Million In Marshall Aid

PARIS, Set. 1.— (AP).—The Council of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation approved Wednesday night a plan for distribution of about $3,670,000,000 in Marshall plan aid for 1949-50.

The plan was drawn up by Robert Marjolin, secretary-general of the O.E.E.C., and Baron Snoy of Belgium, at the request of the Council after the beneficiary countries had argued bitterly over their needs for additional allocations.

The Marjolin-Snoy plan will be submitted to the American Economic Co-operation Administration.

The plan calls for an allotment to Britain of $962,000,000. This is $118,000,000 more than originally allotted, but far less than the $1,518,000,000 deficit Britain estimated for herself.

Britain will accept the new figure, Sir Edmund Hall-Patch, his country's representative on the Council, said, although he had refused a previous allocation.

Reservations about accepting their shares were expressed by virtually all the speakers, except the Belgium representative. His country's allotment had been worked out several months ago.

Greece held her share should be increased, or that the present figure of $163,000,000 should not be reduced further. France also said she could stand no further cuts. Switzerland, although a member of the O.E.E.C., has never received dollar.

Report Progress In SIU Talks

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP)—Arthur McNamara, deputy minister of labor, said Wednesday that discussions with representatives "some progress" was made in of the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) on the lifting of its blockade in the United States against great lakes ships manned by members of the rival Canadian Seamen's Union.

Hal Banks, the SIU's Canadian director, met during the morning with Labor Minister Mitchell and later in the day with both the minister and Mr. MacNamara.

Reclining Nudes Upset Colonial Office Heads

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP) — The case of the reclining nudes intrigued the Colonial Office today.

It came to light when blueprints for the new Colonial Office site, opposite Westminster Abbey, disclosed what looked like two recumbent nude male figures over the doorway.

"The Secretary of State (Arthur Creech Jones) and I looked at the figures closely and we looked at each other closely," David Rees-Williams, Colonial Undersecretary told a luncheon yesterday.

"Then we gave the architect orders to either put the figures into alert postures or remove them. They have been removed."

Later Reese-Williams said he didn't object to nudes as such. But two large recumbent figures "reclining with their heads together and on their elbows" didn't seem appropriate over a government doorway.

Funeral To Be Friday For Crash Victims

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 1 (CP)—Funeral services for five members of a Seymour Township family killed Tuesday in a level crossing crash will be held Friday at the family home, five miles east of here.

Killed when a loaded CNR freight train struck their automobile were Kenneth Milne, 37; his wife, Mrs. Pauline Milne, 33; a daughter, Betty, eight, and Mrs. Milne's mother, Mrs. Nora Ingram, 62. A second child, 10, died in hospital here later.

Snow Near Lindsay

LINDSAY, Sept. 1—(CP)—Fall hasn't arrived officially yet but Don Shaw reported the first snow seen in this area Wednesday. He ran into a flurry while returning from a fishing trip from Four Mile Lake, 25 miles north of here. The snow melted at once after hitting the warm pavement.

Liquor Store Shelves Full But Britons Keep Money

LONDON, Sept. 1—(CP)—The shelves of British liquor stores are well stocked again. But there is no rush to buy.

High taxation is pricing the average man out of the market. The middle-class family no longer can afford to keep a bottle of brandy or port on the sideboard for use on festive occasions.

After the post-war shortages, bonded warehouses are releasing stocks of matured spirits in increasing quantities. Of the popular drinks, only Scotch whisky is still scarce.

Dealers are hard put to find storage space for the increased supplies.

The country is estimated to have 11,000,000 gallons of rum and 8,500,000 gallons of wine in store. That works out at about a quart per head for the entire country.

Gin, a pre-war favorite of the working classes, now sells for 32s. 6d. ($6.50) a bottle. Of that 25s. goes to the tax collector.

London newspapers, to make their readers even less happy about the high prices at home, have been playing up accounts of the good living of the Continent. In France, say these stories, you can get a bottle of fairly good wine for 1s. 8d.

Here in Britain, a bottle of wine of similar quality costs about 10 shillings ($2).

Visitors returning from the Continent also have their lament. British customs officials have no authority to let through a single bottle of liquor, even if it is uncorked.

THE TENTH ANNIVERSARY of the beginning of World War II was celebrated this week. It began on September 1, 1939, when Adolf Hitler sent the Wehrmacht rolling across the Polish border. This photo was taken in the Reichstag on that day, when Hitler, centre, announced that the "first shot had been fired by regular Polish soldiers" and that he had decided to send German divisions into Poland. At the same time, in the event that he should lose his life, he designated Hermann Goering (standing under swastika, at top) to succeed him. In this photo (right), a German motorized detachment rides through a Polish town, badly battered from repeated bombings by the then-powerful Luftwaffe.

Half-Ship Tries Voyage Around World

HALIFAX, Sept. 1 (CP) — A little half-ship, half-car, dubbed "half-safe," pushed out of Halifax harbor today, bound on the first lap of a twice-delayed, perilous round-the-world trip.

Captain and crew of the 24-foot war surplus amphibious jeep are Ben Carlin, 37-year-old Australian, former major in the Indian army, and his attractive wife, a Bostonian who had been working in a law office here for the last two months.

First intended stop is the Azores. If they make it, the two will head for North Africa, then cross-country to Indo-China and across the Pacific to Los Angeles. The objective: First around the world by land and sea in an amphibious craft.

Two RCAF men and a reporter maintained almost funeral silence as the "half-safe"—it's safe on land—pulled away from shore and disappeared into the fog—and into the unknown.

At its speed of somewhere between three and six knots, the sea-going jeep should reach the Azores in about three weeks, barring accidents.

A sail is rigged on the jeep and drop tanks for extra gas trailed behind in the wake.

Forecast Death Toll

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—The National Safety Council has forecast a probable death toll of 280 in Labor Day week-end traffic accidents throughout the United States. "If the normal pattern of traffic behavior prevails, we are afraid our forecast will be tragically accurate," the council said.

Berlin Capital of Hatred On 10th War Anniversary

BERLIN, Sept. 1—(AP)—Grass grows on some of the war ruins of Berlin, but this is a capital of world hatred. On the 10th anniversary of the bloodiest conflict in human history, which Adolf Hitler started and lost, people are trying fearfully to guess when the next war will break out. The Russians are just tapering off their summer military manoeuvres east of the Elbe. The Americans start a mock campaign with 110,000 troops in the west next week.

Germany, where the bloody conflict was spawned, today is a land divided.

This correspondent, arrived in Europe in the spring 10 years ago, when hopeful souls still talked of "peace in our time."

For the next six years millions of men fought with the most destructive weapons the world has ever known.

As the holocaust spread over the land, an estimated total of 22,060,000 persons perished. Another 34,000,000 were wounded and maimed.

Ghost Lives On

The Second World War was supposed to have been fought to crush German militarism. But the lively ghost of the German army—at least 100,000 troops strong—has arisen east of the Elbe under Soviet sponsorship. It bears the alias, "People's Police."

And in western Germany certain politicians speculate not too discreetly on the day when the west Germans again will bear arms.

Two German Generals were hanged at Nuernberg, but there are plenty of other German Generals still around to serve either side in the next war.

In this decade of disaster—1939 to 1949—allies have continually stabbed allies in the back.

The most ironical unfinished chapter is Yugoslavia. Little more than a year ago Soviet propagandists were describing Tito as the most enlightened leader of Socialism in the Balkans.

I saw Tito come to Hungary to sign a friendship pact. Now Hungary is a base for Cominform military concentrations which may in a mad crisis soon strike at Yugoslavia.

In Berlin you can feel the cold steel of the next war although the crimson banners in the Soviet sector proclaim today as "peace day."

Campbelford Council Ask Wig-Wag Put In

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 1 — (CP)—Residents of this Northumberland County town indicated today they will renew their campaign for a warning-signal system for a railway level-crossing here where five persons were killed this week in a train-automobile collision.

Mayor Harvey Donald and Howard Wilson pledged themselves to renew efforts to obtain a wig-wag system and the subject was expected to be taken up at tonight's council meeting.

Polio Victim Dies But Baby Lives

HALIFAX, Sept. 1 (CP)—Mrs. Charles Hood, 27, died of poliomyelitis but delivered a healthy daughter shortly after she succumbed.

Mrs. Hood's mother arrived here Aug. 17 from Upton, Cheshire, England, by plane to be at the bedside of her stricken daughter. Mrs. Agnes Parry-Evans was with her daughter Tuesday when she gave a new life after giving up her own.

The child, Sharon Jean Hood, was delivered by Caesarean operation three minutes after her mother died.

Mrs Hood's husband is a 27-year-old student veteran at the Nova Scotia Technical College here. They were married while he was serving overseas.

The couple had two other children—a boy and girl—before the birth of the third child.

Have New Plan On British Goods

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (CP)—A comprehensive new program for promoting and distributing British goods in the United States is expected to emerge from the current Anglo-Canadian-United States financial talks.

The program would involve several important changes from past British practices and would borrow many of the latest sales and marketing techniques now successfully used by American firms.

United States officials are reported stressing, however, that the price of British merchandise offered for sale in the United States must be competitive if the new promotion campaign is to succeed.

Officials apparently are agreed there is room for expanding British sales into today's American market even without reducing current production costs. Once production costs in Britain go down the drive is expected to play an even more important role in aiding Britain to earn more American dollars.

Flames Destroy Box Factory, 75 Out Of Work

OSHAWA, Sept. 1 — (CP), — Some 67 to 75 employees were thrown out of work today when fire destroyed the Kohen Box Factory. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

Telephone and power lines were cut, several nearby homes were evacuated, and two firemen injured in the blaze which was reported still burning late this morning.

Deputy Fire Chief Rae Hobbs said the cause of the fire, first reported shortly after midnight, had not yet been established.

Sawdust and piles of wood added fuel to the fire as the two-storey factory was burned to the ground.

Flames roared within 100 feet of a two-family cottage at the heifght of the fire. Both families moved clothing and furniture to the streets.

James Essex, who lives across the street from the main factory entrance, said the fire started in a pile of sawdust at one end of the factory building.

BULLETIN

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados—(CP)—At least seven persons were drowned today and 27 houses were smashed as a vicious squall, tail-end of a tropical hurricane, struck this British colony. The squall struck long after the centre of the hurricane was supposed to have passed the Barbados. It was the worst loss of life through the elements since 1924.

Canada-US Troops Join For Winter Manoeuvres

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.(CP).—Canadian and United States air and ground forces will test their skill next January and February in joint winter training exercises in the Yukon and Alaska Defence Minister Claxton announced today.

He said the objectives of the manoeuvres are to "develop producers, doctrine and techniques for the employment of combined Canada-United States army and air forces operating in the far north. He described the exercise —dubbed "Exercise Cross-Index" —as "local in nature and on a comparatively-small scale."

"It will be a continuation of the combined training program carried out by both countries during the last few years," he added.

Numbers of men involved in the far northern opertaion have not been settled, and there was no indication o which Canadian unit or units would operate on Canada's side of the manoeuvres.

The Canadian army and the U. S. army each will provide a one-battalion combat team including infantry, some of which will be employed in a parachute role—artillery, engineers, signals and other supporting arms and services.

The two air forces will combine to provide fighter cover, ground attack forces, and bomber, reconnaissance and transport aircraft.

Over-all commander of the exercise will be named by the U.S., who also will provide the Allied forces commander and the Allied army commander. Canada will provide the Allied air force commander.

In the Whitehorse area, where Canadian army engineers are already stationed, advance detachments of U.S. army engineers and service troops already are moving in to prepare facilities for the combat elements.

Half Ton Of Sand, Debris Collapses On Cave, Youngster Will Recover

Man, Lad's Chums Dig With Bare Hands Get Him Out In 6 Minutes; Playing In 'Hut' In Building Excavation

OSHAWA, Sept. 1—(CP)—Buried alive Wednesday night under a half-ton of sand and debris, 11-year-old Billy Turchin today recovered consciousness and was reported "out of danger," more than 12 hours after his underground play-hut collapsed on him. Joseph Conlin of Oshawa, summoned by the lad's chums, dug Turchin out of his prison in six minutes. Turchin's playmates helped, digging frantically with their bare hands.

The boy was playing in his "bandit-cave," built in the excavation for a building, when the ground above him sagged, heaping sand and debris down on him.

"We worked as fast as we could," Mr. Conlin said. "He was unconscious and limp when we reached him. We didn't know if he was alive or dead all the time we were working. There wasn't a sound from him. It seemed like a terribly long six minutes."

Just Escaped

Conlin's companions, Steve Balas, 12, Wilfred Evenden, 13, and Bob Nichols, 12, said they had just crawled out of the tunnel leading into the playhouse.

The boys said they had dug the centre of an eight-foot mound of earth beside the basement excavation. They hollowed out a cave roughly five feet in diameter and four feet high, furnished with a small apple box, candles and mats.

Lumber and other construction supplies were piled around the mound.

Worker Killed In Mill Blast

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 1—Lorne Wylder, 52-year-old millhand, of Plainsville, north of here, was instanly killed Tuesday when he was thrown 12 feet as a grinding wheel and its protective casing flew apart.

He was employed at Cummings Grist Mill at Latta, near Plainfield.

Wylder was feeding grain into the grinding wheel when the explosion occurred. Standing nearby were George Cummings, owner of the mill, and Orland Burtrand, both of Plainfield. Cummings was unhurt; Burtrand was slightly injured by flying fragments.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable James Driscoll.

The body was taken to the Bush Funeral Home in Belleville.

Wylder is survived by a brother Ralph. Other relatives had not been located Tuesday night, although it is believed he was married, and that his parents also are alive.

Dollar Talks Will Decide New Restrictions

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP)— The Washington dollar talks will decide whether Canada tightens or relaxes import controls on United States goods, a government official said today.

So far there had been no change during the last few months in the extent to which Canadians can bring American commodities into Canada, although Trade Minister Howe told a press conference a few weeks ago the government was considering greater restrictive measures.

He said then the government was worried over Canada's adverse trade balance with the U.S., and possibly would seek increased authority from parliament to authorize greater restrictions.

If the dollar talks prove successful it appeared likely that the import restrictions might be relaxed. They likely would be tightened if the talks fail.

No consideration has been given to just where the screws will be tightened if the talks prove unsuccessful.

The official believed that since the government was committed to a program of maintaining a high level of employment, it was not likely they would decrease imports of much-needed construction material or capital goods.

He said he had in mind such items as steel and other construction products required especially by the Ontario Hydro Commission to speed new Hydro projects

Toronto Gets Brunt Of Storm

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—Toronto and Oakville, 35 miles to the west, today before the brunt of the first of the fall windstorms to blow over Ontario. The winds averaged 35 miles an hour in Toronto with gusts as high as 54 miles.

Despite the strong gusts comparatively little damage was reported in Toronto. Hydro officials said minor breaks in service had been caused in scattered sections of the city when trees or limbs fell on power lines.

A violent southwest gale, sweeping in off Lake Ontario at Oakville, tore branches from trees which slashed against hydro poles and blacked out several sections of homes.

George N. Duthie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition, said the afternoon waterfront show was cancelled because of the high winds.

Win War Singlehanded Have Poor Memory

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The 10th anniversary of Hitler's march into Poland prompted a new claim by the Russians today that they won the war singlehanded.

The claim was made in an editorial from the weekly New Times, quoted by Moscow radio. Said New Times:

"The Soviet people bore the entire burden of the war against the German Fascist invaders."

The editorial said the powers of the west stood by "until it had become obvious that the Soviet Union was able by itself to achieve the decisive defeat of Hitler Germany."

Want Careless Smoking Starting Hotel Fires To Be Made An Offence

Fire Chiefs Seek To Eliminate Hazard Of Open-Flame Candles In Church, Suggest Special Hospital Equipment

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—(CP)—Provincial governments Wednesday were urged to consider legislation that would make it an offence for a person to cause a fire in a hotel room through careless smoking. The recommendation, with others, was passed unanimously by the 41st annual conference of Dominion Fire Chiefs.

The convention also asked the federal government to outlaw the manufacture of cigarettes containing saltpetre or other properties in the cigarette paper or tobacco that increases the burning properties of the cigarette.

The fire chiefs wanted legislation to eliminate the hazards of open-flame candles in churches and other places of public assembly.

They would have all hospitals equipped with automatic fire detection and sprinkler systems. These would be connected to fire department alarm systems.

Earlier Carl Caskey of the Ontario Fire Marshal's office stated that 16,862 fires had been started last year through careless smoking. Property damage totalled $3,141,399.

Actual damage was higher than that. Damage due to burns where fire was not involved and to fires of unknown origin but attributed unofficially in a certain percentage of cases, to careless smoking was not included in the figure.

The manufacture of cigarets had risen from 260,000,000 in 1926 to 1,321,000,000 in 1948.

Statistics showed that in the United States careless smoking was the cause of 17 per cent of all structural fires and 2 per cent of all forest fires.

Have Hail Storms

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—Rain and hailstones fell in scattered sections of Ontario Wednesday.

Windsor had a sweeping, heavy rainfall accompanied by a 25-mile-an-hour wind, thunder and lightning.

Toronto had heavy rain late in the day and at night.

Hail fell in the St. Thomas district damaging 200-300 acres of tobacco crops in the area south of the village of Straffordville.

Free of Rheumatic Pain Says Many People Here Could Benefit Likewise

Could Improve Health and Feel Much Better By Taking Short Treatment of Syntona. Also Relieved Backache and Dizzy Spells, Digestion Improved, Says This Woman.

MRS. JANNIE PREISS

Men and women in this city and vicinity who have experienced the good results to be obtained by taking Syntona feel that many people could improve their health and feel better than they do by taking a short treatment of this pure Herbal Compound. Nearly everyone suffers from constipation, sluggish liver or kidneys, poor digestion or some of their long train of symptoms and a few weeks' treatment of Syntona will prove astonishing to them.

Such is the experience of Mrs. Jannie Preiss, Lucan, Ontario, who said in a recent interview:

For three years I suffered with backache, dizzy spells and very bad rheumatic pains. The joints and muscles of my legs, arms and back were very sore and painful. This seemed to make everything else go wrong, because I became extremely nervous my digestion was impaired so that I suffered all the time with gas and sour acid risings and I couldn't sleep soundly at night.

"I used to take pain pills and powders, but I didn't get any satisfactory relief, so I was greatly worried over my condition. After reading and hearing so much about Syntona I decided to get some and really this medicine has made a wonderful difference in me. I began to improve almost from the beginning and now the rheumatic pain and backache is cleared up, I am free of dizzy spells and headaches and can eat my meals without gas or sourness afterwards. Also, I am not nervous as I was before and I enjoy sound, restful sleep."

"I think many people who suffer this way could benefit as I did by taking Syntona for a while."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Convict Hughes Of Keeping Salvage Yard

Found guilty of keeping a salvage yard without a licence, Thomas R. Hughes was fined $10, and $27.50 costs, by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, in Police Court today.

Hughes failed to appear in the court but was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair. The trial had been adjourned several times and part of the evidence of the prosecution, the city represented by City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, KC, had been given previously.

Prosecution witnesses Wilbert Fallis and his son Lloyd of Millbrook testified they had bought two bearings from Hughes June 9, paying $1.50 for them and they had returned them the next day because they were the wrong size.

Previously Constable A. Dalton had testified he had kept under surveillance a yard littered with old cars and their parts in the west side of Monaghan Road between Orpington and McKellar Streets for parts of three days in June. He had seen Mr. Fallis and his son go in and come out of the yard two successive days and had overtaken them the second day to have them appear as witnesses for the city.

Mr. Fair said he was offering no evidence, but thought the prosecution had not proved that Hughes was the owner of the salvage yard, if there was a salvage yard, and that the Fallis transaction was any more than an isolated case between two private individuals. Magistrate Gee ruled otherwise.

Western Oils Climb On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP) — Western oils climbed steadily in active dealings here today while gold issues, features of Wednesday's brisk session, slipped slightly. Profit-taking cut into gains in recently spotlighted gold stocks. Industrials were steady and base metals climbed slowly as some key issues gained slightly.

Much of the early profit-taking in Upper Canada Mine, Northland and Queenston was absorbed by mid-session and a mild flurry developed in these issues for good gains. However, additional burst of selling held the gains in check. McLeod Cockshutt marked up a 10-cent advance at $1.75 after bucking heavy realizing sales. A few senior and key junior producers tended weaker.

Gains ranged up to 25 cents in western oils as the list broke out of its narrow trading rut of recent weeks. Royalite, Anglo-Canadian, Calgary and Edmonton and Okalta were among the better gainers.

Sherritt Gordon highlighted a stronger base metal list, gaining 11 cents at $2.90 in brisk dealings and touching a new high at $2.95. Consolidated Smelters, United Keno Hill and Steep Rock brightened.

Variable cloudiness and scattered showers characterize the weather over the province this morning. Cooler air which covers Northern and Central regions will spread over Southern and Eastern Ontario during the day accompanied by considerable cloudiness, scattered showers, and strong winds.

A new disturbance forming near Churchill, Man., looks as though it will speed rapidly southeastward and be located south of James Bay early Friday morning, bring showers and still cooler weather to northern regions. Southwestern Ontario should enjoy sunny cool weather Friday and not be affected by this new disturbance.

Forecasts:

Lake Huron, Niagara, Southern Georgian Bay and Lake Ontario regions: Cloudy with scattered showers, clearing by evening. Sunny and cool Friday. Winds west 15. Low tonight and high Friday at Wingham 45, 70; St. Catharines 50, 70, Trenton 45, 65.

Summary for Friday: Sunny and cool.

Haliburton region: Cloudy with showers clearing this evening. Cloudy with showers Friday afternoon. Continuing cool. Winds light today, becoming west 15 tonight and Friday. Low tonight and high Friday at Killaloe 40, 65.

Time Error

The funeral services for Mrs. Hanna Armstrong, previously reported to be on Friday at 2 p.m. were incorrect. The service will be held Friday at 2.30 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water St., with Rev. Fred W. Craik officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Must Enforce Building Code To Reduce Fire

OTTAWA, Sept. 1. — (CP). — The importance of cities and towns enforcing building codes as a means of reducing the fire hazard was emphasized today in an address delivered by an insurance man before the Dominion fire chiefs' 41st annual convention.

The address, while prepared by A. Leslie Ham, manager of the Dominion Board of Insurance Underwriters, was delivered by E. C. Duff, acting manager of the Canadian Underwriters' Association.

A community that is lax in enforcing building codes is "an insurer's nightmare," Mr. Duff said.

"In circumstances where every loss is an expected total loss, underwriters are wary, rates are high, and the applicant finds difficulty in securing an insurance market."

Modern cities with fire resistive construction, fire curtains in congested areas had minimized to a considerable extent the hazard of conflagrations, such as were known 50 years ago.

Mr. Duff said the job of reducing the fire hazard rests with the individual.

"It is a responsibility of you fire chiefs and we the insurer to counsel and advise from our experience, and it is the responsibility of the authorities to weigh such advice and to act when convinced that codes and standards and their maintenance are necessary."

Czechs Deny Frontier Sealed

PRAGUE, Sept. 1—(Reuters)—A Czechoslovakian foreign ministry spokesman today denied reports from Vienna that Czech guards had sealed off the Austro-Czech frontier but said it was possible one of the road crossings was being closed.

This would leave two road crossings open.

Western diplomatic sources, questioned about the Vienna reports, said they had received no information, but reported that rumors were current that military manoeuvres were being held in the southern areas.

This might mean the temporary closing off of some areas.

Responsible quarters here said there was a tendency to make too much of rumors about troops movements.

International Control

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 1 (AP) —The Roman Catholic Church today renewed its plea for international control of the entire region of Jerusalem. The Vatican radio asked that the United Nations Assembly set up such a control soon. It said internationalization of the area would help avoid future conflicts between Jews and Arabs and would safeguard the Holy places.

To Carry Cameras

KANPUR, India, Sept. 1 (Reuters)—This Indian industrial city's traffic policemen will be equipped with cameras to record road accidents. Authorities figure it will avoid lengthy traffic tie-ups by doing away with the need to take detailed measurements and other statistics at the accident scene.

Says Radio News Needs Watching

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.— (CP). — The Canadian Association for Adult Education today said radio presents a constant variety of problems requiring investigation. One of these was the kind of news people hear over their receiving sets.

In a brief prepared for the Royal Commission of Arts and Science the Association recommended that machinery be established by which competent research students in universities and elsewhere could conduct continuous investigation into such things as:

1. The possibility and extent of biased and slanted news reporting in Canadian radio.
2. Implications when the same radio owner controls one or more newspapers.
3. Possible new opportunities for radio broadcasting which may be furnished by technical developments such as frequency modulation.
4. Relationship of other programs to the limitations of educational broadcasts.
5. Television implications in relation to the program needs of Canadian organizations.

Actress Sees Friend Die In Plane Crash

CANNES, France, Sept. 1 — (AP)—Italian Count Giorgi Cini was killed Wednesday as his private plane crashed in circling back low after takeoff so he could wave goodbye to actress Merle Oberon.

The movie star, who had seen him off on a flight to Venice, witnessed the crash and fainted. When revived she said: "My life is finished. There's no point in going on."

The 31-year-old count was president of a company owning hotels in Italy. Killed with him in his twin-engined Cessna was his pilot, who was burned in the plane. Count Cinci's body was thrown some distance away.

The tearful actress was taken back to her hotel on the Cap d'Antibes. She said she had tried to persuade Cini to go by train because she felt something might happen if he went by plane today.

Change In Command

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP) — A change in command of the air intelligence directorate of the RCAF was announced Wednesday. Group Capt. W. W. Bean, 36, of Kitchener, is appointed director of air intelligence. Group Capt. Bean, a recent graduate of the National Defence College in Kingston, replaces Wing Cmdr. W. Weiser, DFC, 30, of Ottawa.

Hint Orchestra Ban

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP) — James C. Petrillo Wednesday threatened to pull orchestras out of New York hotels, theatres and night spots in a dispute with the American Guild of Variety Artists (AFL). Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians (AFL), said the threatened ban might start "in a couple of days" and "could extend over the entire country." The musicians and the AGVA, mostly composed of actors, have been locked for some time in a jurisdictional dispute.

11 Families Wait Eviction By Government

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP) — Eleven families of squatters who failed to meet a Defence Department deadline to move from Kildare Barracks Wednesday night continued to occupy the government-owned quarters today.

But the "legal action" promised by the Defence Department was not immediately forthcoming, and an army spokesman said there was no intention of forcibly ejecting the families.

He intimated the process of the legal action might take some days.

The Defence Department, which wants the two big buildings in Ottawa's Sandy Hill district to house the Provost Corps, had advised the occupants to be out by midnight or face "legal action."

Originally there were 34 families in the two big buildings, each of which has 50 rooms. Twenty-three have been able to find accommodation elsewhere, many with relatives, in the face of the eviction order.

Homer Borris, spokesman for the veterans who have been living in the barracks for three years, said the remaining 11 simply have nowhere to go.

Louis Lester Wins 2 Heats

KINGSTON, Sept. 1 —(CP)— Horse races attracted a large crowd at the Napanee Fair yesterday. Starter was Cameron Bennett of Belleville and among those in the judges stand were Mac Herrington, Dempster Brown and Clayton Woodcock.

Seeking Car Dealer Threatening Police

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP—City and suburban Weston police are seeking Howard Dixon of Etobicoke Township, a used car dealer, who is said to have threatened "to blow off any cop's head that comes near me." He is charged with fraud.

Police said Dixon had been selling automobiles with liens and mortgages still remaining on them.

War Of Nerves Eases Truman Declares

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)— President Truman said today the war of nerves between the Communists and democratic countries is slackening up considerably. He expressed hope it would end in surrender as did the Second World War shooting conflict.

The President made the comment at his press conference on the 10th anniversary of Hitler's invasion of Poland. He did not say so but implied that the surrender he hoped for would be that of the foes of the democratic countries.

IS RE-ELECTED

Fire Chief Allan Clark of Lakefield was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs Tuesday afternoon at their convention in Ottawa.

False Reports Used By Reds Tito Charges

Say Troop Movements Simply Lies In War Of Nerves

BELGRADE, Sept. 1 (AP) — Yugoslavia charged the Russian News Agency, Tass, today with spreading "made-up" reports in order to build up pressure against Marshal Tito's government.

The Ministry of Information charge came after days of rumors about massing of Yugoslav troops in border areas and stories of sabotage inside Yugoslavia.

(State Secretary Dean Acheson said in Washington that reports of Soviet troop movements near Yugoslavia appear to be part of a war of nerves.)

(The latest denial of unusual doings in central Europe was an Austrian government report that border traffic between Austria and Czechoslovakia was normal. This knocked down a report that the border had been closed.)

To Organize Protest

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP) — The Labor Progressive party announced here Wednesday night that plans were under way to "organize the thousands of protesting Montreal citizens for a reversal of an arbitration board's decision allowed the Montreal Tramway Company to increase their fares."

A WELCOME TOURIST

A local motorist bounced out of his car with inspired speed at noon today when he saw flames shoot from the engine as he pulled to a stop at Hunter and Water Streets. Apparently he dashed away looking for a fire extinguisher because he was not there when two Americans came by in a new-model car. They sized up the situation in a glance, and pulled to a stop. One of them opened the trunk of their car, whipped out an extinguisher, and blasted out the life of the blaze in a few seconds. Without saying a word to any passerby he put the extinguisher back in the trunk and continued on his journey.—D. W.

DIGESTION OFF? Jittery? Pepless?
—Your Nerves May Need Feeding

Every act—every movement of your body, no matter how small, is controlled by nerves. When nerves lack nourishment, every function of your body may suffer . . . digestion . . . bowels . . . muscles. You may sleep poorly, feel depressed, physically and nervously exhausted.

An impoverished blood condition due to lack of sufficient iron is often accompanied by nervousness, for nerves may thus fail to get their proper nourishment. So if you are nervous, rundown, pepless and tired with sluggish digestion and bowels because of this condition try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They not only help build up the blood but they supply Vitamin B-1 which contributes to the normal functioning of the nervous system and the digestive tract. Then see what a difference your improved blood condition may make, not only in your energy and strength but in your nerves, digestion and bowel action. Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today from your druggist.

A LIFETIME of SEEING

The 'teen age is a critical period in the life of a child. In school, the ... become more difficult. The child must develop greater powers of concentration, coordinate and strengthen his mental powers of attention, association of ideas, memory, and reasoning. He must expand his reading hours and study longer.

Because of the increased visual tasks resulting from the speeding up of the educational process, and because of the extensive body adjustments that take place during the 'teens, eyesight protection and conservation in the child is highly important in this period.

Neglected visual defects in school children not only may be a contributing factor to poor scholarship but may lead also to undesirable social attitudes. A prominent child psychologist sums up the relationship of vision to education by saying: "Many a child groping with poor eyesight and struggling for an education against his handicap, becomes a rebellious child, a truant child."

Closes 50-Room Hotel As Taxes Up, Rents Down

CARLETON PLACE, Sept. 1—(CP)—The blinds were drawn, the doors were locked and all was quiet today at the Queen's Hotel here. Dan Miller, the proprietor, had kept his promise. Absence of activity at this usually-lively inn was explained by a sign prominently displayed on the front window which said:

"Carleton Place does not want a first-class hotel and this one will not be open until it is exempt from taxes."

Dan had threatened to close the hotel for good at midnight Wednesday night unless the council of this eastern Ontario town backed down on its decision to tax the hotel. He carried out the threat at the stroke of 12 when he locked the doors and put "closed" signs on them.

The hotel isn't empty yet. There are still several guests registered but Dan says they'll be there only until the end of the week, when they must find other accommodation.

Decision Pending

The whole affair started several weeks ago when the Rentals Board charegd him with levying rates higher than the maximum allowed. A decision in the case is pending.

Then the town council sent him an assessment notice of $2,000. That meant a tax of about $130 a year would go into effect in 1950.

That was the limit, said Dan. Hotels had been exempt from such tax ever since the town went "dry" back in 1916. He had never paid taxes on the 50-room building and he wasn't going to start now.

Dan has a couple of farms he can live on and he doesn't intend to rent or sell the hotel.

"Unless the council gives me a tax exemption, the hotel will stay closed . . . I can wait as long as they can."

A. Woodbeck Funeral Held

HAVELOCK, Sept. 1—(ENS)—The funeral took place today of Albert Woodbeck, 77, who died suddenly on Tuesday as he was leaving the woods where he had been working north of the village in Belmont township. The service in the Curtis Funeral Parlors was conducted by Ralph Watson, student minister on the Belmont circuit of the United Church. The pallbearers were Jack Toms, Earl Toms, Donald Toms, Gilbert Wright, Clarence Pollock and Earl Gerow. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Rawdon Township Native

Mr. Woodbeck was born in Rawdon township and was a son of the late Matthew Woodbeck and Susan Todd. He had been a resident of this district for 40 years and followed farming and lumbering. In religion he was an Anglican.

Surviving are four sons, William of Havelock, Donald of Collingwood and Lavern and Edward of Belmont township.

Sister M. Blandina Dies In Peterborough

The funeral of Sister M. Blandina of the House of Providence, Peterborough, was held on Wednesday morning from the chapel of Mount St. Joseph. Right Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan, D.P., celebrant of the Mass, was assisted by Rev. J. A. Weis and Rev. V. Perdue as deacon and sub-deacon. His Excellency, Most Rev. J. G. Berry, D.D., assisted by Rev. V. J. Corkery, Chancellor, and Rev. F. M. Grant, D.C.L., sang the Libera.

Present in the sanctuary were Right Rev. J. J. O'Brien, D.P., Rev. G. Sullivan of Sacred Heart Parish; Rev. J. Houlihan, Rev. R. McDonald, C.Ss.R., and Rev. J. Corkery, C.S.S.R.

Sister Blandina died on Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital in the 51st year of her religious life.

The late Sister Blandina, formerly Miss Margaret McGuire, was the daughter of the late Michael McGuire and Mary Kelleher of Campbellford. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Leo Sullivan of Ottawa, and two brothers, Mr. Thomas McGuire of Gem, Alberta, and Mr. Francis McGuire of Detroit. Her brother, Rev. P. J. McGuire, O.M.I., predeceased her.

In the early years of her religious life Sister Blandina was stationed at northern missions of Fort William and Sault Ste. Marie. For many years she fulfilled the duties of sacristan at Almonte, St. Andrew's West, and Immaculate Conception Church in Peterborough with zeal and efficiency.

Sister Blandina celebrated her Golden Jubilee this year at the House of Providence, Peterborough.

The Board of Education Is Responsible

City councils are merely money collectors in their official relations with Boards of Education. The Council must raise whatever money the Board requires for the operation of the schools under its jurisdiction. That is the law. The council of the city of Niagara wishes to have the law changed in this regard. It adopted a resolution that the Ontario Government "be requested to pass appropriate legislation giving councils of local municipalities authority to approve the estimates of local school boards and boards of police commissioners, or at least an appeal therefrom, before inclusion in the municipal budget". Niagara Falls passed this resolution on to various other Ontario city councils in the hope that they would unite with it in appealing to the Ontario Government for this power of veto over Board of Education and Police Commission estimates.

• • •

The Peterborough city council in finance committee took a careful look at the Niagara Falls resolution and decided to "receive" it—that is, to take no action. We feel that the aldermen acted wisely in so doing.

• • •

If councils were given power to tamper with or reject Board of Education estimates it would reduce the Board to virtual impotence and concentrate all real municipal power in the hands of the Council. This is not desirable. Boards of Education are, like councils themselves, elected. They are elected for specific tasks. One of the Board's is the financial administration of the schools, and we have every reason in Peterborough to believe that our Boards of Education have been doing this to the satisfaction of the citizens. There have been numerous times when Board members have been returned by acclamation. As Mayor Swanston said: "They are trying to do a job for the ratepayers, as we are doing . . . If for any reason the ratepayers become dissatisfied with the Board, they have the ballot in their own hands to elect a new Board if they wish". A fundamental principle is at stake in this Niagara Falls resolution, as the Kingston Whig-Standard pointed out in its editorial approval of the Kingston council's rejection of the same resolution, "One of the precepts of democratic government is that the autonomy of a body elected on a functional basis should not be infringed upon by a body elected to serve a different function".

• • •

If a Board of Education (now the biggest single spender of municipal money—in Peterborough their requirements take almost half the tax money collected) are considered extravagant or inefficient the rate-payers can vote them out at the next annual election, as they can a Council. Boards of Education require no Council overseer even in the matter of capital expenditure for new schools. In this regard the Council already has a small voice—it can either accept the Board's demand for the capital expenditure, or put it to a vote of the rate-payers. And whatever Board and Council do on such a matter, the Department of Education and the Municipal Board at Toronto must give final approval.

• • •

The situation is slightly different with Police Commissions, who are also included in the Niagara Falls resolution. These are not elected; they are established and always consist of the Mayor, the Police Magistrate and the County Judge. City Councils have the right to appeal Police Commission estimates, which is sufficient control. The Commission, a special body charged with the particular task of policing a municipality, ought to know best what how much money is needed to do the job efficiently.

• • •

In actual practice in Peterborough there is harmony between the Council and the two Boards, even in viewing the mill rate and their own estimates. Why should there not be? They are reasonable and responsible men, otherwise they would not be in the positions they hold. And they are all rate-payers.

Parents Too Easily Blamed

Our attention has been drawn to a passage in an article in in a recent issue of The Woman's Home Companion, which says:

"Parents have been taking it on the chin long enough. They have reeled under blows from a hundred directions. They have been blamed for their children's difficulties, blamed for their children's maladjustments, blamed for their children's failures at school, for delinquency, for psychological problems, even for crimes. It is high time a parent answered back.

"Parents are neither villians nor blithering idiots. They are human beings whose only crime is acting like human beings—in a world full of tension and uncertainty.

"The real harm has come from blaming them. They have been cowed with feelings of inadequacy, conscience-ridden with guilt, paralyzed by a sense of failure—and worse, often hardened into defiance toward professional help when families need it."

This is common sense. We have published many articles in this paper expressing virtually the same opinion, and we should like to take this opportunity of enlarging upon it.

It is too easy nowadays to blame other people for faults which are, so far as anyone can see, one's own. The weak, the cowardly, the incompetent, the criminal and the merely good-for-nothing all find it easy to blame their parents for whatever ails them, and if they do not blame their parents, they blame the society in which they grew up. They have been abetted in this shifting of blame by a few psychologists who are more interested in popularity than in truth.

Now it is quite true that upbringing, home atmosphere and parental influence have a strong effect on a child, but we are constantly struck by the incalculable twists and turns which that influence may take. Parental severity may make one man a criminal, another a highly responsible member of the Civil Service; parental easy-goingness may make one child a saint, another a murderer; parental indifference may chill one child, and allow another to become a genius. It is quite impossible to predict what effect parently attitudes may have. The obvious conclusion, therefore, is that parental influence, though strong, is not the whole story in developing character, or even half the story. To a great degree the child becomes what he chooses to be; he has a wide measure of free-will. He is not the toy of fate; he is in some degree the master of fate.

The world's failures are ready to blame their parents. The world's successes are not so ready to declare that their parents made them what they are. The truth probably is that no man, however favoured by fortune, make anything of his life without a good deal of personal exertion; and that no man, however unlucky in birth and fortune, need slip into criminality or utter worthlessness if he refuses to do so.

"Parents are neither villains nor blith- their children's troubles. If they love and cherish their children, until they are able to bear their own burdens, they have done all that they can reasonably be expected to do. After that, the child is what he makes himself.

This is a hard doctrine. There are exceptions to it. It is less popular than the belief that somebody else is to blame for whatever a man may do. But we think it is nearer the truth than the soft belief that a man bears less than half the full responsibility for what he does in the world.

Heavy But Just

The Ontario land surveyor of South Porcupine who failed to put out his camp fire and thereby caused a bush fire which ate up 75 acres of growth, was fined $25 and costs, and will have to pay the cost of fighting the fire. That cost was $6,000. It is a heavy cash penalty for carelessness but no more than just. He has not been required to make restitution for the trees destroyed.

Carelessness with fire in forested areas is costly to the public; when it is made costly to the careless ones, more care may be taken and fewer forest fires may be caused.

The Vintage Month

Some public relations official whose job it is to boost Niagara grapes for their fermented juice has hopefully sent us a press release whose opening sentence we herewith release. "September is a vintage month in Ontario's fertile Niagara Peninsula". The peninsula's eighteen wineries may look on September as the season for the grape harvest and watch the month's sun and frost anxiously because of the flavour they bestow. People not directly interested in grapes may borrow the phrase "vintage month", as we do here, to characterize generally September's mellow nature. It is the month of quiet suns, filtered afternoon light, morning mists, and starred tangy evenings; a gracious month. It is the year in vintage. Harbinger of nature's death and the pall of snow though it be, no person can be so insensitive to the loveliness of September as not to welcome her.

By D. W. BROGAN
(Professor of Political Science at Cambridge University)

IT is nearly 200 years since Sterne rashly affirmed that "they order these matters better in France", and had to set out to prove his point. The world seems full of Sternists at the moment, for France is enjoying and enduring the greatest tourist season (as far as numbers go) in her history. Britons, Americans, Swedes, Belgians, Swiss, Italians and Spaniards have all descended on France like gift-bearing locusts. And the result of their swarming is seen in restaurants, hotels, trains, buses and in the statement of foreign exchange holdings of the Bank of France. English of all kinds is heard everywhere but (sign of the times), there have been as many Swiss and Belgian tourists as British, and they come bearing the gift of a hard or hardish currency.

◇ ◇ ◇

ONE result is that France appears to be terribly overcrowded. In an hotel where rooms had been booked months before, the proprietress was astonished that she should be held to a mere written promise (and to honouring an advance payment). "Don't be foolish", was her naive answer when objection was made to leaving a room booked long before. So we parted—to mutual relief. But if the hotels are overcrowded, so are the fields and woods. Camping is now a rage and a plague in France. Cars with trailers or with tents on the roof are everywhere; every agreeable corner of meadow and wood is occupied. And, if you are inclined to think that France, like China, does not change, see the costumes of the "jeunes filles bien elevees"—or of their mothers! It is not so long since, in the part of France I know best, mixed bathing by adequately clad young people was a source of real scandal. Well, "nous avons change tout cela" and one wonders where the Folies Bergeres is to get its customers. One also wonders at the sight of girls in their teens loaded down with enough baggage for a veteran soldier, tramping the roads to campaign grounds, or to sights like the Chaise Dieu—burdens which, a generation ago, would have made sentimental feminists weep—if those girls had been peasants working on a farm instead of being holiday makers.

◇ ◇ ◇

SWIMMING, hiking, scouting, mountain climbing—these are novelties. But the real national sport of France retains its primacy. True, the papers were full of football news when Strasbourg upset the book by defeating the champions, Rheims. But Britain's greatest national industry, the pools, has not taken root in France as it has in Holland and Belgium and the "le cyclism" still distracts the average Frenchman from all other themes of interes.. The Tour de France is over, but there are lots of local variants and I came in for two of them. For my French home town was host, this year, to the congress of "La Federation Francaise de Cyclotourisme" — a serious amateur body whose members cycle all over France with praiseworthy vigour. Members must be genuine "cyclotouristes", not passengers, and this year the congressistes had not only to ride scores of miles every day, but to assist at the election of "Miss Cyclo-France". There were nine candidates for this honour and seen under the electric lights in the Jardin Lecoeq at Clermont-Ferrand, they looked remarkably alike; their bicycles glittering with chromium and aluminium and their smiles and hair gleaming like the bicycles. A Paris stenographe. got the honour, but one was glad to note that all the contestants got prizes, thought one's heart went out to some very young women who did not enter. They looked much more like competent "cyclotouristes", but perhaps "Miss Cyclo-France" no more needs to be a competent long distance cyclist than a bathing beauty needs to be able to swim the Channel. The election to this honour was preceded and followed by a "Gala Folklorique" and by an extravagant use of a loud speaker and gramaphone records to pass the time. So we had mildly improper songs like "Maria de Bahia" and then admirably danced "bourrees", the great local dance of Auvergne. It was Madame de Sevinge who first called the attention of French society to the grace of these dances. What she would have thought of the election of Miss Cyclo-France she would no doubt have found adequate, if restrained words to describe.

BUT one must not be unfair to the cyclists, for they are a hardy race. On the Sunday morning after the election, 600 set off to race up the Puy de Dome, which is like cycling up to Arthur's Seat (in Edinburgh) only harder. Many fell by the wayside, but hundreds made it, among the leaders being a cheerful veteran of 65 who gave much good advice to rash youngsters who had gone all out in the first few miles and could not make the final grade.

Food plays an important role in any holiday. The French always spent a higher proportion of their incomes on food than the English and they still do. But they do not spend a higher proportion than do those tourists who travel allowance is restricted. If you do not know France and French you will spend a lot, for the average restaurant that the tourists encounter, even in not very smart regions, is expensive. But if you keep to the prix fixe menus, you can do very well indeed. And the French tourist industry, although it complains not merely of the absence of the old "milords" but of North and South American millionaires, is doing very well at a more democratic level with its "joys" in wider commonalty spread".

ALAS, one of the greatest assets of France this year, the wonderful summer may turn out to have been a disaster. True the drought, of unprecedented length, has not ruined the cereal harvest as the shorter but earlier drought of 1947 did. But it has ruined pasture and potatoes and beetroot. Cattle prices are falling because they cannot be fed and there are gloomy speculations about winter supply. Butter is disappearing (it was fetching 8s. 0d. a pound last week). And the great storage lakes of the hydro-electric system of the Massif Central are almost dry. So current is cut not only in Clermont but in Paris and domestic comfort has to be sacrificed again to the needs of industry.

More dramatically tragic is the state of the land. In one commune which I know well, 600 humans, 200 cattle and some hundreds of sheep plus 60 horses have as their total official supply six cubic metres of water a day. There is, in one of the hamlets, a stream (now merely disconnected stagnant pools) where the cattle can forage for water (if the metaphor is allowed). "But", said the Mayor, pulling out a tuft of grass, "look how the very roots are dead". On a farm 30 miles or so away, the owner showed me in his pasture bald patches where there was no vegetation at all. I had seen nothing like it since North Dakota and Kansas in the great dust-bowl years of 1934 and 1936.

NOR was this all. For as we topped the mountain pass after a long walk, there, rushing up the side of the mountain, were the flame and the smoke of the forest fires. There was a new one every day, many the result of camping, and 200 miles away, hundreds of thousands of acres were blazing and human victims dying by the score.

"This drought", said the veteran deputy, "may be enough to push us over the edge again, to undo all the recovery of the past year". But the heavily loaded girl-scouts in the local train did not seem to care. They were singing, and it took me five minutes to place the song. It was another example of the influence of America, a French version of "She'll be coming round the mountain". "Yippee-aye" they chorused, indifferent to the scorched high mountain pastures and the endangered forests. Well, they were young and hopeful; perhaps they were more right than the deputy.

"TWICE BLESSED"

Labour Isolation, Strasbourg

By Susan Strange (at Strasbourg)

FOR a party which has only been in power for four years, the British Labour Party seems to have forgotten very quickly how to organize an effective opposition. Any skill they may once have had as a Parliamentary minority has deserted them here. The Assembly of the Council of Europe is now in its third week and still the British Labour deputies have not made one dependable ally among all its 101 members.

This isolation is one of the most striking things about the Assembly. At first, a fairly well defined division across national lines between Left and Right, between planners and non-planners, was expected. It has never really appeared. British Labour deputies have made sincere efforts, socially, to make Continental friends. They have been able to agree with French M.R.P. deputies on the immediate economic tasks before the Assembly. They have shared with French Socialists a resentment at being excluded from all key positions in the committees. They have joined with Scandinavia's deputies in expressing doubt about the practical results of an economic federation of Europe. But with none of these have they worked even temporarily as a team.

Partly, all this is psychological. (It is also, incidentally, important for the future of the Council of Europe. To progress at all, it must carry British opinion along with it.) Isolation is often founded on isolationism — and the British, particularly the Socialists, do not feel altogether at home in Strasbourg. The puritan beneath the skin is vaguely disturbed by good wine and lavish cooking; the virtues of austerity are at a discount here.

Then, they are filled with distrust for the European Movement, which has made good use of Mr. Churchill's Continental prestige. As someone remarked, "Every night Pravda looks for an American under the bed at Strasbourg; Mr. Herbert Morrison looks for Mr. Duncan Sandys" (Chairman of the Executive Committee of the European Movement). They have attacked the European Movement for improper interference with deputies of the Assembly—but it seems unlikely they will get much satisfaction from it and that will leave them with a greater feeling of frustration than ever.

THE fact is that they feel—with some justification—that the British Conservatives are playing one game inside the European Movement and quite another one at home. But so far Labour punches at this Conservative ambivalence have failed to connect.

If they had been able to combine in defence of the Committee of Ministers they might have been more coherent. But the Ministers have begun by giving the Assembly a loose rein so there is nothing to defend. Also, few of the British Labour deputies share Mr. Bevin's rigid opposition to a more formal unity of Europe. Some of them have never even thought much about it. With Mr. Morrison they are more or less open minded and prepared to wait and see.

Tactically, too, they have missed several good opportunities and made some bad mistakes. It can now be revealed, for instance, that the undignified quarrel between Mr. Churchill and Mr. Herbert Morrison over the vice-chairmanship at the very beginning need never have happened. If Mr. Morrison or Dr. Dalton or even Mr. R. W. G. MacKay, the Labour federalist, had stood in place of the elderly and completely unknown trade unionist Mr. Whiteley, the British Conservatives would have voted for any one of them. As it was, this key position was needlessly lost to Lord Layton, a Liberal.

The results of all this seem likely to be some resounding victories for the European Movement. The more so since Mr. Morrison is making a further mistake in diverting his team just as the Assembly gets down to taking its final decision.

Bible Message

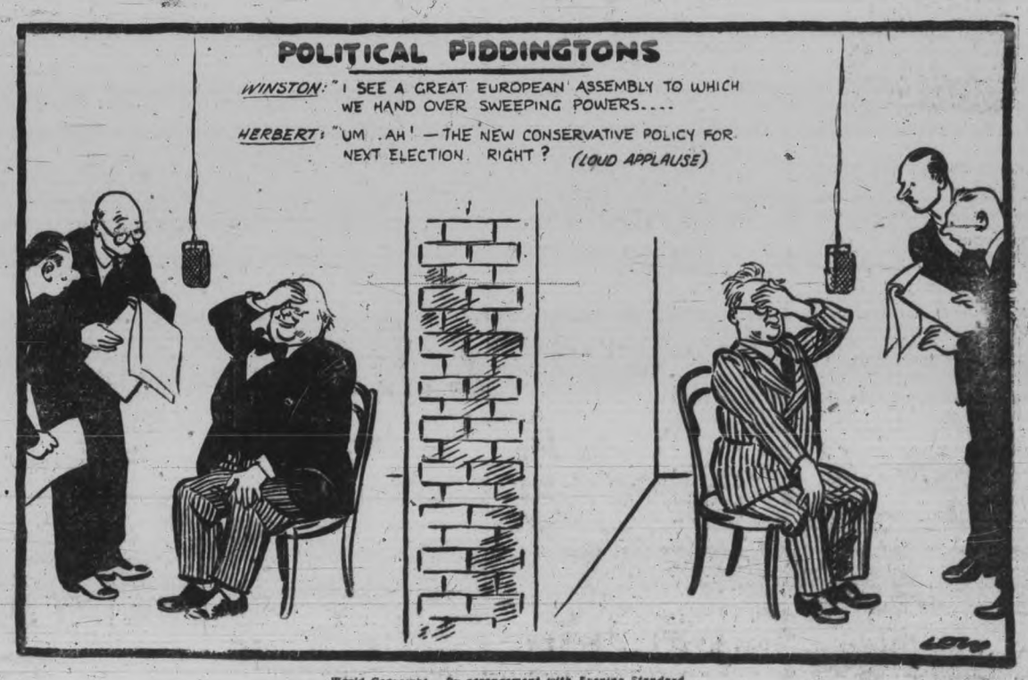
(From the Authorized Version)

And the Yord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy. (Lev. 19: 1, 2)

◇ ◇ ◇

As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him. . . . It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect. (Ps. 18: 30, 32.)

◇ ◇ ◇



Praise ye the Lord. Blessed is the man that feareth the Lord, that delighteth greatly in his commandments. . . . Unto the upright there ariseth light in the darkness: he is gracious, and full of compassion, and righteous. . . .

Surely he shall not be moved for ever: the righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance. (Ps. 112: 1, 4, 6.)

Summer Theatre's Final Play Voice Of The Turtle Next Week

The last play of the first season of the Peterborough Summer Theatre, "The Voice of the Turtle" will begin its week's run Monday night in the Queen Mary School Auditorium.

It will be played by the smallest cast of any of the Summer Theatre's productions. Each of the actors have become favourites with Peterborough audiences. Jeri Sauvinet, Anna Cameron and Frank Perry will play Sally Middleton, Olive Lashbrooke and Bill Page.

The play was first seen on the stage in New York in 1943. Since then it has had a long and successful run on Broadway and was taken to London where it played for a good run. It was made into a successful film starring Ronald Reagan about two years ago.

The play centres around Sally and Bill falling in love in a hurry without time for many of the conventions. Sally is something of a scatterbrain and most of the play's comedy and a touch of pathos spring from her slightly eccentric, but charming beliefs about people. Olive is a girlfriend of both and a slight complication.

The author of the "Turtle," John Van Druten, although born and educated in England, has been described as the writer best able to put American speech into writing in the U. S. today. Bill Needles who has won a great many fans as an actor and shown outstanding ability as a director with "By Candelight" is also directing this play.

The set for the Voice of the Turtle presents the most complicated job set designer Martha Jamieson has faced this summer. The set contains three rooms, Sally's bedroom, living room and kitchen, with a fair amount of action taking place in each.

The Voice of the Turtle was originally scheduled for production earlier in the season, but circumstances held it off. Many people were disappointed when it was replaced by another play. When Michael Sadlier and Graham Ferguson were looking for a play to close the season with a flourish, they decided they could scarcely do better than The Voice of the Turtle to please as many of their fans as possible.

Radio, Cash Taken

COBOURG, Sept. 1—(ENS)—Believed to be a local job, a small radio and the sum of $15.00 were stolen from a radio shop yesterday morning. The break-in occurred toward daybreak after the constable had made his rounds, as the broken window would have been noticed by the officer. Police checked on the possibility of it being done by somebody locally before revealing any details of the robbery.

Scottish Industries Hold Large Exhibition

GLASGOW, Sept. 1—(CP)—Queen Elizabeth, accompanied by Princess Margaret, today opened the Scottish Industries Exhibition, most ambitious display of Scottish goods ever attempted.

Almost every product manufactured in Scotland is on display in two miles of stalls in Kelvin Hall. Special facilities are being offered to overseas buyers.

After the opening ceremony the Queen was presented with a ruby and diamond lapel brooch in the form of a lion rampant. It is made from 153 Burmese rubies with a single diamond.

After a luncheon, at which Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner to Britain, will be among the guests, the Queen and Princess return to Edinburgh where they have been attending performances of the International Festival of Music and Drama.

Royal Hairdresser Finds Charles Perfect Customer First Time Up

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 1 (UP)—Nine-month-old Prince Charles, second in line of succession to the British throne, had his first haircut last week.

"He sat up like a little man while I went at it with the scissors," barber Felix West said today. "Didn't even squirm. Ever laughed when I tickled his ear with the comb."

Did Princess Elizabeth, like other doting mothers, look wistfully at the baby curls being sheared away?

"She wasn't there," West said. "As a matter of fact, I was alone with him in the nursery until the governess came in."

West, who also cuts King George's hair, said he didn't cut Charles' locks too short.

"Just took the surplus off around the back to give him a young gentleman's appearance," he said.

When Charles left the room, West said, the young prince raised his hand, waved and said "Ta-ta." This is the first quotation on record from the baby that one day may be king.

The historic haircut took place at Balmoral, Scotland, where the royal family is vacationing.

Construction Worker Has A Poor Night

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP) — Malachi Coalter, 24, who fell 10 storeys from a mid-town construction job and lived, had a "poor night," hospital attendants said today. His condition is now slightly worse than when he was admitted, they said.

Coalter, who was spending his last week on the job before taking up a ministerial post at Brantford, had his fall broken by a number of Hydro wires. Police said this undoubtedly saved him from instant death.

Police Get Clue In Knife Slaying After Nearly Four Years On Case

DETROIT, Sept. 1 (AP) — After nearly four years, police believe they have a break in the knife slaying of Mrs. Lydia Thompson, former wife of a prominent Highland Park, Mich., automobile dealer.

John Stack Vanderbilt, 36-year-old ex-convict from Detroit, told Georgia police he drove the death car carrying two hired killers and the woman. Georgia police say Vanderbilt's story stood up under lie detector tests.

Mrs. Thompson's hacked body was found Oct. 13, 1945, in a lonely wooded area, 18 miles west of Pontiac, Mich. Her head was almost off and her body punctured 13 times by a sharp instrument.

Her husband, Louis V. Thompson, married his former secretary, Helen Budnik, four months after the discovery.

Vanderbilt, held on minor swindling charges, named one of the hired killers as Frank Mooremos, and the other only as "George."

Tigers Defeat Petes, 12-9 In Second of OLA Playoffs

A three-goal drive in the fourth quarter gave Hamilton Tigers a 12-9 OLA senior "A" playoff victory over the Petes before 1,800 fans in Miller Bowl last night. It was their second win in as many starts of the best-of-seven quarter-finals. These teams meet again tomorrow in Hamilton and on Saturday night here. Hamilton had a 3-2 edge the first quarter last evening, but the Petes had them even at 6-6 halftime. The score was sewed up once more at 9-all to end the third quarter, but the Tigers had enough punch left to pull out the close win. Play was speedy and tight all the way, rugged the last half, but not too rough, and the referees let quite a bit of stiff checking and holding go.

An Uphill Fight

The Petes fought furiously all the way in an uphill fight and it was just a tossup after the count was first tied. Goalie Favel was in rare form to stop a lot of almost sure shots by the Petes, and Ralph Speck turned in a good chore in the home net. Blaine McDonald led the winners in scoring with four goals while Merv McKenzie got one and two assists, Davidson three markers, Love two, Powers a goal and an assist, Dorney, a counter, and Capula an assist. Lou Vitarelli topped the Petes with three goals and an assist, which Dootch Vitarelli got two and helped on one. Foote, Chute, Dugan and Teatero each tallied one, with Magee helping on a pair, Teatero, Em Creighton and Thorpe having an assist each.

Not a penalty was handed out in the close-checking first two quarters. Nor were there any in the fourth but seven were given in the rougher third chukker, four to the visitors. Lewis and Welsh tangled as the period ended to draw majors for fighting. The referees took quite a panning from some of the fans for letting a lot go in this joust.

The teams:

Hamilton: Goal, Favel; defence, Edmunds and McKenzie; centre, Powers; wings, Gair and Davidson; rover, Grainger; alternates, Isaacs, Welsh. Love, McDonald, Dorney, Lee and Capula.

Petes: Goal, Speck; defence, J. Creighton and D. Vitarelli; centre, Thorpe; wings, Foote and Dugan; rover, E Creighton; alternates, Chute, L. Vitarelli, Horton, Magee, McNulty, Teatero and Lewis.

Referees: W. Smart and W. Arthurs.

Summary:

First Quarter
Hamilton—McKenzie	:38
Hamilton—Love (Lee)	3:06

Buffalo Bows To Royals In 12-6 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Buffalo has learned it pays to have a winner.

The Bisons, who are on their way to their first International League pennant in 13 years, set an all-time season attendance record of 383,943 paid admissions this year.

Although they dropped their season's home finale to Montreal 12-6 Wednesday night, a crowd of 7,202 gave them a fine send-off for their last remaining 12 games, all on the road.

The Bisons own a 5½-game margin over the runner-up Rochester Red Wings, and only a complete collapse can prevent them from winning their first flag since 1936.

Four Buffalo flingers failed to stop Montreal Wednesday as the Royals pounded out 17 hits including home runs by George Schmees, Chuck Connors and Kermit Wahl. Gene Markland hit his 24th round-tripper for the Bisons.

Dan Bankhead gained credit for his 18th victory against five defeats for the Royals. Jim Wilson was the loser.

In the only other game, Irv Medlinger bested Frank Lamanna in a hurling duel as the Baltimore Orioles shut out Newark Bears 1-0. Bob Repass' seventh home run in the second inning was the only score.

The games between Jersey City and Syracuse and Toronto and Rochester were postponed because of rain.

Berniece Looney Wins CNE Swimming Title

TORONTO, Sept. 1—(CP) — Blonde Berniece Looney, of Warren, Ohio, could make her living visiting the Canadian National Exhibition once a year.

The 22-year-old physical instructor again captured the exhibition's world professional championship five-mile swim Wednesday. It was her third successive victory and again brought her a total of $1,750 in prize money.

Despite choppy water, she kept up a steady 70-to-the-minute stroke over the Lake Ontario course off the Exhibition Park waterfront. Besides her $1,500 first-prize money, she picked up an extra $250 for leading at the end of each of the five one-mile laps.

Winnie Roach, of Toronto, who finished second, took 16 minutes longer than the winner's time of 2:33:37.7. The time was 6½ minutes slower than Miss Looney's course record of 2:27:07, set in 1947. Second place was worth $750 tothe 22-year-old Miss Roach.

Other Winners

Other winners with their prize money: Jean Ralph, 18, of Toronto, third, $500; Margaret Giles of Sarnia, fourth, $300; Barbara Elliott, 19, of Oshawa, fifth, $200; Angela Le Page of Hull, Que., sixth, $100.

Of the 11 starters four were pulled out before the finish They included grey-haired Mrs. Edna Sheldon, the 58-year-old matron from Detroit who gave up after a mile when she suffered a leg cramp.

The last three finishers hit the line well after dark and in a rainstorm. They were guided to the finish by searchlights on boats following them.

Westclox Girls Take Tilt Over Lindsay

Westclox won 9-3 from Lindsay at the Bowl last night in a girls' round - robin softball struggle. It was run off in 55 minutes and proved a tidy tilt after a six-run splurge by the Clockers in the initial inning. Lindsay looked real loose in that first frame but made it a neat number after that. Marg Selkirk allowed but eight hits as she fanned five, while M. Reynolds pitched good relief ball after taking over from M. Owen in the third. Westclox got only eight hits, also.

B. Morcow, D. Westlake, A. McDonald and M. Reynolds all went well defensively in this contest. J. Vass, B. Morrow and M. Selkirk each had two hits for Westclox, one of the latter's being a homer. N. Whetung hit a three-bagger. M. Chase got three hits for the losers, and P. Richard banged out a triple.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, then holder of the world's land speed record and "novice" boat driver, eclipsed Gar Wood's motorboat record at Locarno, Switzerland, 12 years ago today with an average speed of 125.795 miles per hour. In 1939 he set a record of 141.7 miles per hour which so far hasn't been beaten.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

With some of our minor ball clubs now in OBA playdowns — a few of 'em have been rubbed out already—we note with interest an item in the Kitchener paper. Seems the Inter-County League in Western Ontario permits picking all-star teams to go into minor playdowns, despite an OBA ruling to the contrary, and the Inter-County insists all-star teams perform or none at all. Kitchener scribe says it's okay as it assures more kids of playing as otherwise certain teams would pack their lineups early, leaving others out in the cold. This we do not agree with at all. If a boy is good enough to play on a team that wins the city title, he shouldn't be dropped in playdowns for a replacement. And the OBA shouldn't let the Inter-County make the rules for provincial playdowns.

* * * * * * *

And from Galt we note where the Inter-County Loop executive fined a player $35, and a coach and two more players $25 each, for a fracas with an umpire. Both clubs were warned and a recurrence will bring further fines and suspensions. This intrigues us as it indicates that this large and well-to-do Western Ontario senior baseball circuit realizes that it is amateur in name only. Amateurs should not be fined, of course. They may be suspended, even for life, for sports' infractions, but only professionals are fined—and it really hurts when it hits the pocketbook. There's certainly do-re-mi in games down that way where 5,000 fans isn't an unusual thing.

COBL Playoffs Start

COBL playoffs commence this evening in Oshawa as the Petes meet the Merchants in the first of a best-of-seven final serial. Next one is here at 5.30 Saturday, and it should draw a big crowd. A sizzling series is expected between these old rivals, who have been at it tooth and nail all season, and the odd flight isn't unlikely. The imported battery of Oshawa's, George Ticcony and Bill Gingerich, are plenty cocky, but also quite effective on a diamond. Gingerich has had a hurling edge on the men o' Murphy most of the campaign, though actually Bill Dadson leads him on wins and losses. Ticcony leads the COBL hitters this year—and we'll run some averages tomorrow. Don't forget the big playoff in Riverside at 5.30 on Saturday.

* * * * * * *

Well, it's two down and five to go for the Petes in OLA senior "A" quarter-final playoffs. But they've got to start winning smartly or it'll be four down—and they've had it. Hamilton Tigers took 'em 12-9 here last eve for their second win in as many starts of the four-in-seven serial. Next one is in Hamilton on the morrow and fourth fray back here Saturday night. A good gallery saw a tight tussle yester gloaming with the Tigers having to battle hard in the fourth frame to pull it out. The Petes really made it a fight to come from behind and tie it up to end the second quarter and again to wind up the third. But it still counts as a loss.

Vitarellis Do Okay

Both goalies did okay, not fanning on any soft ones — though Favel did miss on a screened shot once by Lou Vitarelli. Latter did alright in scoring three and helping on another, brother Dootch counting a pair and aiding on one. Leo Teatero and Mick Magee were in on a pair apiece, and the whole squad fought throughout in a nifty scrap. McDonald, Davidson, Love, Lee and McKenzie were the main snipers for the classy Tigers. Refereeing wasn't the best and the fans rode 'em hard as they let a lot go. Maybe some of those rabid fans will eventually realize that Joe Murphy and Lou Vipond —who take a panning here, too—aren't so bad after all. There are lots worse officials.

Two more girls' softball round-robin games at the Bowl last evening, and they must be getting near the final playoff stage. CGE plays Marines tonight, followed by Westclox against Ashby's. The latter lasses pulled out a neat 5-3 verdict o'er Marines last twilight in a 50-minute struggle, Ashby's looking right smart in the process. D. McFadden pitched well, with J. Reynolds and E. Simmonds giving good support, the team as a whole clicking with errorless ball. The other fray saw Westclox off to an early start and riding home on the heavier end of a 9-3 score against Lindsay. M. Selkirk pitched steady, as B. Morrow and D. Westlake also helped the cause considerably for the Clockers.

Excelsiors Crush Athletics In 11-7 Victory

By The Canadian Press.

The potent Brampton Excelsiors may be finding their scoring legs in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior playoffs. Even minus the services of three key men.

The Excelsiors, who finished up in first place during the regular schedule, Wednesday night gained an 11-7 victory over the St. Catharines Athletics to tie their quarter-final series at a game apiece.

In two other games, the Owen Sound Crescents defeated Mimico Mountaineers 14-9 in the second geme of their quarter-final series while the Hamilton Tigers went up two games over the Peterborough Petes by defeating them 12-9 at Peterborough.

At Brampton, the Excelsiors were in command throughout the game although their three star men—Carl Madgett, Nick Ferri, and Elmer Taylor—were on the sidelines

Setting Pace

Setting the pace for Brampton were Brown, Raine, and Hilson, with two goals each. Sheppard, Graham, Cruickshank, Garbutt, and Steel each counted one.

Harry Whipper led the Athletics with three goals. O'Hearn tallied two and Cove and D'Amico added singles.

At Owen Sound, the Crescents scored most of their points while the Mountaineers were shorthanded. The victory tied the series at 1-1 with the third game scheduled for Mimico Friday.

Russ Slater and Bun White paced the winners with three goals apiece. Ken Dixon was the high-scorer for the Mountaineers, sniping three goals.

The teams meet again Friday. The Excelsiors travel to St. Catharines, the Crescents move to Mimico, and the Petes play in Hamilton.

Close Contests

BETHANY, Sept. 1—(ENS) — Yelverton and Bethany Girls' Softball teams have had two closely contested games this week. Monday at Yelverton field their team won by a 7-6 score. Tuesday night in Bethany the game was called on account of darkness with the score tied 9-9.

The teams:

Yelverton—Aileen Kerr, p; Margaret Shea, c; Marjory Stinson, 1b; Madeline Kerr, 2b; Bernice Kerr, 3b; Annie VanDam, cf; Grace Kerr, ss; Phylis Stewart, lf; Ernestine Henderson, rf.

Bethany—Audrey Mulligan, p; Marie Carr, c; June Morrow, 1b; Dorothy Challice, cf; Evelyn Mantle, 2b; Christella Rowan, 3b; Dorothy Ginn, lf; Lauretta Rowan, cf; Mary Edwards, ss.

A third game has been arranged for Friday evening.

Juve Lacrossers Defeat Huntsville

Peterborough juvenile lacrosse All-stars journeyed to Huntsville and held the big Huntsville squad to an 11-all tie. This gave Peterborough the round 24 to 18, and eliminates Huntsville from further OLA competition. The Petes await word from the OLA on their next competitor.

The Petes led for the first three quarters, but faded in the fourth with Huntsville outscoring them in the final frame to tie it up. At the end of the first it was Petes 3, Huntsville 1. The Petes added to their lead in the second outscoring the home town lads 4 to 3. In the third the Petes took three while holding Huntsville to two, giving the Petes a four-goal lead going ino the final frame.

They played good lacrosse with Nicholls playing a fine game in goal. Huntsville took full advantage of their weight over their light opponents and with inconsistent work on the part of the referees got away with much illegal slashing and checking.

All the Peterborough boys played heads-up lacrosse, and it is difficult to pick the individual stars. However, the work of Vincent, the Robinson brothers, Fitzgerald and Heffernan was outstanding. Murr, Woods, Avery and Bennett, were the pick of the Huntsville squad.

B. Robinson led the Peterborough scorers with four, Heffernan had three, Batley two, while G. Burns and G. Robinson each notched one. Scoring was well divided amongst the Huntsville squad.

Petes — Nicholls, Burns, O'Donnell, Foster, Batley, Allen, B. Robinson, E. Crough, Fitzgerald, Mullen, Heffernan, H. Burns, G Robinson, Vincent, Hickson.

Huntsville — Antcliffe, Murr, Bennett, Avery, Simmons, Langridge, Malloy, Seaton, Smith, Woods, Davis, Cassidy, Bennett, J. Antcliffe.

Referees—J. Whitnall and G. Hamilton.

Ashby's Gain 5-3 Win Over Marines

Ashby's defeated Marines 5-3 in a nifty 50-minute Girls' Softball eLague round-robin tussue at the Bowl last night. Some of the Marines' players did not show up, but Ashby's were in top form to earn it as they played errorless ball. D. McFadden had half a dozen strikeouts, as Marines used two twirlers.

J. Reynolds and E. Simmonds looked good defensively for the winners, while M. Hill and V. Page played a sound game for Outboards, the team's few miscues not hurting. Two hits each were gained for Ashby's by D. McFadden, M. Stewart and E. Simmonds, as E. McFadden hit a homer. V. Page and M. Behan led the losers at the plate with three safeties apiece

The teams:

Ashby's — D. Callan cf, J. Reynolds c E. Simmonds lf, E. McFadden 3b, M. Stewart rf, M. Freeman 1b, L. Jordan 2b, J. Dunk ss, D. McFadden p.

Browns Bump Yankees For Solid 10-3 Triumph

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Disaster in St. Louis, following the loss of Tommy Henrich, has rocked the league-leading New York Yankees back on their heels.

Two straight drubbings by the upstart Brownies while Boston cooled off the surging Detroit Tigers, today cut the Yanks' lead in the American to two games entering the final month of the season.

There is a chance that Henrich may be back in uniform within three weeks but the season has only four weeks to go. By that time, the die may be cast. Meantime the Yanks have brought up first baseman Fenton Mole from Newark.

New York ran into the Browns in their hottest streak of the year and became the victims of St. Louis' sixth straight series victory.

Bumping Vic Raschi in a four-run first inning Wednesday night, the Browns soundly thumped the Yanks 10-3. Although nicked for 12 hits, Ned Garver went all the way for his 10th victory.

Miss Chance

Cleveland missed a chance to nick the Yank lead when they lost to the Philadelphia A's 5-1 in the second game of a twilight-night doubleheader after winning the opener 7-6 on Jim Hegan's 14th inning homer. As a result, the tribe gained only a half game on New York and trails by 4½ games.

Hegan's homer backed up a brilliant bit of shutout relief pitching by Al Benton, who earned his third victory within six days. Benton held the A's without a run after replacing Gene Bearden in the sixth.

Lou Brissie edged Early Wynn in the second game. Sam Chapman's single in the eighth was the winning blow.

Homers by Bobby Doerr and Ted Williams, each with a man on lifted the Red Sox to a 7-4 victory over the Tigers. Chuck Stobbs grabbed victory No. 9

Down Washington

Only American League tilt that did not involve contenders saw Chicago shove Washington a little deeper into the cellar with a 4-2 decision. Bill Pierce went the route with an eight-hitter to hand Sid Hudson his 14th loss.

Rain washed out the National League pennant race for the day, postponing both the St. Louis-Philadelphia and Brooklyn-Cincinnati games. Thus the Dodgers remain 1½ games behind the Cardinals.

Eight home runs were hit, five by New York Giants, as Leo Duroche's club thumped Pittsburg 12-5. Ray Mueller had two and Bob Thomson, Hank Thompson and Bert Haas each collected one for the Giants. Ralph Kiner hit his 38th and Johnny Hopp and Clyde McCullough also homered for Pittsburg.

Boston Braves tightened their grip on third place by edging the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 10 innings. Elbie Fletcher added his bit to "Fletcher Night" with a two-run homer in the seventh

Begin 10th Week Of Strike No End In Sight

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—The strike involving 900 lithographers in Ontario and Quebec today started its 10th week with the presses still stopped in 30 lithographing plants and no end in sight.

The fight is between the Amalgamated Lithographers of America (CIO) and the Canadian Lithographers Association, representing employers, over wages and working conditions and other issues. But its effects may soon be felt by the public.

The lithographers are key men in the production of such things as calendars, labels and other printed work. Unless the strike ends soon, calendar firms report there will be a shortage of 1950 calendars. One brewery firm has run out of labels and is using a supply of obsolete labels.

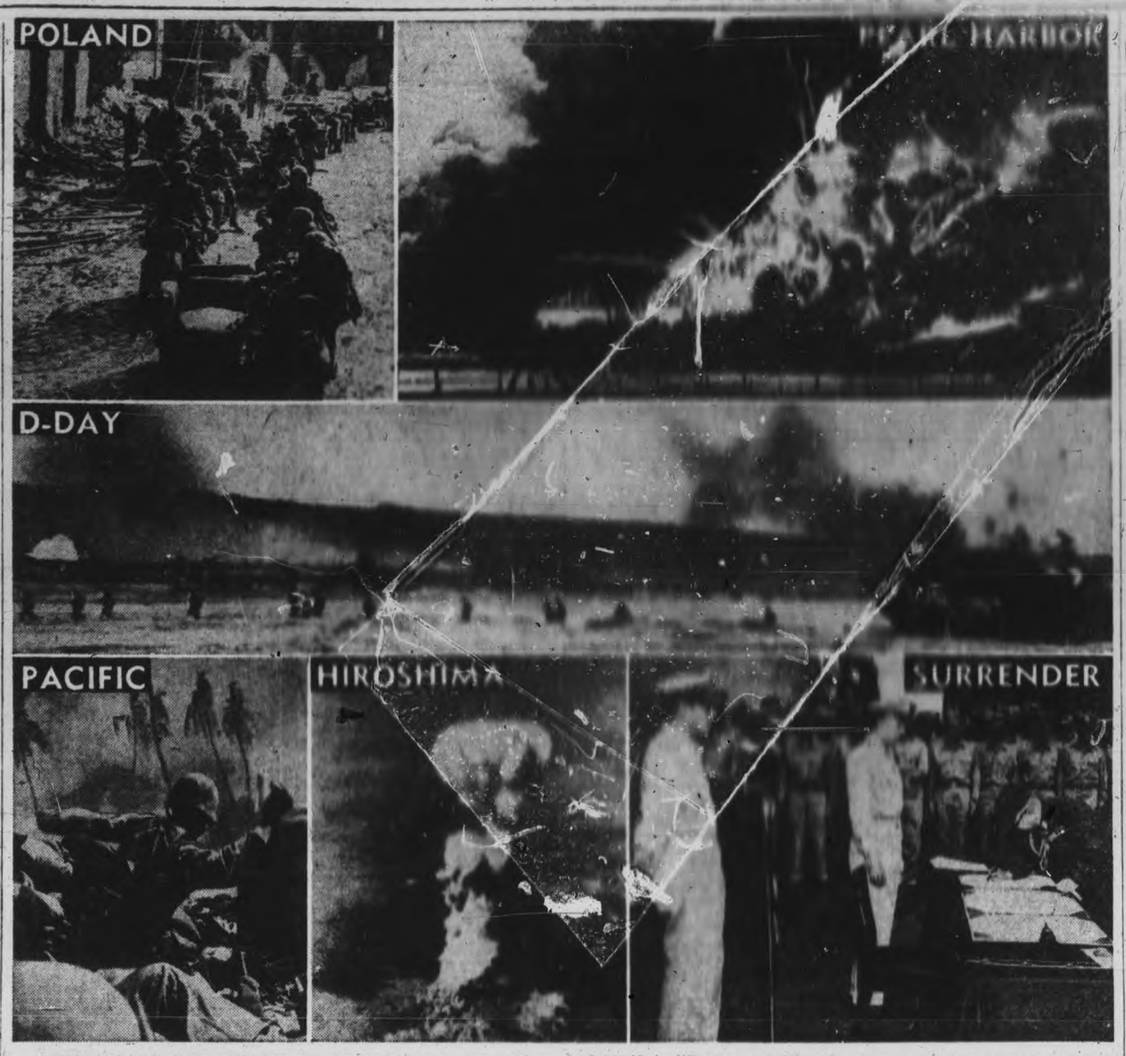
A tobacco firm is reported to be preparing to sell its cigars in undecorated boxes because its supply of lithographed boxes is running out. Some canning companies may have to turn to less decorative labels for canned gods.

The work stoppage spread throughout unionized plants in Ontario and Quebec after lithographers called a strike against four Toronto firms. The other plants closed in what the union termed a lockout. The association said it considered a strike against any one plant involved all firms because bargaining was being conducted on a collective basis.

Resort Owners Plan New Group

HAVELOCK, Sept. 1—(ENS)—"Crowe Valley Lakes" was the name suggested for this district at a meeting on Wednesday afternoon of holiday resort owners and the Marmora Chamber of Commerce, held in the Havelock Legion Hall.

The meeting was called for the purpose of organizing a "Tourists' Association" in this district. It was decided to call a meeting of the Belmont Ratepayers' Association and the Havelock and Belmont Fish and Game Association for Friday, September 9, at the home of James Cummings, Belmont Lake, to further discuss the proposal.



To Draw Map

A map is to be drawn up by Mr. Cummings covering the area to be taken in by the association.

G. Watson, owner of Gilmour Lodge, Sturgeon Lake, was the guest speaker. He outlined the procedure followed by the association he organized some years ago in his district. Mr. Watson laid stress on proper advertising, courteous service, cleanliness, wholesome food and fair prices.

FIRST OF MANY

First publication to be issued under the title of "magazine" was The Gentleman's Magazine, published in 1731 in England.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY World War II started. Pictured above are some of the high points of memory stirred by this grim anniversary. It was on Sept. 1, 1939, that the thunder of German bombs on Poland overturned the first act of a tragedy fated to engulf the world. The Nazi hordes overran Europe almost without hindrance—at first. The triumphant crash of bombs on Pearl Harbor proved really to be the death knell of the dictators, for it brought the United States into the conflict and shocked its citizens into the greatest war effort ever made by any people in history. Memory recalls D-Day—the long-awaited Allied invasion of Hitler's "Fortress Europa". It was the beginning of the end for Nazi Germany. D-Day's climax: V-E Day. And on the other side of the world, Yanks and their allies fought island by blazing, stinking island—up from the bottom of the world to blast the very heart of Japan. Then came the atom bombs. The final blow. Almost anti-climactic was the formal surrender. End of history's most devastating war. End of the Japanese empire. End, too—but unperceived—of the bonds that bound the Allies together through the war years. Beginning — also unperceived — of years of world unrest and a "cold war" that is not yet resolved.

Chooses London For Dramatics

QUEBEC, Sept. 1 (CP)—Paul Hebert, [illegible] young Quebec actor who learned his art playing on street corners with a group called Les Comediens de [illegible] today is on his way to London, not Paris—to study dramatics.

Every year a dozen or so young French-speaking actors from this province fulfill their ambitions by going to Paris to further their dramatic techniques.

Hebert, however, broke with this tradition by applying to the British government for a two-year scholarship to study with the Old Vic Theatre School in London—and got it.

He was believed to be the first French-speaking Canadian ever to get one.

Hebert said his admiration for William Shakespeare had been the deciding factor for his choice of London instead of Paris.

He sailed Wednesday night with his pretty 18-year-old wife, the former Huguette Lapierre of Montreal, an actress in her own right who formerly played with "La Compagnie du Masque," a Montreal amateur group.

One-Crop Methods Rapped At Sudbury

SUDBURY, Sept. 1 (CP)—Agriculture in the Sudbury district is paying the penalty for the one-crop methods practised over the last three decades, the Ontario Legislature's Select Committee on Conservation was told Wednesday.

In a brief submitted to the committee, farmers' representatives said that the main crop is hay, which can easily be converted into cash. But soil depletion has resulted they said.

The brief was submitted by such groups as milk producers, the crop improvement association, agricultural societies, junior farmers and farm co-operatives. It was read by Vern Kallio.

The brief said the problem rests in education, and while some progress has been achieved under the leadership of the local agricultural representatives, other means must be set up.

The committee is conducting a province-wide tour to determine what measure must be taken for a planned conservation program by the government.

LAST WITCHCRAFT TRIAL

The last legal trial in Scotland for witchcraft was in 1727.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Miss B. Green, Box 361, Davis, Okla., writes: "For three years my face was covered with large pimples...I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for three weeks I was greatly relieved; and now my skin is as smooth as a baby's." Scientifically medicated Cuticura may help you too! Buy Cuticura at your druggist today!

Find Health Official Worried Over Sewage

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—Dr. A. W Berry, director of sanitary engineering for the Ontario Department of Public Health, said Wednesday dumping of untreated or raw sewage into the province's lakes and rivers is a bad practice and should be stopped.

Windsor, Sarnia and Ottawa, he said, dump sewage directly into nearby rivers untreated. A portion of Toronto and Hamilton sewage is dumped directly into Lake Ontario.

"The most serious effect is that it makes the waters unsuitable for bathing, tends to destroy fish and wild life, creates a serious nuisance from the smell and destroys the natural beauty of our rivers and streams," Dr. Berry said.

Poland Attacked Ten Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

Ten years ago today Germany hurled her armed might against Poland That act touched off the second world war—the bloodiest, most destructive conflict in human history.

For the next six years millions of men fought, with old weapons and new. Air armadas clashed in the skies. Ground troops pushed through shattered ports, ruined cities, deserts, jungles, mountain ranges and frozen Arctic wastes. The fighting spread to the far reaches of the world's oceans.

Britain and France declared war Sept. 3, 1939. Seven days later the Canadian parliament voted to join in the struggle. The United States entered the conflict after Japan attacked Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, six months after Russia began hostilities after a German invasion.

Military and civilian dead in the war are believed to total 22,060,000. The number of wounded is estimated at 34,400,000.

Canadian forces suffered 92,493 casualties with 37,476 killed, 1,843 missing and 53,174 wounded.

Total cost of the war has been put at $1,116,991,463,084 and property damage at $230,900,000,000.

Apartment Door Lock Found Tampered With

The lock on an apartment door of H. V. Cunningham, 377 Water St., foiled a would-be break-in artist, marks indicate.

Mr. Cunningham, who had been on holidays for two weeks, reported to police Wednesday evening someone had tried to force the lock on his door with a knife.

Constable Doug Farthing found one screw had been removed from the plate on the lock. Another was loosened. Apparently the thief had not been able to open the lock. Everything appeared to be in order.

Eleven Enforce Red Rule In Polish Dictatorship

The Polish Political Bureau, comparable to the Russian Politburo, consists of 11 men, most of whom are also members of the government. Unlike "the 13 obscure men in the Kremlin," to quote Mr. Churchill, the Polish 11 are by no means unknown to the public, nor does their Politburo function in the same atmosphere of impenetrable secrecy, writes a London Times correspondent.

While there is frequently some uncertainty as to who is and who is not in the Russian Communist Party inner sanctum, the members of its Polish equivalent were officially announced at its inauguration, immediately after the merger of the Communists and Socialists into the United Workers' Party at the end of 1948.

All Communists

As was announced, the two parties after fusion elected a Central Committee of 70 who in turn elected from their number 11 members to form the Party Executive or Politburo. Eight are Communists and the other three Socialists, while the members of the Russian Politburo are all Communists.

In its composition and certainly in its purpose, the Polish Politburo does closely resemble the Executive of the Soviet Communist Party. Its first member, President Bierut, approximates to Premier Stalin in prerogative and authority more closely than does Premier Cyrankiewicz, who is also a member. Like its Russian counterpart, the Polish Politburo includes the chief of Security Police, M. Radkiewicz, the all-important vice-premier and minister for economic planning, M. Minc, and the party leaders and exponents of Marxist philosophy such as MM. Berman and Zawadzki — in fact, it represents the elite of the United Workers' Party.

While the Politburo has no constitutional status and as a party policy-forming instrument is the equivalent of the British Labor and Conservative party executives, its influence and ultimate power, as the presence of the head of the Security Police implies, far surpass anything of the kind possessed by these organiaztions.

It is true that, nominally at least, other political parties still exist in Poland (Peasant, Democratic, and Christian Labor Parties) but their status is negligible and their executives exist on sufferance. The executive of the Communist-Socialist Party is the sole repository of this formidable unofficial power.

For the most part the Politburo members are veteran revolutionaries whose careers in and out of prison have marked the history of the militant left movement in Poland for the past 30 years. They are also young men as politicians go; their average age is less than 50; Premier Cyrankiewicz being only 38 and President Bierut, the oldest member, 57. With the exception of two, they are all drawn from the Polish middle class and are mostly townsmen. Five have had a university education.

Western Europe is no closed book to these men. Most of them have traveled in western countries, one or two (notably President Bierut, who studied in Berlin and Vienna) have attended universities and educational institutions there. In the sense that they have experience and knowledge of the western world and have been nurtured in an atmosphere not wholly impervious to its customs and ideas, they differ greatly from their Russian opposite numbers.

Strictly Marxist

There is, however, nothing to indicate that this difference has any significance when balanced against a common faith in and determination to pursue the Marxist ideal. A first qualification for Politburo membership is an unblemished pro-Soviet record. Certainly by career and reputation they suggest men for whom personal considerations have little validity or reality where party or creed is concerned.

In furthering the Marxist gospel, loyalty to family is brushed aside while loyalty to country is completely identified with that to the Soviet Union as being in the best interest of Poland. It is not true, however, as so often asserted, that the polish leaders of today are Russians in disguise. So far as birth and nationality are concerned they are all Poles.

Most controversy has centred around the origin of President Bierut, whose facial characteristics seem Russian to some people. It is well known in Warsaw that he was born of a family of poor peasants in a village near Lublin then under Czarist-Russian rule. It was in Lublin, when working as a printer's apprentice, that he became a novice in revolutionary socialism and later as secretary of the Co-operative Society, a centre of clandestine activity against the Czar, he emerged as a forceful leader. He was only in Russia for a brief period during the last war.

Interested In Planes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (CP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (Dem. Colo.) was reported Wednesday to have been informed that several United States air lines are interested in buying British and Canadian jet transport planes. A member of the staff of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, of which Johnson is chairman, said the Senator was given that information by "a prominent figure in the air transport industry." Johnson is at his home in Colorado.

Open Investigation

EDMONTON, Sept. 1 (CP) — Harold J. Burke of New York, investigation expert, arrived here Tuesday night to open an investigation into the $2,000,000 Northern Hardware Company fire last March. Burke was chosen by the Alberta Supreme Court following a judicial probe of charges of negligence in combatting the blaze.

Rain Spoils Show

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP) — Thunderstorms Wednesday night washed out the grandstand show at the Canadian National Exhibition and general manager Elwood Hughes announced that an extra show for the sell-out crowd of 22,000 will be staged Sept. 13. Mr. Hughes also announced an extra show will be presented Sept. 12 and all proceeds will be donated to charitable organizations.

Bob Buchanan Leading In Golf Series

Bob Buchanan, secretary of the match and handicap committee of Kawartha Golf Club, led the way in the first 18 of the 36-hole city golf championship competition at Kawartha Club when he carded a gross 78. The remaining 18 holes will be played at Peterborough Club on Sept. 11, starting at one p.m.

The first round drew 38 city players, though rain fell during the whole play of the back nine, soaking the golfers thoroughly. Following are the scores for the first round:

R. Buchanan, 38-40—78; S. Whiddon, 38-41—79; R. Cutmore, 39-43—82; F. Dunfield, 40-42—82; F. Todd, 41-41—82; L. Reid, 39-44—83; L. Davis, 40-43—83; M. Akers, 40-43—83; D. Marquis, 39-45—84; W. Moulton, 40-44—84; R Abbott, 40-45—85; E. Hanbidge, 43-42—85; H. McLean, 40-45—85; J. Condon, 43-42—85; W. Crowley, 42-43—85; R. Hay, 41-44—85; H. Bradburn, 39-47—86; M. O'Leary, 41-45—86; O. DeGaw, 42-45—87; S. McBride, 42-45—87; F. Green, 42-46—88; A. O'Heron, 43-45—88; W. Harle, 42-46—88; H. McGougan 44-44—88; D. Smith, 46-43—89; W. Brady 44-45—89; J. Hollowell, 43-47—90; J. 1 Dead, 2 Hurt In Car Mishaps

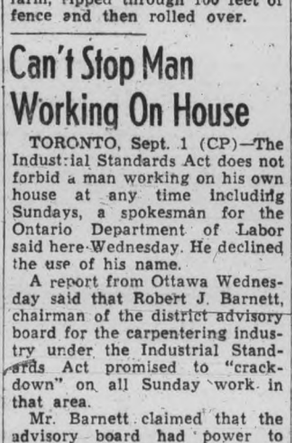
PAISLEY, Sept. 1 (CP)—One district man was killed and two others injured seriously late Wednesday in two separte accidents involving automobiles that went out of control on slippery pavement.

Dead is Thomas Chisholm, 40, of Brant Township who police said was driving one car. His passenger, Leonard O'Reilly, 40, also of Brant Township, is in Walkerton hospital with undetermined injuries.

Also in hospital severely injured is Campbell MacLellan, 30-year-old Cargill storekeeper, who was driving alone when his car crashed into a culvert on the outskirts of Paisley at the bottom of the North St. hill.

The Chisholm accident happened on the Elora road five miles south of this Bruce County village. Police said the car went into a skid, knocked over a mailbox in front of the Lloyd Hopper farm, ripped through 100 feet of fence and then rolled over.

Can't Stop Man Working On House



TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—The Industrial Standards Act does not forbid a man working on his own house at any time including Sundays, a spokesman for the Ontario Department of Labor said here Wednesday. He declined the use of his name.

A report from Ottawa Wednesday said that Robert J. Barnett, chairman of the district advisory board for the carpentering industry under the Industrial Standards Act promised to "crackdown" on all Sunday work in that area.

Mr. Barnett claimed that the advisory board had power to recommend to the industrial board of Ontario that prosecutions be launched against any "offenders" who persisted in doing Sunday work.

The Toronto spokesman said the ac specified the ban applied only to "employers and employees" who are forbidden to work for financial gain outside the prescribed hours.

"These prescribed hours do not include Saturday afternoon and Sunday unless the work is considered essential to life and property."

CANADIAN CONTENDER — Flt. Lt. James (Butch) McArthur of Edmonton will carry Canada's hopes in the annual Thompson Trophy air races at Cleveland on Labor Day. The Battle of Britain veteran, on leave from the RCAF winter experimental station at Edmonton, is shown in the cockpit of the war surplus Spitfire in which he hopes to win the international air races.

WHAT A DAY—Her bag of souvenirs and refreshments crowned by a Midway prize of a giant Panda doll almost her own size, five-year-old Judith Lynch calls it a day on the grass at the Canadian National Exhibition. The Toronto youngster made the rounds of the exhibits, sideshows and popcorn, ice cream and floss candy stands before her strength gave out.

Chungking New Site

CANTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — Chungking capital of wartime China, already has become the government's administrative centre, an official spokesman said Wednesday. Canton, the refugee capital, remains the political centre and formal seat of government, an official spokesman told the Associated Press.

Colonial Exhibition Draws Record Crowds In London

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP). — Whitehall has an unexpected hit on its hands. A show that started on a shoestring is outdrawing musical comedies in London's West End.

Since the curtain rose June 21, more than 6,000 visitors daily have crowded the ground floor and basement of a government building on Oxford Street, site of the central office of information's Colonial Exhibition.

Organized at a cost of less than £40,000 ($160,000), the show was authorized after a questionnaire showed that people don't know much about Britain's 36 colonies. Only one in four knew the difference between a dominion and a colony, and only one in two could name a colony.

Heated Jungle

Now queues form on Oxford Street, waiting to see a series of exhibits which seek to show life as it is lived in the colonies. Most popular is a simulated jungle heated to a temperature of 110 degrees. Through plaster trees comes the chatter of monkeys and birds — run off a sound track.

At first, the Information Office didn't think much of its show. It was organized in a hurry and nobody expected it to run more than a month. But so many attended the first week that the closing was extended to Sept. 17.

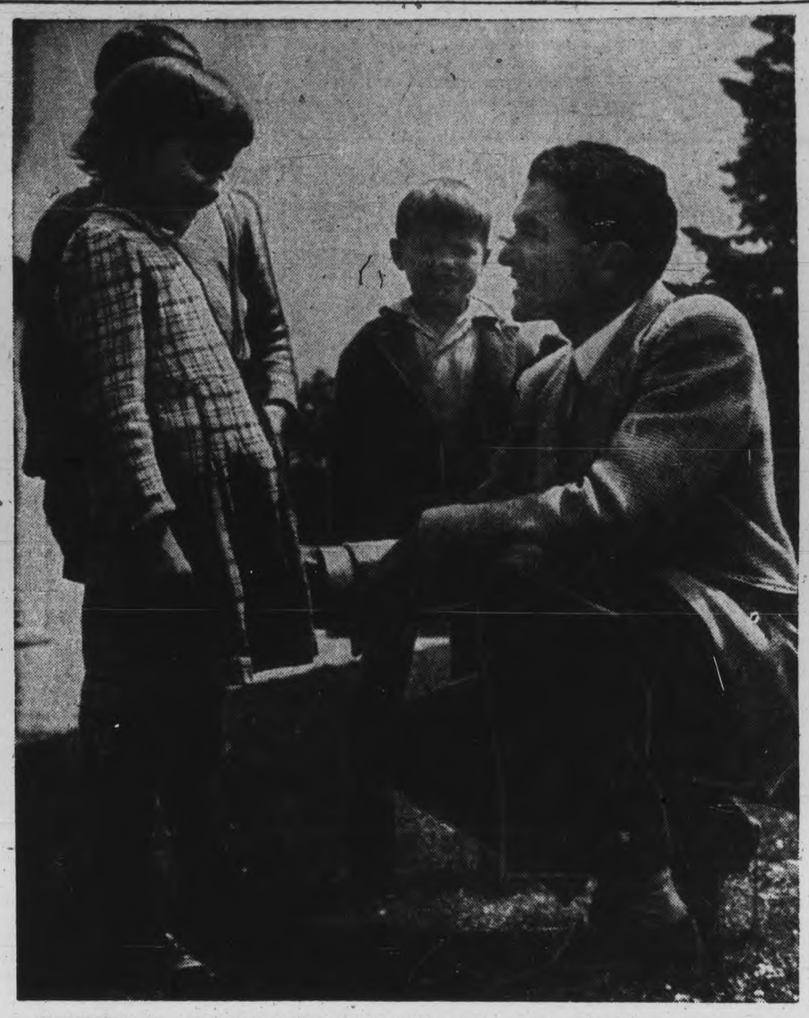
As of Aug. 24, the total number of visitors reached 406,929.

Admission is free, but the Information Office is still puzzled about one thing. Even in the hottest days of July, the crowds kept coming — to find that the "jungle air" was even hotter than it was outside.

Brave Man

Capt. Owen Cunningham, who started a Mayfair oyster bar on £500 capital and built up a business worth £25,000, has offered to pay £10,000 for the food rights in the House of Commons.

Last year the Commons, refreshment department lost £19,000. For nearly 100 years, it has proved impossible to make a profit. But Cunningham says he'll take on the job without increasing prices or lowering quality.



One difficulty he would face: Staff has to be paid all the year round, even if the House isn't sitting. Last year, the periods of recess totalled 17½ weeks and cost £18,000 in wages.

Scarboro Couple Parents Of Triplets

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP). — ercy Dimmock of suburban Scarboro is a surprised father today. His wife presented him with triplets—two girls and a boy. They are their first children.

"It makes a mighty good family to start off with," Mr. Dimmock said.

One girl weighed six pounds, 14 ounces and the other seven pounds 12 ounces. The boy weighed five pounds, 15 ounces.

MONTREALER HELPS DISPLACED CHILDREN. Here Douglas M. Deane, formerly associated with Canadian YMCA war services with headquarters in Montreal and a flight lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Air Force, meets one of his little charges in the Children's Village at Bad Aibling, US Zone, Germany. Mr. Deane is director of the village, run by the International Refugee Organization and the only one of its kind, which looks after displaced children with no parents. Before joining IRO, Mr. Deane served for several years as organizing secretary of the United Nations International School at Great Neck, Long Island.

Press Freedom Threatened By Commission

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 1—(AP) —Newspaper men's "character, understanding and allegiance to their responsibility—rather than policing commissions or enforced rules of conduct — are the best guarantors of continued self-improvement of the press," a prominent editor said Wednesday.

B. W. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, predicted a "dismal end" for an agency to appraise the press such as suggested by the Hutchins Commission on freedom of the press.

McKelway addressed a national session of journalism educationists.

He reviewed reports of the Hutchins Commission, headed by Robert M. Hutchins, Chancellor of the University of Chicago, and the British Royal Commission on the Press.

"Implicit in the proposals of both the Hutchins and the Royal Commission reports, no matter how clothed they may be in the fetching language of the beneficent reformer, is the idea of a policeman," he said.

"And the policeman idea is a threat to the freedom of the press, for freedom of the press means freedom for he worst as well as the best of its practitioners; freedom for 'the thought we hate' as well as the thought we approve."

McKelway called the Association of Associated Press Managing Editors "one of the best organized attempts by competent newspaper men to watch, criticize and report upon the daily performance of the press as seen through the wire report of the AP."

Accident Toll Higher

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—The number of accidents on Ontario highways during the first six months of 1949 totalled 14,333, an increase of 25.6 per cent over last year, the Motor Vehicles Branch reported Wednesday. There were 277 fatalities compared to 233 recorded in the same period of 1948.

Manitoba's Sugar Beet Crop Largest In Eight Years

By The Canadian Press

The largest sugar beet crop in the eight-year history of the industry in Manitoba is in prospect this year, officials of the Manitoba Sugar Company Ltd., say.

They expect the crop to reach more than 130,000 tons. It will be harvested from approximately 15,500 acres within a 60- to 70-mile radius of Winnipeg.

In 1942, a crop of 128,653 tons was harvested from 14,130 acres. The average yield in 1942 was 9.10 tons an acre. Yield this year is expected to be smaller—8.3 tons an acre.

In 1948, Manitoba farmers harvested 80,000 tons from 9,500 acres —an average yield of about eight tons. Company officials say there will be a steady rise in sugar beet production in the province during the next few years.

"Normally we have difficulty teaching farmers to grow beets, but during the last nine years we faced an additional handicap when the war resulted in a labor shortage," one official said. "Consequently the sugar beet industry from 1940 on did not increase steadily in production."

Important Unit

The sugar beet processing plant, built in suburban Fort Garry in 1940, has become an important unit in the economy of the province. Government figures show that since its inauguration, the industry has brought farmers a gross income of nearly $1,000,000 annually.

The market for the province's beet sugar is largely domestic, but northwestern Ontario and easterly sections of Saskatchewan also buy the Manitoba product.

The market for beet pulp extends from coast to coast as well as into the United States. Beet pulp, an excellent food for livestock, is used chiefly to fatten beef cattle. It sometimes is used to feed dairy cattle.

Wanted, A New Wife

TOKYO, Sept. 1 (AP). — Yasuo Kobayashi, 27, got the only job he could find—walking around town carrying a billboard.

That upset his wife, Katsuko 28. This was no job for the son of a former Japanese army Lieutenant-General, she said—and left him.

Yasuo added to his sign this advertisement of his own;

"Bright and cheerful wife wanted. Would-be groom 27 years old."

Eight candidates applied.

H. H. McFadden Lindsay Heads Municipal Body

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 1 (CP).—H. H. McFadden, Deputy-Reeve of Lindsay, was elected president of the Ontario Municipal Association at the final session of its 51st annual convention here Wednesday.

The new list of officers include:

E.A. Outram, Clerk of Peterborough; Mrs. M. A. Shipley, Reeve of Teck Township; J. F. Berry, Hamilton Clerk; Ald. Thomas H. Curran of St. Thomas and Ald. O. Booth of Fort William, vice-presidents; and K. Grant Crawford, Director of Institutes and Local Government, Queen's University, Secretary-Treasurer. The only addition to the list was Ald. Booth.

The executive committee includes: H. D. Bateman, Comptroller and Assessment Commissioner, Belleville; Kenneth G. Betts, Reeve of Flesherton; W. J. Bolvin, Assessor, Sudbury; Ald. Jack Beynon, Waterloo; H. W. Carswell, Clerk of Brockville; Ald. Grant Donald, Niagara Falls; V. H. Evans, Reeve of Tisdale; Charles Kirk, Clerk, Westminster Township; Martin H. Laird, Assessment Commissioner, St. Catharines; Harry Pierce, Assessment Commissioner, Brantford; Warden Eastman, Mayor Steele and Alan Stuart, Clerk-Solicitor, of Owen Sound.

Review Municipal Board

A provincial government review of the powers held by the Ontario Municipal Board was urged as the association wound up its convention.

The London-sponsored resolution, rejected earlier in sessions of two of the association's five sections, was approved by the body of the convention by a vote of 49 to 42.

The resolution gives to the city of London the collective backing of more than 600 of Ontario's most powerful municipalities.

The association supported a second London resolution, urging the government to permit municipalities to license caterers as they now do other classes of food handlers.

Delegates likewise approved London's request for legislation to permit municipal councils to authorize encroachments on the highway "for the purpose of installing gasoline tanks, fuel oil tanks and for construction of underground spaces under the highway and also for charging an annual rental for such purposes."

Go To Government

In all, delegates sifted through more than 50 resolutions in the final session. The decisions will be presented to the Ontario Government by the association executive in the Autumn.

They bolted the recommendation of their resolution committee and of the elected representatives section to appeal for legislation permitting divisional registrars to supply birth and death certificates. In most cases the registrars are municipal clerks.

Brantford delegates said that in one case in their city a boys' baseball team was disqualified in the playoffs because birth certificates did not arrive in time from the office of the provincial registrar general.

Resolution seeking legislation to permit admission charges on Sunday performances of a cultural nature and to lift restrictions on coloring of oleomargarine were rejected on the basis that they were not municipal matters.

Hollywood Wolf Just Lamb Laments Beauty

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1 (AP).—The famed Hollywood wolf is just a meek little lamb, if you want to believe Ruth Roman. Ruth is a streamlined and unattached brunette who oughta know.

She'd like to meet one of those aggressive Hollywoodsmen who, according to legend, lure the ladies with champagne and convertibles, just to satisfy her curiosity, of course.

"I've lived here for years," the actress said. "I have yet to get a call from anyone resembling a wolf.

"The rest of the country thinks female stars ride a constant merry-go-round of nightclubs and parties. I know a lot of leading ladies who sit at home night after night because nobody asks them for a date."

Filmland escorts, Miss Roman opined, must be twiddling their thumbs rather than their moustaches, and wishing they had nerve enough to call. Or maybe Miss Roman just doesn't know the wrong people.

In any event, ravishing Ruth poses a question, perhaps with an eye to the future:

"How is a girl to get married? Assuming she finds a man, who wants to reform a lamb?"

Dan Duryea, who takes his "heels" seriously, is visiting psychiatrists the better to portray screen villains. He says he has learned, for instance, that women who pay money to see him slap other women around aren't necessarily neurotic. Seems it's a normal desire, at least vicariously.

Charles Chaplin claims he has picked up, for "buttons," a story which has kicked around Hollywood for years with no takers. Better still, he says he'll make it for $200,000 — chickenfeed in this town. And, Chaplin predicts, it will be the greatest film of his career. Sound familiar?

Columbia reissued 44 old films in 1948-49, 41 per cent of that studio's total releases. Who says the old days weren't the best days?

Such is Hollywood dep't: Two identical Cadillac convertibles in a dealer's window labelled "His" and "Hers."

Seek Air Time

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP). — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is trying to work out an arrangement to provide the Social Credit party time on the French network during its convention at Asbestos, Que., Sept. 4. A. D. Dutton, chairman of the CBC Board of Governors, said Tuesday night the matter is under consideration. He was commenting on a statement by Louis Even, Director-General of the Social Credit party in Quebec, who said the CBC had refused to allow the party use of network facilities for the convention.

Alberta's popularity as a vacation land is indicated by the visits of 475,970 tourists to the four principal resort parks up to the end of July this year.

Took Cookies, Shot To Death

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP). — A five-cent pack of cookies cost a 10-year-old Negro boy his life today.

James Searcy, the dead boy, was shot in the head as he and four other youngsters fled from a south-side elevated station after raiding a candy and newspaper stand in the station.

Police said the fatal shot was fired by an 11-year-old boy, Carroll Johnson, Negro, left in charge of the stand by his cousin, George Parker, 23.

Johnson, a sixth-grade public school pupil, wept as he recounted that he tried only to scare the boys with Parker's pistol, kept in a drawer at the stand.

Searcy's body lay on the sidewalk, a small packet of cookies clutched in his right hand.

Three Polio Cases In United Counties

COBOURG, Sept. 1. —Three cases of polio were recorded for the week ending Aug. 27, in the report of communicable disease for that period issued by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. One was a man from Clarke township, age 35, who died after admission to hospital. The second patient was a 13-year-old boy in Hope township, who had no paralysis, and the third patient, a 42-year-old man visiting in Murray township, was admitted to Kingston General Hospital with bulbar paralysis. One case of chickenpox comprised the balance of the report.

Garson Ponders Baptist Protest

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP). — Justice Minister Garson is considering a protest from the congregation of the Runnymede Baptist Church in Toronto against the imprisonment of five Val d'Or, Que., Baptists following their arrest for preaching in the town's streets, it was learned today.

The protest was sent to Mr. Garson after the congregation voted Sunday in favor of such action.

Rev. W. Gordon Brown, pastor of the church and Dean of the Central Baptist Seminary, said the action of the Val d'Or Town Council in banning street preaching was untenable in law, there being no by-law to that effect.

Two ministers, the wife of one of them, a deacon and a deaconess are all in prison. They elected to serve 30-day terms rather than pay fines.

Tuesday, two other Baptist ministers charged with obstructing traffic while holding a street corner religious service in Val d'Or were released on bail after 20 hours' confinement. Their trial was set over to September 7.

Will Discuss Dangers In Atomic Research

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP) — Canada, Britain and the United States will hold a conference Sept. 5-10 on dangers in atomic research, including sabotage, the supply ministry announced Tuesday night.

The announcement noted that the meeting will be held under the three-country technical co-operation program set up in January, 1948, which it said does not include "weapon information."

The program for exchange of certain technical information is under the general direction of a combined policy committee.

Dr W B. Lewis, director of the Chalk River, Ont., laboratory of the National Research Council, will represent Canada at the talks.

Shriners Plan Event

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 1 (CP)— A boatload of 500 Shriners and their wives from all parts of western Ontario will leave Sarnia by boat on Sept. 6 for Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., where they will take part in a ceremonial and the initiation of 35 candidates. Ceremonial will be under direction of J. Fred Edwards, Past Potentate of Mocha Shrine, London, and Director Harry Morgan.

Children Suffocated

WOLSELEY, Sask., Sept. 1. — (CP) — Fire swept through a southern Saskatchewan farm home near here Monday and suffocated two young girls before the eyes of their frantic father, attemptinng to reach them through a window. Elaine Lydia Schneider 10, and her three-year-old sister by adoption, Linda May, were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Schneider.

To Stay In Cabinet

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent has asked Senator J. A. MacKinnon, former Minister of Mines and Resources, to stay on in the Federal Cabinet as Minister Without Portfolio, it was learned Tuesday. Senator MacKinnon, who did not stand for re-election in Edmonton West in the June 27 federal election, will remain in the Cabinet until it has other representation from Alberta.

Win Scholarships

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP). — Four McGill University graduates two from Ontario and Saskatchewan, have been awarded scholarships for post-graduate studies outside Canada by the Province of Quebec, it announced Tuesday. The scholarships are worth $1,200 a year for one to three years. Winners include Dr. Joseph Graham Stratford, of Brantford, now doing post-graduate work in neurology in London, England. He will study at the National Hospital, London, and the post-graduate Medical School, University of London.

More Younger Barristers Able To Join Association

BANFF, Alta, Sept. 1 (CP).— A host of Canada's barristers now are eligible for full membership in the Canadian Bar Association, which is holding its 31st annual convention at the Banff Springs Hotel.

At an executive meeting Tuesday, delegates voted to limit junior memberships to lawyers who have been practising law for only five years. Previously the Junior Bar membership period extended for 15 years from the date a barrister was called to the bar.

Close to 1,000 of Canada's leading legal authorities and their friends were in attendance today as Premier Manning, of Alberta, officially opened the convention.

Andre Taschereau, of Montreal, honorary secretary of the C.B.A., announced that the association has set up a committee to act jointly with a committee of the Canadian Medical Association to study problems of medico-legal jurisprudence.

Increase Fees

Besides lowering the junior membership period from 15 to five years, executive delegates Tuesday also increased punior membership fees from $3 to $5 and raised student subscription rates from $2 to $3. Full membership fees are $10 yearly.

Hon. Robert H. Jackson, of the United States Supreme Court, is scheduled to address delegates tomorrow, while Leonard W. Brockington, K.C., of Ottawa, will speak Friday.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, a former president of the association, will arrive here Thursday evening.

In Tuesday's sessions of the CBA execuaive, some delegates suggested that salaries of the puisne judges of the Supreme Court of Canada be increased to $25,000 a year and that the Chief Justice receive a larger salary. The Chief Justice now receives $20,000 a year, puisne judges receive $16,000.

Chief Justice W. B. Farris, of British Columbia, said during the discussion that salaries of "all judges are entirely inadequate and not in keeping with the dignity of the Supreme Court."

He suggested that any increases granted to the judges of the Supreme Court of Canada be extended to the judges of all superior courts "to raise them above the level of police courts."

Timmins Movie Scene

TIMMINS, Sept. 1 (CP). — A moving picture is going to be made here soon. Warner Brothers of Hollywood have announced they will shoot a film based on gold smuggling across the Canada-United States border. It is believed part of the film will be shot here and part at Niagara Falls.

Polio Hits Australia

MELBOURNE, Sept. 1 (Reuters)—Polio has reached epidemic proportions in Victoria, C. P. Cartside, State Health Minister, announced Tuesday night. He warned that the peak of the epidemic might not be reached until the southern hemisphere summer. Health department figures showed 411 cases reported this year, with 25 deaths.

Confirm Death Of Swindler

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP). — The death of Robert V. Miller, known as Count Victor Lustig, one of the world's most notorious swindlers was disclosed Tuesday by his brother at a court hearing in Camden, NJ.

Miller, sentenced in 1935 to 20 years in Alcatraz, died March 11, 1947, at the age of 57 of a brain tumor in a Federal hospital in Springfield, Mo. Federal authorities confirmed this and said notice of the death had never been published.

The brother, Emil Lustig, was released in Camden on a personal bond after he had been arrested on a counterfeit charge.

Miller had a fabulous career. Secret Service agents said an occasional counterfeit $20, $50 or $100 bill, known as "Count Lustig money," still turns up.

When the count was booked in 1935, an assistant United States attorney estimated that between 1930 and 1935 about $2,340,000 in bogus bills made by Miller and William Watts had been found. Watts, Miller's master engraver, also was sentenced to Alcatraz.

Miller was arrested more than 40 times, but boasted he had been able to "buy" his way out nearly every time. Once he escaped from the Federal House of Detention in Lower Manhattan in broad daylight by using a rope made of bed sheets.

The "Count," with faultless dress and a chauffeur-driven limousine, duped bankers, politicians and many women.

Once he sold a money-making machine for $100,000 to a Los Angeles banker. It was guaranteed to produce $20 bills at the turn of a crank—and did if he had loaded it beforehand

Juvenile In Court After Tavern Knifing

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP). — Montreal's juvenile delinquency squad today increased the tempo of its drive to prevent boys from being admitted to taverns and declared "particular interest" in what police describe as the barroom stabbing of a 16-year-old Verdun boy by a 15-year-old pal last Saturday night.

In Juvenile Court Tuesday the 15-year-old boy charged with wielding the knife pleaded guilty to a charge of assaulting Robert Brabant and causing him bodily injury. Brabant is in hospital with a four-inch gash in his right side.

Judge J. Gordon Nicholson ordered the assailant held in detention pending a "full investigation."

$2,000,000 Hospital

HAMILTON, Sept. 1 (CP). — Ratepayers here will be asked to approve construction of a 300-bed chronic convalescent hospital at the December municipal election. The hospital is to cost $2,000,000, with half the cost to be borne by provincial and federal grants.

Results Encouraging

GUELPH, Sept. 1 (CP). — Dr. A. L. McNabb, principal of the Ontario Veterinary College, Tuesday reported encouraging results in two-years experiments to control blackhead infection as a killer among turkey flocks. He said results of using enheptin as a protective agent are still in the preliminary stage but show "decided promise."

Plan Nets Much U.S. Currency

HALIFAX, Sept. 1 (CP). — The month-old campaign of the Halifax Junior Board of Trade to exchange Canadian silver dollars for United States dollars has brought in $30,000 in American currency so far and now the Board would like to see it made a Canada-wide affair.

John Rayside, who started the campaign, said today the Halifax Board will ask the national organization of Junior Chambers of Commerce to arrange a cross-Canada campaign next summer. He estimated that such a campaign would bring in $2,000,000 in American currency.

Display signs have been placed in Halifax store windows with the legend "Silver Dollars On Sale Here." The tourist turns in an American dollar and gets a shiny Canadian dollar as a souvenir.

Higher Tramway Fares For Montreal Urged

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP). — An arbitration commission today recommended an increase in tram fares in Montreal under which three tickets would be sold for 25 cents instead of the present four.

The three - man commission recommended that night fares be increased from 10 cents after midnight, the present fare, to 15 cents after 1 a.m. Sept. 30 was set as the deadline for the new rates.

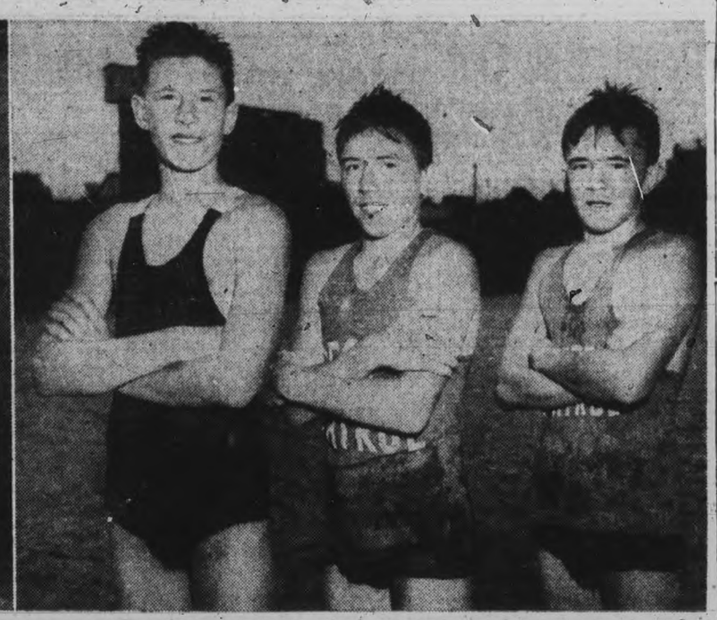
Youths Travel By Outboard To See Liftlock

Three youths came all the way from Mimico this week just to see the Liftlock. Clarke Abel, Ed Hutson and Gord Bennett, members of the newly-formed Mimico Outboard Club, left Mimico Saturday morning and brought three boats and motors by trailer to Frankford.

They left Frankford Sunday night by water, and Wednesday night were camped just above the Liftlock on the canal bank. In four days, they have been rained on, had a boat thrown up on a sea-wall by a passing tug, and have had motor trouble.

At Campbellford, they were tied to a dock, and when the tug went by, its wash threw Bennett's boat hard enough to take a strip right out of the deck. At Hastings, Abel's motor, a 16 h.p. job, had to have new points before they could leave.

Winding River



They said that they thought they were never going to get to Peterborough, because of the winding river. "I was dizzy most of the time, just following it," Bennett said.

Last night they slept just above the Liftlock, and Hutson, casting an eye at the gloomy sky, said, "It'll rain for sure tonight". When assured by a bystander that there wasn't a chance of rain, Hutson replied, "There's more than a chance. It's a certainty, because it's been following us wherever we go." In the event of a storm, they throw the sleeping bags in the boats and cover themselves with tarpaulins.

The three sailors, all wearing jaunty naval caps, left this morning for home. Abel is going back from Frankford and the other two are taking the water route, to Trenton and up Lake Ontario to Mimico. They expect to be home some time this week-end.

It was the first trip for the boys in this area, and in spite of bad weather they said the trip was worth it, just to see the Liftlock.

Windblown Rain Ushers In Autumn

Summer was gone this morning, bag and baggage, in an abrupt overnight departure. The community reluctantly removed the August page of its calendar with a sudden feeling for fuel.

The first daybreak of autumn arrived with windblown rain and a chill in the air with intimation that frosts are on the way, that sunshine is in retreat however temporarily pleasant may be the golden leafage of the hardwoods along toward October.

Although there is to be respite of bland weather when the haze hangs above the horizon of afternoons when the milkweed pods are opening to the wind, this morning's change of weather brought a sharp sense of awareness that another summer is only a memory.

Allied Labor Council Plans For Active Day On Monday

Schoolchildren and local unionists will mark Labor Day on Monday with a special program arranged by the Allied Labor Council in co-operation with the Peterborough Recreation Commission. The ALC represents more than 5,000 union members in this city.

As in other years the holiday will be celebrated here with a parade, trade union speakers and a carnival at Riverside Park.

Winners of inter-playground activities will be decided and a long list of prizes will be distributed by President Alfred Barber on behalf of the Labor Council.

It is now becoming almost traditional in Peterborough that Labor Day is "Children's Day" as well. Besides prizes to the winners of athletic events the ALC is giving free ice cream and chocolate milk to youngsters who participate in the day's activities.

A full day's program is promised.

The opening gun in the salute to Canada's 55th Day will be the parade—including three bands—of playground children and local union members from Charlotte St. to Riverside Park.

At 9:30 a.m. the marchers will move off from their "fall-in" at Charlotte and Aylmer Sts. with the PCVS Band leading. Following the collegians will be an estimated 300 children carrying the banners of seven city playgrounds.

Parade Prizes

Parade officials are expecting a snappy turnout among the youngsters because a number of parade prizes are to be awarded. The playground with the best dressed marchers and boasting the best turnout will be given the Parade Champion Banner, and softball equipment as well.

Last year the banner was won by Inverlea and it will be carried by them on Monday.

To induce the children to put some color and novelty into their march the ALC is offering individual prizes for boys and girls with the best decorated bicycle, wagon, doll carriage, and tricycle. The other awards will be for the most fancy costume and the most comic costume.

Boys and girls from Riverside, Inverlea, Fleming, Hamilton, Confederation, King Edward and Turner are expected to make competition keen.

Members of the Recreation Commission will be the judges.

Heading the labor section of the procession will be the Citizens' Band. Next will come a number of small ALC affiliates in one group.

Local 210 UPWA (CIO-CCL) will have their Judas goat to lead them. This local with most of the members dressed in white smocks and accompanied by Canada Packers trucks last year won the banner for the best union turnout and attendance.

Following will be the sister UPWA local, Local 293 (Quaker Oats).

To help lighten their steps Local 524 UE-CIO will have the CGE pipe band. Shop Stewards have promised a sizeable turnout of union members, and they will be accompanied by the Midget lacrosse team.

Local 527 has also indicated it will be well represented in the march. A float, appropriate to the Labor Day theme, has been arranged by District Five, UE.

Activities will commence as soon as the parade reaches Riverside. First of the many athletic events scheduled for the inter-playground playdowns will be at 10 a.m., and they are expected to continue until late afternoon.

Two guest speakers have been invited by the ALC (a unity Council of CIO-AFL and independent unions). One will be AFL and the other CIO. Just who they will be is not yet known. They will be heard shortly after 11 a.m.

Games will include bingo, over-and-under, and other games of chance. This year there will be no vaudeville show. Chief attraction for the young children is expected to be the pony rides.

Two of the chief features will be a softball game at 6:30 p.m. in the Bowl between two visiting girls' teams—at least one of which is expected to be from Toronto. At the same time the Citizens' Band will give a concert in the Park.

Mayor Swanston will speak to the trade unionists and other interested residents at 5:30 p.m.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. C. A. Trotter

Mrs. Charlotte Ann Trotter, 66, of 947 Water St. who died on Sunday was buried Wednesday in Little Lake Cemetery. The funeral was from the Belleghem Funeral Home, the Rev. E. J. Whan of Park Street Baptist Church officiating. Pallbearers were Edward Trotter, John Masters, George Hamilton, George Kearney, Albert Mahood, and Gordon Palsbo.

Study Improving Morrow Park

Willingness of the Utilities Commission to extend a line of credit to the football club for the flood lighting of the west end of Morrow Park has been quickening interest in that direction, Mayor Swanston told the Examiner today.

Before leaving for Toronto he said there was to be a meeting at the city hall Tuesday afternoon at which this proposal is to be considered.

The rugby club lighting will cost something like $3,000, but the Swanston idea is that if any money is to be spent there should be some thought given to baseball and also the future of the Exhibition.

"G. A. Gillespie said he and some of the directors of the Exhibition would attend because their board wishes to encourage the public in the use of Morrow Park," Mayor Swanston said. "We expect that some one will be present from the Utilities Commission, probably G. S. Matthews who has been the prime mover in this affair. There will also be some of us from the council; may be Hugh Campbell and Vern Dawson from the Peterborough Baseball Club. And, I think we ought to invite some one from Morrow Park Trust. They are concerned about the public use of the park.

"That is the likely set up for this meeting, and I have a notion everybody is in favor of the idea. Besides, we need more athletic activity down in the south end. We don't have to build a grandstand, and to lay out a diamond should not cost too much."

SEEK LOST FOLDER

District Headquarters of the Provincial Police have been asked by Robert Mund, of the Diocesan Theological College, 3473 University St., Montreal, to assist him in locating a large red, manilla legal folder, which he lost while visiting the Kawarthas. Mr. Mund made several trips between Peterborough and Apsley early in August and recalls leaving the folder in the back seat of a car, but he has not seen it since. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the folder, which contains numerous letters and documents, is asked to communicate with the Provincial Police.

500 Children Take Part In Season's Swim Program

A swimming meet in which more than 100 children took part wound up the swimming program of the Recreation Commission Wednesday afternoon at Riverside Park. The meet was under the direction of Swimming Instructor Bill Simons and his staff. Crests were given to the winner of firsts and seconds in the meet, and 68 Red Cross awards were presented to children passing Junior, Intermediate and Senior swimming tests, by Mrs. W. A. Hinds, Chairman of the Swimming and Water Safety Committee of the local Red Cross.

The summer swimming program this year has involved more than 500 children, and was pronounced by Jack Dane, recreation director, to be the most successful swimming program ever undertaken by the commission.

Of the 500 registered, 200 were able to swim very little and have now graduated to passing Red Cross swimming tests in the three classes, and have received their awards. One hundred were fair swimmers, and are now considered excellent. Another hundred couldn't swim at all, and can paddle around, as yet unable to pass any tests. The last 100 are drifters, children who have picked up one or two lessons and have immediately moved to the canal or other waters to try their skill.

Two Assistants

Instructor Simons was aided by two full time assistants, Lynn Davidson at Riverside and Mrs. Ella Simons at Inverlea; two part time assistants, Mary Rutherford at Riverside and Maureen Finn at Inverlea. In addition, a Junior Beach Patrol was organized to aid the instructors and lifeguards in keeping order and conducting the program at the beaches.

Mr. Dane said that the children instructed were in every age group, from two-and-a-half or three years and up. The commission hopes to continue the program next year.

Standouts in Wednesday's meet were Peggy Fuller and Elizabeth Cutmore in the girls' classes, and Donald Woods and Ron McIlwain in the boys' races.

Following is a list of the winners, placed in order of points gained in several different events:

Boys, under 11 years — Ross Dobbin, Bob Hollingsworth and Lorne Hall.

Girls, under 11 years—Marilyn Orr, Velma Hendren, Carole Hollingsworth.

Boys, under 13—Alex Baptie, Ross Dobbin, Bob Holingsworth.

Girls, under 13—Peggy Fuller, Beverley Pollock, Beverley Fuller and Donna Gibson.

Boys, under 15 — Don Wood, Ron McIlwain, Alex Baptie, Stan Gordon, Ernest Laton, Terry White (last four tied for third).

Girls, under 15—Peggy Fuller, Marilyn Vent, Elizabeth Cutmore.

Boys, under 17—Don Wood, Ron McIlwain, Harvey McFayden.

Girls, under 17—Peggy Fuller, Elizabeth Cutmore and Marilyn Vent, Donna Gibson.

Open, 300 yards — Don Wood, Ron McIlwain, Harvey McFayden.

HANDY CAR FIRE

Firemen had a job practically on their doorstep Wednesday night when a 1932 sedan had a short circuit in the wiring while parked near the Fire Station on Aylmer St. The horn bracket of the car broke and the horn dropped to the hot terminal of the starter, causing a short circuit. A hand pump was used to put out the smouldering wiring. A. Brockley of Dale Ave., is the owner of the vehicle.

RED LETTER DAY

August 29 is a "red letter" day with the family of Mr. E. L. Blackwell, 64 Aylmer St. N. This is the date on which Mr. Blackwell celebrates his own birthday and since the birth of his daughter, Miss Barbara Blackwell, 25 years ago, he has shared the honors. This week a third generation was added to list when his granddaughter Wendy Joyce, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Blackwell of 10 Chester St. on Monday, August 29.

No Obstruction Court Finds In Street Case

A charge against George Sills, 542 Gilmour St., of being a vagrant by loitering and obstructing people from passing, was dismissed in police court Thursday morning by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay.

The magistrate said perhaps Constable H. W. Andrew was a little over-zealous in performing his duty. Constable Andrew testified he had told a group of men standing on the south side of Charlotte St. about 11.40 Tuesday night to move on. They moved across the street in front of a restaurant. The constable told them a short time later, to move on again and a third time a few minutes after that.

He said he arrested Sills when Sills yelled out wanting to know when this country had become Germany. When asked whether he had seen anyone obstructed by the accused or one of the group with him by defense counsel, T. J. Carley, KC, Constable Andrew said he had not.

Sills said there were very few people on the street while he and his friends were standing there. One of his friends, William Moore, 314 Frederick Ave., testified he and Joseph Flynn had walked beside the officer after they had been told to walk on a third time and argued with him about why they had been asked to move on when another group farther down the street had not been given the same order. Sills lagged behind a short distance and then made the remark which led to his arrest.

Mr. Carley said he had a right to go downtown and loiter to his "heart's content" without breaking any law as long as he did not obstruct or insult anyone.

Ohio Fishermen Lead Order Of Muskies

Seven more American and Canadian fishermen have caught muskies in the Kawarthas since August 1 of a weight sufficient to qualify them as members of the "Order of the Kawartha Muskie," it was announced today by the Resort Operators' Section of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce. The average weight of the fish landed still remains at about 20 pounds, the same as for July, when the Order was first instituted as a means of boosting the charms of the Kawarthas as a tourist paradise.

Number of certificates and crests awarded to date stands at 23, with a total weight of 466 pounds. 21 of the muskies have been caught by trolling, the other two by casting.

Rice Lake is still well in the lead as the most prolific source of the much-sought fighting fish, with a score of 14, Pigeon, Buckhorn and Stony Lakes come next with two each, and Deer Bay, Trent River, and Otonabee River produced one each.

Ohio Leads

Ohio still leads as the home point of the lucky fishermen, with 12. Pennsylvania comes next with six, followed by New York 2, Ontario 2, and West Virginia one.

Following are the names of the newest members of the Order: William Becher, [illegible]illon, O., who caught a 17-[illegible]-1, 41 inch muskie in Rice Lake on August 1; Joseph Bolte, Verona, Pa., 16 pounds, 44 inches, Aug. 1, Rice Lake; Robert Lolve, Toronto, 20 pounds, 44 inches, Aug. 13, Otonabee River; Jake Echart, Brownsville, Pa., 19 pounds, 43 inches, August 12, Stony Lake; Mickey Linder, Cleveland, O., 16 pounds, 39 inches, August 11, Rice Lake; Jack Clavoer, Cleveland, O., 17½ pounds, 40 inches, August 11, Rice Lake; and Robert R. Hesse, Weirton, W. Va., 28½ lbs., 46½ inches, August 21, Deer Bay. All of these fish were caught by trolling.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

C. Williamson, P. Moore, R. Gamble, W. Jeffries, R. Hopkins, A. Black, J. D. Fitzpatrick and H. Freeman leave on Sunday for Elora. They are playing in Elora's big open tournament on Labor Day.

With fine weather promised, we should have a big crowd out at tomorrow's men's doubles. Time 7.15. Make your entry to B. Jefries tonight.

We notice that the ladies' club is represented by only one pair in the annual Globe and Mail doubles that began in Toronto this morning. This is something new. Usually the local elimination series in this contest was a highlight of the bowling season. The interest in this competition must be slipping. We have heard many lady bowlers say that they would sooner take the day off and go to an all-day tournament. Somehow or other we believe that there is a whole lot in that last statement and we agree.

Down at Port Hope yesterday our lady bowlers took home everything but Lake Ontario. There were 22 pairs entered—10 from Peterborough. The third game was rained out, so the prizes were distributed according to the standing at the end of the second game:

1, Mrs. Coleman and Miss Murphy; 2, Mrs. Staunton and Mrs. Coursey; 3, Mrs. Dyer and Mrs. Cullen; 5, Mrs. Renaud and Mrs. Hendry; 6, Mrs. Yeotes and Mrs. Willison.

We understand that the Lindsay trebles tournament was rained out after the second game. Peterborough had seven rinks entered. We are not certain, but we think Geo. Gimblett and R. Burns were somewhere in the money.

Gets Six Months

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP) — Rene Labelle, 28, of Hull, Que., was sentenced to six months in jail here Wednesday for having stolen $306 from a milk-delivery man who had befriended him and given him lodgings.

Royals Bow Out To Oshawa In OBA Series

Oshawa Legion defeated Peterborough southend Royals 12-8 in Port Hope to take their OBA juvenile playdown series, two games to one. Each team had won at home, and the third was set for a neutral diamond. Finishing a little stronger after a nip-and-tuck tilt, the Motor City squad earned the decision in an exciting game, both sides being rather loose in the field.

Mroczek went the distance, despite streaks of wildness, for the winners, while Doris took over in the second from Batchelor for Royals. Jozkoski, Coggins and Mroczek led the Oshawa hitters, as Buckton and Douglas went best at the plate for the losers. Jozkoski came through with five for five. The score was tied at 8-8 till Oshawa got a single run in the fifth, and they clinched matters in the eighth.

The teams:

Oshawa—Stroz, 3b; Coggins, 2b; Lawrence, ss; Mroczek, p; Keller, cf; Bienkowski, 1b; Joskoski, lm; Claus, c; Carries, rf.

Royals: Jemsen, cf; Allen, 3b; McGrath, 2b; Douglas, ss; Young, lf; Bigford, c; Buckton, 1b; Jones, rf; Batchelor, p; Doris, p; Grainger.

Royals	052	100 000	— 8 10 4

Cricketers Commence Woods Trophy Play

The first round of the annual contest for the Woods Memorial Trophy opens here Saturday in cricket when the Dentonia Park team of Toronto plays the Peterborough-Whitaker Club in the Oval. The cup was given by Mrs. George M. Woods in memory of her husband, who for several years was president of the Toronto and District Council, the trophy being valued at $500.

The competition is open to all bona fide clubs in Toronto and district. Dentonia Park Club is in the first division of the Toronto Council and this first round match should be good.

On Labor Day at the Oval, a neutral spot, the final match for the R. C. Matthews Trophy, emblematic of the county cricket championship of Ontario, will be played. Wentworth and Carleton Counties are in this final, the Peterborough team losing earlier to Carleton by one run. The trophy was given by Mr. Matthews in 1933. Peterborough won it in 1948.

Mixed Foursome At Peterborough

A successful and enjoyable two-ball mixed foursome golf tournament was arranged and played Tuesday evening at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club.

Contestants were drawn from the Business Girls' section who were paired with members of the Men's Senior Division. Some excellent scores were turned in and at the conclusion of the game, prizes were distributed as follows:

First low net—Isobel Bullock, G. H. Cutmore; 2nd low net—Mary Dodds, H. O. Jamieson; 3rd low net—Lois Emborg, J. Watson.

Other prizes were won by: Loretta Sullivan, Lahring Parsons, June Ballard, Shirley Mortimer, S. Williamson, W. Brown, Alec Walker, Randall Stacey.

In addition, each girl was presented with packages containing helpful aids for the improvement of her game and other packages for household use to assist in completing her evening chores.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A lot of horsepower will be let loose on the Detroit River this week-end in the running of the Detroit Yacht Club's silver cup speedboat regatta.

Sixteen entries already have been posted with the racing committee. Among them are Jack Schafer's Such Crust; Horace Dodge's My Sweetie and Delphine XI; Guy Lombardo's Tempo VI, Miss Pepsi of Detroit; and Harold Wilson's Miss Canada IV of Ingersoll, Ont.

Missing will be Stanley Dollar's Skip-A-Long, which won the historic Harmsworth Trophy last month.

The silver cup race has two 45-mile heats for unlimited hydroplanes. It will be run Saturday and Monday, each race starting at 6:05 p.m. EDT.

The silver cup at present is held by Wilson's Miss Canada III, which captured it last year. Despite the poor performance of the new Miss Canada IV in the Harmsworth race here, her entry in this year's silver cup event is attracting more than ordinary interest.

Because of mechanical difficulty, Miss Canada IV was unable to get up speed in the Harmsworth.

Wilson was in Picton, Ont., last week for a try with Miss Canada IV at the world's speedboat record of 141.7 miles an hour, but had to call it off when the $100,000 boat developed mechanical trouble.

Two veteran Ontario golfers—Frank Cochran, 65, of Toronto and A. C. Hoffman, 63, of Waterloo — Wednesday combined to top a field of 89 two-ball foursome teams in the 27th annual Canadian Seniors Golf Tournament at Toronto.

Hoffman and Cochran put together a 43 and a 40 for 83 in the 18-hole event. Their 18-stroke handicap gave them a 66 net.

Second place honors went to Weston's Tom Beatty and J. J. Drummer who carded a net of 69, while R. Pagett and Dr. W. Givens both of Toronto, registered a 70 for third place.

At St. John, N.B., it was announced Freddie Thomas, athlete from Windsor, who Wednesday night completed a baseball season with Saint John Dodgers, has been invited to the fall training camp of the Harlem Globetrotters professional basketball team.

Last Spring, at Vancouver, Thomas led Assumption College of Windsor in its attempt to lift the dominion cage title from Vancouver Clover Leafs.

Blond Dick Hayman, 15, of Kingsville Wednesday was crowned 1949 champion of Essex-Kent boy golfers at Windsor.

He won the 22nd annual Essex-Kent tournament in grand style after walking off with medal play honors last Monday. Then, he shot a one-under-man's-par 35 on the outgoing nine to make sure of the qualifying round leadership with an 18-hole 76.

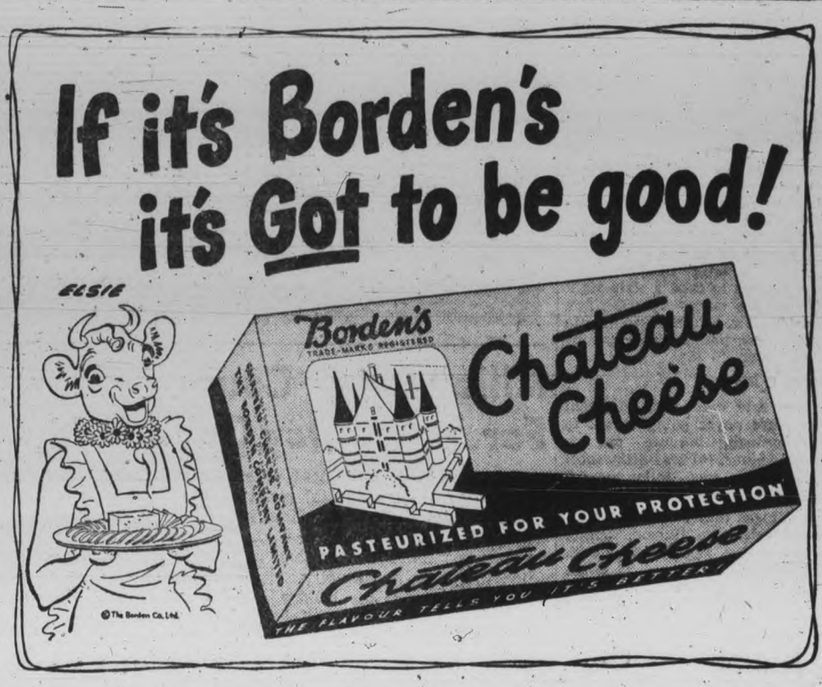
Busmen Triumph

Bus Drivers defeated the Police 85 yesterday to go into the Civic Softball League semi-finals, meeting Grant & Louck tomorrow in Armour Field to open best-of-three playoffs. Winner then tackles Bell Telephone in the finals. The Drivers had 12 hits and but one miscue to eight bingles for Police and three errors. Gray clouted a homer for the winners, who scored a run in the first, two each in the next two heats and three in the fourth. Police got three in the first and two next time up. Teams:



Bus Drivers— Parnell, Brown, Strickland, Gordon, Gray, Clark, O'Dette, Simmons, Jamieson.

Police— Fife, Traynor, Conlin, Howden, Niziol, Clapper, Mesley, Roderique, Smith.

Umpires—Moher and Meraw.

Posthumous Award

—Babe Ruth Wednesday was awarded posthumously the American Legion's Distinguished Service Medal for his interest in the youngsters. The medal—the Legion's highest award—was accepted on behalf of her late husband by Mrs. Ruth as 5,000 delegates to the Legion's 31st annual convention arose and applauded in Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

Red Tape Blamed For Salvage Delay

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 1, (AP) International red tape Wednesday delayed salvaging of the coal lighter West Shore, which capsized and blocked the Blackwell Canal a week ago. Two salvage tugs owned by the Pyke Salvage Company arrived from Kingston, Ont., to raise and remove the West Shore, but United States customs authorities raised the question of legality.

Chauncey W. Shaffer, assistant customs collector, said a treaty provides that "Canadian rigs can do salvaging in certain United States waters, but in my opinion, the Blackwell Canal is not included in the waters covered by this treaty."

Therefore, said Shaffer, the commissioner of customs in Washington must rule on the application.

The Pyke Salvage Company submitted a low bid of $28,000 to raise and remove the 157-foot, 40-year-old coal barge.

Find Telepathy Possible Scientist Says

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England, Sept. 1 — (CP). — An Oxford University scientist said today that telepathy—communication between minds other than through the ordinary senses—has been established.

Dr. Alister Hardy, Linacre Professor of Zoology and Comparative Anatomy at Oxford, told the British Association for the Advancement of Science that although telepathy is something many scientists do not like to look at, no one who examines it with unbiased mind can reject the evidence.

He said telepathy may lead to other scientific developments.

"If telepathy has been established, as I believe it has, then such a revolutionary discovery should make us keep our minds open to the possibility that there may be so much more in living things and their evolution than our science has hitherto led us to expect," Dr. Hardy said.

"....Perhaps our ideas on evolution may be altered if something akin to telepathy — unconscious no doubt—was found to be a factor in moulding the patterns of behavior among members of a species.

Knowledge Limited

"....We fool ourselves if we imagine that our present ideas about life and evolution are more than a tiny fraction of the truth yet to be discovered in the almost endless years ahead. We are but at the threshold of our understanding of living things."

Noting that man, by selective breeding, can alter the form of domestic animals to suit, within limits, his own desires, Dr. Hardy said the same idea could be applied to man himself.

"No modern biologist would doubt that if we knew as much about the genetics of man as we do about the genetics of some animals, then if mankind wished to control marriages by law, he could, by permitting some and prohibiting others, gradually in the course of long periods of time, alter the human race.

"Modern biology points to that, not as something desirable or undesirable, but as a theoretical possibility."

Second Man Charged With Converting Funds

COBOURG, Sept. 1 (ENS) — Adjournment was made for another week following resumption of preliminary hearing of a conversion of funds charge against Eugene Bolster in police court yesterday. Bolster is alleged to have converted to his own use the sum of $2,638.61, said to be amounts collected by him while travelling for the tobacco wholesale firm of Claude Fowler, Cobourg. The charge dates from July 1, 1948, to May 21, 1949.

Also charged with converting funds belonging to Fowler to his own use, is Jack Kewin, who was employed as a salesman by Fowler. The amount involved in his case is said to be $450.82.

Yesterday's session was devoted to defence cross-examination of the complainant, Claude Fowler. Due to one item, that of $16.50, for which there was no invoice, adjournment was made for a week in order that the invoice could be obtained from one of the firm's customers in Marmora.

OIL BOOM

Fifty new oil companies moved into Edmonton during the first six months of 1949, according to Graham W. Curtis of the Edmonton industrial commission.

Small Steering Committee To Handle Defence Plans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP). —The 12 Atlantic Pact countries probably will entrust their defence planning to a small steering committee instead of a single supreme commander.

Diplomatic officials reporting this today said all countries represented on the steering group would have equal rank with no single boss. Decisions would be taken by unanimous vote.

These officials described the steering committee idea as more practical in peacetime since it would not give any one country the responsibility for mapping the defence strategy of 11 other member countries.

A final decision is expected when Foreign Ministers of the Pact countries gather here on September 17 to put the treaty into operation.

Meanwhile, the fate of President Truman's request to Congress for a $1,160,900,000 arms-aid program for European Pact members still was up in the air in Congress.

A sharply-reduced program has been passed by the House of Representatives. Key Senators are reported to have agreed on a $1,000,000,000 figure, with emphasis on delaying full aid until joint defence strategy is completed.

Representatives of the Pact countries, meeting here in advance of the Foreign Ministers' sessions, are reported to have ruled out the notion of a supreme commander after much discussion.

One of the main reasons for their decision officials said, was that Congress might have balked at the idea in belief it would have committed the United States to underwrite all decisions of the single commander if he were an American, as was likely.

Under the North Atlantic Treaty the United States has agreed to take all appropriate steps short of war in one of the member countries if the alliance is attacked. The actual decision on whether to declare war still rests in the hands of Congress.

Pope Enjoys Summer Holiday

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 1 (Reuters)—At his lakeside summer palace of Castel Gandolfo in the Alban Hills, Pope Pius is enjoying his first complete holiday in 10 years.

After the strain of the last year's events beginning with the arrest and trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty and culminating in the church's thunderous decree against the Communists, his holiness is taking a brief period of rest on the advice of his doctors.

Much of his holiday is being spent in prayer and study. In the afternoons he walks among the Papal gardens overlooking Lake Albano. In the evenings he reads or occasionally listens to classical music on the radio.

Since he became Pope in 1939, the frail-looking 73-year-old sovereign Pontiff has spared himself nothing in his immense task of guiding the spiritual lives of 400,000,000 Roman Catholics.

His spartan daily round of prayer and work has been made more arduous by the detailed attention and care he devotes to every aspect of the church's life and by his personal audiences daily to the hundreds of pilgrims and foreign visitors who come to ask his blessing.

BAKED SALMON PIE

4 cups (2 lbs.) Canned Salmon
1¼ cups crushed crackers
2 eggs, lightly beaten
2 tbsps. evaporated milk
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
½ tsp. scraped onion
2 tbsps. butter
3 medium potatoes (cubed and boiled)
1 cup medium white sauce
¼ cup fine bread crumbs

Flake salmon; mix lightly with crackers, eggs, milk, seasonings. Melt butter in 9-inch shallow baking dish. Line with salmon mixture; pack firmly on bottom, building sides high with large salmon flakes. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 15 minutes. Add hot drained potatoes to the white sauce and turn immediately into salmon "shell" in baking dish. Top with bread crumbs, brown lightly in hot oven. Serves 6.

New Controversy Boiling On Timber Policy

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 1 (CP) —A controversy over Ontario's timber concession policy boiled anew here Wednesday.

W. Earl Rowe, president of the Great Lakes Paper Company, Ltd., charged that a "premeditated plan" is in progress to discredit both the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and the practices of pulp and paper companies.

The controversy involves the divergent views of pulp and paper interest and of lumbering concerns.

Earlier this month, two heads of lumber mills—Edward E. Johnson, president of Great Lakes Lumber and Shipping Company of Fort William, and R. J. Prettie, head of Northern Wood Preservers, Ltd., of Port Arthur—announced that their mills will close Nov. 1.

Mr. Johnson charged Aug. 17 that "huge concessions" granted pulp and paper firms have excluded lumbermen from an adequate source of raw wood supply, leaving him no alternative but to close down.

Mr. Prettie said it is economically impossible to operate profitably under present conditions of wood supply, and that radical changes in the method of harvesting saw log lumber are needed to ensure stability for lumbermen.

Mr. Rowe said his firm is carrying out a "sincere salvage program" of budworm-infested areas. And in a statement to all employees of the company in Fort William and district, he declared that the Great Lakes Lumber and Shipping Company is engaged in what he termed "reckless proposals" and "novelistic propaganda" aimed at the government department and pulp and paper companies.

The lands and forest department constantly supervises the long-range plans and practices of the pulp and paper companies, Mr. Rowe said. No cutting is allowed until the department approves it.

Vagrancy Conviction

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP) — Blonde Eleanor Flowers, 24-year-old deaf mute who gave her evidence by writing on a pad, Wednesday was convicted on a vagrancy charge. She was given two years suspended sentence and placed in the care of the Salvation Army after testifying she has no money and no job.

Stitt Dismissed From Congregation

GUELPH, Sept. 1 (CP)—Robert Stitt of Guelph said Wednesday he first learned of his dismissal from the congregation of York Road Baptist Church here when he tried to attend a business meeting in the church Sunday.

Stitt is the husband of the 27-year-old Guelph woman who said she received a "love letter" from Rev. Thomas Guthrie, 42-year-old father of two children and minister of the church. Mr. Guthrie has referred to himself as just "a poor, simple sinning preacher."

On Sunday, Mr. Stitt said, his wife had not received the letter from Rev. Guthrie advising her that she and her husband were no longer members of the congregation.

Earlier, Mrs. Stitt charged the pastor forced attentions on her against her will. She called his "love letter" the "last straw."

The letter—signed "Thomas (Honey) Guthrie" and ending with the words 'I love you,'—caused a wide split in the congregation of the church. A dissident group, headed by five dismissed deacons, has engaged a legal counsel in an attempt to oust their minister.

Mr. Guthrie had promised to hold a press conference Wednesday, but when reporters converged on his house it was vacant.

Object To Location Alcoholics Hospital

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP). — Health Minister Kelley said Wednesday opposition of Toronto residents to the location of a hospital for the treatment of alcoholics in their district may force the province to locate a new site outside the city.

A number of locations in East-Central Rosedale, where large houses would provide adequate quarters for the Alcoholism Research Foundation's proposed treatment hospital, have been approved by the trustees, but residents of the section have voiced opposition.

Attacked By Group

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP) — Don Boudreault, 18, told police Wednesday night seven teen-aged youths punched and kicked him for 15 minutes after throwing him to the ground. Boudreault said he recognized a youth with whom he had a fight last March among his attackers. Police said they have the licence number of a car in which the gang was seen driving away.

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Picnic At Hamilton Park

There were no unhappy children at Hamilton Park Playground Wednesday afternoon.

More than 200 of them, age 12 and under, participated in races and games and gorged themselves to capacity on quantities of ice cream, cookies and soft drinks.

The picnic was sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club. Kiwanian Bob Merritt looked after the purchasing of refreshments and he gauged the situation with a discerning eye as each child had as much as he wanted. Half a dozen mothers volunteered to prepare and distribute refreshments.

Boys and girls ran off a series of races in their various age groups and then they participated in circle games.

One of the major events of the afternoon was the announcing of the boy and girl winners of the Character Award. It is the highest honor granted by the Playground and is presented for outstanding conduct, leadership, and good attendance.

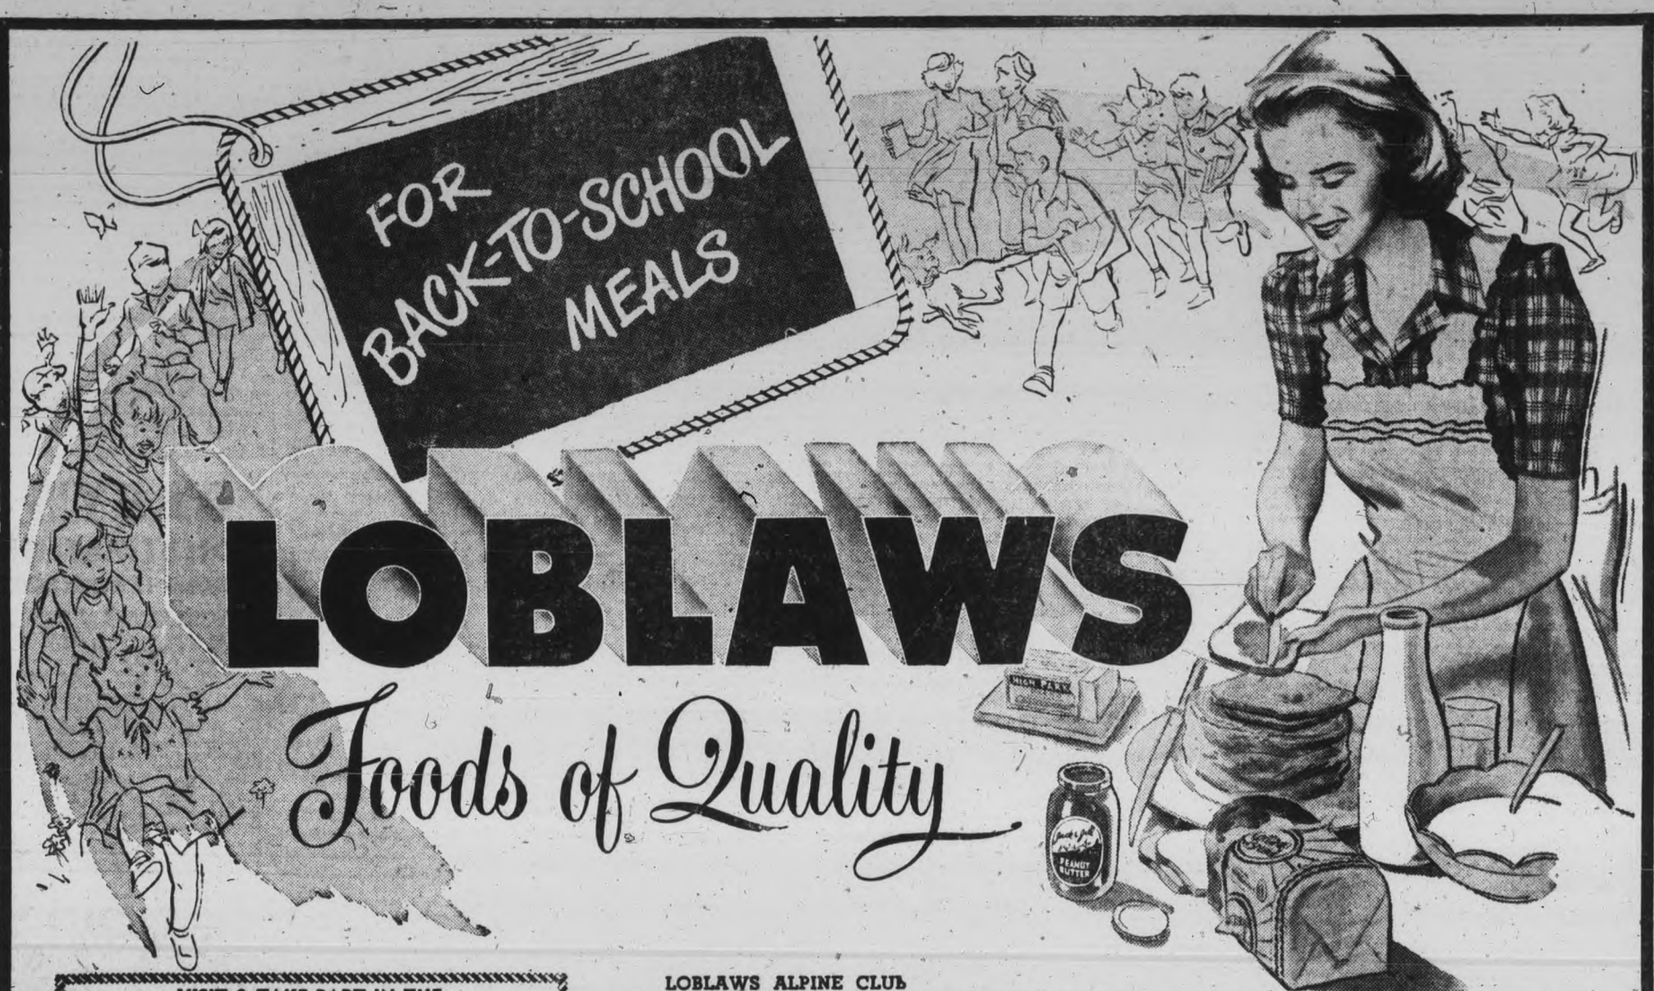
Top boy at Hamilton Park is Terry Hawkins, age 12, and the girl is 14-year-old Delmas Senderson. Both will receive bronze medals with their names inscribed when prizes are given to Playground winners at Riverside Park on Labor Day.

About 30 of the older children have been invited to the Playground for a weiner roast being given tonight by ex-mayor James Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton donated the land on which the Playground now stands.

The children have helped to build a fireplace so the water for the weiners can be heated. The fun is expected to start about 8:30 p.m.

Publicity Jump

FORT LEE, N. J., Sept. 1 (AP) A young man, who said he is a professional stunt parachutist, leaped Wednesday from the 248-foot-high George Washington bridge into the Hudson River. He freed himself from parachute shroud lines and swam about 100 feet to the New Jersey shore, where he was taken into custody by police and charged with disorderly conduct. The jumper identified himself as Robert (Jumping Jack) Niles, 22. He said the jump was strictly publicity and was done on his own.



Junior Farmers To Attend Camp

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP). — The third provincial leadership training camp for the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario will be held Sept. 5-12 at Lake Couchiching, it was announced today.

Eighty-two young men and women, representing 290 communities throughout the province, will attend the training session organized by the Provincial Agriculture Department on the Indian tribe theme.

The group will be divided into five tribes, each headed by a "chief." The delegates or "braves" will take one of a number of courses, including leathercraft, music, social recreation, drama and nature study.

Instructional work will be provided by a highly-trained staff, including representatives of the Agriculture, Education and Lands and Forests Departments, the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, and the Ottawa Little Theatre.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL JOSEPH JOHNSON after their marriage in St. Peter's Cathedral Wednesday morning. The bride is Winnifred Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Ryan, Peterborough. Johnson-Ryan Take Vows Reception at Kawartha Club

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a lovely wedding Wednesday morning at ten o'clock when Winnifred Anne Ryan became the bride of Paul Joseph Johnson. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Ryan, 364 Brock St. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Johnson of Pittsfield, Mass.

The Rev. F. K. Malane performed the marriage ceremony and said the nuptial mass. Bouquets of white gladioli decorated the altar table. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Robert Aman and Miss Joan Southern sang "Ave Maria."

Ivory embossed satin fashioned the bride's gown which fell into a graceful train from the bustle back. The bodice was fastened in front with tiny satin covered buttons from collar to waist. A veil of embroidered net fell to full length from a halo headdress of the material of her gown and she carried a bouquet of pink roses with bouvardia.

Mr. Ryan gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by her sisters the Misses Catherine and Gertrude Ryan. The bridesmaid's frocks were of sheer organdy over dusty pink taffeta with taffeta sashes binding the full, slightly trained, skirts. Each wore a halo shaped hat of pink organdy over taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink roses and white gladioli.

Mr. Samuel Johnson Jr. was groomsman for his brother. The ushers were Messrs. George Johnson, Walter Ryan, Richard Corkery and Francis Rocchi.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ryan chose a gown fashioned of dove grey lace over crepe, a hat of cornflower blue felt and corsage of pink roses and cornflower. The groom's mother wore midnight blue crepe, matching hat and corsage of Talisman roses. Both received with the wedding party at a reception held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

When leaving later for the Laurentians where the couple will honeymoon, the bride was wearing a navy suit, pink hat and gloves, and had shoes and bag in navy. On return from the trip they will live in Toronto.

BABY'S CONSTIPATION SERIOUS IF NEGLECTED

BABY'S daily movements are something of which absolutely accurate track must be kept. When he misses, something must be done at once. Constipation is serious for baby.

Mrs. John T. Reid of Hespeler, Ont., has this to say: "Having had seven children and having used Baby's Own Tablets for all seven can say they are the best and gentlest regulator for children. During teething Baby's Own Tablets were a boon to me as they cleared up at once any digestive disturbance or fretfulness."

Equally effective for simple fever, teething troubles, upset stomach and other minor ailments of babyhood.

Quick in their action. Sweet-tasting—easily crushed to a powder, if desired. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Get a box today. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if not satisfied.

Faster And Better FOR ALL FAMILY WASH AND DISHES!

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Sept. 1st—"Jack was delighted the first time I served this delicious tea and now I wouldn't dream of buying any other brand!" This is what a reader writes about the new, improved TENDER LEAF TEA BAGS—and she goes on to say . . . "My husband Jack has always been particular about tea, so I feel I've really accomplished something when I find a brand he raves about! I agree with him—the flavour of this Orange Pekoe tea is extra good . . . I suppose it's because it's made from those little top leaves I've read about? Whatever it is, we're both crazy about the flavour—AND I find TENDER LEAF TEA BAGS a great convenience and so economical!"

Cool Fall Days Mean Heartier Appetites . . . and here's just the thing to satisfy them! . . . mouth-watering waffles made with FIVE ROSES FLOUR! Yes, famous "Five Roses", the flour "for all-purpose baking" means "waffle success" without fail! Try this "Five Roses" recipe for Gingerbread Waffles:—

2 cups Five Roses Flour	1/2 tspn. ginger
1 tspn. soda	1/3 cup shortening
1 tspn. salt	1/4 cup sugar
1/4 tspn. nutmeg	1 cup molasses
1/4 tspn. cloves	1 egg, unbeaten
1/2 tspn. cinnamon	1 cup sour milk

Sift together the flour, soda, salt and spices. Cream together the shortening and sugar; gradually blend in the molasses. Stir in 1/3 cup of dry ingredients. Beat in the egg. Alternately add remaining dry ingredients and milk. Bake in waffle iron at low heat. Makes 20 portions.

The Makers Of This Wonderful Hand Lotion don't try to pretend that it—and it alone!—will catch and hold your man for you! But they do say it helps . . . and I believe them. Never underestimate the enchantment to a man, of lovely hands! And JERGENS LOTION is the very hand lotion to keep them that way! Keep an extra bottle in your kitchen . . . use it after every "watery" chore! And it's a good idea, after a particularly dirty house job to rub a more generous amount into your hard-working hands! Most women who have learned this lovely way to smooth, attractive hands know that even as fine a lotion as Jergens has to be used regularly to do its good work!

Happy Appetites! . . . satisfied appetites!—that's what this September's superb crop of specially grown Heinz tomatoes will mean to you and yours the year 'round! Every September at Leamington and Wallaceburg, Ontario, thousands of pickers gather pedigreed tomatoes for Heinz and for you! From September to September this luscious Heinz harvest will keep you happily supplied with the goodness of HEINZ TOMATO PRODUCTS! There are four delicious Heinz "indispensables" to brighten and bring rich flavour to your meals . . . Heinz Tomato Juice —Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup— Heinz Ketchup and Heinz Chili Sauce! You know they're good when you see the name Heinz! . . . now's the time to "pick" the new Heinz crop from your grocer's shelves!

The Men In Your Family—from Junior to Grandpa—will love the way you launder their shirts . . . when you starch them with LINIT! Shirts, Linit-laundered, are completely comfortable to wear . . . yet crisp-looking, too! AND they stay cleaner longer—wear longer! It's wonderful the way Linit puts the "new" back in clothes! This is because it gently penetrates and protects the fibres of the cloth. It covers and holds down tiny surface hairs that catch the dust. So for shirts your men will thoroughly enjoy wearing—remember—Linit does the trick!

A Reader Writes: "I'm so pleased with 'Vel' that I just had to let you know about it! Really, I can't praise it too highly . . . I'm so delighted with the quick cleaning job it does on my dishes, light laundry, woodwork and mirrors! It's a real helping hand around the house!" I certainly agree with this reader—wholeheartedly! VEL washes dishes "wink-quick" . . . cuts grease, leaves no soapy, cloudy film. In fact, after a single rinsing, dishes and glasses dry themselves without wiping! And light laundry washes in a jiffy after being soaked for a little while in water with about a teaspoon of "Vel" in it. Mirrors gleam . . . woodwork washes wonderfully clean! All good reasons why you should put "Vel" at the top of your shopping list now!

Let's Face It! . . . it's not at all uncommon for even the cleanest of children to be occasionally afflicted with hair lice. Nobody knows how or why—but happen it does—and there's an ideal cure for it—CUPREX. Cuprex destroys the lice eggs as well as the lice—in one fifteen minute treatment! Just rub Cuprex gently and thoroughly on your youngster's hair and scalp, using a small quantity at a time. After 15 minutes, wash the hair with soap and water and while it's still damp, comb thoroughly with a fine comb. For very best results—just follow the directions with every bottle of Cuprex—available at drugstores everywhere!

Across The Countryside kitchens are humming with activity—for the Fall Fair season is practically here. And how attractive all the jams and jellies at these Fairs are! Many prize-winners tell me they depend on CERTO Fruit Pectin for their successful results. When you add Certo you are adding fruit pectin, the natural jellying substance in fruits. This means no long boil is needed to concentrate the juice. Too, fruit is used at its choicest, fully-ripe . . . and all its tempting colour and flavour is retained. For real "prize-winning" jams and jellies, follow exactly the simple directions under the label of each Certo bottle.

Don't You Agree that September is more like the beginning of a "New Year" than January? You're back from Summer holidays—the youngsters go back to school—and you're in a house-cleaning and "budget-planning" mood. Anything that helps you salt away a few extra dollars is a "break" for your budget . . . and high on my list of "budget-wise buys" is HARVEST MARGARINE! Daisy-fresh and delicious as a spread for bread . . . and scrumptious on meats and vegetables—and in cooking! Nutritious, too!—For "Harvest" contains Vitamin "A"—the "body-building" vitamin. Is it any wonder that so many women agree that "Harvest" gives so much for so little! . . . and they shop early for it . . . for Harvest Margarine is so popular it's always sold first!

Yours—A Stainless Steel Carving Knife —for just 50c! It's a wonderful bargain—an opportunity you won't want to miss . . . for this 12¾ inch knife has an 8 inch hand-honed, razor-sharp blade . . . and a geranium red plastic handle that will last the lifetime of the knife. So ideal for carving meats—slicing bread—chopping vegetables! And all you do to get it . . . just print your name and address and send with 50c in coin and 2 Libby's Evaporated Milk labels to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.! It's a wonderful introduction to LIBBY'S EVAPORATED MILK! So delicious that once you've tried it—you'll be forever "sold"! And it's the most economical milk I know for coffee or tea—cooking—or whipping!

DOROTHY DIX

Patience Often Best Cure For Middle-aged Romeo

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman past 50, married more than thirty years. When we married my husband had just $5 in his pocket, but we worked together, saved and have prospered. About a year ago, I found some letters that a woman had written my husband telling of an affair between them. This almost killed me, but he denies everything. Says he loves only me and wants me to stay with him, but I feel that I can never trust him again and that my love for him is dead. Would I be happier away from him? If he would confess everything and ask me to forgive him, I would feel so much better. Tell me what to do.

ALICE

ANSWER: No one can tell you what to do, poor, disillusioned wife. That is a matter that your own heart must settle, but I urge you to try to look upon your husband's sidestepping with as lenient an eye as possible, and believe that when he says there has been nothing between him and the woman except a little flirtation, he is telling you the truth.

Heaven knows why, but middle age is the age of indiscretion with men. It is then that a man loses all caution in dealing with women and becomes the easy prey of any gold-digger who happens along. It is then that men write asinine letters signed "Laddie Boy" that their lawyers have to buy back. It is then that men who really adore their wives get into silly flirtations that break their wives' hearts.

It is then that a wise woman overworks her funnybone instead of her tear ducts and buys a ticket to Europe instead of Reno. For all of this is just a passing phase with her husband and, if she will give him time, he will get over it. It doesn't take long for the man to find out that this sudden renewal of youth was a false alarm and that he isn't a boy again, but the same old man with the same old rheumatism and the same old necessity to watch his diet, and that he wheezes when he dances and can't go the pace with youth.

He finds that pretty little flappers bore him to death and he hasn't anything to talk to them about, as with ma, with whom he has the memories of a lifetime. And, in spite of all their flatteries and cajoleries, he can't help suspecting the women who always have their hands in his pocketbook and contrasting them with the faithful wife who worked and slaved and pinched pennies to save for him.

After a woman has loved a man for thirty years, and lived with him in peace and harmony all that time, he has become so much a part of her life that she has no life without him. If she divorces him, it leaves her as maimed as if she had lopped off an arm or a leg.

Then anger soon dies down, and the woman who has had a long, happy married life, but who has divorced her husband because he has stumbled off the strait and narrow path in his middle age, begins to remember a thousand kindnesses, a thousand tendernesses, all the sympathy and consideration he has shown her in their many years together.

So there you are in this very common situation in which a middle-aged man fancies himself a boy again and tries to see if he has lost his old technique in lovemaking. Or when some adventuress gets hold of him and plays him for a sucker. Hard on the wife. There will be the flavor of aloes in her mouth as long as she lives, but life will be gall and wormwood to her if she divorces her husband.

Far happier for her if she treats him as she used to do her bad little boys when they played truant, and just spanks him and kisses him and forgives him and forgets it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We are a group of girls attending a coeducational college. We are attractive. We aren't prudes. We have met boys at parties who seem to like us, but they never pursue the acquaintance. We consider it unfair to have to lose our youth and spend Saturday nights sitting in a dormitory. What can we do about it?

LES MISERABLES

ANSWER: Well, daughters, I should say that at the present moment the only thing you can do about being wall flowers in the college garden is to accept the situation and forget your dream of being clinging vines.

Perhaps your college is shy on men, as is the case with so many other coeducational institutions.

And then, you know, college students follow the leader. If some boy, who is a short of bellwether, singles out a particular girl, they give her a rush and leave other just as attractive ones by their lonesomes.

Often the boys pass over a girl because she is more intelligent than they are, better read and make better grades. This hurts their vanity and they prefer the Dumb Dora to her. Sometimes the girl is more mature than the boys she is thrown with, and that makes them feel awkward at an age when they are striving to be thought sophisticated.

So cheer up, college days will soon be over, and you will have a chance at real men. And, anyway, there is something more important to be learned at college than how to vamp the boys.

DOROTHY DIX.

6—In Memoriams

McMILLAN—In memory of my dear mother, Myrtle Belle McMillan, who passed away one year ago today, Sept. 1, 1948.
Her weary hours and days of pain,
Her troubled nights are past,
And in our aching hearts we know
She has found sweet rest at last.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by her daughter and son-in-law, Olga, Fred and family.

McMILLAN—In loving memory of my dear mother, Myrtle Belle McMillan, who passed away one year ago today, Sept. 1, 1948.
No one knows how much I miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
I have suffered, since I lost you
Life has never been the same.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear mother,
I do not think of you.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by daughter Jean.

CAR, TRUCK COLLIDE

Both drivers escaped injury when a car and a truck collided at about 2.00 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of a private laneway and the Warsaw road. The car was operated by Miss Irene Sidey of Warsaw and the truck by Lloyd Fallis, 485 McKeller St. The accident occurred as Miss Sidey attempted to drive on to the Warsaw road from the laneway. The car was damaged to the extent of about $250, the truck receiving only slight damage. Provincial Constable J. Hanson investigated.

NAME PALLBEARERS

Pallbearers at the funeral of Mrs. James Hutchinson, 49, of 463 Stewart St. Wednesday afternoon were Jack Cathcart, Hal McMahon, Jack Palmer, Charles Webb, James Hutchinson, Jr., and Reginald Moore. The funeral was from the Kaye Funeral Home, to St. John's Cemetery, Ida.

OBITUARIES

MARTIN KENNEALLY

Miss Cecelia Kenneally, 225 Sherbrooke St., received word this morning of the sudden death of her brother, Mr. Martin Kenneally, Toronto. He died in his sleep during the night.

Apparently in usual health, Mr. Kenneally had been at work on Wednesday at the plant of the Laura Secord Company, with whom he had been employed continuously since he left Peterborough years ago. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Kenneally whose home here was on Sherbrooke St.

Mr. Kenneally was born and educated in Peterborough, and had many friends here. His last visit was on Civic Holiday.

He had been actively interested in various sports and especially local hockey and lacrosse teams. Mr. Kenneally is survived by his wife, the former Marie Gunn, and one daughter, Mrs. J. H. Turner, Toronto; and his sisters, Mrs. Margaret Judd, Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Mae Kenneally, Rochester, N. Y.; and Miss Cecelia Kenneally, of this city. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

MRS. MARY GLEASON

Last surviving member of an old Lake St. family, Mrs. Mary Gleason, 2 Crescent St., died Wednesday in hospital, where she had been a patient one week.

Mrs. Gleason had suffered an accidental fall in her home causing a compound fracture of one leg. She had previously been in uncertain health nearly two years.

Mrs. Gleason was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McDonald, whose home for many years was on the south side of Lake St. east of the C.N.R. She was a sister of the late Mrs. Alfred McDonald, and her late husband, Dennis Gleason was for years a valued employee of the Peterborough Lock Company.

Members of an elder generation in the south end of the city, and highly esteemed by all their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Gleason were exemplary parishioners of the Church of the Sacred Heart from the time of its opening. Mrs. Gleason was also a member of the Catholic Women's League. She had been a life-long resident of Peterborough.

The funeral will be Saturday at 9 a.m. from the residence of the late Mrs. Alfred McDonald, 2 Crescent St., to the Church of the Sacred Heart for requiem mass. Burial will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

HENRY HERBERT GOODWIN

Death came Wednesday to Henry Herbert Goodwin, a former employee of the De Laval Co., at his residence, 336 Mark St. He was in his 87th year.

Born in Derbyshire, England, Mr. Goodwin was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Goodwin. He received his education in England. Before coming to Peterborough 39 years ago he was a resident of Liverpool.

For 28 years he was a timekeeper at De Laval, retiring four years ago. He was a member of Mark Street United Church.

Mr. Goodwin leaves his wife, the former Adelaide Mary Hughes; four daughters: Mrs. J. Smith (Nellie), Mrs. Walter Townsend (Marjory), Mrs. J. McDonald (Queenie), and Mrs. David McKirdy (Doris), all of Peterborough. A son John was killed in World War I.

The funeral will be from the Kaye funeral home at 1.30 p.m., Saturday, the Rev. E. W. Rowland of Grace United Church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Richard Franklin Robert Ferguson, 734 Water St., died at his home Wednesday after more than a year's illness. Son of the late Robert Ferguson and Annie Scott, he was in his 70th year.

Born in Norwood, Mr. Ferguson was a lumber scaler, and lived in Peterborough for the past 12 years. Previous to that, he resided in Norwood until 1925, and spent the intervening years in Oshawa. He was a member of George St. United Church.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Florence Leeper, and one brother, Rork Ferguson, reeve of Norwood.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home. Burial will be in Norwood cfiiemetery.

DST FOR THREE WEEKS YET

Peterborough stays on daylight saving time until September 24. On that Saturday midnight the clocks go back an hour to standard time.

Joint Council On Trade Mooted

LONDON, Sept. 1 (Reuters).—Plans for a joint Anglo-American Council on Trade Development between Britain and the United States may emerge from the "Big Three" dollar-sterling crisis talks at Washington next week, political quarters here said Wednesday.

The new Anglo-American organization visualized would be a permanent body, comprising ministers and officials and endeavor to anticipate difficulties.

It is suggested that its main aims would be to foster and coordinate trade between the two countries and eliminate wasted British export effort through concentration on the wrong kind of commodities for the United States market.

Britain has official consultative arrangements on trade matters with a number of countries, and an Anglo - American Council would be in keeping with general world tendency.

The Council would perform separate functions from the existing joint Anglo-American Council on Productivity, which is unofficial and much more concerned with the technical aspects of productions.

May Teach Ballet

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP). — Ballet dancing may soon be taught in Toronto schools. The management committee of the Board of Education is studying the possibilities of including the ballet in the physical culture curriculum. Besides its aesthetic values, ballet dancing is beneficial to the health, Board members said.

Marriage Annulled Waited 26 Years

DETROIT Sept. 1 (AP). —After 26 years, Mrs. Sophie Nichols has decided that, minus a husband, a marriage isn't a marriage.

Tuesday the former Detroit school teacher officially shucked herself of Walter Nichols, who hasn't been heard from since he bolted their wedding reception Dec. 23, 1923. She told Circuit Judge Chester P. O'Hara:

Nichols left after picking up the wedding presents and the contents of ladies' pocketbooks while the others feasted. It was the climax to a whirlwind courtship.

Judge O'Hara agreed that it sounded pretty much like abandonment and annulled the marriage.

"I stayed married because I didn't want to be fooled twice," Mrs. Nichols said.

Plan Operating Mental Clinic

Establishment of a mental clinic in York Township was announced by the MOH for that district, Dr. W. E. Henry, Monday night. Dr. Henry, speaking before the township board of education, said that he has plans for engaging a social worker. His budget, set at $2,500 by the township council, was inadequate, and the board agreed to vote "up to $500" to help the establishment.

The clinic, according to the MOH, is to be established soon, and will be one of three in the province operated by a municipality. Education and home life will be problems that the clinic will deal with, and mental problems will be dealt with by the clinic at an early stage, Dr. Henry said. A psychiatrist and a psychologist will be employed.

Several doctors met in Peterborough recently to discuss the establishment of a mental clinic here. The meeting was a result of the setting up by the Federal government of special committees in every province to collect information on health services throughout the Dominion. Peterborough was one of several Ontario centres chosen to provide information for the s

Flies To School

JAL, N.M., Sept. 1 (AP). — Remember the days when you rode the family nag five miles to and from school?

Things have changed. Rubert Madera, Jr., six, starts in the first grade here next week. He'll be flown to and from school daily by his rancher-pilot father from Ochoa, 16 miles west of here.

Want Highway Routed Through The Sault

enry

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. Sept. 1 (CP).—United States support for the routing of the trans-Canada Highway through the Sault and along the north shore of Lake Superior is being sought by the Inter-Peninsula Communications Commission, Mayor Maurise Hunt of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., said here Wednesday.

Mayor Hunt said the ICC was interested in the lake shore highway purely from a military standpoint. He described the project as vitally necessary for the defence of Detroit which he termed "the arsenal of democracy."

Mr. Hunt is a member of a special ICC committee appointed to draft a resolution to Washington asking the U.S. Government to approach Ottawa regarding the lake shore route.

Vaughan Tells Of FBI Query

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP). —Maj.-Gen. Harry H. Vaughan told a Senate committee Wednesday that the Federal Bureau of Investigation once investigated a charge that he tried to "fix" an income tax case.

Col. C. J. Mara, assistant White House military aide, testified he had talked with the FBI about it and was informed that Vaughan was "completely exonerated."

Vaughan said he understood the FBI looked into his affairs at the "request of a member of the press."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover later informed him, Vaughan said, that he had been "accused of accepting a bribe for a promise to fix an income tax case."

For the second straight day, Vaughan was in the witness chair of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee looking into the question of whether there has been improper influence in the letting of Government contracts.

Vaughan, the President's military aide, acknowledged Tuesday that he had aided business friends in dealings with the government, but declared he never did anything improper or accepted any fee or gift for his services.

Car Lights Aid Pilot Land On Diamond

LILLOOET, B.C., Sept. 1 (CP) —Lillooet motorists played their headlights on a small baseball diamond Tuesday night to aid a pilot in making an emergency landing in his single-engined plane. The pilot and his passenger escaped without injury. The plane ran short of fuel.

3 Teen-Agers Killed In Car Crash

5 Others Badly Hurt In Collision, Near New Liskeard

NEW LISKEARD, Sept. 2 (CP) —Three persons were killed and five others injured today in a level crossing accident at Thornloe, about 15 miles north of this northern Ontario centre.

Dead are: Hubert Maille, 18, Quebec City, driver of the car; Robert Tremblay, 17, Val d'Or, Que.; Gilbert Maille, 13, New Liskeard.

Criticall yinjured and still unconscious are: Norma Maille, 15, New Liskeard; Richard Maille, 17, Quebec City; Henrietta Maille, 14 Quebec City; Janet Thomson, 13, New Liskeard; Fleurette Miron 17, Uno Park.

At least two of the injured are not expected to live.

The accident occurred near Thornloe Station at 1.30 a.m. today when an ONR freight train ploughed into the car.

Car Demolished

The impact demolished the automobile, hurling the bodies of the young victims along the tracks. Robert Tremblay was killed outright and Hubert Maille and Gilbert Maille died a short time later.

The car was travelling eastward but details are lacking because the surviving youngsters are too seriously injured to be questioned. It is believed that Hubert, Richard and Henrietta Maille were visiting relatives in the New Liskeard area.

Police and physicians rushed to the scene to aid the injured. The victims were taken to Haileybury Hospital, where Hubert and Gilbert Maille died shortly after being admitted.

TAKE BODIES TO HOME—The above picture shows motor hearses taking bodies of three of the five victims of Tuesday night's level crossing tragedy at Campbellford to the late home of Kenneth Milne, 37, husband and father of three of the dead, in Seymour Township, from the funeral parlors. Funeral of the victims was held today (Friday) from their home. The Town Council Thursday night, for the fourth time in ten years, demanded that the Board of Transport Commissioners instal a wig-wag signal at the above crossing.

Refugee Gets Poor Reception

MONTREAL, Sept. 2 (CP) — A 32-year-old Polish refugee was in Montreal police cells today hoping to be deported to Venezuela where a chief engineer's job awaits him.

Hungry, penniless and eager to return to what has been his home for the last three years, Wincenti Czernis said his troubles began shortly after his arrival here on Monday night on the last stop of a three-month holiday.

At the railway station, he met a young man who offered to show him the town. Czernis said the next thing he remembered was waking up in a downtown park Tuesday morning without his wallet containing travellers' cheques, his passport book, a baggage check and personal papers.

Czernis had already spent $3,400 while holidaying through Canada and the United States. Police, who gave Czernis shelter, said that if the missing papers are not recovered soon they may arrest the Pole on a vagrancy charge thus making it possible to deport him to Venezuela.

Find Site In Wyoming Of Ancient Hunters

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—(AP)—Extensive remains of a primitive group of hunters, who roamed the western United States thousands of years before Christ's birth, have been unearthed near Cody, Wyo., it was disclosed here today.

Dr. Loren Eisley of the University of Pennsylvania said the Wyoming Camp site probably dates back to between 5,000 and 12,000 years before Christ.

He called the find one of the most important ever made in connection with the culture of the Yuma, the nomadic group who disappeared centuries ago as a cultural unit. They were among the earliest known inhabitants of the new world.

The valuable deposit of tools, weapons and food remains were preserved through the centuries by dusty desert sands, now covering the camp site to a depth of about 10 inches.

2 Zoot-Suiters Get 30 Days At Hard Labor

HESPELER, Sept. 2 (CP) — Two youths Thursday were sentenced to 30 days' hard labor when convicted on a charge of disturbing the peace, arising from a fight between two zoot-suited gangs here Aug. 21.

Sentenced were Russell Lowden, 22, of Brantford and Herbert Latremoiulle, 19, of Paris, who were arrested shortly after a gang from Paris and Brantford arrived by truck and automobiles, reportedly to attend a midnight show. When told to disperse by the police, the youths gave "a lot of lip," police said. Then a group of Hespeler youths pulled them off the truck.

"It's no use fining these people. Their parents pay the fine and they just laugh it off," the magistrate said.

He was referring to zuit-suiters who have been causing disturbances in several centres within his jurisdiction. At least twice before, the magistrate has imposed fines. Thursday, for the first time in charges of the kind, he handed out jail sentences.

David Miller, Brantford, counsel for Lowden, said Lowden was an "innocent bystander." Latremoiulle had no counsel and apparently had come to court alone. Lowden's father and others gave character evidence for him. He was a steady young man who "always worked and paid his board," his father said. He had no record.

"The practice of gangs from bigger centres invading smaller centres to cause trouble has got to stop," the magistrate said.

"They were with the gang," Magistrate Polson said, passing sentence, "so they are responsible for anything the gang did."

The magistrate said the young offenders such as they would "get CB" if they were in the army and a period incarceration, in his opinion, would do them the most good.

18-Year-Old Cliff Lumsden Leading In 15-Mile Swim

TORONTO, Sept. 2—(CP)—Lake Ontario was calm today and 61 degrees shortly before the start of the Canadian National Exhibition men's 15-mile swim. Sixty-four entries were filed for the annual swim classic won last year by Steve Wozniak of Buffalo, N.Y. Wozniak was entered again as was Ben Gazel of Toornto who placed second last year. Gianna Gambi of Ravenna, Italy, winner of the five-mile distance in 1935, also entered.

As the swimmers filed onto the starting barge entries had been reduced to 47. There were 42 starters last year.

Mayor Hiram McCallum fired the starting gun at 11.26 a.m. EDT.

Jerry Kerschner of Columbus, Ohio, who finished third last year was scratched. Walter Smith of Toronto apparently found the water too cold and returned to the barge after swimming 100 yards.

At the half-mile turn 18-year-old Cliff Lumsden of New Toronto was in the lead followed closely by Gazel.

Lumsden was stroking about 76 as he finished the first mile. Gazel was doing a powerful 52. John McCarthy of Watertown, N. Y., was third. Wozniak was fourth.

Wozniak was pulled out at the 1½ mile mark with cramps.

Jacques Amyot of Quebec was pulled out as he finished the first mile. Joe Genovario was also pulled out.

Lionel Rogers of Oshawa was pulled out exhausted.

Gambi was in seventh position as the leaders neared the end of the second mile.

As Lumsden rounded the two-miel barge he had a 100 yard lead on Gazel and was still stroking fast.

Gambi was taken out after swimming about 1½ miles.

Tommy Parks of Hamilton and McCarthy were battling shoulder to shoulder for third position as they started the third mile.

As leaders neared the end of the third mile only 24 of the 47 starters were still in the water.

Tommy Pedder of Belleville, was taken out with cramps.

Lumsden started his fourth mile without slackening his fast, strong stroke and was ahead of Gazel by about one-quarter mile.

Dies 3 Times But Back Again

RAMSGATE, Kent, England, Sept. 2 (AP)—John Dargi learned today that he died Aug. 21. He just laughed. That makes three times and he's only 50.

The latest death notice took the form of a widow's pension cheque for Mrs. Dargi. It came from the National Insurance Ministry. Records there showed Dargi died 12 days ago. Clerical error, they decided.

Dargi was officially dead in each of the two World Wars.

In the First World War the navy passed the sad news to his relatives after a raid on the Belgian harbor of Zeebrugge.

They reported Dargi went down aboard one of the escort vessels. It turned out he had been transferred to another boat at the last minute.

In the Second World War a man wearing a parachute with "John Dargi" stamped on it was killed in a plane crash. The RAF withdrew its death notice when Dargi proved he had loaned the chute to a fellow navigator at a flying school.

Landslides Boost Toll In Japan To 95

TOKYO, Sept. 2—(AP)—Landslides and floods in the wake of a violent typhoon boosted the death toll in Japan to 95 today.

The latest national police estimate was 417 injured and 49 missing. More than 50,000 were homeless in the Tokyo-Yokohama area because of floods or because the typhoon smashed their dwellings.

Heavy rain fell throughout the day. It was the heavy rainfall, not overflowing rivers, which caused the floods in low areas of Tokyo.

Backed up water halted all train traffic between Tokyo and Yokohama, stranding large numbers of commuters.

The Tone River, which threatens Tokyo with flooding, ran bank full.

Greta Garbo Still Wants To Be Alone

ROME, Sept. 2—(Reuters)—Greta Garbo's desire to "be alone" caused the Swedish film star, now visiting Italy, to leave her Rome hotel Thursday for a secret villa.

Reports that she will make a movie here so far have produced the same reaction as all other major news items about her in the last 10 years—silence.

Make Crime Comics Illegal Home and School Suggests

OTTAWA, Sept. 2—(CP)—The insurgence of lurid crime comics in Canada should be combatted by strong government action, the National Home and School Federation urged today.

It presented the Royal Commission on Arts and Science with a brief recommending that the government amend the Criminal Code to make publication of crime comics illegal and punishable by two years' imprisonment.

To aid further in the fight against the "insidious" books, the federation urged the establishment of children's libraries on a wide community level, supplied with sufficient funds to buy books attractive and suitable for the children's tastes.

In a number of other recommendations the federation asked that funds be made available to help Canada's impoverished artists and writers. It recommended expansion of junior colleges, scholarships for university students who need them and more federal health officers to improve the health of school children.

It said it did not find comic strips in newspapers harmful. Some even showed shcewd and real humor, but crime comics depicted life at its worst.

They ignored common morals, they exalted the forces that seek to corrupt youth and pictured the adult world as full of cruelty, horror, sexual aggression and sadism, and described "in ghastly detail" how to commit crimes—even murder.

Restrictions To Be Same Used In 1948

Rule Electric Signs, Store Lighting Must Be Cut Down

TORONTO, Sept. 2.— (CP).—Ontario-wide restrictions on consumption of Hydro-Electric power —identical to those in effect last year—will be imposed about Oct. 1, Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, announced today.

The power curbs will not affect domestic lighting but will restrict the use of electric heaters in homes. All exterior electric signs, both flood and outside lighting, will be banned as well as store-lighting.

"If rain falls below normal," he said, "we will have to start cutoffs in December, the same as last year."

If rainfall is "norm... during the next three months, he added, there is a possibility no further restrictions will be necessary than those slated for Oct. 1.

Will Ease Load

"The steps to be taken will be much the same as last year," Mr. Saunders said. "This will ease the load on the system at a critical period of the year when water storage in the northern basins is a prime factor."

Air-heaters, grates, radiators, boilers or any other devices for space heating which require electrical power for operation will be prohibited in hotels, tourist cabins, shops, offices and commercial premises. Their use will be allowed, however, in residences in case of sickness.

The order does not prohibit water heaters but it clarifies the insulation requirements for new heaters being installed. They must have a minimum insulation of rock or glass wool one inch thick or their use will be prohibited.

Stores will be allowed one watt per square foot of space, the same as last year, and after hours, one watt per square foot of space in which employees are working. Parking lots and service stations are allowed 10 watts per 100 square feet. Offices will be restricted to two watts per square foot of floor space during and after office hours.

Exceptions to the Hydro restrictions are expected to be the same as last year—airports, transportation terminals, doctors' offices, hospitals and other similar consumers.

Order Given

Highlights of an order to be proclaimed restricting commercial and office lighting at the end of September are:

Signs: All outdoor electric lighting is prohibited. Christmas tree lighting is out. Theatre marquees allowed one-half watt per square foot of floor or sidewalk space covered.

Shops: One watt per square foot of floor space during business hours. After hours, one watt per square foot of space actually being used. Display window lighting banned.

Offices: Two watts per square foot during office hours. After hours, two watts a square foot where staff working.

Parking Lots and Service Stations: Ten watts 100 square feet during business hours; five watts a 100 square feet when closed.

CSU Withdraws From Congress

MONTREAL, Sept. 2 (CP) — The Canadian Seamen's Union Thursday announced its withdrawal from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in a statement that charged the American Federation of Labor with "dictation."

The union, on strike against east-coast ship owners since last March 31, announced its action in a statement by president Harry Davis and secretary-treasurer T. G. McManus. The CSU was suspended in June by the TLC for conducting strike action without consulting the Congress first.

The CSU reiterated charges that its suspension was the result of AFL "dictation" in the TLC. It also charged that president William Green of the AFL had asked delegates from affiliated unions to endorse the suspension at the annual TLC convention scheduled for Calgary later this month.

SENATOR IAN MACKENZIE of British Columbia died after a heart seizure while holidaying at Banff. He was 59 years old.

Senator From BC Ian Mackenzie Dies In Banff

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 2 (CP) — Senator Ian Mackenzie, 59, of British Columbia died here this morning. He had been in hospital since last Monday after suffering a heart seizure while holidaying in this area.

Senator Mackenzie took a decided turn for the worse Thursday after making some progress in hospital.

His physician, Dr. P. C. Costigan of Banff said a steady improvement which was noted Tuesday morning stopped early Thursday and his condition gradually became worse. He was unconscious a good deal of the time on Thursday.

He was stricken while holidaying at Sunshine Lodge, 14 miles west of Banff.

The six-foot-two Vancouver lawyer and politician, who was married only two years ago, was a member of the Liberal Cabinet at Ottawa from 1935 to 1948, when he was appointed to the Upper House. As Defence Minister from 1935 to 1939 he directed Canada's military planning for the Second World War. Later he held the posts of Health and Welfare and Veterans' Affairs.

An authority on parliamentary law, he was a member of the Commons from 1930 to 1948 and earlier served for 10 years as a member of the British Columbia Legislature, holding the Provincial Secretary's portfolio from 1928 to 1930.

Death of Senator Mackenzie increases vacancies in the Upper Chamber to 11. There now are 76 Liberal members and 15 Progressive Conservatives.

Orphan Discovers She Has Family Of 4

OSHAWA, Sept. 2 (CP)—Mrs. Clifford Leddy, 22, who always thought she was an orphan, Thursday told of discovering three brothers and a mother. Her mother had been living for years in Port Whitby, only five miles away.

Mrs. Leddy and her three brothers became wards of the Children's Aid Society when they were small. Later two of the boys and the mother were reunited. The other brother recently managed to trace both the mother and his sister to complete the reunion.

Angry Council Demands Campbellford Wig-Wag Fourth Time In 10 Years

Councillor Suggests Town Do Own Job If Transport Board Delays; Public Indignation Reaches High Pitch

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 2 (ENS)—For the fourth time in the past ten years, the Town Council Thursday night demanded that the Board of Transport Commissioners take immediate action to instal a wig-wag signal at the C.N.R. crossing on the outskirts of the town, where five members of one family met death in a train-car collision Tuesday night. On motion of Deputy-Reeve Ralph Locke, the town clerk was authorized to write the board again immediately, with a copy of his letter to be sent to the present Federal member, Dr. F. G. Robertson, M.P., of Cobourg.

Councillor P. J. Kelly urged that, if corrective action was not forthcoming quickly, the council undertake to erect a signal at its own expense if action could not be secured in any other way. Deputy Reeve Locke said that in the meantime two stop signs ought to be placed on either side of the crossing.

The resolution passed by the council asked the Transport Board to send engineers here as soon as possible to survey the site of the crossing with a view to preparing an estimate of the cost of installing the wig-wag.

Renew Request

A renewal of the council's request for protection of motorists at the Centre St. crossing was made last March 14, Mayor H. M. Donald told the council. At that time a copy of a resolution passed by the council was sent to the then Federal member, Major R. E. Drope, urging him to use his influence with the Department of Transport in getting the signal installed. Major Drope replied that he had referred the matter to the Minister of Transport. Later a letter was received by the council from the Department, which was accompanied by an estimate of costs. A copy of this letter was sent to Major Drope.

On May 11 another request for action was sent to the department, but no reply to this letter has been received to date.

Throne Speech Reply Moved By Godbout

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP)—Senator Adelard Godbout, former Liberal premier of Quebec, will move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne at the forthcoming session of parliament.

Senator Ray Petton of St. John's, one of the three senators appointed from Newfoundland, will second the address.

The speech will be read by Viscount Alexander, governor-general, at a colorful opening ceremony Thursday, Sept. 15.

In the Commons Maurice Boisvert, Liberal member for Nicolet-Yamaska, and Arthur Laing, member for Vancouver South, will move and second the address, respectively.

Critical Housing Shortage May Force Ottawa Act

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP)—Canada's critical housing shortage may cause the Federal government to take a greater share of housing responsibility which normally belonged to the provinces, the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said today.

Never before has the housing situation been as bad as it is now, the corporation said in a brief prepared for the Royal Commission on Arts and Science Development.

It gave its views on housing because of that factor's impact on cultural development. A Canadian was influenced, said the corporation, by the sense of satisfaction or discouragement from the character of the house in which he lives and the security which it affords.

More than that, the design of a house was a physical expression of the Canadian way of life. Society attempted to control nature to form its own environment. This environment in turn shaped society and moulded the lives of individuals.

While it was true that housing largely was a matter of property and civil rights and therefore a provincial and municipal government responsibility, the Federal government was finding itself more and more involved as the ultimate housing authority.

The Federal government had set up minimum standards, but this was insufficient to create a lively development of domestic architecture and civic design.

The corporation maintained that if the Federal government wants to have a greater influence on the way communities are being shaped it has to lead the way. Its own buildings if adequately constructed could set an example.

Five Boys Given One Year Each On Theft Counts

TORONTO, Sept. 2 (Special)—Five youths who pleaded guilty to breaking and entering three shops in Peterborough and district on July 22 and 23 were each sentenced to one year definite in reformatory and three months indeterminate by Magistrate R. J. Brown in Toronto magistrate's court today. They are: Robert Seyler, 19; Russell Farmer, 20; James Allen, 17; Victor Carroll, 19, and Joseph Barrow, 18.

They faced a total of 29 charges of auto theft, breaking and entering and being accessories after the fact. They were sentenced to one year on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

All five pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the store of C. Fyfe in Lakefield and taking $20 in cash and a quantity of cigars, cigarettes, chocolates and penknives valued at $35.

Farmer pleaded guilty to entering Nichol's store in Bridgenorth the same day. His companions admitted they had been present on this occasion. Farmer and Carroll also admitted entering Jerry's Inn in Peterborough. On this occasion, $10 and a quantity of cigarettes were taken.

The five also admitted breaking and entering drug and hardware shops in the east end of Toronto and to theft of an automobile.

Bancroft Child Killed By Truck

BANCROFT, Sept. 2—(ENS)—Ila, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hysert, was almost instantly killed just before noon today when she was run over by a truck driven by her brother Frank on the grounds of the Hysert farm near here.

Frank Hysert was transferring some lumber from one location to another on the property. The victim dashed out in the path of the moving truck unknown to the driver and was knocked down. Before he could do anything to avoid it, Ila fell under one of the rear wheels.

It is believed that the little girl was trying to secure a ride on the truck. She collided with the door of the cab after running out toward the vehicle.

Dr. S. S. Lumb was called immediately and arrived within 20 minutes, but the child was dead before he reached the scene. Coroner Dr. O. W. Anderson and Provincial Constables Douglas Ketcheson and John Hawkins investigated. They notified Crown Attorney B. C Donnan, of Belleville, who decided that no inquest was necessary.

Huge Cedar Tree Bashes Car Front

LINDSAY, Sept. 2—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Farrow of Oshawa Thursday escaped injury in a freak accident during a severe wind and rain storm that passed north of here. Mrs. Farrow was at the wheel of their new car when a huge cedar tree snapped off and fell directly in path of it. No one was injured but extensive damage was done to the front of the car.

"Had the accident occurred a split second later serious injuries might have been caused," said Provincial Police Corporal William Milton of Lindsay.

Storm Hits Ontario, Quebec 2 People Killed, Cottages, Crops Damaged

Report Hail And Wind Bring Havoc From Sault To Montreal, Many Trees and Power Lines Torn Down

By The Canadian Press

A storm that lashed across Ontario and Quebec, taking two lives in Quebec and leaving a trail of uncounted damage, today blew itself out somewhere over the unpopulated territory of Quebec's remote Ungava northland. Weather Bureau officials said the storm, which swept eastward Thursday after forming over Georgian Bay, still left a few last kicks. They predicted winds averaging 15 to 20 miles an hour over most of its path—"Enough to make you hold your hat but not enough to do much damage."

At its height, the first major gale of the late-summer storm season wrought havoc along a wide path extending eastward from the head of Lake Erie near Windsor, through Toronto, London, Ottawa and Montreal.

It showered rain and hail on some districts, snarled communications, uprooted and broke trees and poles with gusts ranging up to 65 miles an hour, tied up shipping along the Great Lakes waterways, damaged crops, smashed scores of small boats and tore roofs from cottages.

Weather Bureau officials said the storm was indicated early Thursday when temperatures dropped as low as 36 above zero at Sault Ste. Marie, and overnight frost was reported.

Two Killed

The two persons killed in Quebec were construction foreman Rodney Smith, 35, hit on the head by a wooden bridge platform that the wind whipped into the air, and Achille Oumet, 37, electrocuted at Valleyfield when a high-tension wire was blown down.

At Owen Sound, two persons were rescued when a freakish gust turned over their seaplane as it taxied on wind-tossed Georgian Bay.

Small boat and shore damage was reported heavy along the Canadian shore of Lake Erie from Point Albino to Fort Erie.

With gale warnings posted along the Great Lakes, some 30 large freighters were stalled at the mouth of the Detroit River, near Amherstburg, when water levels in the Channel were lowered by the force of the wind. They started moving again when the gale subsided.

Crop damage was reported in southwestern Ontario and the Niagara Peninsula. Kingston was lashed by gales that reached 62 miles an hour. Uprooted trees temporarily blocked Ottawa-Montreal highways. Three large mills in Arnprior, 40 miles west of Ottawa, had to close because power was cut off.

Hugh Stewart One Of Judges At Horse Show

TORONTO, Sept. 2—(CP) — Visiting newspaper and radio men, here for the Canadian National Exhibition's Press and Radio Day, will see the annual 15-mile men's professional swim and the opening night of the national horse show.

Prize money amounts to $13,650 for the swim, including $750 in lap bonuses.

The horse show starts tonight and runs to Sept. 10, but formal opening is reserved for Saturday. Judges include Hugh Stewart, of Peterborough, and Wilfred Davis, of Todmorden, Ont.

Grattan O'Leary, associate editor of the Ottawa Journal, will speak today at the Daily CNE directors' luncheon.

Exhibition officials announced that paid attendance Thursday—women's, music and art day—was 181,500, an increase of 7,000 over the same day last year. Total attendance for the first six days of the two-week fair has increased 11,500 over last year at 1,111,500.

The Frasers of Streetsville, Ont., cleaned up most of the Holstein awards, winning nine of 15 classes judged. Eight of them were taken by J. W. Fraser, while his brother, Dixon, won the other. The grand champion bull, Spring Farm Sovereign Supreme, is owned by J. M., C. W. and W. D. Fraser.

Angry Council

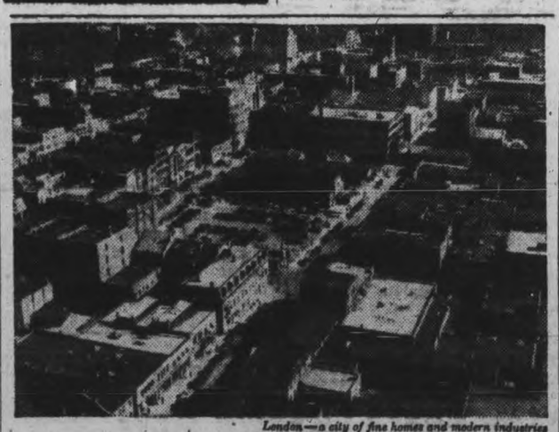
Public indignation over the rejection of the council's repeated requests for action in this matter has risen to fever pitch since Tuesday's tragedy, the worst in the history of the district. Many are asking the question: Are dollars more sacred than human lives?

"I saw the bodies after the accident and I never want to witness another such scene," said the mayor. "Something must be done to protect the public from the danger of being killed or seriously injured at this crossing," he added.

Urges Committee



Councillor Howard Wilson expressed the view that a committee should be appointed to find out what could be done for the protection of motorists at the crossing.

Ernest McKeel, addressing the council from the audience, advised the councillors not to get mixed up with politicians in trying to get action, but to place the whole issue directly before the Transport Board itself. By so doing, he felt, results would ensure more quickly.

"Stirling got one, why shouldn't we?" asked the Mayor.

The clerk, J. S. McGregor, said that he had informed the Minister of Transport that six regular and two special trains crossed Centre St. every 24 hours, with traffic even heavier at certain seasons of the year.

Every member of the council expressed his resentment over the "laissez-faire" attitude of those in authority, scoring their failure to act on the council's many requests for action to end the dangerous situation at the crossing.

London—a city of fine homes and modern industries

Refreshing Variety AT LONDON

Back in the late 18th century, hardy British settlers settled in Southwestern Ontario. Here, in a land that vividly recalled the English countryside, they built the city of London. Today, the holiday visitor will find familiar English place names . . . St. Paul's Cathedral, Cheapside, and Blackfriars Bridge . . . the old-English character of good cheer and good fellowship that makes for happy vacation fun and relaxation. Visitors from afar make a point of seeing the city's modern and progressive industrial plants, a major influence in London's present-day expansion. Follow the beautiful valley of the Thames, through rolling countryside to the famous lake-resort of Port Stanley. By car London is on highway No. 2, 80 miles west of Hamilton. For full information, write the Chamber of Commerce, London, Ont.

In Ontario we have a holiday paradise . . . let's do all we can to encourage visitors from across the border. Published in support of the tourist business by John Labatt Limited.

Ear Badly Lacerated When Car Ditched

John Costain, 186 Edinburgh St., was admitted to Civic Hospital shortly after midnight Thursday when a car in which he was a passenger left No. 7 Highway four miles west of Fowler's Corners and ended up in the ditch a total wreck Costain suffered a badly lacerated left ear and a cut behind the ear, losing considerable blood. He was released from the hospital a few hours after his admission following treatment of his wounds.

The car, a 1931 model coupe, was driven by Lloyd McLean of the same address and Harold Dunk, 71 Prince St., was another passenger, neither of whom was hurt.

McLean told Provincial Constable W. E. Warner of Lindsay, who investigated, that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching transport. He lost control of the car after it slewed on the soft shoulder of the road. It turned over on its side in the ditch, a tree saving it from turning upside down altogether. The accident occurred at about 12.30 a.m. Friday. Costain sustained his injuries when the crash knocked him through the windshield.

Suspended Sentence In Motorcycle Theft

Pleading guilty to taking a motorcycle Saturday night without the consent of James Scully, the owner, 19-year-old Robert Dormer, 202 Parkhill Rd., was given a suspended sentence and told by Magistrate R. B. Baxter a condition of his $100 bond was that he keep away from some of his friends.

Detective William A. Clark said the motorcycle had been taken from in front of a hotel downtown Friday night and was found slightly damaged in a ditch Saturday morning. Working on a tip, Detective Clark got in touch with young Dormer who admitted taking the machine, but had not brought it back because he had a slight accident with it. He left it in a ditch at the corner of Armstrong Drive and Walkerfield Ave.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw suggested suspended sentence and said the boy's father had a job for him.

6-Point Plan To Ease Dollar Crisis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—A tentative six-point plan for helping Britain out of its financial crisis is expected today from final discussions of United States, British and Canadian fact-finding officials.

Representatives of the three governments have been meeting twice daily for the last week to explore the problem. They hope to complete an agenda today that will permit their foreign ministers next week to discuss these points:

1. Reducing further British purchases from the United States and increasing buying in non-dollar areas wherever possible.

2. Streamlining American customs rules to encourage more British exporters to send their goods to the United States.

3. Easing provisions of the 1946 British loan agreement to permit Britain to slow up purchases of American goods in favour of those from non-dollar countries.

4. Boosting American purchases of British Commonwealth tin and rubber.

5. Increasing American economic help to southeast Asian members of the British Commonwealth to ease their demands on Britain's scarce dollar supply. The countries involved are reported to be India, Pakistan and Malaya, along with Burma which is no longer in the Commonwealth.

6. Calling a new tariff cutting conference some time next year to reduce duties on British exports to the United States.

The steps are intended as stopgap measures to ease the drain on Britain's dwindling reserves. But officials agree they will not by themselves solve Britain's long-range problem.

Defective Plug Blamed For Fire

A defective wall plug to the electric refrigerator is believed the source of a fire that caused about $200 damage to the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Harrison, 178 Dalhousie St., late Thursday afternoon.

The couple who were not at home when the blaze started arrived just in time to put in the alarm and prevent a more serious outbreak. When Mrs. Harrison left about 45 minutes previously everything was in order. She met her husband and when the two entered the house flames were leaping from the wall by the refrigerator.

Firemen were called and extinguished the fire with a hand pump.

Damage was all confined to the kitchen. One wall was badly burned where the flames spread from the wall plug; the other three received only smoke damage, and a section of the floor was scorched.

The electric refrigerator was also damaged.

PEANUT IN LUNG

Sandra Toms, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Toms, 23 Edgewater Blvd., swallowed a peanut which lodged in her lung Thursday. She was taken to Civic Hospital for treatment.

SMALL CAR FIRE

Firemen were called on Thursday night to put out a car fire. The vehicle, owned by H. Thompson, was parked outside 303 Bethune St. and a short circuit is believed responsible for the blaze. Damage was confined to the wiring.

Corresponding statistics for August last year were: maximum temperature was 96 degrees on Aug. 25 and 26, which was the Peterborough Exhibition week; and minimum 45 on the 7th. And the average thermometer reading for the month was 68.5 deg. Rainfall was 1.73 inches.

Driver Pleads Guilty To Drunk Driving

One man charged with drunk driving and his wife and another man charged with being drunk all pleaded guilty in police court today before Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

Gerald Fitzgerald, who lives near Hastings, was found by Provincial Constable Arthur A. Kellogg lying beside the rear wheel of his car which was in a small ditch on the Hastings-Westwood county road Saturday. Constable Kellogg said Fitzgerald was in a very drunken condition and his wife, Mary Fitzgerald, and Wilbert Butcher were also drunk.

Fitzgerald was given five days in jail having already served two days and his car was impounded for three months and his driver's license suspended three months. Mrs. Fitzgerald, mother of four children, and Butcher were each fined $10 and costs.

Funeral Service Held For Mrs. R Heideman

Rev. Walter Gilling conducted the funeral service of the late Mrs. Robert C. Heideman on Thursday from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons, 305 Water St.

Surviving are her husband Robert C. Heideman, one son, Alan H. Heideman of Chemong Park, and one daughter, Anne L. Heideman at home.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Youths Fined $25 Chicken Thefts

Three youths pleaded guilty to stealing chickens and were fined $25 and costs each by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, Port Hope, in police court Friday morning. Their lawyer, John Corkery, said it was just a silly prank in which the boys were showing off to girls with them. The three were, John Scott, 18, Hastings; Ted Chambo, 22, 134 Park St., and David Gerolamy 18, 30 Edgewater Blvd.

Provincial Constable Arthur A. Kellogg told the court he had received a phone call from a farmer, B. Crowley, Asphodel township, about 1.30 a.m. Sunday morning. Mr. Crowley reported he had seen three youths make off with some of his chickens and had taken after them in his car and caught them. He got his chickens and intended to hold the three youths, but one of them, Chambo, was so belligerent he let them go.

Constable Kellogg found the car the youths had parked in Hastings and took Mr. Crowley up to an apartment where the farmer identified three of five men there as the ones who had stolen his chickens. The police officer said Chambo had acted very belligerently and had denied everything at first but later the three signed a written statement telling the whole story.

Fred Revoy, a character witness for Gerolamy, said the boy was a good steady worker and he had never heard of his getting into any trouble. The other two also had steady work and no record.

5 Escape Drowning

PEFFERLAW, Ont., Sept. 2 (CP)—Five crewmen narrowly escaped drowning when their small rowboat overturned following the scuttling of their dredge and beaching of their tug during the heavy windstorm Thursday at the mouth of the Black River. The rowboat capsized on the way to shore and the five men clung to it as waves drove it into shallow water and safety.

Increase Size Of Parliament

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 2 (CP)—When Australia's parliament meets after this year's general election it will have nearly twice as many members.

Last year, after much public discussions, the Labor government decided that a House of Representatives of 75 members and a Senate of 36 were too small for a country of 3,000,000 square miles and 8,000,000 population.

It was decided there should be 123 representatives and 60 Senators.

(Canada, with a population of about 14,000,000 and an area of more than 3,690,000 square miles, has 262 members of parliament and 102 seats in the senate.)

Nuernberg Proves War Unjust U.S. Justice Tells Barristers

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 2 — (CP) —The Nuernberg trial has "forever laid to rest in the minds of statesmen the vicious assumption that all war must be regarded as legal and just," Robert H. Jackson, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, said in an address before the Canadian Bar Association Thursday night.

The 90-minute speech reviewing the history and ramifications of the war crimes trials won for Mr. Justice Jackson a standing ovation lasting a full five minutes from the 1,000 CBA members and their guests attending the 31st annual convention of the organization.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent arrived at Banff Springs Hotel, scene of the convention, late Thursday night.

He said he is attending the convention as a private barrister.

"It is much too early to appraise the influence of Nuernberg," said Mr. Justice Jackson, who was chief United States Prosecutor at the trials. "But I would disclaim any expectation that it alone is enough to prevent future wars. When stakes are high enough and chances of success look good enough, I suppose reckless leaders may again plunge their people into war. Just as men still resort to murder, notwithstanding the law's penalty.

Wars Not Just

"But I do think we have forever laid to rest in the minds of statesmen the vicious assumption that all war must be regarded as legal and just, and that while the law imposes personal responsibility for starting a street riot, it imposes none for inciting and launching a world war."

Following his address, Mr. Justice Jackson was presented with an honorary life membership in the CBA.

N. L. Matthews, KC, of Toronto, told the industrial relations and labor laws section of the convention Thursday that some form of a profit-sharing plan "would go a long way toward establishing industrial peace."

Worked Successfully

"I know that some employers are impressed with this idea, and in places where it has been tried out, it has worked successfully, said Mr. Matthews an expert in industrial relations. "I do not mean that a profit-sharing plan should be introduced as a substitute for payment of fair wages.... but in addition to fair wages."

In other business Thursday, the Junior Canadian Bar Association elected Stanley C. Biggs of Toronto chairman for the next year.

The Sectional Committee of the CBA on administrative civil law also approved a resolution asking the Dominion Government to delay enactment of proposed legislation aimed at abolishing appeals from Canada before the Privy Council of Great Britain.

THE PETERBOROUGH LIONS CLUB

R. T. BOGLE, pictured left, has just been appointed General Superintendent of Peterborough Works of the Canadian General Electric Co. Mr. Bogle has been a member of the company since 1940 with four years out for service in the Canadian army during the war. It was also announced M. F. Doris has been appointed to take over as manager of the motor and generator division. Mr. Doris has a record of 20 years with the company.

CGE Names R. T. Bogle General Superintendent

A new general superintendent of Peterborough works and a new manager of the motor and generator division took over their duties at the Canadian General Electric on Thursday.

R. T. Bogle is the new general superintendent and M. F. Doris the new motor and generator division manager.

Mr. Bogle started in the company's test course after graduating from the University of British Columbia in 1940. He was transferred to plant engineering in Geneleo Limited when he had completed this course.

During the war he spent four years on technical work in the RCEME on the Pacific coast, in Ottawa and finally with the American forces in the south-west Pacific areas. He was discharged in 1946 a major and returned to the AC-DC engineering under B. L. Barns.

In December 1947 he took over as manager of the motor and generator division. His new appointment makes him a member of the works management committee.

20 Years With CGE

Mr. Doris, who takes over Mr. Bogle's former position, has been an employee 20 years. He was made foreman of the fractional motor department in 1934. With the creation of Genelco, he became its production manager. He later returned to the fractional HP motor department and in 1945 became its general foreman.

In 1947 Mr. Doris was appointed manager of the newly formed small motor division, the position he held until his latest promotion.

Plans New Group

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—(AP)—The United Nations world said Thursday night that Premier Tito of Yugoslavia is preparing to launch a new world-wide Communist organization to compete with the Moscow - dominated Cominform. Tito broke with the Cominform in June, 1948. The U.N. World, a privately-published monthly magazine, said the basic issue behind Tito's plan "is to fuse the aims and activities of all Communists weary of Moscow's absolute domination."

Board Approves Paving Jobs

Approval of the Ontario Municipal Board for the paving of King St. and Armour Road has been received at the city hall.

The King St. surfacing was recommended by the increasing traffic in that block from George to Aylmer St., and the Armour Road job appears to have been sought by Western Clock Co. and St. Joseph's Hospital. The pavement will be laid southerly from Hunter St.

Warren Bituminus Co. were said to be ready almost at once to move from the Sherbrooke-Water St. job to King St. Otherwise they had completed the season's contract here.

It is understood the company is leaving the bulk of their equipment here until next spring in the possibility that the council of 1950 may find circumstances agreeable to continuing the paving program, begun this year, which was contemplated as a five year project of street improvement.

Say King May Visit Australia In 1956

MELBOURNE, Sept. 2—(Reuters)—The King and Queen will probably visit Australia in 1956 for the Olympic games, Premier Cosgrove of Tasmania said Thursday.

He said he met the King and Queen when he was in Britain recently. They were deeply disappointed at not being able to visit Australia this year.

Send $5,000 Donation

TORONTO, Sept. 2 (CP) — A donation of $5,000 has been sent by the Canadian Red Cross Society to aid survivors of the Aug. 5 earthquake in Ecuador. Society officials said they expected the funds to be used for tents, blankets or clothing.

Get Invitation Back

TORONTO, Sept. 2 —(CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum Thursday received a letter from J. Charles Yule, general manager of the Calgary Stampede, inviting a Toronto good-will delegation back to next year's Stampede. Mr. Yule said he believed the easterners' visit to the west "one of the finest things that ever happened to Canada."

Profound Gratitude

MONTREAL, Sept. 2—(CP) — Maj.-Gen. L. R. Lacleche, D.S.O., former Canadian Ambassador to Greece, said here Thursday night in an address that the Greek people, in their war against Fascism and subsequently against Communism, have a profound gratitude for relief aid sent by Canada. Canada, he said, has sent more emergency relief to Greece than any other country with the exception of the United Kingdom.

Ferry Delayed By High Winds

COBOURG, Sept. 2 (ENS) — Winds reached a velocity of 48 miles an hour yesterday, according to official records kept at the ferry dock station. At 6:45 a.m the velocity was 47 mph. Later the wind subsided considerably, but increased again until it was blowing at 48 mph around noon.

Car ferry Ontario No. 2 is normally due here at two p.m. from Rochester, but because of heavy seas had to head up the lake and did not dock until around five p. m. Small craft in the harbour tied up at the T-pier, were moved and berthed in quieter waters near the esplanade to the leeward of the dredge.

Town streets were littered with small limbs snapped off in the high wind. At the tourist camp, several tents were blown down, and efforts to re-erect them were impossible in the wind. Fortunately there were empty cabins and tent occupants were quartered there.

Rev. F. H. Hartley Dies In Toronto

Rev. Canon Frank Herbert Hartley, 82, who early in his ministry served in the Anglican parishes of Apsley and South Burleigh, died Thursday in Toronto, where he had been rector of St Matthias' Anglican Church for nearly 42 years. Death occurred in the Toronto General Hospital and he had been in ill health for some time.

Canon Hartley retired in 1941, after a half century of service in the Anglican Church. He served for three years as a missionary at Apsley. In 1894 he was appointed rector of South Burleigh and three years later went to Toronto as assistant priest at St. Thomas' Church. In 1894 he was appointed vicar of St. Jude's Church, and a year later became rector of St. Matthias.

He was born in Hull, England, and received his education at Cambridge University and St. Augustine's College, Canterbury. He came to Canada in 1891 and was ordained in Toronto by the late Bishop Arthur Sweatman.

Canon Hartley was rural dean of Toronto from 1929 to 1937 and was made a canon of St. Alban's Cathedral in 1926. He was for many years honarary clerical secretary of the Lower House of the General Synod.

He was a member of the Masonic Order and a fellow of the Philosophical Society of England.

Surviving is one son, Francis W. Hartley. His wife died in 1946.

Swiss Pilot Killed

PAYERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 2 (Reuters)—A Swiss air force pilot was killed Thursday when his plane burst into flames and plunged 1,500 feet to the ground as he was coming in to land.

Women Not Allowed

OSSINING, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP) Sing Sing prison warden William E. Snyder said yesterday he has received requests from a number of women to attend the execution of Mrs. Martha Beck, lonely hearts killer, but that he has turned them down. The warden, who attributed the requests to curiosity, said "I don't think that women would make proper witnesses so we have consistently turned the applicants down."

Mayor CNE Guest With 300 Women

It may be that in his bachelorhood day Mayor Swanston was once taken by a catchy song from a musical comedy whose chorus began: "Put me among the girls . . . Girls with curly curls . . ." with etcetera of the same lilting stuff.

If he ever did go around with that tuneful wish on his lips, fulfillment of it caught up with him Thursday at the directors' luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition. And the old refrain was far from his thoughts, as fate was saying to him unheard and of course unheeded: "All right you asked for it, here it is."

His Worship had received an invitation to the directors' luncheon. It was one of these routine letters, noted without attention to important detail. Mayor Swanston had intended going to some other meeting of municipal interest in Toronto, but at the last minute it was cancelled. He decided to go any way and look in at the luncheon.

So, he did, and of the girl at the door he asked: "Any men here yet?" And the answer was: "Oh, yes."

So, he barged into a dinner company of about 300 women, including a group of fashion models, and only one other man.

That's the story they were telling with great gusto at the Coffee Club session this morning, but there was tantalizing lack of information of what happened next and of various other details of how Peterborough's Mayor fared in that feminine assembly.

The fact is that Mayor Swanston neglected to note that it was Women's Day at the CNE.

Tendon of Hand Cut

Sanvio French, 173 Park St., had a tendon of his hand cut in an accident while working on a machine at the CGE Thursday. He was taken to the Civic Hospital for treatment.

Robert Kissack, a medical student from London, Ont., was treated for a cut on his scalp at the Civic Hospital Thursday night.

Two Debenture Issues Sold To Toronto Firm By Council

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 2 — (ENS—The $72,000, 20-year debenture issue and the $20,000, 10-year debenture issue covering the cost of local improvements were sold to the Cochran-Murray Co. of Toronto at the regular meeting of the council on Thursday. The $72,000 issue brought $98.295 and the $20,000 issue sold at $100.382. Both issues will bear 3¼ per cent interest.

Eight firms bid for the entire issue: Wood, Gundy and Co., Gardiner and Co., Bell-Gouinlock Co., Cochran Murray Co., Harrison and Co., Anderson and Co., R. A. Daly and Co., and Midland Securities Ltd.

A communication from Arnold Taylor, of Niagara Falls, said that he was disgusted with Campbellford because he was fined $1.00 for parking half-a-minute. "Wake up Campbellford and treat visitors with courtesy" he wrote.

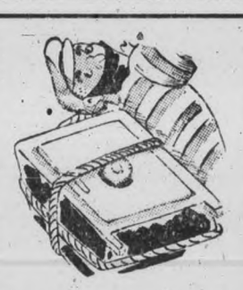
Changes Urged

Reeve J. C. Anderson, chairman of the Police Committee, reported that his committee had recommended changes in the parking bylaw.

He thought it was unfair that trucks coming in from other municipalities should be allowed to park without using the meters while the local delivery vehicles were deprived of such privilege.

Councillor Carl Maier moved that the press be requested to announce that merchants using delivery vehicles be given stickers granting them the right to free parking at all times, excluding Tuesday and Saturday evenings after 6 o'clock, while they are loading or unloading and that stickers can be obtained from the clerk on the recommendation of the chief of police. The resolution carried.

A resolution, moved by Councillor Maier that the clerk be instructed to notify Mrs. Latimer, Raglan St., that she would be permitted to connect to the sewer, providing she pays an amount equivalent to what others have paid, was passed.



Taxes Collected

Tax collector J. Birmingham reported that $62,224.43 taxes had been collected so far this year out of total taxes assessed of $90,000. He said that charity this year had cost $1,662.60 and direct relief $4,328.44.

The Police Committee was instructed to authorize Chief Hardy to look into unnecessary noise made by motorcycles. Several sick people had complained of the nuisance.

The treasurer was instructed to pay $21 to the garbage collector for drawing fill to the dump and to add the $3 per month he receives for gathering papers to his monthly cheque.

H. Dungar was engaged at 60 cents an hour to service the parking meters.

Peterborough's Overhead Wires

Overhead wires are unsightly, subject to the ravages of wind, sleet and snow, and as out-moded as the horse and buggy. Another fault they have has been emphasized in a resolution passed at the 41st annual convention of Fire Chiefs meeting in Ottawa. They are dangerous. The resolution states that overhead wiring is an unnecessary hazard for firefighters, particularly nowadays when aluminum ladders are used. The fire chiefs suggested that municipalities consider a long-term solution to the problem—preferably the placing of all wires in conduits underground. It is a suggestion that Peterborough should have considered, and perhaps have taken action on years ago. Putting wires underground is a practical and successful method used already in many Canadian cities. It is expensive initially, but upkeep is less costly—no trees to prune, no wind-torn wires or snapped, expensive poles to replace, no disruption of service because of storms. And streets which have underground wiring are not disfigured in crazy, ugly fashion the way thoroughfares like George and Hunter are now.

* * *

Underground wiring is a proven success. (Even in Peterborough the Bell Telephone has some lines laid underground.) Why did our Utilities Commission not take advantage of the modern method when it was laying its services to new housing subdivisions like Brookdale? In that district the field was clear; no poles or overhead wires had to be discarded and torn down. Now new poles and new wires have been put up, defacing the streets and out of keeping entirely with the modern residences erected there. Was underground wiring for Brookdale and other new districts not even considered?

Advice To The British

The British people and Government are being bombarded with transatlantic advice these months. Canadian officials, "executive" types, magazine and newspaper editors, and American congressmen, senators, columnists and even sportswriters are telling Britain the things she has done that she ought not to have done (like the health plan) and the things she has left undone which she ought to have done (like devaluing the pound, and letting Churchill run the government). In fact, judging from the floods of advice, admonition and even abuse—given, it is pretended, with the utmost friendliness and sympathy—one would believe that there is no health in Britain at all.

We do well to remember that Britain is still a really great world power, that she has in her Government, civil service and business some of the sharpest and best brains human beings have ever been endowed with, and that Britons have not lost every shred of their native talents, pride and stamina. These advice-mongers and alarmists might for their own chastisement recall to memory Wordsworth's sonnet written at another time of crisis:

It is not to be thought of that the Flood
Of British freedom, which, to the open sea
Of the world's praise, from dark antiquity
Hath flowed . . . .
That this most famous stream in bogs and sands
Should perish . . .
In everything we are sprung
Of Earth's first blood, have titles manifold.

Much of the expostulation, exhortation and criticism may rise from the best of intentions and sympathetic hearts. Some of it may be due to a feeling of frustration that Britain is not better off than she is after four years of peace and many billion dollars worth of palliation. No doubt, too, American taxpayers confronted with their country's responsibility as the new world power are harassed in heart because all is well at home but still pretty much of a mess overseas, despite American good intentions. But one cannot suppress a notion that some of the criticism and advice arises from bad-tempered fear that the British people may like the kind of Government they have, may approve its public welfare socialistic measures, and, moreover, that Britain may be able to get away with it, and confound the North American doctrine that the only workable system is outright capitalistic free enterprise.

For ourselves, we eschew giving Britain any advice, believing that we have enough problems in our own Canadian pot to stew over.

The Provincials Have Been Warned

Yesterday afternoon over the Provincial Police's own radio system, Commissioner W. H. Stringer spoke to his men and officers throughout the province. His topic was the prevention of traffic accidents over the Labour Day week-end. We listened-in, so to speak, on this broadcast, and think his remarks should reach the public ear. He said, for instance; "The most effective safeguard against traffic accidents is discipline—the discipline each driver exerts over himself, his respect for the rights and convenience of others, and the discipline you as police officers must impose in a much broader sense. You are the judge of good highway discipline. You are responsible for its maintenance". We commend this quality of driver-discipline to motorist this week-end, and point out that the police will be alert for lapses from it.

The Commissioner also said: "Maximum speeds, permissible under light traffic conditions, become dangerous under congested conditions. On the other hand, unnecessarily slow speeds on main roads can be even more dangerous. The cutting in and out which develops as a result of a slow vehicle retarding a long line of traffic is most undesirable. These are only two examples of highway danger under your direct control". The advice is clear: do not speed as if ten minutes saved were more valuable than the rest of one's natural days; and if you want to stroll by car, stay off highways and stick to the back roads.

The heaviest traffic of the year develops this week-end in southern Ontario. The Toronto Exhibition is taking in and letting out tens of thousands of visitors arriving by car. Other tens of thousands are on the roads to and from picnics, cottages and resorts, to celebrate the last holiday of the summer. Parents are driving children back from camps and cabins, in preparation for the opening of school on Tuesday. It is therefore essential that users of the highways this week-end exercise high self-discipline and good sense, if life and property are not to be wasted appallingly because of accidents.

Back To Work And The Page

September puts an end to holidays and all the irregularities of living which beset summer months. The wheels of industry begin to turn again uninterruptedly, schools come to life, merchants settle down to autumn trade and prepare for Christmas, and even newspapers gather together their forces and renew their grip on affairs. The Examiner has heard the September whistles blowing and a response will be noted on this page today and tomorrow. Today Alpha returns with his column of Notes and Queries after a month's leave of absence, and tomorrow Mr. Samuel Marchbanks comes back to his Saturday niche after hiding from it since last May.

It seems that Mr. Marchbanks, whose Diary has appeared regularly every Saturday for some five years, has become reticent, for he has decided to keep his Diary to himself—if, indeed, he keeps it at all. (Even the Marchbanks of this world tire of addressing Dear Diary.) But he is releasing to discerning public eyes which scan this page, his peculiarly personal correspondence. This, The Marchbanks Correspondence, reveals Mr. S. to be a honey-pot for all sorts of letter-writing human flies, and an inveterate epistolary swatter of them.. The Correspondence will appear regularly each Saturday, beginning tomorrow.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We are ineffably relieved to know that the magnetic North Pole, though perambulating vaguely north-east, is still in Canada. It is unthinkable that Our Lady of Snows should ever lose her Pole.

Sir A. P. Herbert, a son of Oxford, campaigned in and out of Parliament to prohibit such organizations as the Oxford Group using the name "Oxford". It would seem, from a sidelong glance at situations in Toronto and Guelph, that the respected Canadian Baptist Church is in need of a devoted son to campaign against odds and ends of institutions using the name "Baptist".

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Why are the eating places in Peterborough so poor? They are probably clean enough but, Lord, the places are stodgey and the food unimaginative. Don't think I am an impudent outsider. Let me assure you that the address given on this letter is my own.

ANSWER: (I must explain to my readers before venturing into this rather sassy question that it and the others but one this week have been lying in my desk drawer for four weeks while I was holidaying for two, and recovering from the holiday for the next two. Now I am back into my third column Friday pen each week from now until further notice—or until I get notice. It is just as well that this question was residual, for I return better qualified to answer it, having gained experience of many eating places outside of Peterborough and Ontario.)

Now for the answer. SIR, how dare you? Our eating places here are no better or worse than the eating places in your own Ontario town. Perhaps you eat at home when you are at home, and haven't experienced the rigours and boredom of eating at your own joints. I know one, even two, very good places in this Peterborough area.

My own experience is that there is not one Ontario city in ten that has a really first class restaurant or dining room, and that most of our wayside, suburban places are equally insipid. By first class, I do not necessarily mean posh in atmosphere, or expensive. I mean restaurants, joints, cafes, or hotels where one gets good food, decently served, well prepared, intelligently varied, and a treat to the palate as to the eye.

* * *

ONE has to go to the province of Quebec to please the palate, unless one is able to find the few good places in Ontario. Even in a little village restaurant in Quebec which has gingham table cloths or no cloths at all, the food is more apt to be good than poor. Some Ontario restaurants know this, and so try to pretend that they are better than they are by sporting gingham table cloths! Across the border—in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, as elsewhere in the U.S.A., I suspect—good food and good restaurants abound, and the prices are not unreasonable. I have found in towns of four or five thousand people restaurants which, for their cheer, their service, their specialities and their cooking would shame the most fashionable of Toronto restaurants which pretend to be so exclusive that one must have a "key" or be personally recommended to the cleverly-commercial management in order to gain admission.

As a Peterburian I do not resent your question, because, as a person who knows your own home city and also a few eating places outside Ontario, Canada and this continent, I know what you say about Peterborough eating places applies to your own and to Ontario generally. The trouble in Ontario may be that few of the people arranging menus and cooking the food are men. Men have more imagination in such matters than women, and, I suspect, more sensitive palates. (Do I hear some reader say—'but nobody makes pies like Mom'; 'No meals are as good as home-cooked roses, cooked by the wife.'? True, true, but there are other factors affecting such situations.)

* * *

DEAR SIR: How do you pronounce that German writer's name—Goethe—whose birth 200 years ago is being celebrated this year, and about whom there was a spread on the editorial page of The Examiner last Saturday?

ANSWER: It's hard to explain in print. You do not pronounce the 'h'. It goes something like GUH-te or GER-te, with only a hint of the 'r' sound. It is not "Gehte". That pronunciation is too fahdeedollish.

* * *

DEAR ALPHY: Which is it Stony Lake, or Stoney Lake? The old Steamer Stoney Lake used to have the 'e'.

ANSWER: (Whence the 'y' in your alphatic word?) It's stony—the Kawartha lake, the man who is broke, the babbling brook over whose pebbly bed fresh waters ripple, and the silence which is adamantine, and which heroines rigorously preserve. It's all stony, except the late and lamented Steamer Stoney Lake — a quiddity in orthography which I suspect a sign-painter who did its prow, or Captain Young, to have pixically indulged in.

While we are on such a subject, how do you account for the second 'o' in Cobourg? The town should of course be "Coburg" for it was named in honour of the marriage of Princess Charlotte, only legitimate child of George the Fourth, to Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg in 1816. Queen Victoria's husband Leopold was a Saxe-Coburg, and their son Alfred reigned from 1893 to 1900 as Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha (a then sovereign duchy in Bavaria, Germany).

ALPHA: Has capital punishment (hanging) been abolished in Britain?

ANSWER: No. Last year a bill was passed abolishing it. It was not a party issue, and M.P.'s voted according to the direction of their humanitarian instincts. The Bill did not become law, for at the last moment the King was advised not to sign it by the Prime Minister—probably on the urgent pleas of Scotland Yard and others.

To hang or not to hang is a moot question in humane societies. A recent issue of Maclean's Magazine had an article against the death penalty, with horrifying instances of innocent people who were hanged through a miscarriage of justice. The last issue of the same magazine has a letter from a man now in a death cell in Montreal, who is due for the rope shortly, if his second appeal after his second trial fails. He claims to be innocent. Human beings are fallible and innocent men do come to judicial death. It may be argued, however, that the gods are infallible, and where man errs, they will compensate the victim of the error.

* * *

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW, who is no blood-letter (he carries his scruples so far as to eat lettuce instead of beef, and is a complete vegetarian except that he takes liver injections) maintains that it is kinder to kill a criminal and have done with it, him, and his crimes, than to keep him penned like a beast for a lifetime of imprisonment. I myself would prefer hanging to life imprisonment (even though the 'life' term totalled only twenty-odd years, the practice now). I hope, of course, never to be under the necessity of making a choice between the two.

I am not a hanger myself. I would put the criminals to death in a much less messy fashion. Hanging is cruel, so cruel that legally-required spectators of hangings vomit. Hanging is bestial. There are much easier killings, and the electric chair is not one of them. The Germans, with their usual ingenuity, have the proper method — gas chambers. Hanging is a vestige of savagery, though now, instead of being a public display for the enlightenment, chastisement and enjoyment of the masses, it is a private ceremony, like a secret tribal rite. Unfortunately, in a democratic society, every hanging is taken part in by, and is the responsibility of every citizen. He is one of the persons who has sanctioned the hanging.

* * *

PERHAPS we North Americans or Anglo-Saxons are sentimental about human life and consider its extinguishing too seriously, or too irreligiously. A true Christian, or a Christian by habit, automatically and philosophically should be able to say when he observes death: He has passed into the hands of God, which are much better hands than ours. And so, when a man is put to death on court order, such a Christian may say: 'We have consigned him to the hands of God. If we have erred, God will recompense him. Is not Heaven better than Earth? If the man is innocent, he will surely go to Heaven, not to Hell'.

My theology may be confused. Indeed, a completely Catholic and formally Christian continent like South America seems to destroy my thesis. No South American country has the death penalty. It has been abolished. Is, therefore, South America more humane, more considerate of human life than we? I think not. I think that Latin Americans are less careful of destroying a life than we are. I heard of a Colombian now living in Argentina who shot his best friend dead with five revolver bullets, who is now completely free. Very few murderers get more than ten years. Life imprisonment is rare. It seems to me that the South Americans have less regard for human life than we have, not because they do not hang a murderer, but because they do not consider that because a murderer has killed a man, that that man's life is worth taking another's in retribution. The murdered man has his reward sooner than he expected (he is either in heaven or hell); the murderer has got to take his chances and go through a few more years of worldly bother. It seems to be an attitude of live if you can or must, and let live; and that after all, we are only on earth, not in a more propitious place.

FOR THE RECORD: The Peterborough Exhibition, the second since the wartime lapse, ended last Saturday with a total attendance for the four days of 45,117. President Hugh Stewart says that he would like the name to revert back to "Fair", (instead of Exhibition) a good suggestion which I put forward in this column a year ago.

CAREFUL NOW, MEN!

Do We Think, Big Enough?

(Financial Post)

PARENTS who see their children every day hardly notice them growing. Friends seeing them after a long interval say "How they've grown," and the parents answer "Yes, I suppose they have."

In the same way Canada's friends, British, American and foreign, are often quicker than we are to see the changes in Canada. There is more excitement in Boston than in Toronto about the vast iron-ore resources of Labrador. There is more awareness in California than in New Brunswick of the importance of the prairie oil discoveries. The capitals of the world see more clearly than most Canadians the new authority with which Canada speaks in international councils.

We are in fact entering on a new era of Canadian development and no shadows from the international storm-clouds should obscure the fact.

Marking the new era will be the convening of the new Parliament this month, in which Mr. St. Laurent assumes leadership, not as the nominee of a tired and retiring Prime Minister, but as the overwhelming choice of the Canadian people.

Anyone who has seen Mr. St. Laurent in recent weeks will testify that he well symbolizes in himself this opening of a new era. As he walks briskly across Parliament Hill, robust, approachable, friendly, he looks the very embodiment of health and confidence. He looks ten years younger than he did before the election. For the first time in a generation, casual lunchers at the Rideau Club are liable to find Canada's Prime Minister sitting down beside them. His colleagues, and the senior civil servants who serve his government, find in him an assurance and a decisiveness which is new and which matches this exciting time in Canada's development.

Mr. St. Laurent's natural approach to any problem is still the one he learned in years of successful private practice. It is "Let's do something to solve it." This is exactly the attitude Canada needs. Let us hope that the years in office will do nothing to blunt the direct practicality of the Prime Minister's nature.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it came to pass also on another sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue and taught: and there was a man whose right hand was withered. And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath day; that they might find an accusation against him.

But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Rise up, and stand forth in the midst. And he arose and stood forth. Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you one thing; Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it? And looking round about upon them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other....

And it came to pass in those days, that he went out into a mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God. And when it was day, he called unto him his disciples: and of them he chose twelve, whom also he named apostles....

And he came down with them, and stood in the plain, and the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Judaea and Jerusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon, which came to hear him, and to be healed of their diseases; and they that were vexed with unclean spirits: and they were healed. (Luke 6: 6-10, 12, 13, 17, 18.)

Salvaging 'Pluto'

(London Calling)

When the war at sea was a grim reality, someone had the idea of supplying petrol to the Allied Army of Occupation in Europe through a pipe-line laid along the bed of the sea. In all, 500 miles of piping was laid down.

The part which gave its name to the whole operation was that running from the coast of Kent to the French port of Boulogne: the Pipe Line Under The Ocean, the initial letters of which makes up the word PLUTO. But that is old history now.

The pipe is being salvaged and will yield 11,000 tons of lead from its inner lining.

Secondly, there is steel, 500 miles of it, from the outer covering of pipe-line, and last, but by no means least, comes the news that 74,000 gallons of petrol have been drained out of the pipe-line and returned to the Central Ministry Pool.

Pilot Errors Said To Be The Cause Of Most Crashes

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 — (CP). — The aircraft passenger death rate has tumbled from 28.6 in 1930 to 1.3 in 1948 for each million passenger miles flown.

These figures were offered on Thursday by Gordon Carmichael, property and safety assistant of Trans-Canada Air Lines, Winnipeg, as proof that improvements in training techniques and in aircraft design and performance generally along with innumerable safety devices have greatly reduced the number of accidents in the last two decades.

He was speaking at the 41st annual convention of Dominion Fire Chiefs on the subject of crash fires.

Blames Pilot

Pilot error still remains the major cause of accidents. In 1948 60 per cent of all accidents in Canada were attributed to poor judgment, poor technique, inexperience and carelessness on the part of pilots.

The percentage pilot error is not high in view that it represented all types of flying in Canada, including students private and unscheduled operations as well as the scheduled air line operators, he said.

The accident rate in the case of scheduled airline operators is lower due to the stringent qualifications necessary to obtain and hold airline transport pilot's licence.

Water was an effective crash fire agency only when used as foam or fog and was the only agency known at present that will completely extinguish crash fires. Promising developments have recently been made, however, in the use of dry chemicals, but these have not yet been proved in their application to aircraft fires.

Stocking Up Films

OTTAWA, Sept. 2. — (CP).— The National Film Board will have a stockpile of films for use by Canadian television stations when they start operations, Sydney Newman, the Board's film production executive, said Thursday. Mr. Newman, in Ottawa on a holday from a television course at the National Broadcasting Corporation studios in New York, said that United States television stations now are using films for from 25 to almost 100 per cent of their programs.

Gold Mine Heads Watching Talks At Washington

By The Candian Press

Canadian gold mining interests have a keen eye on the three-power monetary conference in Washington.

It is their hope some action will be taken on the price of gold, bringing a sufficient boost to reopen closed mines which have hundreds of thousands of tons of reserve ore ready to be worked.

"We are just waiting for something to be done about the price," said John Dunsmuir, of Vancouver, president of Cansu Cariboo Mining Company.

Decisions made at the Anglo-Canadian-United States financial talks in Washington will be of particular interest in British Columbia. Few B.C. operating mines are showing sufficient profit to pay a dividend.

Suspend Operations

Many have suspended operations, faced by thigh operating costs and the fixed selling price of $35 an ounce. Others are close to the margin where they would have to close if they ran into a stretch of lower-grade ore.

Higher prices, mining men say, would bring some promising and partly developed properties into operation.

Dividends have been few and far between for operating mines, an industry spokesman said. Some have not paid dividends since 1943.

In the mines hoping for a higher price range, ore reserves run from a few thousand to 100,000 tons. Others have new veins, showing rich prospects, waiting for development.

Oshawa Captures Opener Of Central League Series

OSHAWA, Sept. 2 (CP)—Two big innings here last night gave the Oshawa Merchants a 15-1 triumph over Peterborough Petes to open their best-of-seven Central Ontario Bareball League final playoff series. The second game will be in Peterborough on Saturday evening. Winner of this series goes into OBA senior "A" playdowns with the loser going into the senior "B" series.

The Petes found chilly weather hard on the hands and they had nine errors, as Oshawa supported Gingerich and later Michael in good style. Whitehill gave way in the fourth to Lowery, the Petes' pitchers allowing but four more hits than the opposing slabsmen but getting terrible backing. Cook led Oshawa at bat with three, while Ticcony and Gingerich each hit safely twice. Menzies got a brace of singles for the visitors. Gingerich threw three-hit ball and fanned six in the five innings he worked. Cold weather kept down the crowd.

Local senior "A" lacrossers are off tonight for Hamilton and the same squads clash at 8.45 tomorrow e'en in Miller Bowl in fourth of their best-of-seven playoffs, Petes dropping the first two. Their scoring list for the season is in tonight, showing Leo Teatero in front with 88 points. Others who did better than 70 are Jim McNulty, Bob Thorpe and Jack Foote. Alas, McNulty also led in time served in the sin bin, doing 75 minutes. Two dozen players are listed, showing the Petes kept trying to get a winning club. Ken Dixon led Mimico and the loop with 135 points, Jack Dorney being best for Hamilton with 132, Arch Browning topping Brampton with 114, Ken Croft sparking St. Kitts with 91, and Don Campbell leading Owen Sound with 85.

Couple of interesting cricket matches here this weekend for followers of that sport. Local club plays Dentonia Park of Toronto at the Oval tomorrow aft in the first round of the Woods Memorial Trophy competition, a knockout system with a number of clubs in play. On Labor Day at the Oval, Wentworth plays Carleton County for the R. C. Matthews Trophy, emblematic of the county cricket championship of Ontario. It is a neutral pitch for these clubs, the Carleton team earlier putting out Peterborough-Whitaker by one run, the locals having won that trophy a year ago.

Panthers Shaking Down

The grid Panthers are starting workouts now in Morrow Park, where lights will brighten up contests this autumn. Ground is rough enough yet and some of the players have sprained ankles and had hard falls, but work proceeds. Coach Spike Matthews is weeding out prospects and hopes to have a strong squad by the week-end. They may play Cobourg an exhibition shortly. Jerry McGillis, Jim Conlin, Bob Wyatt and Ron Hodson are looking okay at pass receiving and running in scrimmage. Bill McMaster is tackling well and Ken Masters is another newcomer stopping a lot of huskies in their tracks.

Senior ball-playing Petes' batting averages for the season are in tonight, Howie Dalton again leading the local pack with a healthy .407, with Pat Wilson next of the regulars and Joe Lowrey third. Others over the .300 mark are Al Menzies, Lefty Dadson and Gunner Whitehill. George Ticcony of Oshawa topped the loop this year—the spot held by Dalton last season—with a nifty .429 for all 20 games. Bush was best for Batawa with .308 and Rowe led Brockville with .294. Dadson was the best flinger in the COBL with eight wins and two losses, Whitehill holding that honor a year ago. Petes play Oshawa here at 5.30 tomorrow in the second of the four-of-seven loop finals.

Butter Or Oleo Fingers

'Tis hoped the Petes got all their errors out of the system last evening in Oshawa. They booted no less than nine while dropping a one-sided contest to the Merchants. It was chilly, of course, but just as cold on Oshawa fingers as those of the Petes. Ed Whitehill and Joe Lowery (taking over in the fourth) gave up but 10 hits, against six by Gingerich and Michael, so the score should have been pretty close. But no, it was just a romp for the Merchants. Only Al Menzies got more than one safe blow for the visiting squad, while Cook, Ticcony and Gingerich were poison at the Oshawa plate. Two big innings did the damage for the Murphyites. They'll have to come up fighting here tomorrow.

No girls' softball games again last e'en, owing to wet grounds. Several postponements lately have held up round-robin play for the lasses, but they hope to resume tonight at seven with Marines meeting Westclox, and CGE going against Lindsay. Nothing then till an exhibition Monday at seven p.m. betwixt Ashby's and Woollens for the Labor Council in connection with the Labor Day "do" over that way. Next Wednesday night sees Toronto here to take on Woollens in PWSU junior competition. Round-robin series will commence again later in the week with top two teams playing off. Whole thing ought to be cleaned up by about September the middle.

Ticcony Leads In COBL Clouting .429

George Ticcony, catcher-coach of the Oshawa Merchants, led the COBL hitters for the 1949 schedule with a grand mark of .429 for all 20 games. Howie Dalton of the Petes, who led the loop last season, was second with .407, several others of the Petes being up there in the top half-dozen. Bush led the Batawa regulars with .308 and Rowe topped the Brockville batters with .294. One Batawa-at-Brockville game on August 1 was not box-scored, but it could not affect the leading hitters or pitchers. The Petes ousted Batawa in loop semi-finals and now meet Oshawa for the league title.

Lefty Bill Dadson was the best pitcher in the circuit with eight wins and two losses. Whitehill had four and three, and Plunkett a win and two losses. Gingerich of Oshawa had six and two, and Sutton four and none, Michael three and none, Knights two and one, and Clemence a win and a loss. Muffitt led Batawa with three wins and four losses, as

YOU CAN'T BUY A BETTER MOTOR OIL

Let us save you time and money. We can give your tires, battery, fan belt, windshield, etc., a thorough check while having your oil brought to a safe driving level. Before starting on your trip, make sure the oil in your crankcase is fresh and clean. Have the old motor oil drained, the crankcase flushed clean, and refilled with the correct grade of Peerless Motor Oil. Make it a point to be sure of your car—it may save you trouble, time and money on the road. To prolong the life of your engine always ask for Peerless Motor Oil.

"It's Alloyed"

THE BRITISH AMERICAN OIL COMPANY LIMITED

"There's no question in my mind that the high compression motors of today need a premium motor oil. I believe it's true when they say you can't buy a better motor oil", states HARRY HOWE, B-A DEALER, GEORGIA & BEATTY STS., VANCOUVER, B.C

"I like to see a man lubricate his car at correct intervals—sure it's extra business for me—but he is a lot happier—proper lubrication cuts expensive car wear", says BERT LEEDER, B-A DEALER, JARVIS & WELLESLEY STS., TORONTO, ONT

"It's a golden rule around our place to bring oil to a safe driving level. I've seen too many of those 'take a chance' boys burn out bearings, etc. It pays to use a good oil regularly." ART RIDDELL of ART RIDDELL & SON LTD., REGINA, SASK.

"I think there is a lot to be said on the story of Peerless Motor Oil reducing operating costs. Very seldom does a regular customer of mine have large repair bills", says HENRI MIRON, B-A DEALER, BORDEAUX & LAFONTAINE STS., MONTREAL, P.Q.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Let's hope its warms up for tonigth's men's doubles. Choose your partner and be at the greens by 7:30 o'clock.

The committee did the wise thing when they postponed the men's schedule of last evening. We venture to say that if the games had been called, a baker's dozen would have turned out. However, we have been informed that the games will be played on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Playing in the Globe and Mail doubles in Toronto Friday, Mrs Renaud and Mrs. Dyer won and lost. In their first game they were five up on Mrs. White and Mrs. Cleveland of Cosburn Park, but lost out to Mrs. James and Mrs. Hogue, Runnymede, by three shots. We might add that the Runnymede pair were the winners last year. As the sports writer of the paper said, "The champs won their second game over the very capable pair from Peterborough.

Cattle Prices Decline On Dull Market

TORONTO, Sept. 22 (CP). — Cattle prices dropped $1-$2 on a dull market here this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today.

Calves slipped $1, while hogs took a big loss of $4.25. Lambs dropped 50 cents to $1 a hundredweight. Sheep were the only group to hold steady.

The cattle run of 7,442 head compared with 4,903 head the same week a year ago and 6,993 last week. Carried over from the previous week were 2,100 cattle, and it was expected that 3,000 cattle would remain unsold at the close of the week.

Closing sales on choice steers were at $22. Good light steers were $20-$20.50 and good heifers $19-$19.50. Plain steers and heifers sold at $15-$18.50, with boners from $10-$14. Good cows closed at a general top of $14, with plain downward to $12. Canners and cutters were $8-$11.50. Good bulls were $15.50-$16 and plain downward to $12. Fed yearlings closed at $20-$23.50 a hundredweight.

A few good feeding steers sold steady at $18-$19 a hundredweight. Ordinary stockers were slow and lower at $13-$16.50 a hundredweight.

Calves totalled 2,426 head. Prices were $1 a hundredweight lower and the closing trade was weak at $23-$25 a hundredweight for choice vealers with plain to medium from $15-$21. Grassers sold for slaughter at $11-$14.

Hogs receipts were 1,941 head. Prices took a $4.25 drop from last week's high to close at $30 for Grade A and $29.60 for Grade B1. Sows were $3 lower at $18 dressed.

There were 3,326 sheep and lambs offered. Lambs sold lower at $21.50 for good ewes and wethers by rail and $21 by trucks. Culls closed at $14-$17. Sheep sold steady at $9-$11 a hundredweight for good ewes with culls ranging downward to $5.

Two Bishops From US Will Attend Synod

HALIFAX, Sept. 2 (CP)—Two Bishops of the Episcopal Church of the United States will attend the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada here Sept. 7-14, it was learned Thursday.

The two are Rt. Rev. O. L. Loring of Portland, Bishop of Maine, and Bishop Kenneth Viall, the assistant Bishop in Japan.

Rt. Rev. Philip Abraham, Bishop of Newfoundland, also will attend. One of the first acts of the Synod will be the admission of the Newfoundland Diocese into the Church of England in Canada.

The chief speaker during the week-long assembly will be Most Rev. Cyril F. Garbett, Archbishop of York.

About 30 Bishops will attend the Synod, including two Bishops-elect, W. E. Fuller of Saskatoon and Walter Bagnell of Niagara, Ont.

Saved From Drowning

TORONTO, Sept. 2 — (CP).—Frederick Schwaab, 63, of Toronto Thursday was saved from drowning in heavy surf at nearby Hanlan's Point by the quick action of a 53-year-old Dutch artist, in Canada only two months. W. H. Hillebrand, walking along the shore, saw Schwaab about 10 feet off shore and rescued him.

Experimental Drug Gives Woman Sight

PEARL RIVER, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—A 50-year-old Newfoundland woman, nearly blind from a disease contracted while she was a missionary in Africa, Thursday told how an experimental drug made her see in three days.

Miss Millicent House returned to Toronto in 1945 after 17 years as a missionary at Angola, in Portuguese Southwest Africa.

She was afflicted with a disease caused by a tropical worm, of similar origin to elephantiasis, the swelling of the limbs which afflicts residents of tropical areas. She suffered near-blindness, slight deafness and sores on various parts of her body.

Through a friend she heard of a new drug, hetrazan, used on United States soldiers who contracted tropical worm diseases.

She came to New York, entered a clinic and began taking the drug.

Within three days, she said, she began to see better. In a month, she was discharged completely cured.

Havelock News

Donald Leask, of Tilsonburg, accompanied by Miss T. Seaton and Miss K. Seaton, of Toronto, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Leask, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Neill and family have left for Tomkins, Sask., where Mr. O'Neill will have charge of a mission circuit of the United Church of Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ames and daughter Lois, of Brighton, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilde.

Following a weekend with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Leask, Miss B. Sexsmith, of Toronto, spent a week at Belmont Lake accompanied by Mrs. Leask.

Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hay were: Mrs. E. Hay, of Trent River; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hay and William Bertrand, of Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hay and daughter Doris, of Colborne; Richard Bannon and Miss Dolores Bannon, of Hastings.

Registration Unchanged

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 2. — (CP).—Fall registration in arts, science and pre-medical courses at the University of Western Ontario is expected to be about 2,000 or close to last year's total, officials said Thursday. No reports have been received of possible enrolment at Western's affiliated colleges in Windsor, Waterloo and St. Thomas.

Report Registration Smaller At Universities Across Canada

By The Canadian Press.

Fewer names will be written on enrolment books when Canadian colleges and universities swing open their doors for registration this month.

Although the smaller fry are flocking back to school in larger numbers, a Canadian Press survey shows that university registration will generally be smaller.

Shortage of accommodation for married students, especially those with families, is still serious, but single men and women won't have much difficulty finding rooms.

Arts and Science courses ring the bell for popularity this year, with Medicine, Engineering and Commerce running close seconds. At Carleton College, Ottawa, Journalism is still highly regarded, while Honor Chemistry is in front at Hamilton's McMaster University.

Housing Adequate

In Western Canada, all residence facilities will be filled to capacity, but University of British Columbia officials consider their housing, including three trailer camps, will be adequate. The housing crisis was felt there last year when 8,500 enrolled but fewer war veterans are registering for the 1949-50 term.

More than 13,000 students enrolled last year at the Universities of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba but officials expect a slight decrease.

Overcrowding of Alberta's lecture rooms will probably continue until the new Students' Union and Library Buildings are completed. Officials have issued a plea for accommodation in Edmonton where university residences will be overtaxed.

A housing survey by University of Saskatchewan students shows an extreme shortage of suites and light housekeeping rooms and a surplus of room-and-board accommodation.

May Have To Walk

Manitoba students may have to walk to classes this Fall while the Winnipeg Electric Company awaits the decision of the Public Utility Board on fare boosts to the University site.

A total enrolment of some 14,000 students is expected at the University of Toronto, about 2,200 less than last year. It is still "extremely hard" to find quarters for married couple with children, officials say. The same situation prevails at other Ontario colleges and universities in London, Kingston, Ottawa and Hamilton, but at Guelph, housing is believed adequate for Agricultural College demands.

The Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph has received twice the number of applications it can accept and has turned down United States students in order to give preference to those from Canada and Commonwealth countries.

Officials of McGill University, Montreal, which operates nursery schools for children and lodgings for war brides, now are being asked to find homes for babies as well as parents. Both McGill and the University of Montreal expect increased applications, although no figures are available.

Harwood News

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Osborne, of Hamilton, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crick.

Mr. and Mrs. George Robson and family, of Noranda, Quebec, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Robson, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robson and family for two weeks.

Mrs. James Ogden and son, of Mimico, and Mrs. W. Strachan, of Willowdale, visited Mr. and Mrs. Robson over the weekend.

Bethesda United Church Sunday School picnic was held in Mr. King's woods, Gore's Landing, last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. McCulloch and daughter Jean, of Summit, New Jersey, called on friends in Harwood last week. They are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCulloch, of Baltimore.

Miss Audrey Stevenson has returned home from Cobourg.

The annual Field Day in connection with Memorial Park, Harwood, will be held on Monday, Sept. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore, of Batawa, spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Moore and family.

Harvest Thanksgiving service will be held in St. John's Church on Sunday, Sept. 4, at 7.30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Killenbeck, of Peterborough, spent the weekend at their cottage.

Newfoundland Has Ideas For Highway

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 2. — (CP)—While western Canada is considering the route of the proposed trans-Canada highway through the rockies, Newfoundland is discussing the route the eastern end of this system should take across the island.

From St. John's to Port Aux Basques, eastern terminus of the Cabot Strait ferry from Sydney, N.S., the distance in a direct line is about 300 miles. Because of the terrain and the indented coast line the road would have to diverge in many parts from such a course.

Another route discussed roughly follows the Trans-Insular railway, which from Port Aux Basques swings northward to tap the northern bays, and would cover 610 miles. Along this route roads already built or under construction measure about 400 miles.

Another suggestion is that the new highway should be built along the south coast where there are virtually no roads west of Fortune Bay, about 200 miles from Port Aux Basques.

That apart from the advantage of affording the most direct communication across the island, it is said, such a road would open up new country, give places along the south coast a link with other parts of the province, and make accessible to them wood supplies for fuel and building and possibly land which might be cultivated.

From the tourist point of view, it would bring within easy reach numerous salmon rivers, lakes where trout abound and virgin shooting grounds prolific in game birds, moose and caribou.

Churchill Home

LONDON, Sept 2 (AP)—Winston Churchill returned Thursday, tanned and smiling, from a five-week visit to the continent. The 74-year-old Conservative leader began his trip July 25. He painted in Italy, swam on the French Riviera and attended the council of Europe's conference in Strasbourg.

Lawyers Seek Safeguard Of Provincial Rights

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 2 (CP).—Complex problems arising from the proposed abolition of appeals to the Privy Council faced Canada's legal profession today.

Scheduled for presentation to a sectional session of the Canadian Bar Association's annual meeting later today is a report from a special committee appointed Wednesday to bring forward recommendations on the problem. The committee, which worked through most of the night, was set up following a lengthy debate on the subject Wednesday.

Delegates said during the debate that their main concern was that any bill abolishing appeals to the Privy Council also contain regulations safeguarding constitutional rights of the provinces.

In an address Wednesday night, Lord Morton of Henryton, a member of the Privy Council, stressed that the decision on retention or abolition of appeals to the Council rightfully belonged to Canada.

Must Safeguard Rights

W. B. Scott, K.C., of Montreal, said one of the most vital duties facing the association was to try to impress upon the government the necessity of safeguarding the constitutional rights of the provinces and the rights of minority groups.

J. G. A. Hutcheson, of Vancouver, listed four main points which he felt should be incorporated into Canada's constitution should appeals to the Privy Council be abolished. They were: 1. The number of judges constituting the court. 2. Qualification of judges, including regional representation. 3. Jurisdiction of the court, and 4. Right of appeal to the court.

In other business Wednesday, the Alberta Branch of the Sectional Committee on Civil Administration made a strong recommendation that Canada's divorce laws be modified.

Approval Given To Buy Land Monaghan Area

Provincial government's planning department has written to the council its approval of the purchase of 28 acres west of Monaghan Road for purposes of the 100-dwelling housing project and future secondary school expansion.

News of this investment has been published in recent council reports. The property to be acquired comprises 15 acres for the Board of Education in its plans, indefinitely in the future, for a second Collegiate Institute. Purchases of the other acres has already been undertaken, and the block required for a school will likely be expropriated.

Its general location is generally marked by the Hughes collection of wrecked cars on the west side of Monaghan Road.

Reforestation Can Only Save Paper Industry

TERRACE BAY, Ont., Sept. 2 (CP)—Only a province-wide program of planned reforestation can save Ontario's billion-dollar pulp and paper industry, Lands Minister Scott of Ontario and member for Peterborough, said here on Thursday.

The threat facing the business results from the depletion of forests, tapped over many years by a score of mills.

By 1953, Ontario hopes to have in effect a reforestation scheme whereby every pulp operator will replant as many trees as he cuts down, Mr. Scott said.

Companies will have to rotate their cutting over a 100-year period, so as to have fully-matured, second-growth timber ready to cut by the time the first growth has disappeared.

The Minister, accompanying a 33-man delegation of Ontario Legislature members on a tour of the northland, last week inspected one of the first private reforestation schemes on Spruce Falls Company land at Kapuskasing. He mentioned that Spruce Falls experts have found black spruce produces the best quality newsprint.

No Power Failures Only Few Lines Down

A high wind descended on Peterborough early Thursday afternoon and men of the Public Utilities Commission held their breath and waited, expecting the worst. But nothing happened —at least nothing serious. There were no power failures and only lines into about 15 houses were torn down by falling branches. None of the main lines were interrupted.

Branches came crashing down, but no trees were reported blown over during the afternoon to Utilities Commission manager Ross Dobbin.

In the rural areas the damage was heavier. On the Keene road five or six trees were blown over onto the the highway and on the Apsley road there were two.

KENNEALLY FUNERAL

There will be a military funeral for Martin Kenneally of Toronto who died Thursday at his home. It will be from 202 Montrose Ave., Toronto, to St. Francis' Roman Catholic Church for Requiem High Mass at 9 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be in Mount Hope Cemetery. Mr. Kenneally was a former resident of Peterborough and a sister, Miss Cecelia Kenneally, lives on Sherbrooke St.

FORTY CHILDREN, swimming pupils of Mrs. Isabelle Crary, were unable to demonstrate their aquatic prowess before their parents at a Bridgenorth exhibition on Thursday. A dip in temperature and rough water on Lake Chemong forced cancellation of the swimming exhibition. An indoor picnic at the home of Mrs. Clifford Hartman was substituted. Margaret Parnell (left) who assisted Mrs. Crary is shown receiving two pair of nylons, the gift of Bridgenorth residents. Grateful parents of this year's 65 pupils presented Mrs. Crary with a set of travelling bags. This is the second summer she has conducted swimming classes at Bridgenorth. School Books Plentiful But More Costly

Supply of textbooks for the opening of primary and secondary schools in Peterborough next Tuesday is good, retailers say. On the other side of the picture, however, are price increases from ten to 15 per cent and up, with the overall average price rise amounting to about 10 per cent.

Booksellers expect a shortage in only one or two lines, and feel it will be only temporary. The supply of mathematics and science texts will be plentiful this year.

The boost in prices is an increase from the publishing houses it is understood, and appears to be general. Reports from St. Thomas, in Western Ontario, indicate that conditions there are the same.

Modern Town Carved Out Of Wilderness In 3 Years

By NICK NICKELS
Examiner Staff Reporter-Photographer

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 2—Touring Cabinet ministers, members of the Legislative Assembly and the press agreed that their second day of the ten-day junket to Northern Ontario should be called "pulp and paper day." The three-coach party watched the beautiful north shore country of Lake Superior through wet mist-covered windows but were impressed nevertheless with the grandeur of the scenery. By fortunate coincidence the rain and fog lifted just as the train pulled into Marathon and the sun breaking through the clouds highlighted this beautiful paper town that marched rank on rank from the railway down to a large curving bay where the steaming mill and mountainous piles of pulpwood stand.

The trip through the Marathon Paper Mill was planned by masters of efficiency. Numbered groups were taken through the vast workings by a body of competent guides. Not all departments could be visited in such short time at their disposal but the group did see the major operations and were supplied with so much data in booklet form by the company, that the operation was comprehensive to all.

View Townsite

Right on schedule the large party viewed the pretty townsite, with its neat homes, churches, seven children's playgrounds, the business blocks, theatre and hospital and drew up to the company's modern inn for an official luncheon. R. T. Steedman, Vice-president and general manager and his executive staff were gracious hosts.

Open Generator

The party arrived at Terrace Bay one hour later where it was met by the Premier of the Province, Hon. Leslie M. Frost, and a number of buses whisked the group to the deep-bayed shore of Lake Superior where the Aguasabon generating station harnessed the swift waters of the river by the same name to produce 53,000 electric horsepower for the community's Longlac Pulp and Paper Company. Mr. Frost officiated in the opening of the second generator. Besides supplying power to the Terrace Bay mill and townsite, the new generator will also supply power to the town of Nipigon, 70 miles away. The development cost $12,500,000. Further inland on the river a newly-constructed dam developed an artificial lake covering 2,000 acres to provide the generating station with an operating head of 290 feet.

A second trip that day was made through the Longlac Pulp and Paper Mill and by reason of more time at their disposal, the guests made a much more thorough inspection of the 300-ton mill. Following this, a tour was made of the townsite which can claim to have the most modern homes in the wilderness of Thunder Bay. About 300 dwelling each one of different design and color scheme, are set in curving streets where natural stands of birch had been left to create a most pleasing picture. A most modern business block is being operated by the world's oldest trading enterprise, the Hudson's Bay Company. The community's seven-room school would put most city schools to shame in its bold design and appointments. The pretty streets were filled with happy women and children, and those interviewed said with stout pride that theirs was the finest town in Canada. For a place that three years ago was wilderness, the monstrous project was breath-taking.

After a social hour in the recreation hall, company officials were hosts to a splendid dinner, a very special occasion with the Provincial Premier as chief guest and no less than three company vice-presidents to receive him and tell the assembly of their faith in their new Ontario venture. The parent company is Kimberly-Clard, founded in the United States when Ulysses S Grant was in the White House.

It was with regret that the touring party had to leave but their cars were waiting and they rolled into the lakehead cities early Thursday morning to finally stop in Fort William where breakfast was served by city hosts. This was followed by an hour-long boat ride, first to view the towering grain elevators, pulp mills and lake shipping on the Kaministiquia river. The well-planned city spread neatly back from the busy waterfront, stopped abruptly on the west by towering Mount McKay. The boat turned back and went east inside the breakwater on Thunder Bay to see Port Arthur's bustling industry. There were clusters of silo-like elevators. One of the world's largest, pool seven holds eight million bushels of prairie grain.

Fort William entertained party with banquet at Chippawa Park where Chippawa Indian Chief Peltier made Premier Frost Chief High Water, complete with feathered headdress. Name was picked because his work as provincial treasurer was likened to beavers who dam up water supply. Several minor chiefs and Indian women had him join them in camp fire war dance.

Swimmers Honor Instructor At Chemong Park

A sudden change in temperature and winds that whipped up high waves on Lake Chemong Thursday foiled plans for a swimming exhibition and picnic at Bridgenorth.

Instead, 40 children and about 30 adults, shivering in coats and sweaters, were invited to the home of Mrs. Clifford Hartman who, with Mrs. Karl Blewett, had arranged the afternoon's entertainment.

The event was to have demonstrated to mothers the progress in swimming made by pupils of Mrs. Isabelle Crary, member of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club. This is the second summer in which Mrs. Crary has given her time in the afternoon to teach swimming. This year's enrolment totalled 65, the ages ranging from two years up.

Thirteen in the class could not swim at all at the beginning of the season and six of these tried Junior Red Cross examinations this week, three being successful.

As evidence of the appreciation felt by residents of Bridgenorth and vicinity, a set of travelling bags was presented to Mrs. Crary by Mrs. Wallace Parnell, who spoke briefly of the immense service she has rendered freely during the two seasons.

Miss Margaret Parnell who has assisted Mrs. Crary was presented with two pair of nylon hose.

A sing-song, led by Mrs. Clayton Telford, was enjoyed, after which the ladies in charge served sandwiches, cake and ice cream.

A letter of thanks signed by mothers of the children taking lessons has been sent to Mr. W. M. Blewett, who allowed the use of his dock.

Mrs. Lorne Reynolds moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Hartman and daughter Sally, and Mrs. Blewett for their efforts.

New Inspector Takes Over Provincial Post

Inspector C. W. Farrow, formerly sergeant of the Ontario Provincial Police with the Dundas detachment, took over his new duties Thursday as head of No. 8 District, OPP, Peterborough, in succession to Inspector Edwin V. McNeill, who has been promoted to the rank of Staff Inspector of the force at headquarters in Toronto. Inspector McNeill, who had been in charge of this district since its establishment about 1½ years ago, left for Toronto today to take up his new post.

Inspector Farrow arrived Wednesday night and almost the first thing he said to an Examiner reporter who greeted him Thursday was: "Do you know where I can find a place to live?" In common with nearly every Canadian transferred from city to city today, the new inspector has a housing problem, and he was ready to accept suggestions from any quarter as to how he could go about solving it.

Labor Day Traffic

Inspector Farrow's first official act was to pass on to his men special instructions received over the force's extensive radio network from Commissioner W. H. Stringer, Toronto, during the afternoon on handling of the record highway traffic expected over the Labor Day holiday weekend. Inspector Farrow urged the constables to do their best to follow out the commissioner's instructions to the letter, with a view to keeping down accidents in No. 8 District to the lowest point possible.

Commissioner Stringer in his broadcast reminded his men that 12 lives were lost in Ontario over the last holiday weekend on Aug. 1, the annual civic holiday. He pointed out that traffic over Labor Day will be even greater because of families returning from vacations, visitors going to and from resorts for a final weekend in the country, and because the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto draws its attendance "from broad areas of Canada and the United States by car."

Reopening of schools on the day after Labor day would also have its effect in boosting holiday weekend travel, the commissioner remarked. "Traffic flow estimates suggest a new high record in motor vehicle movement, with all the hazards and dangers that means. This weekend is likely to prove specially dangerous and a special effort to offset these dangers is vitally necessary."

FISH FILM

The program at the Capitol Theatre beginning Monday includes a National Film Board picture entitled "Famous Fish I Have Met." It takes on local interest in its commentary, with touches of humor by Gregory Clark of Toronto and Pete McGillen of Peterborough.

Board's Ruling Favors Lock Co.

A contract dispute between Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co. and Local 527 UE-CIO over the dismissal of nine employees has been decided in favor of the company by an Arbitration Board ruling.

Crux of the dispute was whether the Company was obliged to train these employees to do other jobs already being performed satisfactorily by other employees. The contract stipulated that in cases of lay-offs, seniority would apply, subject to an employee's ability and qualifications to do the work available.

Rejecting the nine grievances which were dealt with as a group, the majority of the Board found that "the Company has in our opinion lived up to their contractual obligations in this regard."

Summing up the Board's decision Judge W. F. Lane, chairman, stated: "In spite of the fact that the Chairman would like to hold in this case that these young people had a right to assert their seniority, he feels that he is bound to interpret the meaning of Section (E), Article 11 as meaning that men entitled to seniority must not only have the inherent ability to do the job, but he must have had training so that he can step into the job and do it without any term of training."

A union spokesman commenting on this ruling stated: "It means every worker regardless of his length of seniority has no protection against lay-off unless he can prove that he, at some previous time, worked on the job of the worker he is bumping, and therefore requires no training period."

The Arbitration Board which met in Peterborough on August 3 to hear the dispute consisted of Judge Lane, chairman; E. Macaulay Dillon, KC, Toronto, company nominee; and Drummond Wren, Toronto, union nominee.

Representing the Company were A. H. Heideman, personnel supervisor; Bob Maybee, vice president and general manager; and C. J. Cameron, assistant works manager; Union representatives were C. R. Sullivan, UE representative; Dunc Drummond, president of Local 527; and R. Leonard, chief steward.

Building In City Surpasses All Previous Records With Four Months Yet To Go

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough has piled up new building values to the amount of $2,973,188 to the end of August this year for an all-time record above the twelve-months' figures for the preceding years, pre-war and post. Here is a summary of the postwar years for the full period of 12 months in each instance:

1946	$2,435,941.
1947	2,864,484.
1948	2,356,000.
1949	2,973,188.
Total	$10,629,613.

Such is the story of Peterborough's continuing investment in its future almost the same amount in each of the last four years for which wartime visions were predicting gloom. The inspiring fact is in that total: $10,629,613. spent on new buildings during the last four years to the end of August this week.

The information that 1949 is fashioning a realty record, in this fourth year after the war, comes from Miss Jean Elcombe of City Engineer Chalmers' department at the city hall, who says that the final figure for the year will not tell the whole story. The building records in her office have never shown any item for Wartime Housing and Central Mortgaging and Housing Corporation. Hundreds of these homes have been built here in the last ten years, but always without building permits. Hence, if permits are not issued at the city hall for such work then it does not show in the municipal records.

So, even if Peterborough has already this year climbed to a new pinnacle, it should be thrust even higher, if the Central Mortgage contract which Reynolds Construction Co. has been engaged on this year was reflected in the total figures.

The details of this pre-Labor Day story of building activity are for August:

15 Garages	$ 4,735.
14 Dwellings	94,200.
79 Miscellaneous	199,389.
Total—108 permits for	$298,324.

Total for the eight months to the end of August, $2,973,188.

Comparative figures for August 1948:

15 Garages	$ 4,393.
15 Dwellings	84,700.
81 Miscellaneous	151,793.
Total—111 permits for	240,886.

Total for eight months in 1948 was $1,623,368.

In its total and other aspects the statement for August shows a fairly large gain over the building figures for last year when summed ended on a note of questioning whether the building season of 1949 would be able to show as fair a figure.

The regular SEPTEMBER MEETING of the OTONABEE TOWNSHIP COUNCIL will be held in the Council Chamber at KEENE, on TUESDAY, SEPT. 6, at 10 a.m.

Integrated Fire Fighting Services Recommended In Event Of War

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP). — Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington today called for establishment in Canada of an integrated network of fire fighting services so that this country will be prepared for the consequences of an attack in the event of war.

Co-ordination among municipal services, standardization of fire fighting equipment and the inclusion of women in the set-up of auxiliary and volunteer fire fighting forces were urged by Maj.-Gen. Worthington, Canada's co-ordinator of civil defence, in an address prepared for delivery before the 41st annual convention of Dominion Fire Chiefs.

Heaviest toll in life and property during the Second World War resulted from fire, he said.

He noted that fire services in Canada are municipal in organization and likely to remain so as compared with the national set-up in countries such as the United Kingdom.

Mutual Co-Operation

"Therefore, mutual co-operation is a vital necessity if we are to function with maximum efficiency in the event of a disaster.

"Let us translate this problem to any one of our population centres, Toronto for example. Say there were major fires of 20 to 30 city blocks, one centred at Queen and Yonge, another in the east end, still another west of Spadina, minor fires in Danforth, Rosedale, Forest Hill and New Toronto areas.

"Is there a plan? What are the resources available within one or two hours distance? Would they move in to suport. Who would be in charge?"

One of the most important needs was the standardization of equipment. No community could hope to have sufficient equipment to meet an emergency in the event of an attack.

It took no imagination to picture the confusion and the risk and damage if hose couplings and other equipment from one fire brigade were not interchangeable with another.

In addition to clearing the way for mutual aid, this would reduce the overall cost of buying equipment.

"Fire fighting is a profession," he said. "Yet, in all Canada there is not, at the moment, one real fire college functioning. True, there are many schools put on by local fire services as best they may with very limited assistance."

Only 15 Family Heads Moving To Montreal

Rumors of the effect on the C.G.E. payroll of the gradual transfer of the refrigeration department to Montreal are "grossly" exaggerated, Mr. Ian F. McRae, works manager said today.

When a gossiped number was quoted to him, Mr. McRae replied with the word "absurd".

"There will not be more than 20 persons altogether who will leave us for the Montreal plant," he said. "And the number of heads of families will not exceed fifteen."

In the meantime, the local department will be slowly "tuning out" and the new branch in Montreal will be "tuning in" on production, and Peterborough will supply various parts to Montreal until some time in the new year.

Black And White Day Set For Lakefield Fair

At least three agricultural affairs are down in the book for Wednesday, Sept. 7.

It is Lakefield Fair Day with its featured "Black and White" Day of Peterborough Holstein Breeders' Association; also the dispersal sale of John Stuart's OOF Herefords, 160 head, including Mrs. Stuart's polled Herefords.

Wednesday is also Farmers' Day at the Toronto Exhibition; and it is the date of the sitting at Lindsay of the select committee of the Ontario Legislature on a tour of enquiry about rural opinions and recommendations on the broad subject of conservation.

Frank C. Paterson has been interested in the preparations for the Lindsay engagement and the drafting of the district brief that is to be submitted to the committee by the central Ontario counties. He has had to cancel his customary trip ot the Lakefield Fair and forego the sale of Herefords.

Twin Daughters Die

COLUBUS, O., Sept. 2 (AP) — Death Thursday claimed the second of twin daughters born less than 14 hours earlier to a 26-year-old New Concord, O., mother who is suffering from polio. The mother, Mrs. George Morrison, is reported in good condition. The babies were about 2½ months premature.

Face Lifting Job On Farm

Two agricultural events are approaching in Ontario county. The first is the Port Perry Fair on Labor Day with its county Black and White Day of the Holstein Association.

Some of the top winners, including the sweepstakes herd, at the Central Ontario championships in Peterborough last October came from that Port Perry show and strong herds of Ontario county. President of the fair is Fred G. Christie, and past president is G. L. Honey.

That event is for next Monday, and on Thursday there is to be Canada's first farm improvement and soil conservation day at the farm of Heber Down, Brooklin.

This is described as a "face-lifting" job in one day. Down at Adams, Mass., ten days ago, 20,000 farmers turned out for a similar event which was mentioned as a dramatization of soil conservation. It was reported that 27 state and county agencies accomplished in seven hours with 121 pieces of equipment what the average farmer would take ten years to do. Incidentally, their program included excavation of a half-acre pond for fire protection.

Premier Frost will open this demonstration, and Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of the Dominion experimental farms system, will speak on soil care and use.

This project is chiefly an enterprise of the Ontario Department and O.A.C. M. M. Hood of Oshawa, reports that a fleet of 40 to 50 farm tractors will be available, and there will be other equipment, including giant bulldozers and grubbers. The program of the day, beginning at 7 a.m., comprises 15 projects, all of which are to be completed by sundown. Bus parties are expected from as far as Elgin.

Ask 2 Groups To Develop CanadianCulture

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP).—Two private citizens Thursday urged establishment of two government-financed national organizations to advance the development of culture in Canada.

C. F. Fraser, of Halifax, director of the Institute of Public Affairs, Dalhousie University, and Garnet Page, general manager of the Chemical Institute of Canada, made their recommendations in a 30,000-word brief presented to the Royal Commission on Arts and Science.

Both men are closely linked with the work of Canada's Reconstruction Council which is helping rebuild war-devastated areas with school, artist and scientific equipment.

They said there is need for:

1. A Canadian Council for Cultural Relations to make possible a greater exchange of students, professors and other persons associated with culture between Canada and foreign countries.

2. A National Commission to co-ordinate Canada's work in the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization.

Work Together

Mr. Fraser and Mr. Page said both organizations would work closely together. The council would form a kind of functional arm to the commission, which would provide the main contact with UNESCO.

Both men noted an awakening in Canada to the opportunities and responsibilities in the field of cultural relations. Canada has been tardy, they said, but this was because of the promary concern to resolve domestic problems growing out of a rich but diverse cultural heritage.

Now there were indications that Canadians were reaching beyond the border and were trying to establish links with their opposite numbers in the intellectual and cultural life of other lands.

The more professors, students and scientists Canada could invite from foreign countries and the more of her own people she could send abroad, the more it would promote Canada's cultural advance.

The men emphasized that the exchange of persons is the cornerstone of international cultural relations.

Will Launch Ship

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—(CP). — The Transport Department's latest addition to its fleet—a streamlined, modern vessel designed for use in the eastern Arctic patrol service—will be launched at Lauzon, Que., Sept. 7. The 2,600-ton ship, due to take over the patrol service next summer, contains the latest in equipment, including a helicopter. It was ordered after the Nascopie, owned by the Hudson's Bay Company, ran aground and sank during the 1947 trip north.

Vatican Rules Against Group

BOSTON, Sept. 2 (AP) —Archbishop Richard J. Cushing announced Thursday night the Vatican has ruled against a group of Boston Roman Catholics who contend there is no salvation outside the Roman Catholic Church.

Headed by a priest, they have carried a bitter public dispute with the Boston hierarchy over the issue for the last five months.

The Prelate made the decision public in the Pilot, official publication of the Boston Archdiocese. Neither the Archbishop or any other authority would make any additional comment.

Archbishop Cushing, in the Pilot, said the decision was made by the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Holy office, over which the Pope presides. The congregation met in plenary session July 27 and sent the ruling to Archbishop Cushing through Most Rev. Amleto G. Cicognani, Apostolic delegate in Washington.

The dissident group, headed by Rev. Leonard J. Feeney, S. J., meet in Cambridge under the name St. Benedict's Centre. Since April, the Centre has been under interdict—banned to Roman Catholics—and Father Feeney has been without his priestly privileges.

Toss Camp Song Into Camp Fire

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont., Sept. 2 (CP).—Quirt McKinney of Peterborough deplored what he termed the "irresponsible use" of poor song material at camps and other boys' groups activities in an address here Wednesday to the national assembly of Boys' Workers and parliamentarians.

The Director of Music at Peterborough's Normal School said that parodies and many traditional camp songs of poor quality in use ought to be tossed into the camp-fire. He said church leaders should insist that camp music have the same standards as school music.

He added there were countless folk songs and new material available which held appeal for boys of all types and ages.

The assembly's commission on leadership emphasized today's tremendous need for leadership in church boys' groups. Members agreed that if the leadership problem was not solved, the church "was through."

Warns Westerns Stick Closely To Facts In Film

By ROBERT HARDY ANDREWS

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Novelist Robert Hardy Andrews, one-time prolific writer of radio serials (40,000,000 words), has penned 53 screen plays, including the forthcoming "I Married a Communist" and "Bagdad." His new "Legend of a Lady" hit the best-seller list.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2 (AP). —Dear Bob Thomas:

If you happen to run into Aunt Minnie or Joe Zilch on your vacation, I wish you'd ask them what they really think, if anying, and care less, about history They're supposed to know nothing and care less, about history as long as they get Yvonne DeCarlo, that lovely Vancouver girl.

Documentary honesty about what happened in New England five years ago is demonstrably more audience-interesting than cliches about what didn't happen anywhere at any time. And so I'm wondering why documentary honesty, as applied to what happened in the West while the United States was being built, might not be more audience-interesting than the same old formula interminably refused.

Too Many Westerns

The word is out that the market is overloaded with "Westerns." Maybe, instead, too many of our "Westerns" are overloaded with stuff that never happened in the West.

I'm wondering, too, if it isn't time we realized in Hollywood that when we use real names of notable Western characters in pictures we do as we please with personages who are still very real to many in our audiences.

I discovered when I was writing "The Kid From Texas," about William Bonney alias "Billy The Kid," that the Billy The Kid in pictures of the past made a lot of people awfully mad.

Nonetheless, I read recently a script in which the principal characters were Billy The Kid (killed in New Mexico in 1881, at 20), Jesse James (36, when killed in Missouri in 1882), Cole Younger (in a Minnesota prison for murder from 1876 to 1903), Frank Dalton killed chasing outlaws in 1888, John Wesley Hardin (imprisoned in Texas, at 25, until 1894), and Bill Dolin (arrested, naked and unarmed, in an Arkansas bathhouse in 1895).

No Real Truth

But in the picture they're all pals together in the outlaw business, in a part of the country that didn't exist politically until 1888.

We have one playing now which depicts the love affair of Yvonne DeCarlo, who is not a bit ugly, and Howard Duff, only slightly less beautiful. They play calamity Jane and Sam Bass.

The truth is, Mary Jane Burke was the homeliest woman in the Dakotas, and they called her Calamity for her ugliness, not for her guns. At Jane's Peak, Sam Bass was a boy of 12. Further, it didn't happen in Dakota, it happened in Nebraska. Otherwise the story hews fairly close to the line. Oh: except that Calamity and Sam never met.

Both Sides Marking Time In Berlin's New Set-up

By FLORA LEWIS.

(Special to The Examiner)

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—On a minimum scale, the modus vivendi established by the four Foreign Ministers at Paris in June has worked.

Both the Western Allies and the Russians have, in their recent meetings here, been careful to make sure that it will continue working until the Foreign Ministers meet again by refraining from trying to do any more than a minimum.

As one high Allied official said recently, "We expected that once the Four-Power sessions here got going, the Russians would bring up the subject of elections and a single city administration for Berlin. They have done nothing of the sort. They seem anxious to keep relations pleasant, much more anxious than to get anything done by bringing matters to a head."

The one concrete achievement of the modus vivendi has been the resumption of fairly normal traffic between Berlin and West Germany. At first, the Russians made a few attempts to disrupt traffic, but when the Americans finally replied by sending an army convoy over the autobahn, the series of "incidents" suddenly stopped.

Efforts to secure an East-West trade agreement have been all but abandoned. The Russians now seem content to let trade between the two parts of Germany go on as best it can without any overall, agreed schedule. And trade is going on at a much bigger scale than before the blockade and counter-blockade were imposed.

Meanwhile, the Germans in East and West Berlin carry on those few, basic services together which are indispensable to the city. The water supply was never interrupted and electricity now comes regularly into West Berlin from Eastern power stations, which get their coal from the Ruhr. It is bought and sold in West marks.

East and West Berlin officials have been discussing some of the problems which the Soviet Commandant, General Kotivok, brought up before the Allies as the first step towards a return to normal—the waterworks, control of hog fever, venereal disease, distribution of drugs and medical instruments, and establishment of "neutral" restaurants where workers away from their home sector can eat without worrying about having the right coupons or currency.

The Western Allies refused to deal directly with them on the grounds that these were questions for the Germans to handle and that Allied agreement would imply Western recognition of the puppet East Berlin magistrat.

Joe Louis Gets Cocktail Business

TORONTO, Sept. 2 (CP) — Former world's heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis was established Thursday in the cocktail business.

His cocktail lounge—called the Belle Claice Surf Club, was one of 14 establishments around Windsor granted licences by the Ontario Liquor Licence Board Thursday. The board reserved decision on eight others of the 75 applications placed before it in recent hearings at Windsor.

Six of the licences approved are for places in Windsor and the others are for establishments in the surrounding district. Eight were granted lounge licences.

Louis, who lives in Detroit, said that his club would be open only to Negroes.

Licences granted included:

Lounge:Hi-Ro Shriner's Club, St. Thomas.

Dining room: Gil's Gables 1065 Huron; Tilbury Hotel, Tilbury; Hotel Mirivin, Wallaceburg.

Public house for men and women: Royal York Public House, Tecumseh Boulevard East; Tilbury Hotel, Tilbury.

Price Of Coal Not Increased

Reports from Toronto Thursday that hard coal prices jumped 20 cents per ton in that city were received calmly by dealers in Peterborough. Hard coal is now retailing in Toronto for $20.95 a ton, and current Peterborough price is $22.00.

One local dealer said that the coal retailers here have absorbed thus far this Summer an increase of 40 cents, imposed by the mines. This was laid out under a plan of 10 cents per month, and there is one more month to go, making a total rise of 50 cents. They cautioned, however, that an increase of 50 to 75 cents a ton could be expected by the customers at any time.

The Toronto dealers blame the raise on a four-per-cent jump in United States freight rates, which is effective today, reports said. As yet, none of the local men have heard anything about the rise in the U.S. rates.

Coke and Welsh coals remained steady in Toronto. Coke retails here for $21.00 a ton, and Welsh coal is almost an unknown quantity. The story is told of a man who has a carload of Welsh coal to sell at Hamilton, but he wants so much money for it he can get no takers. It sells for approximately $27.00 a ton, and there is very little used here.

An increase in coal prices is expected this month by most dealers, but they are unable to give the exact amount or when it may come into force.

Baby Falls In Well, Rescued By Mother

GEORGE MILLS, NM, Sept. 2. (AP)—A young mother clung to the side of a 40-foot abandoned well for an hour today, clutching her two-year-old son until rescuers hauled them to safety.

Mrs. Earl Dumont rushed to the well when informed by Mervin Mason, 12, a neighbor, that the child had fallen through an 18-inch opening in the well cover.

The mother removed her clothing, in order to squeeze through the narrow opening, and reached the baby.

Unable to climb up again, she told the Mason boy to run to the village for help—1½ miles away.

The baby's father arrived about the same time as the firemen and helped pull the pair to safety.

Pulp, Paper Men Told To Toe Line

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 2 (CP) —Both the pulp and paper men and the lumbermen must be made to "toe the line" in the interest of Ontario, Premier Leslie Frost said at a lakehead luncheon and reception Thursday.

Mr. Frost was referring to the current controversy over timber between the pulp and paper industry and the lumber industry.

W. Earl Rowe, president of the Great Lakes Paper Company, Ltd. has charged that a "premeditated plan" is in progress to discredit both the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and the practices of pulp and paper companies.

The controversy involves the divergent views of pulp and paper interests and of lumbering concerns.

40 Pictures In Art Exhibit

Peterborough Public Library, now that Summer is over, is losing no time in getting started on the service it has been rendering to local art lovers, both presents and potential. Starting next week, an extensive series of art exhibits has been lined up, enough of them having been booked by Librarian William Graff to last until the Christmas shopping season.

The new art exhibit season will be ushered in with the first exhibition of a new group, the Contemporary Artists of Hamilton. There are 40 pictures altogether in this collection; they consist of oils, water colors, and lino blocks. The showing should prove of particular interest to the artists of Peterborough who engage in similar work.

A second exhibit, that of the children's section of the London, Ontario, Art Gallery, is also to be hung next week. If there is insufficient room for it on the second floor, it will be placed in a basement room which is now being fitted up for use as a children's art centre. There are about 30 pictures in this exhibit.

A number of other out-of-town exhibitions are also coming to Peterborough during the fall months, including an exhibit of Canadian chintz and an American women's art exhibit. The Peterborough Group of Painters will also contribute a showing of their latest work.

Does Big Survey

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—(CP). —David Archibald, newly-appointed director of research for the Ontario Liquor Control Board, Thursday launched the Board's biggest undertaking. His job is to find all the facts relating to liquor in Ontario—laws, taverns, habits, alcoholics. Mr. Archibald, 30-year-old native of Truro, N.S., was doing psychiatric work for the National Committee on Mental Hygiene for the last 18 months. He said he could give no estimate on how long it will take him to make his survey and report.

NEW WAY OF WASHING ENDS DIRTY SOAP SCUM

ORDINARY CLEAN

Soap scum "locks" dirt and grease into fabrics, stiffens fibres so they wear out sooner! It can't all be rinsed out, even in hottest water!

"SURF-CLEAN"

Surf makes no scum, takes out any left from earlier washings! Fabrics stay strong! Washes are whiter, brighter. SWEETER! . . . "surf-clean!"

Not only whiter, brighter but "Fresh-air-Fresh" even when dried indoors

● Naturally, you want your washes to be dazzlingly white-clean, brilliantly bright-clean!

But you want more than that!

You want your washes to be SWEETER, too! You want them to smell fresh-air-fresh . . . dried-in-the-sun fresh . . . even if dried indoors!

And they can be just that!

How? With Surf. That new lightning-quick, long-lasting suds discovery that's already outstripped every washing product introduced in Canada in years. When we say, Surf gets your clothes sweeter, we mean it gets them so clean you can smell their cleanness. So clean, you know they're clean even with your eyes closed!

Here's how Surf does it.

1. It dissolves the clinging, greasy dirt that "clogs" clothes ... floats it out in a flash.
2. It ends your soap scum problem.
3. It removes germs, gets washes sanitary. Deodorizes them.

Surf does this in any kind of water!—hard—cold. Hard water is rainwater to Surf!

Best of all. Surf gives you a way to wash everything with one product. Heavy, greasy things—overalls, dirty work clothes. Fine things. Stockings. Undies. Dainty dresses.

Truly a sweeter way of washing!

That's why you'll be seeing more and more Surf washes on the line . . . the cleanest . . . the sweetest washes you'll see anywhere!

So don't think of using anything else for your washing. Let Surf get it clean . . . get it SWEET! Look for that attractive blue box at your grocer's . . . it tells a SWEET washday story.

Get dishes, greasy pans twice as clean twice as fast. Get glasses streakless, bright —without wiping. That's the Surf way of washing. The easy-on-the-hands way.

If it's "Surf-Clean"...It's really Clean

Patrick J. Crough Is Married At Kenilworth

A wedding of interest here took place in the Sacred Heart Church at Kenilworth Saturday morning when Mary Gertrude, daughter of Mrs. Dineen and the late Patrick Dineen, became the bride of Patrick Joseph Crough of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Crough. The Rev. James Kirby performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. J. I. Bodendistle of Arthur, was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, wide draped bertha collar, the long full skirt gathered at the waist with side peplum falling in points. Her circular veil was held in place with a halo of white roses and she carried a cascade of American Beauty roses.

Miss Marcelle Crough of Toronto, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid was in a gown of emerald green taffeta, made with primrose collar and bustle back. She had matching gauntlets and wore a coronet headdress of yellow roses and carried a matching nosegay.

The groom was attended by Mr. Albert Dineen, brother of the bride.

A wedding dinner was served at Pike Lake Lodge with the bride's table artfully decorated with long streamers of ivy and bouquets of mixed flowers, centred by a three-tier wedding cake. The reception was held later at the home of the bride's mother, who received in a black and white printed silk dress with black accessories and wore a corsage of sweet peas and roses. She was assisted by the groom's sister, Mr. C. R. Payne of Peterborough, who wore rose and black printed silk with black accessories and a corsage of gladioli and roses.

For her going-away outfit the bride chose a cinnamon brown gabardine suit and green accessories. They will reside in Toronto.

Guests present were from Peterborough, Toronto, Guelph, Arthur and Brampton.

Petal Skirts Latest On Fifth Avenue

By MARIENNE IZSAK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (CP) — If there is a different way to add interest to a skirt, Sophie of Fifth Avenue will think of it.

This was demonstrated at her custom-order collection shown to the press Thursday.

Notable in the skirt treatment was the "petal" skirt, already made popular by Paris designers. This was often scalloped and cut to mid-half on either side. It dipped longer in the back than the front, frequently ending in a small train.

Other "motion" skirts included a draping which jutted out horizontally on the left hip, rounded up in front, and gathered lower on the right. There were also "Harem" hemlines, back seams folded back and faced with contrasting textures and numerous variations on the bustle.

The fabrics used had an international air—French brocades and laces, Italian silks and satins and English worsteds and tweeds taking the limelight.

Colors Run Riot

The color palette ran rampant. Besides the ever-popular blacks, beiges and greys, there were clear, brilliant colors—nutmeg brown, ruby, mulberry and a hyacinthe blue, all heightened by the use of contrasting textures.

One of Sophie's country suits was a cerise-and-lavender English tweed with patch pockets, and a long, belted back with pleats.

Dashing and eye-catching was a fitted navy coat, with wide, stand-up coachman collar and patch-pockets. It was worn over a simple flash-red crepe dress, long-sleeved and high-necklined.

Just to show her versatility, Sophie presented an after-ski custume, the black velvet skirt rising to a milkmaid top of white challis, decorated with crocheted red carnations. A mitten stole with pockets was worn with it.

Miss America Under Fire Over Matter Of Padding

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1.—Miss America is a big bully, a movie star said today. A 37-inch bully.

Challenges Right

Voluptuous Bebe Shopp has no more right to crusade against girls who wear falsies than Jack Dempsey has to crusade against Frank Sinatra.

This is not in the American tradition, says Dennis O'Keefe. Shame on you, Miss America, picking on little girls, he says.

"It's just like Jack Dempsey lumbering up to someone like Frank Sinatra," he said, "and saying, 'Those shoulder pads, you little runt, you!'"

Miss America, who is anything but an average American miss, is touring Europe. She advocates bonafide bosoms and clean thinking.

But you just wait, young lady. You're a firm and cornfed 18 now. In another 50 years, O'Keefe bets you'll eat your words.

"Maybe she'll never have to pad," he said. "But the time will come, such as death and grey hair, when she'll have to do something."

This is a ticklish subject, O'Keefe said. In fact, he said that twice.

Men like to see what they're getting, but he said a broad-minded gent will tolerate a false front when it's the only way a gal can look stylish.

"Those things don't really fool anybody," he said. "At least they don't fool us long."

Added Charge

The way Miss Shopp has been flaunting her sensational superstructure in the chests of less-endowed females, she's probably encouraging imitations, he added.

"The day may come," O'Keefe said, "when a reasonable facsimile of her attractions is built into all clothes."

Men have been doing that for years. But O'Keefe pointed out righteously, you don't hear them tattling.

We all know about fake shoulders and lifts in the shoes.

"Many men also have padded chests built into their coats," he divulged. The press agent for his picture, Pine-Thomas' "The Eagle and the Hawk," confidentially disclosed that he was one.

"Some actors were falsies on their legs, too," O'Keefe whimpered. "I'd be willing to bet that for 'Hamlet' Sir Laurance Olivier wore pads in his tights."

Calgary Wedding Of Local Interest

A wedding of local interest took place in Calgary Saturday, August 27, in St. Stephen's Anglican Church, when Frances Mildred, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy F. Peele, Calgary, became the bride of Mr. Robert Cobban Barber of Calgary, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Brock Barber of Toronto.

Miss Peele is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Morphet of Peterborough; also Mrs. P. R. Peele and the late Mr. Peele of New Westminster, B.C.

Ushers at the wedding included Mr. Alan G. Hooper, cousin of the bride, who has been spending the Summer in Alberta.

Cooperative Sportsmanship Builds Good Citizens

DEAR MISS DIX: We are organizing a young people's club, the aim of which is character building for good citizenship. What shall we do about the boy and girl who attend the club but refuse to enter into the games and exercises, of the boy and girl who go for a drink of water and remain out for several minutes? What of the girl who seems to care nothing for the other girls' company but usually has three or four boys cornered? What of the girl who insists on holding her boy friend's hand when walking with him? What of the boy who wants to remain on the porch and smoke or have a social chat during club hours? What of the girl who wants to park in a car for a while before going into the house?

Dorothy Dix

ALABAMA LEE

ANSWER: Well, I should say that all of these are the usual garden variety of youngsters, good material to work on, and your club a fine instrument for training them.

But if you want your club to be a success and do the work for which you are organizing it, don't be too pernickity about what the boys and girls do and don't have too many rules. Don't make it a penal institution instead of a pleasure house, for you will drive the young ones away instead of attracting them to it. And don't think that you can coerce them into doing the way you want them to do. You have to entice them along.

Try to make your sessions so interesting that the young people will not want to miss any of them. That will take care of water drinkers and smokers.

Then work up a spirit of sportsmanship. Tell the youngsters that the only way you can make the club a success is for every body to join in and help boost. I was reading the other day what a Rhodes scholar had to say about English games. He said that nobody seemed to play just to win and that nobody seemed to care whether you played a good game or not. The thing was the spirit of sportsmanship, with everybody entering in and doing the best they could.

If you can get that idea across to your club, it will make it a success. Many girls and boys hang back in shyness and vanity. They won't try to play for fear they may not win or that they will be laughed at.

You can stop the girl from holding her sweetie's hand by guying her a bit and letting her know that it is one of the things that simply isn't done among sophisticated people. They do their petting in private.

Certainly it is to laugh to see a girl, as you often do, riding around in an automobile with her arm around a boy's neck while he is sitting up stiff as a poker with a look on his face that indicates he would like to strangle her, for well he knows she is making him an object of derision for every observer.

Here's wishing your club success. But drive with a light rein. Young folks are skittish colts these days.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a boy 19 and have been working since I was 15 and earn about $40 a week. My mother was a widow, but about a year ago she married a man unemployed at the time who had lost his job through drink. I have been turning over all my money to my mother which means that I am supporting my stepfather, and I only get an allowance of $5 a week. Should I ask for a larger allowance or should I pay board?

UNCERTAIN BOY.

ANSWER: You should pay board. Agree with your mother upon a fair price, what she would charge any other boarder, and if you want to help her more than this give her what you can afford. But handle your money yourself and let her realize that what you give her is of your generosity.

I see no reason why you should support your stepfather. He is probably far more able to work than you, but as long as you provide him with free lodging and food you may depend upon it that he will not hunt for a job.

The laborer is worthy of his hire, and it takes the ambition out of a boy never to see the money he has worked for so hard. For another thing, it teaches a boy responsibility to have the handling of his own money.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the father of five children, with a salary under $100 a month. Seven months ago my wife's sister left her husband and came uninvited to live with us. Apparently she has settled down for life. Spends her time running around with men instead of looking for work. I cannot afford to support her. Should my wife tell her sister that she must leave, or should I tell her myself? I am so tired of fighting in-laws.

FED UP

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: You are the head of the house and you should tell her to leave. She is evidently a grafter because she knows well enough that she is taking the bread out of your children's mouths. There is no reason why you should deprive your family to support an able-bodied woman. If she cannot get work, let her go to some charity. It will be much more able to support her than you are.

Rayon Suits Big Hit Fashion Show

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 1—(CP)—Pride of place was taken by two rayon suits at a student dress show held by the Royal College of Art's School of Fashion Design.

Chosen by a manufacturer for mass production, between 4,000 and 5,000 copies will be made for the next spring season and will sell for about £4 ($16).

The manufacturer who chose them was delighted. Entirely practical yet individualistic, the public will get a utility garment that is different. And this manufacturer is convinced that the only way to keep open the tightening public purse is to introduce individuality into mass production.

Suit No. 1, designed by 22-year-old Eileen Blackman, is in natural linen with collar, cuffs, and waistcoat of broderie anglaise. The jacket, of classic length, has double catch-button waist, three-quarter sleeves and accentuated hip pockets. The edge-to-edge front is reversless, have flyaway collar with long narrow points. The skirt has flare fullness with front inverted pleat.

No. 2, designed by 19-year-old June Sweeney, is in nigger and stone and will be reproduced in 24 different color combinations. The skirt, in nigger, is a gored flare with big drill-pockets which come from the waistband making a straight hip panel. The short-sleeved jacket is waist-length with double catch-button, edge-to-edge reversless front and tiny shirt collar. Attached to the hips of the jacket are two buttoned pocket flaps which give an independent contrasting flap to the pockets of the skirt.

Smart Students

Eileen has been designing and making her own clothes since she was 12. She won a scholarship to the Worthing Art School, then one to the Royal College of Art. Already she has her National Diploma in Design.

June, on the other hand, started off by being far more interested in painting and sculpture than in dress designing. She did not even like dressmaking. But, at the Oxford School of Art, she discovered that she always seemed to draw fashionable women. That, finally, made up her mind for her.

Promoters of the fashion design department of the Royal College of Art, established a year ago, are pleased with the results of the student show. They say those who scoffed at the idea of the school and its three years' training now admit its importance. They believe it emphasized the wide scope of the fashion designer and the importance of learning the job from artist's board to factory.

Besides the utility dresses, the student-designed fashion parade included evening dresses, coats, suits, dresses, beachwear and underwear. Stressing tie-up between accessories and the clothes they go with, the students showed a smart display of matched hats, belts and even buttons.

Put New Kitchen In Farm Home W I Demonstration

TORONTO, Sept. 1—(CP)—For Mrs. Keith Hope the dream of most housewives is about to come true. She is going to get a new kitchen—and it won't cost her a cent.

The hope farm, 30 miles northeast of here, has been selected for demonstrations on Canada's first Farm Improvement and Soil Conservation Day Sept. 8. One phase of the program will be the improvement of the farm house with the kitchen as the focal point.

Miss Kathleen Taggart, supervisor of home furnishings in the Women's Institute Branch of the Department of Agriculture, is in charge of the modernizing plans. A large department store is contributing part of the equipment.

Miss Taggart describes the present Hope kitchen as "one of those not bad, not good types" with the common fault of not nearly enough cupboard space. "We are moving the sink to a better position and taking down a wall, making instead of the wall a half partition of cupboards," she said.

Miss Taggart emphasizes that it is not to be a dream kitchen in the sense the changes are beyond the reach of the average farmer.

Besides remaking the kitchen the planners have drawn up blueprints suggesting changes for the rest of the house. These are designed so they can be undertaken gradually.

Regina Woman Given VON Post

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP)—Miss Hester Lusted of Regina, has been appointed second assistant superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, it was announced Wednesday. Miss Lusted assumes her new position Sept. 1.

Miss Vivian Adair is replacing Miss Lusted is assistant district superintendent of the Ottawa branch.

She was formerly staff nurse with the Ottawa branch, then became nurse in charge of the Belleville branch and most recently has been central district supervisor with the Montreal branch.

Social Situations

SITUATION: A man is introduced to a woman.

WRONG WAY: He quickly reaches out to shake her hand.

RIGHT WAY: He waits for her to offer her hand. If she does not—there is no handshake.

◇ ◇ ◇

SITUATION: You are sending out written invitations to a child's birthday party.

WRONG WAY: Give the time the party is to begin, but not the time when it is to end.

RIGHT WAY: Give both times, so that the parents can make arrangements for picking the children up afterward.

Pick Bob Morgan As Best Player In Ball League

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (CP)—Bob Morgan, slugging shortstop for Montreal Royals, has been named "most valuable player" in the International League, it was announced today.

Al Parsley, sport columnist for the Montreal Herald and president of the circuit's Baseball announcement.

Morgan took the top spot after a spirited ballot-battle with Al Widmar, Baltimore Orioles pitcher who chalked up 21 victories at ballotting during the current campaign. The final count showed 177 points for the Dodger farmhand, 176 for Widmar.

Morgan, who follows Jimmy Bloodworth as the second successive Royals player to cop the MVP award, led the league with a batting mark of .353 at voting time. He had 19 home runs and 108 runs batted in.

Third place in the voting went to Russ Derry. The veteran Rochester Red Wing flychaser led the league in homers with 39 and 110 runs batted in. He received 144 points.

Gene Markland, Buffalo Bisons' third baseman, came in fourth with 72 points.

Other players receiving first-place ballots included Gene Markland, Buffalo third baseman, Jocko Thompson, Toronto pitcher, Sam Jethroe, Montreal outfielder, and Billy DeMars, Buffalo shortstop.

Brooks Split Doubleheader Cards Knock Off Phillies

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Red Birds are coosting pretty today.

Eddie Dyer's St. Louis Cardinals were never better off than they are right now. Not only are they leading Brooklyn Dodgers by two games, but the remaining schedule is all in their favor.

The Cards have 27 games left to play, and 18 of them are at home. On the other hand, the second-place Brooks must play 17 of their remaining 27 games on foreign fields.

Furthermore, 13 of the Cards' games are against the seventh and eighth-place Cincinnati and Chicago clubs. They've already won 21 out of 31 from these basement bargains.

In the American League, it is likely that the seven games between the league-leading New York Yankees and runner-up Boston Red Sox will settle the issue. The Red Sox trail the Yankees by three games.

Both runners-up lost ground Thursday. The Dodgers got off on the right foot, outscoring Cincinnati 14-8 in the afternoon portion of a day-night doubleheader (two admissions, if you please). The Reds bounced back, however, to upset the Brooks 4-3 in the 10-inning nightcap. At the same time, the Cards were knocking off the Phillies in Philadelphia to pick up half a length on the Brooks. Howie Pollet spun a five-hitter for his 17th victory.

The Red Sox led with their ace —20-game winner Mel Parnell—but they were trumped by the Detroit Tigers who shut them out 7-0, behind the seven-hit pitching of Art Houtteman.

Wobbly CVictory

The Yankees came through with their patented "squeaker," a wobbly 4-3 victory over the Browns in St. Louis. Tommy Byrne picked up his 12th victory but needed help from ace fireman Joe Page.

Cleveland Indians, baseball's marathon champs, won another overtime tussle, edging out Philadelphia Athletics 2-1 in 11 innings. It was the Indians' 17th straight overtime victory and their 18th in 19 extra-inning games. Bob Lemon took his 17th triumph.

Randy Gumpert pitched Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 victory over Washington. Dick Weik's 13 walks helped the White Sox no end.

The third-place Boston Braves in the National whipped the Chicago Cubs 8-4 as catcher Bill Salkeld batted in five runs with a home run and two singles.

Drop Pirates

Despite Ralph Kiner's grand slam homer for Pittsburgh, New York Giants defeated the Pirates 9-5 on round-trippers by Hank Thompson, Bobby Thomson and Billy Rigney. The Giants moved into fourth place, a half game over the Phils.

Cincinnati got four runs and had the tying runs on the bases in the ninth inning of the opener with Brooklyn, but Ralph Branca, fifth Dodger chucker, retired Walker Cooper for the third out.

Herm Wehmeier stopped the Dodgers' five-game winning streak in the nightcap. A triple by Homer Howell and Ted Kluszewski's double won for the Reds in the 10th.

Enos slaughter of the Red Birds drove in three runs with a triple and two singles,, and scored the other to account for all St. Louis runs.

Grudge Game Played In Ottawa

The Canadian football scene takes on king-size proportions—replete with a "grudge game"—during Labor Day weekend. All unions will see action in an eight-game schedule.

Four games will be played Saturday and four Monday.

Feature of the infant season will be the meeting of the Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes in the big four at Ottawa Saturday. Ottawa won a bitterly-debated 7-6 victory over the Alouettes in Montreal last week-end.

Another big four league game Saturday will see Hamilton Wildcats clash with Toronto Argonauts.

Other games Saturday:

Ontario Rugby Football Union—Sarnia Imperials at Hamilton Tigers; Toronto Beaches at Windsor Rockets.

Monday:

ORFU—Rockets at Imperials.

Western Interprovincial Rugby Football Union—Calgary Stampeders at Edmonton Eskimos; Winnipeg Blue Bombers at Regina Roughriders.

The Roughriders will be without the services of hard-hitting Tony Golab. Golab is sidelined with an injured shoulder. An ankle injury will also keep out Negro back Ray Skerrett.

All Saints Champs

All Saints won the city championship of the bantam lacrosse league last night at Miller Bowl with a 10-6 victory over J. K. Hughes. It was the second straight of their finals. Kearns and Delahaye led the winners with three goals and an assist each as Drury got three markers, Bloom a goal and an assist, with Parry having two assists, and Fitzpatrick one. T. Hunt shone for the losers with four goals and an assist, Cullen tallying two, and McDougall aiding in one. Teams:

All Saints: Sutherland, Parry, Bloom, Kearns, Delahaye, Heard, Fitzpatrick, Ketcheson, O'Connell, Drury, Johnson.

Hughes: Hobart, Griffin, Brooks, Cullen, McDougall, Ryan, Boyce, Orde, Ferren, T. Hunt, G. Hunt, Rowley, Ferren, Chambo.

Art Larsen Defeats Bromwich In Surprise

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 2.—(AP).—"This is a wide open tournament," said top-seeded Ted Schroeder as he awaited the call today for his third-round match in the United States tennis championships.

As an example, Schroeder pointed to the way young Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., came from behind to dump John Bromwich, Australian Davis Cup captain, 3-6, 7-9, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, in a terrific match Thursday.

That landed Larsen in the quarter-finals along with defending champion Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles, whom he meets next, and Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla.

Gonzales, seeded second, reached the round of eight by stopping Jim Brink, of Seattle 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. The fourth-seeded Mulloy took out little Felicisimo Ampon of the Philippines, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0, in the only other third round match to date.

Bleeding Bears Dump Chiefs In Twin Bill

By The Associated Press

They can lower the curtain on the International League season today as far as the cellar-dwelling Newark Bears are concerned. They had their "night" Thursday.

The bleeding Bears really put on a pitching show Thursday night. They came up with two peerless pitching performances by Lee Dobson and Harry Schaeffer to sweep both ends of a doubleheader from Syracuse by identical 1-0 scores.

Dodson allowed only one hit in the seven-inning opener for his first victory of the season. A fourth-inning single by Ed Shokes deprived him of a no-hitter. Benny Zientara robbed Schaeffer of his no-hit attempt in the nine-inning nightcap. The Chiefs' second-baseman got both hits the righthander allowed. Both were singles.

Outlast Wings

The league-leading Buffalo Bisons stretched their first-place markin over Rochester to 6½ games by outlasting the Red Wings 10-8 in a 14-inning marathon. A three-run outburst stemming from Ralph Lapointe's error broke the game wide open in the 14th.

Montreal divided a doubleheader with Toronto to move past Jersey City into third place. The Royals won the opener 9-5 and the Maple Leafs took the second game 6-2. Seven homers were hit in the twin bill with Montreal's Rocky Bridges getting two.

Vern Taylor pitched Baltimore to its fourth shutout victory in the last seven games when he held Jersey City to five hits to post a 1-0 triumph. Roger Bowman hurled a three-hitter for the Little Giants, but made the mistake of throwing a home-run ball to Ken Wood in the seventh.

A & P Beats COF

A & P defeated COF 14-10 last evening to again take over the lead in the Foresters Softball League final playoffs. They now have a two-to-one edge in the best-of-five series the next game being played at King Edward Park at 6.30 p.m. next Wednesday.

The winners played steady ball while errors proved costly to the losers. Richmond and O'Toole shared mound duties for A & P as Parnell and Phillips saw slab service for COF. Thorburn and Richmond each hit a homer for A & P, with Tadei, Hobson and Dewar hitting for the circuit for the other side. Teams:

A & P—Knapp rf, Thorburn c, O'Toole 3b, Huard ss, Plumpton cf, Richmond p, 3b; Levasseur 1b, Hawkins 2b, Plunkett lf.

Hastings Winners

HASTINGS, Sept. 2 (ENS) — Hastings defeated Tweed on Thursday night in Hastings Park 19-8 to put the series at one game apiece and forcing a third game in Stirling on Tuesday. In spite of the cold weather, both teams played good ball, but the pitching gave Hastings the edge on the game. West for Hastings, had his fast one working in great style, setting down 14 on strike-outs. He held them to nine hits through the game, but seven walks and three errors gave Tweed the balance of their runs.

Mueller helped the Hastings cause with a grand slam homer in the third. Spencer started on the mound for Tweed, and although pitching steady ball was hit quite freely and was relieved by D. Manion in the fifth, but by this time the game was lost. Manion was quite effective and his quick delivery threw the Hastings nine off for awhile. Maynes hit a four-bagger in the fifth with nobody aboard.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

The small circle of Micmac Indians on Isle de St. Croix listened intently to Marc Lescarbot. They were learning to read and write. The year was 1606—Lescarbot was Canada's first teacher.

In 1632, Canada's first college was started at Port Royal. A Huron Indian, Louis Vincent Sabatannen, was the first Canadian to receive a Bachelor of Arts degree. He graduated from Dartmouth College in 1781.

At Quebec in 1829, students paid $5 a year for tuition—board cost $80. Teachers received an average of $90 a year.

Education in Canada has grown with rapid strides. Now over one hundred and fifty thousand Canadians attend universities and colleges throughout the country. The future of the Canadian people goes hand in hand with pursuit of knowledge. Education increases opportunity. Yes, there's room to grow—in Canada Unlimited.

Trenton Boy Killed In Cave-In

Playing With Pals Near Railway When Cave Collapses

TRENTON, Sept. 3—The cave he was digging with playmates became a grave for 11-year-old Morris Jackson Friday.

The lad was playing with his brother, Allan, 9 and several friends on an embankment near the CPR tracks on the west side of the Trent River. He was alone in the cave at the time, his pals having left him for a few minutes to cross the tracks.

When they returned they found there had been a cave-in and Morris had disappeared. The earth along the sides of the hole made by the boys had collapsed, burying the boy.

Rescue workers dug him out in 15 minutes, but he was past help. Artificial respiration measures were applied for an hour without effect.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jackson, 19 Frederick St., Trenton. Besides his parents, there are his brother and two sisters.

Coroner Dr. R. M. Dewar said there would be no inquest.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, left, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin appear in a serious mood as they sailed from Southampton, England, on the liner Mauretania for dollar talks in Washington, DC. They are scheduled to meet with Canadian and US financial experts in an attempt to find a solution for Britain's dollar crisis.

Father Has Bad Burns, Tries Rescue

Blame Kitchen Wiring For Holocaust; Can't Get Youngsters

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP)—Two children are dead and their father is in critical condition in hospital after fire Friday night gutted their 1½-storey frame home in northwest Toronto.

Ronald Jones, 8, and his six-year-old brother Robert died in their upstairs bedroom despite efforts of their father, their 70-year-old grandmother and neighbors to save them. The father, Reuben Jones, 28, suffered severe burns to his face, back and arms trying to reach the bedroom.

He raised the alarm when he staggered out of the house and called to neighbors: "my children are in the back bedroom."

The mother, visiting the Canadian National Exhibition while the father looked after the children, was told of the tragedy by police.

Rescue Efforts Futile

Mrs. Lucy Jones, their grandmother who tucked the boys into bed earlier in the evening, also tried to reach the bedroom but was driven back by flames and smoke. Neighbors played a garden hose through the bedroom window in a futile attempt to fight the fire while awaiting firemen.

The fire was over within an hour. Firemen found Robert's body in the kitchen and his brother at the bedroom door. Both had apparently tried to escape but were overcome by smoke. Resuscitation equipment was used to no avail.

Firemen said they believe the flames started in the kitchen from defective wiring.

New Farm College

RIDGETOWN, Sept. 3 — (CP)—Ground for the campus of a new Ontario agricultural college was broken Friday on a pasture just north of this Kent County town. W. G. Thompson, former Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests used a silver-handled shovel to break the soil for the site of a $500,000 building—a vital class room for the work of the western Ontario experimental farm here. Excavation will begin soon for a dormitory building.

Schools To Open With Additional Accommodation

To take care of the increased number of children in expanding Peterborough, the Board of Education has added four new classrooms, and the Separate School Board has more than matched this expansion with four rooms and a whole new school as well.

Despite the additions Public School authorities are wary of predicting a larger enrollment. At least as many children as last year are expected but they add that anything further is only guess work until after registration. Last year there were approximately 1,200 at PCVS and 3,750 attending primary schools.

According to J. S. Black, secretary-treasur of the Separate School Board, there should be a two per cent rise in the number of boys and girls at both the primary and the secondary schools. The figure now stands at approximately 1,700 in all primaries and 325 at St. Peter's.

New School

Biggest single change so far as accommodation is concerned is the new St. Anne's Separate School in the north end. The modern building has eight classrooms with facilities for 30 students in each room.

It will also be the first Roman Catholic school in Peterborough to have a kindergarten.

At the opposite end of the city, St. John's has a four-classroom addition, with accommodation for as many as 40 pupils a room, although the average will be about 35. A new library and a medical room have also been installed.

The additions on St. John's are expected to be ready for use sometime between the middle and the end of the month.

Mr Black told the Examiner that there would probably be 10 new teachers; three transfers in St Peter's High School and three in the lower school.

During the summer months considerable renovating has been done to Sacred Heart and at St. Mary's an asphalt surface has been put on the playground.

Schools Overcrowded

Overcrowding of Prince of Wales and Queen Mary schools, particularly in the lower grades, has caused the Board of Education to add four rooms.

Two of them are at Queen Mary, both probably for Grade II but possibly one will be used for Grade VI. The third new room is at Confederation, used for Grades II and III; and the fourth is at Prince of Wales, Grade II.

Staff Changes

Several changes have been made in the teaching staffs. Col.

Increases In Food Prices Send Cost Of Living To Highest Peak In History

Egg And Pork Products Said Responsible For Record Jump In Costs, Index 61.5% Higher Than In Year 1939

OTTAWA, Sept. 3—(CP)—For the second successive month, increases in food prices have sent Canada's cost-of-living index to new highs. Eggs and pork products were responsible for the latest increase of seven-tenths of a point, which brought the index to an all-time high of 162.8 at Aug. 1. This July rise was caused mainly by an increase of two points in the food index, bringing it to 209.2. Added to a 4.3 increase in this index in June, it meant a 6.3 jump in this division alone for the two-month period. Eggs, meats, fruits and vegetables all contributed to the June leap.

The general index, based on 1935-39 equals 100, took its biggest jump in June. At July 2, it was 162.1, or 1.6 points ahead of the previous month. This was the greatest advance since the same month in 1948, when the living-costs barometer shot up 2.6 points.

The index now stands at 61.5 per cent higher than in August, 1939, before the outbreak of war a decade ago. It is 5.3 points higher than a year ago and compares with the average for 1920—peak year after the First World War—of 145.4.

All Because of Food

And it was food, the factor that the bureau rates as accounting for 31 per cent of the average householder's budget, which got the index where it is today. Food now costs more than twice as much as in pre-war days. While other factors in the index have risen by much smaller amounts.

Apart from food, the index was relatively stable in July. The rent index, accounting for 19 per cent of the index weight, was unchanged, since rent surveys are made quarterly and change the index only once in three months. The last rent change was shown in the July 1 index, when it moved up one point to 123.4.

Scattered increases in coke and coal prices in July in Central Canada moved the fuel and light index up from 129.1 to 129.5.

The clothing index and the homefurnishings and services index each moved back one-tenth of a point, to 183.2 and 167.4 respectively.

All Community Attends Milne Funeral

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 3 — (ENS)—Many eyes were dim when well over 1,500 people gathered from miles around the neat little cemetery of Burnbrae Presbyterian Church Friday afternoon as members of an entire family, killed in a railway crossing crash Tuesday night, were lowered into a common grave.

While crops in one field on the farm of Kenneth Milne, 37, Seymour Township, lay waiting to be harvested, his body and those of his wife, their two daughters, Faye, 10; and Betty, 8; and Mrs. Milne's mother, Mrs. Nora Ingram 62, were placed in their last resting place. The warm sunshine of a beautiful autumn afternoon did little to dispel the overwhelming sense of grief which this unprecedented tragedy has brought to the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Milne and their daughters were buried in the same grave while, a few steps away, Mrs. Ernest Ingram, mother of Mrs. Milne, is buried.

At the foot of Mrs. Ingram's grave stands a cross, erected there some time ago in memory of her son, Flight Sgt. Eric Ingram, who was killed in action on April 15, 1943.

Five hearses, from Warkworth, Hastings, Marmora, Stirling, and Campbellford, bore the bodies to the cemetery. There were more than 75 flower bearers and 30 pallbearers.

Long before the funeral service began at 2.45 there were scores

2 DP Workers Die Of Wounds

TRURO, N.S., Sept. 3 (C)—Two Polish farm workers died of stab wounds in a mysterious pre-dawn struggle today in a workers' boarding house on a farm near this central Nova Scotia town.

Bernard Florawiski, 25, was found dead in his bed with numerous stab wounds on the body and Ludrik Kawalczyck, 35, was found dying of a single stab wound in the chest just outside the door of the house. He died within minutes.

The dual stabbing was discovered when another worker, sleeping in an upper bunk in the same room as Florawiski, was awakened by sounds of a struggle. He saw a man leave the room and then locked and found his roommate dead, his head and body covered with wounds.

Other workers heard moaning outside the house and raced there to find Kawalczyck dying. A butcher knife lay at his side.

Both the dead men were former displaced persons, Florawiski having been here for about three years, while Kawalczyck had been at the farm for the last five or six months.

Tito Has Called Off Danube Ship Deal

BELGRADE, Sept. 3.—(9P).—(AP).—Yugoslavia formally served notice Friday night she is ending her commercial agreements with Russia for joint enterprises in Danube shipping and civil aviation.

The action came as the latest move in the Balkan war of nerves between Premier-Marshal Tito and the Russian-dominated Cominform countries.

It was foreshadowed Aug. 12 by Transport Minister Bozidar Maslaric. He announced that the jointly financed Russian-Yugoslav Yuspad Corporation, which had been set up for the control and development of mutual shipping interests on the Danube River, would be liquidated.

Tanyug, the country's official news agency, issued the announcement of the liquidation of Yuspad.

Maslaric had charged that Yuspad was harmful to the people of Yugoslavia. He said activities of the jointly-owned company were "no different from the activities of capitalistic countries in old Yugoslavia, but that which was done in old Yugoslavia cannot be done in Tito's Yugoslavia, no matter who it is."

No Paper On Monday

Monday being Labor Day there will not be an edition of The Examiner published. In today's paper will be found the comic strips and features that would ordinarily appear on Monday.

Jewelry Store Looted Of $4,000 Gems

VIRGINIATOWN, Ont., Sept. 3 (CP)—Four men, believed to be from Montreal, looted a jewelry store of nearly $4,000 worth of merchandise early Friday in this northern Ontario mining village.

Both roads leading from the village—one to Kirkland Lake, 23 miles west, and the other to Rouyn, Que.—were blocked shortly after police discovered the robbery.

Store manager Joseph Cesnik said the burglars showed a good knowledge of the value of jewelry and took only the more valuable pieces.

Clifford Lamoureax, Virginiatown barber, told police four men entered his shop Thursday, said they were from Montreal, and asked him questions which indicated they were planning a robbery.

Scene of the robbery is only a few miles from Larder Lake where a bank robbery and daring attempt to escape by air took place a month ago. Two men, both from Quebec, were recently convicted of the crime.

Police said they believe pressure by Quebec police is forcing French-Canadian criminals to head for northern Ontario.

Defences Weak

HONG KONG, Sept. 3 (Reuters)—Fleet air arm Seafires today "attacked" Hong Kong in an exercise marking the arrival here of the aircraft carrier Triumph. A preliminary official analysis said the defence of the city was only partially successful. At least two aircraft carriers are to be based on Hong Kong as part of an expanded garrison. The Triumph is first of these.

Separated For 10 Years Family Reunited In Canada

OTTAWA, Sept. 3—(CP)—A story with a happy ending was told today by the Labor Department. The story centred on the wartime separation of Jan Olechny and his family in Poland. In ended happily with their reunion in Naples and their arrival in Canada about two weeks ago. The Labor Department, the International Refugee Organization and the British Red Cross played a part in bringing the family together and arranging settlement in this country.

The story had its beginning in 1939 when Jan, his wife, Josepha, and their 11-year-old son Riszard, were living on their farm in Eastern Poland. The Nazis were rolling in from the west and the Russians from the east.

Jan fell into the hands of the Germans and his wife and son into the hands of the Russians.

Jan, a veteran of the First World War and of Poland's fight against the Bolsheviks from 1918 to 1920, was sent as a slave-laborer to an Austrian farm. His wife and son were sent to a camp near Archangel, Russia, but later were transferred to Africa by the British Red Cross.

Two Continents Apart

Jan was liberated in 1945 and sent to a displaced persons' camp, where he learned through the Red Cross that his wife and son were alive in Africa. All his efforts to arrange a reunion ended in failure.

Early this year, the IRO reported that the wife and son had been accepted for emigration to Canada—the mother as a domestic worker and the son, now 21, as a farm worker. Both wife and son pleaded that Jan be considered as well by the Canadian Immigration Mission in Austria.

Normally, Canada accepts couples for domestic service, but they are not usually separated by 5,000 miles, and two continents. Besides, as a result of his service in the First World War, Jan had lost two fingers.

The story was cabled to Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister of labor, and, touched by the family's suffering, he acted swiftly. Cutting through red tape, he succeeded in waiving normal requirements. Arrangements were made for Jan to join his family on the transport General Black when it docked at Naples en route to Canada.

This, in the department's words, is the ending of the story:

"Coming face to face with Josepha and her son after 10 long, agonizing years, Jan hardly knew the young man of 21. They stood for a moment, stared, too dazed with the shock and release of tension, then rushed weeping into each other's arms.

Lonely Chinese Has Short Trip

BARRY, Wales, Sept. 3—(AP)—Tong Full Ng, 55, decided to sail 9,000 miles to his native China in an 18-foot open boat.

The homesick little laundryman loaded his frail craft with 960 pounds of personal effects. He stowed away a packet of cheap jewelry for the wife and children he left in Canton 13 years ago.

In the still of the night Tong set sail. For a navigation guide he carried a road map of Britain ("Must remember, turn left at Land's End") and a chart of the Mediterranean torn from an atlas.

For the first 36 hours the voyage went nicely. Then the wind and the tide turned on Tong.

Gently but firmly the little boat and its skipper were swept to the right, toward land.

In spite of all Tong could do, the boat was borne up on the beach at Barry—15 miles from his starting point.

The first leg of the voyage ended Friday in magistrate's court.

The judges gently explained that Tong had broken the law. He forgot to tell the immigration authorities he was leaving. For that, they gave the sad little Chinese two months in jail.

But the government provided a happy ending today. When Tong has served his time he will be deported home — aboard a steamer.

Crash In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 3 (AP)—An Alaska air depot C-47 plane crashed into an inlet near Fire Island Friday, killing all seven crew members. The plane had been on a routine training flight and had been in the air only 45 minutes when it crashed.

To Be Sworn In

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 3.—(CP).—Sir Leonard Outerbridge will be sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor of Newfoundland Monday. His appointment was announced earlier. Swearing in ceremonies will be conducted by Sir Albert Walsh, his predecessor, who will become Chief Justice the same day.

Lose Gas Tank Crossing Foiled

HALIFAX, Sept. 3.—(CP).—Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carlin are looking for another gas tank. Then they'll make a third attempt to circle the globe by land and sea in an amphibious jeep.

Two previous attempts to make the trip in their weird-looking craft—the "Half Safe" — ended when ill luck forced them back to port.

Friday marked the end of the second endeavor. They cleared Halifax Wednesday night but turned back after two auxiliary gas tank being towed behind broke loose. One of them, tossed by choppy seas, knocked out the jeep's stabilizer.

They had made 35 miles toward the Azores, their first stop, 2,000 miles away. The Atlantic now is in the huricane season.

The Carlins made their first try in July, 1948, and were 300 miles out of New York when their engine broke down. The little craft drifted 10 days before a passing freighter picked them up and landed them at Montreal.

Belgian Swimmer Nearly Over Channel

FOLKSTONE, England, Sept. 3 (AP)—Fernand De Moulin, who left a champagne party to plunge into the Channel from a French beach last night, was sighted today three miles from the English shore.

Watcher on the Varne lightship saw him swimming strongly at a.m. EDT, 13 hours after setting out.

The 34-year-old Belgian industrialist, called the most unorthodox swimmer ever to attempt the Channel, plowed steadily through the choppy seas all night. He started his swim at 5 p.m. EDT Friday night.

Meanwhile two Egyptians, Abdel Monem Abou and Fahmy Attala said they would try to swim the 19-mile distance separating England and France Sunday "weather permitting."

Jet Pilots Stand By For Race Take-off

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3 (AP). — Carrier-based jet pilots in the Atlantic and fliers in California watched the starter's flag today for a signal to dash for Cleveland and the 20th National Air Races.

Speed planes at Cleveland Airport were set to take off, too, on the first day of the three-day event, and the weather man promised good weather all around.

The first take-offs were scheduled this morning at Rosamond Dry Lake north of Los Angeles, where six fast ships were set for a racehorse start in the 2,000-mile flight to Cleveland for the Bendix Trophy and a total of $25,000 in prizes. They were to be followed shortly by Air Force F-84 Thunderjets in a one-stop flight.

Six In Crew Bail Out Safely

FAIRFIELD, Calif., Sept. 3—(AP)—A pilot and his co-pilot tried to land a crippled C-82 "flying boxcar" on a marsh and were killed late Friday night after six others had parachuted to safety.

The pilot radioed over Pittsburg, Calif., that he was at 5,000 feet and one of his two engines had quit.

Ground crews reaching the wreck scene said the wreckage was strewn over nearly a mile. The plane apparently attempting a forced landing, hit a drainage ditch and plowed through a marshy field.

Charge US Army Sergeant Betrays Country To Japan

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—Handsome, 33-year-old John David Provoo—just discharged from eight years in the United States Army—was in jail today on charges of betraying his country to Japan during wartime.

A former sergeant, Provoo allegedly volunteered his services to Japanese military commanders after his capture on Corregidor in 1942.

Federal authorities said he worked for the wartime enemy for three years as a propagandist, an inquisitor of American prisoners and in other roles.

His arrest Friday on a treason warrant, just a few minutes after he had shed his army uniform, apparently surprised him.

"This is the first I've heard of this," he said.

The maximum penalty for treason in time of war is death.

An investigation of Provoo's case had been under way off-and-on ever since the war's end. The Federal Bureau of Investigation launched a new inquiry a year ago.

Provoo, a native of California and a one-time student of Oriental philosophy, allegedly worked with "Tokyo Rose"—Mrs. Iva D'Aquino—in broadcasting Japanese propaganda to United States troops.

Contrasting the two cases, United States Attorney John McGohey said:

"Tokyo Rose was used for propaganda purposes, while this fellow is charged with actively aiding the Japanese forces by voluntarily offering his services to the Japanese forces to assist them in the occupation of Corregidor."

Lawyers Honor St. Laurent Make Him Life President

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 3 (CP)—The Canadian Bar Association today began the final session of its 31st annual convention, headed by the third honorary life president in its history.

The Association's highest honor was conferred on Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent at Friday night's annual dinner when he was made an honorary life president. The only two other men to be so honored were the late Sir James Aitkins of Winhipeg, CBE founder, and the late Viscount Bennett of Calgary, former Canadian Prime Minister.

Leonard W. Brockington of Ottawa and Calgary, who gave the main address, was named an honorary member.

It was also announced Friday night that Harry Newman of Montreal won $1,000 first prize in the Canadian Bar Review essay contest. Second prize of $500 went to F. A. Rudd of Lethbridge, Alta., and third prize of $200 to Gordon D. MacKay, Montreal.

Mr. St. Laurent, referring to the honor conferred on him, said he thought it a tribute to the "kind of politics that we have in this country and of the recognition by leaders of public opinion that one can serve in a political party and still do it in such an objective way that he loses none of the esteem of the public, not even those who felt it their duty to oppose his views in the political field."

In a brief reference to international affairs, Mr. St. Laurent said Canadians should recall how privileged they were to enjoy "that democratic system of governing the affairs of free men developed through centuries of experience in that home of democratic procedure — the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Cars Crash Head-on Tourist Dies, 7 Hurt

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 3.—(CP).—An unidentified American tourist was killed and four other persons were critically injured when two United States cars crashed head-on on the outskirts of this city on No. 4 Highway early today. Three other persons escaped with slight injuries.

The man killed was in a eastbound Detroit car.

The three others in this car and now in the Memorial Hospital here are: Aphanos Tomkieviez, 21, of Detroit, unconscious with head injuries and probable fractures of both legs below the hips; condition critical and receiving blood transfusions.

Emil Savick, 24, of Detroit, conscious, severe shock, abrasions, probable fracture of right leg.

Henry A. Patyna, 26, of Detroit, semi-conscious, extensive cuts of head.

To Study Plans For Fox Hunts

A full agenda will greet members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association when they attend their first meeting of the Fall season on Tuesday night at 8 p.m. It will be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Simcoe St.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterborough MOH, will address the gathering on the subject of pollution in local waters.

At this meeting recommendations will be in order for possible changes in legislation on fish and game. Approved recommendations will be passed along to the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters; and if they receive a favorable nod from that body will be embodied in a brief to the Department of Lands and Forests.

A visitor will be Herb Cardwell of the Wallbrook Hunt Club reporting on the raising of pheasants in the Otonabee Game Preserve. It is also understood Wallbrook Club looks favorably on the possibility of the Peterborough Association undertaking organized hunts, similar to those last winter, to keep down the fox population.

There will also be a discussion on a corn roast tentatively scheduled for September 9, rain or shine. President Cam Rowatt has announced that this year it will be held at Wallace's Point.

Court Cracks Down

WINDSOR, Sept. 3 —(CP)— Courts cannot tolerate "characters with venom in their hearts toward police officers," Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan said Friday as he sentenced Bernard O'Connor of Windsor to 10 days in jail. O'Connor was convicted of assaulting Constable Norman Pare. In the fight O'Connor suffered a broken shoulder. He had tried to interfere when constables arrested a friend.

R. J. Bolton, former principal of Central School, has been transferred to Prince of Wales. He is being replaced there by Donald T Crawford, who is moving from King Edward.

Jack M. Telford, former vice-principal at Queen Alexandra, becomes principal of King Edward in place of Mr. Crawford.

Some of the new teachers are Miss Claire Crown, Central, Grade VI; Miss Marion Brown, Prince of Wales, Grade II; Miss Eleanor Glover, kindergarten, Prince of Wales and Grove; Miss Dorothy Leslie, King George, Grade II; Miss Perla Pidgeon, King George, Grade III; Miss Agnes McNabb, Queen Mary; Miss Agnes Chalk and Miss Elizabeth Wright, Grades VI and II at Queen Mary, respectively; Miss Florence Newman, Confederation, Grade II and III; Miss Marion McGill Mays, Grade I; Miss L. Campbell, Grove, Grade I; and Mrs. Carl Brickman, Parkhill, kindergarten.

Teacher transfers include Mr. Hill from Central to Prince of Wales, Miss Pound from Parkhill to Prince of Wales, and Mrs. Kidd from Confederation to the Girls' Auxiliary Class at Central.

Students at PCVS will soon have one long-sought ambition realized. Work is nearly completed on the new lighting systems for the stage and gym.

During the summer months the sewing room at the Collegiate was decorated and cupboards, wardrobes and other improvements were made.

King George had three rooms re-lighted and Prince of Wales one.

Labor Day Parade Will Start 9.30 a.m.

The Labor Day parade sponsored by the Allied Labor Council will move off from the CNR freight sheds, Charlotte St. at 9.30 a.m. Monday. To the music of three bands it will proceed along Charlotte, to George, up to Hunter and over the bride into Riverside Park.

Rain Eases Menace

COBOURG, Sept. 3—(ENS)— Brief but heavy rainfall during the past two days has removed the danger of grassfires in Cobourg. On several vacant lots adjoining residential areas, the grass was so dry that it presented a serious fire hazard. Last week Fire Chief Jim Campbell warned residents to report immediately any grass fire, no matter how small, due to the danger of spreading.

Jailed 10 Years

FRANKFURT, Sept. 3 (Reuters) — Blonde Friedl Polsterl Friday was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment by an American Military Government Court at Bad Mergentheim for the murder of Sgt. Husker J. McGrath of Pahhuska, Okla., a United States soldier. The court held that the murder, committed July 3 during the 29-year-old woman's birthday celebrations, was unpremeditated.

Canadians Back In Ottawa, Report On Talks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (CP)— Canadians officials who helped this week to lay the groundwork for top-level Anglo-Canadian-American financial talks returned to Ottawa today for the week-end.

The Canadians, led by Norman Robertson, Secretary to the Cabinet, will confer during the week-end with Finance Minister Abbott and External Affairs Minister Pearson.

They will come back to Washington when Abbott and Pearson fly here Monday and will serve as advisers to the two cabinet ministers when the formal economic conference starts Tuesday.

Abbott and Pearson will work with Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, and with Treasury Secretary John Snyder and State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States in an attempt to find a lasting solution to Britain's dollar crisis.

Results of this week's preliminary talks remain a secret but the advance parties are known to have examined all phases of the problem.

Britain's answer to demands that she devalue the pound is viewed by diplomatic officials as probably the most important issue in next week's talks.

Until that issue is settled decisively—one way or another — Britain's efforts toward economic rehabilitation will be extremely difficult, they said.

If rumors of devaluation persist after the conference ends, they said, many British customers are likely to continue to hold back buying British goods, thus making it difficult for Britain to earn the dollars she needs so badly.

This slowdown in buying, especially by some American customers has been one of the factors that has aggravated the British financial crisis in the last few months and caused the government to dip deep into its reserves.

Sir Stafford has repeatedly tried to spike these rumors. But thus far he has not succeeded. In fact, an increasing number of newspapers and business men have joined the chorus that Britain's money is over-priced under present conditions and that devaluation is necessary to increase trade.

Activity Still Brisk On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 2 — (CP).— Activity continued brisk as prices moved irregularly on a slightly higher level. Gold features of recent sessions were under pressure while Western oils continued strong for the third successive session. Industrials edged fractionally higher and some base metals firmed.

Activity was brisk in mining issues but generally changes were small. Upper Canada, Northland and Queenston strong gainers in sessions earlier this week, were shoved downwards by profit-taking and had a difficult time regaining part of the losses.

Eldona stole into the spotlight at the half-way mark, gaining 11 cents at 69 cents. Kerr Addison was strong in seniors while some key junior producers weakened.

Sherritt Gordon continued the highlight in base metals, turning briskly for a five-cent gain at $3 and touching a new high at $3.10.

Strike Vote Planned By UAW In Michigan

DETROIT, Sept. 3.—(AP).— A state-conducted strike vote among nearly 80,000 Chrysler Corporation workers in Michigan was asked Friday by the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO).

The union request, saying efforts to mediate the Chrysler dispute would do no good, was sent to the State Labor Mediation Board. It was in accordance with Michigan's labor law, which requires a vote by workers before they walk out.

A similar vote already has been held among about the same number of Ford Motor Company workers. They approved strike action, if necessary, by a 7-to-1 margin.

The union is demanding $100-a-month pensions, welfare funds and fourth-round wage boosts from Ford, Chrysler and other auto industry firms.

of cars parked all around the little brick church. Nearly a hundred more were around the Milne home, about two miles away. The Milnes and the Ingrams are two of the district's oldest families and relatives are sprinkled throughout the township. The tragedy struck close to home for hundreds of farm families.

It is the custom of the Burnbrae people to bury their dead before the funeral service. The crowd, reluctant to leave the open graves, slowly went to the nearby church. Hundreds passed through the open door to pay their last tribute to the family.

Bearers and mourners slowly walked in front and on either side of the altar. The choir led in singing "Rock of Ages" and Malcolm Hutcheson sang "Face to Face."

"Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor, that appeareth for a little time and then vanisheth away," was the text chosen by the Rev. W. D. Turner, of Burnbrae Church.

On Thursday night more than 1,000 people called at the old home.

"Life is a vision," Mr. Turner said. It appeareth and is gone. There is only one step between life and death. We may be full of vigor in the morning but before the day is over we may have come to our journey's end."

"Frailty and uncertainty of life has been brought home to us this week when we heard the tragic news of a whole family being wiped out in this community. We can ask, why? but we cannot answer."

"Scarcely a day passes," Mr. Turner declared, "that we do not hear of one or more being killed on our highways. Not often do we hear of a whole family being wiped out. Death is no respector of persons," he stated.

"Death is not the end of life," he told his listeners. "The body may perish but not the soul. The true man lives on forever."

"We take comfort today from the thought," he continued, 'that the Milne family trusted in God. They never knew what it was to be separated. We believe they are still a happy family in heaven," he stated.

"Our church has suffered a great loss," he said. "The parents were officers in the church and Faye and Betty were members of our Sunday school and Mission Band.

"They were always willing to help in every good cause. They were a great incentive to each one of us for noble living."

Rev. Gordon Whitethorne, Seymour, and Rev. D. Mansell Smith, St. John's United Church, Campbellford, assisted in the service.

Chief mourners were Ernest Ingram, husband and father; Mrs. Garland Irwin, daughter and sister; Douglas and Clare Ingram, sons and brothers; Mr. and Mrs. W. Milne, parents; Harold and Stewart Milne, brothers.

Theatre Guild Plans To Present Ten Plays

COBOURG, Sept. 3—(ENS)— While the activities of the Canadian Theatre Guild for this year are over, a series of performances is being planned for next year, it has been announced by Mrs. Bertha Bright Knapp, who originated the Guild. The first performances were presented last month at Mrs. Knapp's summer home east of Cobourg, where one of the buildings was transformed into a summer theatre.

Ten plays in all are planned, and district talent will be used. Proceeds from one of the presentations next year and succeeding years will be used to renovate the Opera House in Cobourg. This is the first such venture of any size, using local talent, since the days of the old Cobourg Dramatic Club

New Arthritic Drug Not Used In Canada

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 (CP)—Cortisone, the new hope of arthritic sufferers, will not be in general use in Canada for some time.

However, Canada is maintaining close watch on latest developments in the manufacture and use of the drug, now being used experimentally in the United States in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

Health Minister Martin said in a statement Friday that Canadians suffering from rheumatoid arthritis "may rest assured that everything possible is being done by government agencies and voluntary organizations. . . to hasten the day when cortisone, provided it lives up to early indications, is made available across the country."

Mining Issues Hold Spotlight During Week

By The Canadian Press

Stock markets moved narrowly this week with mining issues capturing the spotlight on Canadian exchanges.

A few individual mining companies re-awakened previously dull sessions to mark up the busiest week since early in the year.

The general public moved in strongly when drill results were announced by Upper Canada Mines—with property in the Larder Lake district of Northern Ontario. The sudden demand for stock in Upper Canada, Queenston and Northland—neighboring properties—spread over a wider list of gold and base metal stocks.

Upper Canada began a steady advance three weeks ago following drill results from a hole on the 1,000-foot level. Further results announced early this week began the boom in activity that saw turnover in Toronto pass the 2,000,000-share mark two days running.

Tripled Value

Upper Canada alone tripled its value in three weeks. However, profit-taking late in the week nulified most of advances marked up by the gold list.

Otherwise markets moved irregularly on a slightly firmer tone. Small gains were marked up over the five days following the previous week's decline—the first in 10 weeks.

New York moved slowly for the first three sessions and then perked ahead Thursday in the strongest advance in two weeks.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed at 64.2, unchanged from Thursday but a gain of .1 from the previous Friday.

In Toronto, base metals chalked up a gain of 2.35 on the exchange's index, breaking out of their recent decline.

Western Oils came into sudden demand late in the week and the list moved uwards for a gain of 3.56 at the highest price level since mid-May.

Late profit-taking cut golds down to an advance of .29 and industrials moved quietly forward closing up .84.

Plan To Hold Informal Parley

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP)—Men prominent in Canada's public life will meet with their counterparts from eight Commonwealth countries for 10-day talks starting on Sept. 8 to thrash out important Commonwealth problems on an informal level.

The Canadian Institute on International Affairs, sponsoring the fourth Unofficial Commonwealth Relations Conference at Bigwin Inn on Ontario's Lake of Bays, announced today about 30 Canadians will attend. They will meet with some 40 delegates from the United Kingdom, Ireland, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand.

The conference will discuss political, economic and social positions of participating countries and the relations between them. It will examine what changes will be required in the policies of the countries, in the interests of world order and progress.

Because the conference, like the first three, will be unofficial, delegates will not be responsible to any public authority. They attend in their private capacities.

Canadian delegates represent a cross-section of the country's public figures—financiers, industrialists, bankers, historians, newspaper men, barristers, researchers, economists, politicians, civil servants and business men.

Houde Has Petition

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—(CP).— Mayor Camillien Houde Friday filed a petition in Superior Court asking that J. Adrien Meunier, his Liberal opponent in the recent Federal elections, be declared guilty of malpractices. Mayor Houde was elected Member of Parliament for Montreal Papineau in the June 27 polling. In his petition, Mayor Houde claims that a "telegraphing" machine was operated on election day and as much as $25 was paid for votes. He alleges some 2,500 votes were polled illegally.

Superior New Terminal Of Alberta Pipe-Line

SUPERIOR, Wis., Sept. 3 (AP) —The Superior Evening Telegram said Thursday that Superior will be the terminal of a $100,000,000 pipeline from the new oil-fields discovered in Alberta.

The Telegram says that the Inter-Provincial Pipeline Co., Ltd., of Canada will erect a $2,500,000 terminal pumping station and tank farm to handle its operations here. Neither city officials nor officers of the oil firm would make any comment concerning the project.

The oil will be piped into Superior under customs bond and will be pumped into lake tankers for shipment by water to refineries at Sarnia, Ont. Oil is expected to flow into Superior by next year.

Cobourg Mayor To Manage Rink First Year

COBOURG, Sept. 3 (ENS) — The offer of Mayor Joe Smith, who was formerly with Madison Square Gardens, New York, to serve as manager of Cobourg's new recreational centre for its first year of operation, was accepted by the Board of Management at its meeting last night. The mayor has offered to serve without pay and he will hold that position until December 31, 1950, at which time a salaried manager will be appointed.

The $150,000 recreational centre will have artificial ice. The steel work and shell will be started by September 20 and it is expected that the steel structure will be finished within four weeks from that date. The entire building should be up by November 15, the Examiner was informed. This should make the ice surface ready Galbraith.

Much Experience

Mayor Smith has had 15 years experience in operation of arenas, starting with amateur teams on the west coast. While with Madison Square Garden for three years, he travelled all over Canada, visiting arenas while acting as talen scout and public relations man for the Garden. The mayor worked for two and a half years at Earlscourt in London, and took teams on tour over the continent.

While there he was responsible for all the hockey arrangements, both at Earlscourt and while the teams were on tour. Accordingly, he brings to the Cobourg Recreational Centre a wealth of experience to guide the Board of Management in its first year of operation.

for use early in December.

On Sept. 18, the board of management, which is headed by Harry Gadd, will visit Preston for the annual meeting of the Ontario Arenas Association, in order to gather information on the operation of a recreational centre. Mayor Smith will also attend. The other members of the board of management are Lyle Willson, Gordon King, Henry Taylor, Robert Lucas, Councillor Charles Johnston and Deputy Reeve Geo.

Aviation Conference

MONTREAL, Sept. 3 —(CP)— The eighth session of the International Civil Aviation Organizations' Council, with a heavy agenda, will convene here Sept. 6. Subsidiary bodies, the air transport commission and the air navigation commission, will hold their first meetings of the session Sept. 7 and 12, respectively.

Composer Recovers

GARMISCH, Bavaria, Sept. 3— (Reuters).— Dr. Richard Strauss, 85-year-old Austrian composer, who had a serious relapse a few days ago, today was said to be out of danger, the German News Agency reported. The composer is recovering from recent heart attacks.

File Radio Suit

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP) — A suit seeking to have the Federal Communications Commission's curbs on radio give-away programs declared illegal was filed here Friday. Radio features, Incorporated, which sells syndicated radio programs to stations in the United States and Canada, brought the action in federal court. The suit claims the ruling impairs free speech and is depriving the community of property and profit without due process of law.

Street Names Are Duplicated

Some remaining duplication of street names has been mentioned to the council by Norman Wilks, assessment commissioner, as a recurring impediment in the staff work. He suggested that Erskine Ave. on the southwest border might be changed to Ford Ave., leaving the second Erskine in the Euclid Ave. section of Ashburnham.

There is a Bruce St. on Burnham's Point and another off Cameron St., near Erskine Ave. The one in the south end drew its name in its Monaghan days from Bruce Johnston. For that reason it might be called Johnston St

One River Road turns south from Lansdowne St. at the east side of the Locks Bridge. Only a short section of it is within the city boundary. The rest is in Otonabee, and is outside the city's jurisdiction. The other River Road is in Auburn, north of Park Hill Road.

Board of works is asking Mr. Wilks and City Engineer Chalmers to report to the council on these and any other changes which should be made.

Raid Headquarters

MONTREAL, Sept. 3 —(CP)— Police Friday raided the headquarters of the Canadian Seamen's Union during a regularly scheduled meeting and detained four seamen for identification. Two were later released. Lt. Louis Champagne, head of the anti-subversive squad, said the four unidentified union members were wanted for questioning in connection with the abduction six weeks ago of Mildred James an employee of the rival Seafarers' International Union (A.F.F.).

Eight Farmers In Herd Plan

Eight Peterborough farmers signed up this week for the herd improvement plan which was put into effect last spring by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

A special recruiting effort is being made by Robert Bell, assistant agricultural representative, and a meeting to quicken interest will be held soon. A total of 26 members is required for one group.

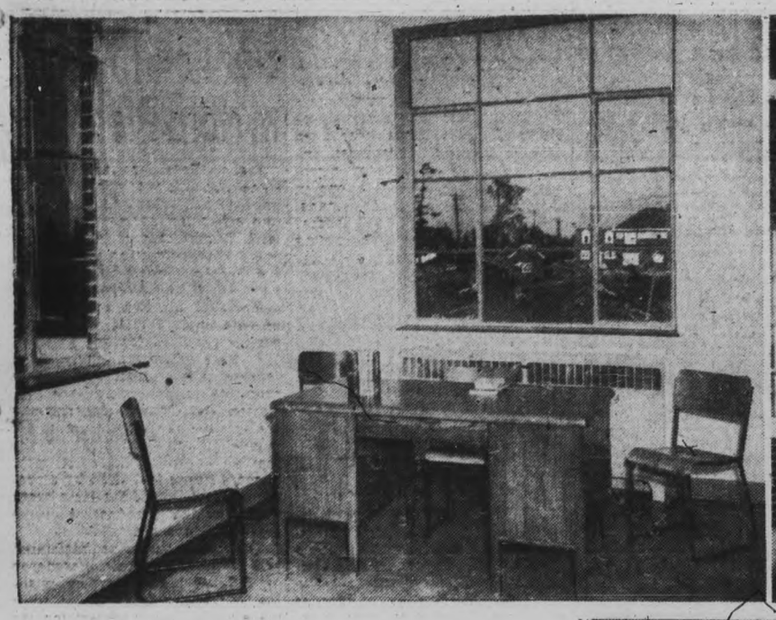
Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, stresses the pure bred foal policy which the Dominion and Ontario governments are sponsoring. A premium of $25 is given "upon receipt of evidence that an approved mare has produced a living foal sired by a premium-A stallion of the same breed and provided the foal is living when 30 days old."

The dam must be registered and of the Clydesdale, Percheron or Belgian breed. Owners wishing to obtain approval of their mares must make application for inspection to the live stock commissioner, Parliament buildings, Toronto on or before Sept. 15. Other details of this plan may be obtained from Mr. Paterson.

Have Good Reason For Barring Girl

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 3 (CP) —Immigration officer Arthur J. Karnuth said Friday the United States has "good reason" for barring Jane Karpiak, 23-year-old winner of a Toronto labor festival popularity contest.

The District Director of United States Immigration was commenting on Miss Karpiak's complaint that she was taken off a New York-bound plane Thursday at Toronto's Malton Airport. She was just starting on the expense-paid four-day trip she won.



Karnuth said the girl was barred because it was felt her presence in the United States would not be in the country's best interests. He declined to elaborate.

New 8-Room Modern School In North End of City Ready To Open On Tuesday

When children all over Peterborough and district, with faces scrubbed and clean, troop to school for their first day of the new term Tuesday morning, 240 of them will be going into a brand new school just completed for them. The new school is St. Anne's Separate School built at a cost of $180,000 just outside the north boundary of the city facing east at the north-west corner of Bellevue St. and Benson Ave. on a three and one half acre site. Although in Smith township and administrated by the Smith township Separate School Board, a large percentage of the students will be from the city.

The new air-conditioned building is completely modern both in design and construction. The two-storey plan is simple with maximum use of space. The exterior is red brick with simple white stone trim.

Small Basement

Inside are eight class rooms—one for each grade—an auditorium, a library, along with a principal's office and a rest room for women teachers. The basement is small, built under the south end of the school and big enough to house only a coal furnace, a large coal bin and one or two store rooms. The pipes for the steam heating system are sunk in trenches under the foundation. By having only a foundation, rather than a full basement, the Separate School Board was able to cut costs considerably.

Almost no wood was used in the construction. Everything is reinforced concrete, including the flat roof. There is a minimum of wood trim and doors are wooden. Window frames and sashes are an aluminum alloy. Corridor floors are the marble-like terazzo, while in class rooms and the auditorium rubber tile of various colors and patterns has been laid.

Kindergarten

St. Anne's will provide the first kindergarten for Roman Catholic students in the city. This new class of small fry will be under the instruction of Miss Monica Belanger.

All of the rooms and especially class rooms are well-lighted. Windows surmounted by four feet of glass brick complete almost the whole of one wall of each class room. The best Indiana slate has been used for the blackboards so they will not soon become a greyish color which makes writing on the blackbord difficult to see.

Thirty individual movable desks will be placed in each of the classrooms. The desks have a light oak finish to conform to the light woodwork. They will have a drawer under the seat for books, pencils and other equipment, which incidentally are supplied by the School Board.

At the back of each class room are four clothes closets for the children. Also part of classroom's permanent equipment is a project table for class experiments such as the demonstration of how the ordinary bean sprouts into growth and becomes a plant.

The auditorium has been planned so that it can fit into a number of uses. The chairs are of a collapsible variety so that they can easily be stacked out of way when not needed.

Then physical training classes can be held and class parties can be staged with lots of room for action. When there are special films to be shown, plays to be presented or assemblies to be held, the auditorium will revert to its original purpose.

Besides a library on the second floor, a room has been set aside for use as a clinic for a public health nurse and Medical Officer of Health Dr. R. A. Kelly. A rest room and kitchen for women teachers has been provided. In the kitchen is an electric stove, refrigerator and sink. This will enable the teachers to supply hot lunches for children unable to get home during the noon hour.

Outside City

Because the school is outside the city, it has to provide its own sewage disposal system, but has access to the city water supply. The sewage will be handled by a septic tank and 8,000 feet of weeping tile under the playground at the south side of the building.

The playground is being levelled and equipment such as children's slides are being made.

The school is well removed from streets where there is heavy traffic. The nearest bus top is two blocks away at the corner of Benson Ave. and Wolsley St. Whether or not the bus service will be any use to the students is a question. The area from which the children will be coming is all of the city north of Antrim St. This street is a short one and consequently Parkhill Rd. will constitute most of the south boundary line.

In Smith township, the area served will be all that it included in a three mile radius of the school. This takes in all of S.S. 13. For the first school year, separate school student from Bridgenorth, S.S. 5, will attend St Anne'

Many of the new school's students will have gone to St. Peter's school and will find a former principal, Edgar Boland, St. Anne's principal aided by vice-principal Peter L. Gravelle.

The structure has been about 10 months in the building and the Separate School Board now has one of the most modern schools in the province. In its relatively small size can be seen the new trend toward smaller schools where the accent is on individual attention to the student as much as possible rather than giant education factories with crowded classrooms and teachers overwhelmed by too much work to pay attention to pupils as people.

The schools superintendent is His Excellency, the Most Reverend Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough. The Board members are Chairman H. J. C. Bartlett, F. P. Burke, William Leahy and Secretary - Treasurer John S. Black.

ST. ANNE'S SEPARATE SCHOOL opens Tuesday morning along with all the other schools in the province to welcome somewhat reluctant children for the new term. St. Anne's has just been completed just outside the north city boundary. Some of the interior and exterior of this modern building are pictured here. At the (TOP LEFT) is a view of the library on the second floor. Books have not yet been moved in. The main entrance on the east side is pictured (TOP CENTRE). The auditorium which will have a variety of uses is shown (TOP RIGHT). (BOTTOM LEFT) is seen the front of one of the classrooms just before desks were moved in. The south end of the second floor hall is shown (LOWER RIGHT) with the landing at the top of the stairs. (Parks Studio Photos)

Education Dep't Athletes' Camp Pleases Boys

Two local boys from the Collegiate and Vocational School returned Thursday evening from a summer camp at Lake Couchiching, reputedly one of the best of its type in North America. The two, Allan Northcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Northcott, 344 Mark St., and Neil Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson, 125 Hazlitt St., are loud in their praises of the two weeks they spent near Orillia.

Thompson said, "It was really fine. If I had a chance to go again, I'd jump at it. We had the best of everything, including meals, and the whole program was well organized." Included in the sports studied are football, basketball, aquatics, track, soccer, tennis, softball, golf and archery.

Training for Leadership

The boys, both 18, were selected by G. B. Goulding, athletic instructor at PCVS, and C. S. Browne, principal, on the bases of athletic and leadership abilities. They must have played on school teams, and be coming back to school the following year. Purpose of the camp is to bring out the leadership in the boys, so that they will be able to help the instructor when they go back to school.

Both Northcott and Thompson were members of the juvenile basketball team which won the Canadian championship here last spring, and both were on the senior COSSA basketball championship team. Northcott as well was a member of the senior COSSA championship rugby team last fall.

Operated by Department

The camp, which is run by the Physical and Health Education Branch of the Ontario Department of Education, is run off in four sessions of two weeks each. The Peterborough boys were in the last two-week course. Boys going to the camp must be ages 15 to 18, and all expenses except transportation and uniforms are paid. Thompson said that the total expense for him and Northcott each was $3.70 for train fare, and $4.50 for a uniform. "And it's worth a lot more than that, just to go," he said.

There were 116 boys in camp for the last two weeks, from all over Ontario. One chap came all the way from Rainy River, and was rewarded for his initiative by a special mention at the concluding banquet.

200 High Schools Represented

Department of Education figures show that there were 403 boys at the camp, representing 200 high schools from all over Ontario. District points represented in the last course before breakup were Lindsay, Uxbridge, and Port Hope.

The camp covers 18 acres on the east side of Lake Couchiching, 20 miles from Orillia. Camp director is John E. McCutcheon, assistant professor of Physical Education at the University of Toronto.

Another local boy, Henry Dinsdale, attended the course last year.

Department of Education officials stress that the purpose of the course is not to create star athletes, but to give each boy a strong grounding in the fundamentals of each sport, so that he may exert his natural abilities and capacities in his home school.

Sorry For Plight Of Archbishop

QUEBEC, Sept. 3 (CP)—Most Rev. C. F. Garbett, Anglican Archbishop of York, England, said Friday during a press conference that he was in "deepest sympathy" with Archbishop Beran, Roman Catholic Primate of Czechoslovakia who is under constant surveillance at his residence in the Communist-ruled country.

The English Church Primate, who is 74 years old, is visiting here on the first leg of a tour that will take him to Halifax, Washington, San Francisco, Hollywood and Vancouver. He sails for England Oct. 18 from New York.

The English churchman said he met Cardinal Beran two years ago "three or four months before the revolution."

"There was a great tension in Czechoslovakia at the time," the Archbishop said, "but no one suspected there would be a revolution.

"I am indeed sorry for the Czechoslovakian people who had just regained their freedom and now are under another kind of tyranny," the Archbishop said.

He added that Cardinal Beran was "making a very brave stand for religious freedom."

U.S. Air Force Buys Jet Plane

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—(CP). — A Toronto paper says today a Canadian-designed jet engine and a Canadian-designed light plane may soon go into production for the United States air force.

A newspage story by Aviation Editor James Hornick says the engine is the Orenda designed by Avro Canada Ltd. and the aircraft is the Beaver—a single-engine, six-passenger utility transport built by the De Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd.

The two products are said to be the subject of preliminary negotiations at high government levels.

The story says Winnett Boyd, chief designer and assistant chief engineer of Avro Canada Ltd., is in California where he has been discussing the Orenda engine with U.S. officials. It is reported he was sent there under orders of the Department of National Defence.

Procurement officers of the U.S.A.F. are studying the Beaver, an aircraft adaptable for operation on wheels, skis or pontoons which could be used as an ambulance or a communications and general purpose machine, the story says.

Peace In Canadian Industry

This time is appropriate to remark on the great decline in industrial strife in Canada since 1946. In that year more working days were lost, and with a consequent loss in production, than in any other year in this country's history. The decline from that distressing peak of strikes and idle manpower has been continuous and notable. Here are the Department of Labour's figures:

Year	Workers Involved	Man-working Days Lost
1946	139,474	4,516,393
1947	104,120	2,397,340
1948	42,820	885,793

* * *

The figures for the first four months of this year indicate a continuance of this trend; 337,000 man-days were lost through strikes and lockouts, 28,000 fewer than in the corresponding four months of 1948. This drop occurred despite two serious and lengthy strikes in ocean shipping and asbestos mining.

* * *

The decrease in labour disputes has been accompanied by higher individual productivity. The Toronto Star comments that facts like these have led representatives of both management and labour to believe that Canada is entering a comparatively peaceful era in industrial relations, subject to the condition that times continue to be good.

* * *

The immediate post-war series of strikes came like a rash. It was a symptom that the Canadian internal economy had gone out of adjustment during the war. This lack of balance had been counteracted or cloaked by wartime controls, rationing and price ceilings. The relaxation of these controls on profits, wages, produce and prices revealed that the dollar standards of measurements had to be revised. A new equilibrium seems now to have been reached between pay and profits, cost of living and wages rates, which the workers and the management find reasonably satisfactory, as the record quoted above indicates.

* * *

There were other factors in the situation in 1946 and 1947, which have continued into this year. An important one was the struggle for power by union leadership to gain power over capital and management, and, among the unions themselves, to gain power one over the other. The best men in both unions and management now have reached harmonious relationships, for both realize that, as in a squabble over who will hold the baby, the most important thing is that the baby be not dropped. Factional gains made through either strikes or lockouts are of no value if in the course of the strike or lockout the industry itself is crippled beyond recovery.

* * *

The men who own the machines, the men who direct how they shall be used, and the men who actually operate them are all realizing that it is the man, not the machine, which is most important. Factories have been humanized, and personal relations between management and labour are at a high level of mutual understanding. There is a co-operative effort of both to work for the good of the industry, and thus to the benefit of all concerned in it. Thus is Canada's welfare served. It is with this in mind that Labour Day is gladly and peacefully celebrated this year.

Declined Reclining Nudes

The British Colonial Undersecretary discovered that the blueprint for the new Colonial Office revealed over the proposed doorway two reclining male nudes, "with their heads together and on their elbows". They have been removed from the plans. The Undersecretary says he does not object to the nudity. What then is his reason for declining to entertain them over his office doorway? Perhaps it is because they are male nudes, for we have observed that the last form of nudity to be approved in statuary is the male. Perhaps it is the heads together—but are not two heads better than one, even in a ticklish Colonial question? Or is it the recumbency of the figures? A statuary suggestion that any man within the portals of that office is lying down on the job is too revolting to be allowed. But it is the Colonial Office, Colonies are hot places. May not the men within the office be permitted day-dreams of siestas, of taking the hot summer (and Colonial) sun at ease on the elbows, with a palm leaf waving gently over them. We reluctantly are forced to the conclusion that the recumbent male figures have been excluded because there were no fig leaves in evidence.

The Fateful Hour

For reasons which are part of the characters of the World Wars and their epochs, the end of the Great War is more vividly remembered and given greater historical prominence than its beginning; but the last war's opening date is stronger in recollection than is its end. We all remember the eleventh hour of the eleventh of November 1918; few now recall that the Great War started on August 4th (1914). Yet the Sunday ten years ago today when Prime Minister Chamberlain declared that a state of war existed with Germany is more sharply etched on the mind and imagination than May 8th, 1945, though that date is nearer to us than September 3rd, 1939 is to it.

* * *

Ten years have passed since that quiet, lovely Sunday morning in England, when the fragrance of flowers, the tenderness of the sun, and the gentleness of the air made the spectre of war, through poignant contrast, more ghastly than it was.

* * *

The weeks leading up to it had been fraught with apprehension, following the stern, anxious twelve months since the Munich Agreement. Britain had given her pledges to defend Poland, Hitler repeated his demands that the free port of Danzig be given to Germany, and that he have the Polish corridor. On August 23rd in the Kremlin, Vyacheslav Mototov and Joachim Von Ribbentrop signed the Nazi-Soviet Pact and the secret protocol attached to it. The Pact marked Russia's reentry into Europe as an aggressive expansionist power, and gave Germany temporary reprieve from the danger of having to wage war on two fronts. The secret protocol dealt with the "boundary of respective German and Soviet spheres of influence in Eastern Europe", and, as events have shown, staked out the European frontiers of the Soviet empire. The Pact shocked the western world, and many Russian sympathizers in it. From that date, August 23rd, war in Europe became a certainty.

* * *

Ambassadors came and went from one desperate conference to another. Heads of smaller countries offered their services as mediators; President Roosevelt and the Pope made last efforts to delay war. Sir Nevile Henderson flew between Downing Street and Berlin. Colonel Joseph Beck, Polish Ambassador, was berated by Hitler. Daladier in Paris and Chamberlain in London kept their Cabinets in almost constant session, and, both remaining firm in their promise of no further appeasement, sent messages to Hitler, making him solely responsible for the turn of events. On August 31st plans were put in operation to evacuate women and children from London, and complete mobilization was ordered. On September 1st Hitler invaded Poland by land and air and bombed Warsaw. Britain sent an ultimatum to Hitler that he withdraw his troops. Hitler delayed his reply, hoping to have the Corridor within the next day. On Sunday morning Prime Minister Chamberlain rose in Parliament to say that Britain was at war with Germany from that hour. Shortly afterwards he gave the brief announcement to the people by radio.

* * *

The sun still shone, and people gathered quietly in their churches for morning service. There was a sense of relief that the hour had come, that there would be no more vacillation between war and peace. The road ahead, dreadful though it loomed, was at least direct. The grievous news of the sinking of the Athenia later that day steeled people for the duty before them.

* * *

Ten years have passed since Hitler appeared in the Reichstag in German army gray and said "I am putting on the uniform and I shall take it off only in victory or death". He and many of his contemporaries, Allied and German, have disappeared. It is about forgotten now that the immediate point of Britain's declaration of war was to defend Danzig and Poland. Loud names of the time have passed into oblivion, but the time itself has not. In 1914 people had no experience of modern world wars; it was four years later that the enormity of it cauterized their hearts. On September 3rd, 1939, they knew war's worst nature, and the hour of its declaration was therefore more momentous. The hour will be remembered.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esquire
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

I hear that you are going on a trip abroad, and that you are going by plane. Of course I wish you the best of luck but I suppose you have been reading the papers lately? These plane accidents are the limit, aren't they? Every day a plane or two seems to crash somewhere. This being so, will you be wanting your garden hose if anything should happen? I mean you won't, of course, but what I mean is can I have it? We have never been very close friends, but I would like something to remember you by, and mine is going all to pieces.

Bon voyage and happy landings,
Dick Dandiprat.

To Richard Dandiprat, Esquire
My good Dandiprat:

No, you may not have my garden hose under any circumstances. If any evil should befall me while in flight, it will become the property of my heirs. They will, I presume, have to water the grass just as if I were alive. Your attitude suggests that of the vulture.

Indignantly,
Samuel Marchbanks.

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esquire
Dear Mr. Hydra:

I am sorry to trouble an important member of a government bureau like yourself, but don't you think I could take just a little more money abroad with me? I know all about the economic situation, and I have read the pamphlet you sent me most carefully, but the Foreign Travel Fiscal Control Board, of which you are sub-deputy-vice-chairman, does not take into account that I shall want to make a few purchases while I am in Edinburgh — an occasional crust of bread, and some cheap shelter on chilly nights. Couldn't I have a permit for just another seventy-five cents?

Yours cringingly,
S. Marchbanks.

To Solomon Mothbanks
Dear Mr. Munchback:

The Foreign Travel Fiscal Control Board cannot see its way clear to let you have any more money. Frankly we are not impressed by your reasons for wanting to travel to Edinburgh. Business we can understand. Going to conferences we can understand. Just travelling we cannot understand. It reflects an attitude which we feel is not wholly serious, and these are serious times.

Yours,
Haubergeon Hydra,
(Sub-deputy-vice-chairman).

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esquire
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

I have received your request for something to keep you from being sick while flying. I confess that I have never had such a request before, but it is an interesting one, and I have spent some of my unengaged moments experimenting on a pill for you. I am sending you something which will deaden most of your nervous centres, and completely close your oesophagus, so you will be in no danger of throwing up, at any rate, ha ha! I should be obliged if you would let me know how this pill works, and particularly if it has any unpleasant effect. I wish to perfect it, and any help you can give me will be appreciated. It is still in rather a rough state, and may be a little too powerful at present. Still, kill or cure. With good wishes for your voyage, I am

Raymond Cataplasm.

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.
Dear Mr. Cataplasm:

Thank you for the pills. You don't think they are rather big, do you? And don't you think black is rather an unsightly colour for a pill? You know best of course. However, as I wanted them for use while flying I experimented last night by giving one to a dog, and swinging violently in a hammock. I am sorry to say that its oesophagus was not closed tight enough to prevent a very disagreeable outcome, and I had to get someone to do the cleaning up, as such incidents unnerve me. Furthermore, I was busy trying to revive the dog, who seemed to be in a coma, complicated by bad dreams. If you don't mind, I shall not take a whole pill if I feel unwell in the air; I shall merely lick one. Thank you all the same.

Sincerely,
Samuel Marchbanks.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esquire
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

Although it is some years since we met I am sure that you will remember me perfectly. I hear that you are going to Edinburgh by air, and I write at once to ask a small favour. Will you take my sewing-machine with you, and send it on to my sister in Aberdeen? For some years I have been looking for an opportunity to send it to her, but I would not trust it to unfriendly hands. The machine will reach you tomorrow. I know that you will not mind doing this, as I have read all your books in our Public Library.

Yours sincerely,
Minerva Hawser.

To Miss Minerva Haswer
Dear Miss Hawser:

I am returning your machine, which weighs 75 lbs., collect. I am only permitted 66 lbs. of baggage. Yours without regret,

S. Marchbanks.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esquire
Dear Pil:

I am getting away next week, and will write to you as often as I can. You have often complained that the art of correspondence is in decline, and I suppose you are right. Everything seems to be in decline, one way or another. The long eighteenth century letter is a thing of the past. Yet I seem to spend quite a large part of each day writing notes of all sorts, though I rarely get a chance to write long budgets of news to my friends—among whom I am proud to number you, you frowsy old pedant. I shall do my best. By the way, do you remember Min Hawser? I thought she was dead, but I had a note from her the other day—wanting something, as always. The longevity of nuisances is one of Nature's inexplicable jokes.

With warm good wishes.
Sam.

Venture In Unused Timber

(Montreal Star)

SOME time ago a group of Letts—dispossessed persons who had fled from the rigours of Russian rule—landed in Nova Scotia. There they did not disperse into the fishing fleets, the paper mills, the coal mines or the apple orchards. They stuck together, for they came from Riga, which before the rape of Latvia had been one of the most charming and cultivated of all the cities of Europe. Their trade was music and because Halifax is a town which gives on the sea, Haligonians now produce their own operas, under direction of their Lettish instructors. The first production was Mozart's Don Giovanni and according to those who were there, it was jolly good.

Freedom thus earns dividends. Immigrants seldom have failed to fructify the lands of their adoption, for they are men and women who have had the courage and the character to cut the painter and to stake their future on new ventures. They carry their distinctive crafts with them; perhaps, better, they also bring their hobbies. The ebb and flow of invasions in Europe can be charted by the distribution of specialist trades which followed in the wake of wars. Dozens of British colonies support themselves today on industries introduced by botanizing governors. In British Columbia a few years ago a group of Czechs found a neglected species of timber; by their craft they improved the quality standards of the entire lumber industry of that province. In the same spirit our Lettish friends went to work on Nova Scotians. They found them suitable timber for grand opera.

McGill's Pursuit Of Athletes

(Ottawa Citizen)

McGILL alumni will no doubt learn with mixed feelings of their alma mater's desire to extend its academic facilities to good football players who have the necessary educational qualifications, but not the money, to attend that institution. Yet even those graduates who only haltingly advance with the times must admit that the idea has some merit. It would be gilding the lily to say that McGill is a school distinguished for the advancement of learning. But for an institution placed in a country that is in the dollar area, is that enough? As the British have so often been told in recent months, goods cannot be marketed on this continent on the basis of quality alone. Vigorous sales campaigns are needed. And what better salesmen can a university have than football players with larger muscles than their rivals?

It may be sad, but it is nevertheless true, that few boys and girls who aspire to scholarly careers at a university run after professors and ask them for autographs. But many will pursue the football team's quarterback, or even a second tackle, in order to obtain his signature, either in writing or by means of an "X". An alert university can scarcely be expected to forego forever the publicity advantages of a really sound football team. Nor are the benefits confined entirely to the university itself. There must be many professional football players who are interested in the literature of 17th century France, and who would have no opportunity to study the subject unless a college retained their services as athletes.

Letter To The Editor

COMMENDS THE CONSTABLE

Sir: In Thursday night's edition of the Examiner Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay said that Constable H. W. Andrews was a little over-zealous in requesting a group of men to move on from in front of a restaurant on Charlotte St.

About a month ago I parked my car in front of a restaurant on Charlotte St. at about the same time (11.40) to go in and have a sandwich when a group of young men loitering outside tore an ornament off one fender and bent the other one until it had to be taken off leaving a hole in each fender and causing about $5.00 damage. This was reported to the police but of course they couldn't find those responsible.

I think Constable Andrews should be commended for trying to keep these groups of men moving. Yours truly,

I. G. S.

Controls For Youth Publications

(French Information Office)

A law, dated the 16th of July, 1949, assuring the control of publications designed for children has been officially gazetted.

Heavy fines and prison sentences are provided for those responsible for publications where "banditry, lying, theft, etc. . . . are presented in a favourable light". A censor board will be composed of competent parliamentary committees, magistrates and heads of families.

Hence, from now on, children are legally protected against unwholesome literature.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him might believe. . . . That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. . . .

He came unto his own, and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of man, but of God. (John 1: 6, 7, 9, 11-13.)

* * *

For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.

For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God. (Rom. 8: 14-16.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The professor was amazed to learn, through various remarks, that Mary, one of his prettiest students, was disliked by the other co-eds.

"Why is Mary so unpopular?" he asked one of the girls.

"Why, she won last year's popularity contest."

"Excuse me, sir," said a shabby caller at a City office, "are you satisfied with the amount of your present life insurance?"

"Yes," replied the manager, shortly.

"Could I interest you in a morocco-bound edition of the works of Thackeray?"

"You could not."

"Would you invest in a good second-hand cornet if you could get it cheap?"

"No!"

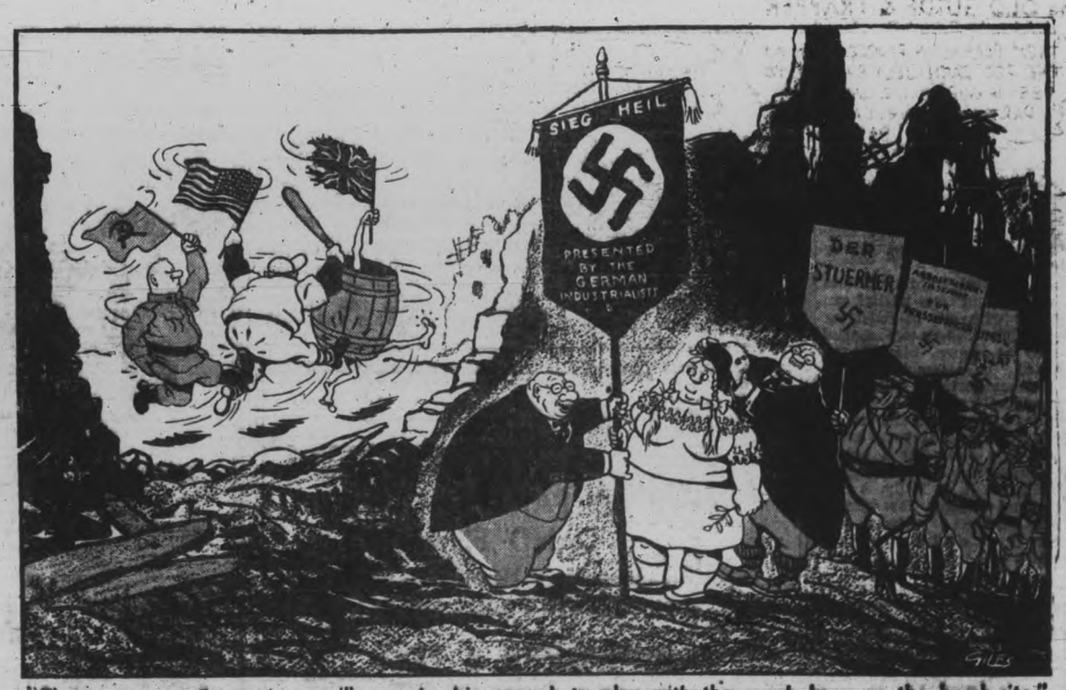
"Just so! Would an offer to supply you with first-class imported Havana cigars at twenty dollars a hundred appeal to you?"

"Not a bit!"

"That being the case," said the caller, "would you be willing to buy a tin of shoe polish just to get rid of me?"

"Great Scott! Yes."

"Thanks! Good day!"



The Case Of Paul Robeson

(Ottawa Journal)

For Paul Robeson, prostituting his glorious talents to communism, sympathy comes hard. Yet impossible it is to commend the American war veterans who broke up his concert, with lawlessness and bloodshed in the process.

If Robeson constitutes what Mr. Justice Holmes once called "present and immediate danger" to United States institutions, then there must be United States law to deal with him, with proper authorities to administer it. If he constitutes no such danger, but merely is exercising a right guaranteed to him by the United States constitution, then all the more lamentable the spectacle of any group of private individuals taking to themselves the right to molest him.

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 3 —(By Wire)—Dreams as dreams go sometimes flash quickly and are gone; some develop into reality over a period of years and give pleasure not only to the dreamer but to a whole lot more people as well. I am talking about the Minister of Lands and Forests, the Hon. Harold Scott, who told me on Thursday as we hung over a ship's bow in Thunder Bay off the lakehead cities, that our present Northern Ontario tour for members of the Legislative Assembly was very satisfying to him indeed. The crowded deck was filled with cabinet ministers and members from Southern Ontario's four political parties in the House. Politics were forgotten, the Premier was one of the boys and each was seeing his province unfold its wonders day after day. Before the group reached the Soo, smoking room observers looked at the rugged country and did not hestitate to speak their revulsion of the scenery they were passing. Then the heat was turned on at the Soo, and I mean the white-hot heat of Bessemer blast furnaces, the first large enterprise which the members viewed at close range. The sprawling plant with its dirt, hellish din and heat, dwarfed all individuals to ant-like proportions and they came away from it all tired and dirty with their morning's opinions sharply changed. They talked of it late through the night as their private cars lurched along the black gorge of the Agwa Canyon and the pulsating aurora flickered balefully over the country they WERE WILLING TO GIVE BACK TO THE INDIANS. The mist-shrouded north shore of Lake Superior turned on its overpowering magic and they talked of the country in lower tones.

Might and Magic of Marathon

As they stepped from the train at Marathon the sun broke through the overcast to point dramatic fingers of light on a neat community and steaming paper mill. They saw paper being made, they sweated alongside Finnish, Ukrainian and British paper makers and they were impressed some more. The budworm of the north, this one a constructive insect, was eating into the minds of men and they were humbled. They saw the harnessing of electric power at the new Aguasabon power house and traced its strands of power to yet another paper mill at Terrace Bay. They saw beautiful homes, laughing families and enjoyed northern hospitality at its best by cousins from across the border who gambled millions on a Canadian enterprise and won. The winnings were new exports for Canada, fat new payrolls and the cementing of still closer ties between two great trading nations. The M.P.P.'s arrival at the Lakehead cities took on a faster and more eager pace as they tumbled from their train like schoolboys to see and learn yet much more. They saw the heavy grain trains from the prairies being shunted to the gigantic elevators and cars being dumped bodily of their golden payloads, while long rusty freighters took on their loads and steamed out on the bay past sleeping Giant Island. They marvelled at iron ore-unloading docks and looked forward to seeing the rich open-pit property at Atikokan the following day. You can bet that these lawmakers will discuss house bills pertaining to northern developments with a deep understanding in future.

Heard, Met and Seen

Conductor Harry Kirby on the Soo-Franz run said he hoped to visit his mother's home soon in Campbellford. He has been on his present run 27 years. The tour was a first for Steward Georges Rivet of North Bay, although the north was nothing new to him, after seven years on the Moosonee run. Public Relations Officer, D.L.F., Ken Campbell, flew in from Pays plant to meet the party at Marathon. They skirted a line squall on Lake Superior as well as two 600-foot water spouts; all aboard the plane were a bit nervous, including Pilot B. Fawcett. I brought myself up-to-date on northern people I had known on a 20-minute visit with Capt. A. J. (Scruff) Hollingsworth and his wife Evelyn at the Soo. Some people had died and others temporarily lost in the general shuffle of life. Mrs. Greenley's home-made rolls were deelish. Cece and Martha Fetterman, formerly of Favourable Lake also dropped in, a regular but brief reunion. Some foresters on the train were telling of a colony of beaver who helped them extinguish a forest fire recently west of Lake Nipigon. They had erected several dams in a stream in the fire area and their natural reservoirs supplied the necessary water to put the fire out. Louis Goodchild, 69, Ojibway Indian from Heron Bay, chewed his snuff complacently on the Marathon station platform as the M.P.P. party milled about. Minister of Mines Welland S. Gemmell asked him in native dialect what he thought of the uproar. "Ni-shin" grunted the old boy, meaning "good". Suspecting they were chatting about the tour, the O.B. had no idea just how much "Ni-shin" the whole trip would produce. Ask the men who have been up north on this junket when they arrive home in eight more days.

EDINBURGH, THE "VENICE OF THE NORTH", and scene of the present great festival of the arts, is one of Europe's more lovely cities. Nevertheless it, like Peterborough, has a city plan to improve blighted and congested areas. Quaint old buildings, like, LEFT, Canongate Tolbooth, High Street, will have their beauty enhanced, and of course, no planners' hands will touch splendid edifices like, RIGHT, Holyrood Palace. This abode of kings dates from the year 1128, and has a romantic history (Mary of Scotland lived in it). The iron gates enclosing the forecourt and the statue of Edward VII within, form the national memorial to that King. — (Photos courtesy British Travel Bureau).

The New And Old Edinburgh

By MORAY McLAREN

The vitality of modern Edinburgh is the first thing noticed by the returning visitor or the newcomer from the South. There are disadvantages in being a celebrated beauty; Edinburgh's spectacular appearance has, in the past, often obscured her other qualities. This is not so now. Today her claim to be the capital of Scotland rests not only on history and distinction but on her present way of life. She is the capital because, by her present merits, she deserves to be.

These merits have not been hastily acquired by the bold venture of the International Festival of the Arts, the third celebration of which opens today. They are the compound of a returned vitality and an old, unshakable self-confidence. The vitality is shown in the manner and manners of her inhabitants. The outward and visible signs of her rock-like self-confidence are perhaps most obvious in her unchanging appearance.

Robert Louis Stevenson was born 99 years ago. Were he to return to his "precipitous city" he would not, save for the motor-cars and the cinemas, find much difference, nor would his contemporary but more sentimental mine-own-romantic-townees. The gracious pattern of the eighteenth century New Town remains, touched only in detail.

The theatrical beauty and squalor of the Old Town still hangs above the city on the southern skyline. The mountains, actually urban as well as suburban, and the near-by sea are, of course, where they were; but man has not, even if he would or could, obscured them. The Edinburgh eccentrics, one of her most capital distinctions, are still about her streets, clubs and pubs. And when they die, one by one, they pass on the torch of personal oddity and the quirks of taste. The essential, the varied Edinburgh remains.

But Edinburgh is no museum now. Her vigour is due to a mixture of luck and pluck. She is lucky because the work of her inhabitants is so diverse; she has not suffered and is unlikely to suffer from any of these crippling blows at one industry which afflict other large towns with huge unemployment in under a month. She was lucky to be almost untouched by bombing during the war. She was plucky in her eagerness to make use of these and other advantages. The result is that in form and style she is nearer to the pre-war condition than is any other big city in the United Kingdom.

There is in Edinburgh a feeling in the air of independence of the Central Machine. This is chiefly seen in the administration of the city. The Lord Provost, Sir Andrew Murray, supported on the Council by a large majority of Progressives (the Scots for anti-Socialist), can fight, and sometimes with success, every inch in the battle to prevent Edinburgh and Scotland being absorbed into Whitehall. He is not hampered, amongst his supporters, by those whose feeling for Scotland fights an uneasy battle with their political convictions.

The fact that Edinburgh is now leading the fight, not only for herself but for Scotland, against Whitehall, has had one odd effect. Fifteen years ago the more nationally minded Scots (culturally as well as politically) took a poor view of the capital. "They are half English there," they would say. Now that is all changed. Culturally she is drawing more and more talent towards her. The frequent presence of the remarkable Douglas Young and his group of Scottish poets and writers has aroused very lively controversies. Journalism, as represented by Edinburgh's leading daily, is very much more full of life than it used to be. People in the West and in the far North read it because they feel it speaks for Scotland.

Since the decline of the famous Glasgow school at the turn of the century, leadership in painting has clearly swung to Edinburgh. Such figures as Peploe, Cadell and Hunter, and later Gillies, Maxwell and Westwater, have not their counterpart elsewhere in Scotland. Native drama, despite the world-wide publicity of the Festival and the "Three Estates," despite the presence of the fertile and talented Robert Kemp, still struggles. It lacks support. It is a reproach to Edinburgh that she has no civic Repertory Theatre for her players and no adequate gallery space for modern art.

Edinburgh, as a small capital, is, like Dublin, well constructed for the practice of the social arts. They are at present vigorous and entertaining. It must be a long time since such good talk was heard in the city. The slightly depressing, but perhaps ineradicable Edinburgh and Scottish habit of organizing serious conversaziones on serious subjects, persists. But perhaps it would be a pity if they were to be abolished. They are as indigenous as the eccentrics, and have their roots in the eighteenth century of David Hume. The wary can always avoid them.

All this prodigal summer the streets, the open places and the aspects of this half romantic, half strictly classical town have surely discovered themselves as clearly and as graciously as they have ever done within living memory. Have the hills of Fife, across the blue or silver Forth, ever seemed so near as this year—day after day? Has the tender green of the midsummer midnight northern sky ever repeated itself so frequently? Has the city ever before appeared so full of light and air and space?

Perhaps it has. And perhaps, with that feminine coquetry which is characteristic of her, Edinburgh will, when the Festival visitors arrive, cast off her summer colouring, draw up the mists from the Firth of Forth, and send the wind and the rain howling about her streets; or perhaps not. But even if she does, those who come north for the occasion cannot fail, if they keep their perceptions alive, to catch glimpses of the most enduring, the most triumphant artist at the Festival —Edinburgh.

Canadian Led US Unionists On First Labor Day 1894

(CP). — Labor will march on Monday—the 55th anniversary of Labor Day as a legally recognized holday in Canada and the United States.

There will be speeches and parades with gala floats, picnics and sports. And the rest of Canada will take advantage of the workingman's special holiday to enjoy summer's last "long weekend."

Altogether, organized labor, as an accepted and integral part of society, forms a contrast to-day with the still-young unions which attended Labor Day's birth.

It was the militant Knights of Labor who, in 1894, lobbied at Washington and at Ottawa to achieve governmental recognition of labor's claim to a day it could call its own.

The passing of the legislation in Canada was preceded by sporadic street parades and labor demonstrations—at Toronto in 1885, in Montreal a year later, and in Quebec City in 1891. The demand for a labor holiday had become political issue and the bill was personally piloted through Parliament by a Conservative Prime Minister, Sir John Thompson. Even then Sir John faced strong opposition in his own ranks and in the Senate.

As well, the holiday, in its concept and practice as a distinctly North American celebration, contrasts with Europe's May Day on May 1—an unrecognized holiday flaunted by labor's extreme left wing and often marked by street scenes and conflicts with civil authority.

Canada's Labor Day, instead, has more in common with the parades in mediaeval England. Their festival, as is ours to-day, asserted the workingman's claim to an honored position in society and gave him a chance to show his pride in his work.

Much credit for the holiday must go to a Canadian, the late Alexander W. Wright, born in Markham Township near Toronto. A colorful figure, Wright was a newspaperman with the Guelph Herald, then secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and finally editor of the journal of the US Knights of Labor.

In this last position he was one of the forces behind United States recognition of the holiday. He insisted in Washington that it be held in September and not on May Day, which even in 1894 was being taken over by European radicals. And then he went to Canada as a one-man lobby to persuade the Prime Minister that Canada should have her own labor holiday.

To-day labor is faced with the results of a post-war levelling off in the ranks of industry. The full employment of wartime is no longer.

Though Canada had a relatively quiet summer for strikes, the first half of the year saw a 33 per cent greater time loss through strikes and lockouts than in the first six months of 1948. Up to June 30 this year there were 63 strikes and lockouts affecting 18,701 workers. Time lost totalled 671,891 working days.

King Billy Hosts Fly South Yet Have Never Been There

By DAVE WHITE.

If you've seen an unusual number of Monarch butterflies about this week tthere as a good reason for it. Now that the end of the summer season is approaching this species of milkweed butterfly (or Lymnadidae to give it the official name) is migrating south.

The orange-brown beauty with the black stripes is a familiar sight to Ontario folk as it flits over fields and pasture land looking for its favorite food — the milkweed. But about this time every year the "King Billys," as the younger schoolchildren call them, start their long journey into the southern United States — generally the Carolinas.

Miss Heather G. Ferguson of Buffalo who is on the staff of the Buffalo Museum of Science visited the Examiner office this week to call attention to the phenomenon.

The Monarch is the most intrepid butterfly on the continent, she explained. While nauseous to birds it still has its troubles. The species tends to outrun its food supply which is the milkweed plant, and consequently it is forced to search north and south in the Americas if it is to survive.

The northern migration has a sort of pioneer quality about it. The mother butterfly follows the sprouting milkwood plant as spring advances northward. She deposits her eggs and dies. Her offspring first appear as small black and white caterpillars on the leaves. These in turn go into the chrysalis stage and after a couple of weeks they hatch into the full-fledged "King Billys."

Taking up from where their mother left off the Monarchs continue their northward journey, and go through the same cycle of life themselves. Eventually the limit of milkweed plant growth is reached, in some cases as far north as Hudson Bay.

Generation after generation is involved in this desperate search for adequate food supply.

As soon as the summer season begins to close and cool weather approaches the Monarchs start to flock south. As none of them has made the complete journey before it remains a mystery how they know their destination.

Flocks of them may be seen at nights where they come to rest on bushes, trees and wayside shrubs. This week, Miss Ferguon said, she observed thousands of them as she drove down Highway 28. Similar waves of the insects were seen around Toronto, Hamilton and the Fruitland districts.

While birds are not a menace, ironically enough the man-made automobile is. Hundreds are killed when impaled on the radiators of speeding cars.

The Monarch is the strongest flyer of the butterfly clan. He has been seen on the western coast of Europe and as far as west as Pacific Isles. These have either travelled by ship or been blown across the ocean from their native America.

Miss Ferguson stated that one large flock was observed in Norway, probably carried across by a contrary wind as they sought to fly down the Atlantic coast to the southern States.

In the extreme north there is said to be only one generation during the season. There is no hibernating species.

That, in brief, is the tale of the Monarch as told by Miss Ferguson.

Next time you see a King Billy go sailing by you can have an increased respect for him as he represents the boldest and strongest of all butterflies.

Broncs Turn Back Uniteds To Open Senior "B" Series

UAW Broncs of Oshawa blanked the Uniteds 10-0 in the Motor City last night to open their best-of-three OASA senior "B" playdown series. Samanski pitched three-hit ball and had perfect support, as his mates hit four local twirlers for 16 safeties. Their rash of hits included McMullen's homer, triples by Samanski and Gilbert, and doubles by Romaniski, D. McLaughlin and Gilbert. Eakins started for Uniteds and was charged with the loss, Wilson, Greenlaw and Reid each taking a short turn on the mound after that.

McMullen led the winners at bat with four for five, while Gilbert and Romaniski each got three in five tries. Two for four were gained by V. McLaughlin and Hanna. Uniteds had but two miscues in the field, but they weren't hitting, Greenlaw, White and Sullivan getting their lone blows. The game was late starting but was run off fast. Samanski whiffed 14 off the visitors. The second game will be Tuesday, at 8.30 p.m., in the Ashburnham Bowl. The box score:

Westclox Girls Gain Win From Marines

Westclox defeated Marines 7-4 at the Bowl last night in a neat girls' softball round-robin tussle. P. Williams was pitching good ball for Marines till she was hurt in the third inning at the plate and was replaced, H. White going well after that for one frame. Westclox got but seven hits, against a dozen for Marines, but they played errorless ball behind fair flinging while Marines kicked in with five miscues.

N. Whetung and D. Westlake looked good defensively for the victors, while E. Smith and M. Hill were best in the field for the losers. D. Westlake led Westclox at bat with two safeties and W. Page topped the Outboards at the plate with a double and three singles in five appearances. There were half a dozen walks on each side but few strikeouts.

The teams:

Marines: V. Page, 3b; E. Smith, cf; M. Behan, ss; B. Larmer, c; P. Williams, p; H. White, p; M. Hill, 1b; A. LaPointe, 2b; M. Walling, lf; H. Anderson, rf.

Horseshoe Tourney Held At Turner Park

Closing day of Turner Jark Playground was observed Thursday night at the grounds with 150 children attending as guests of the sponsoring B'nai B'rith Club.

The B'nai B'rith members provided chocolate milk and ice cream for their guests. There were also open-air movies and fireworks.

Highlight of the evening to both the playground children and the 25 adults was the horseshoe tournament. All present, 16 years and over, were eligible for competition.

Winners were Al Rose and Pat Larock, both of Chamberlain St.

The boy and girl winners of the Character Award for Turner Park will be announced on Labor Day.

Weather permitting, Oshawa Merchants and the Petes tangle at 5.30 this evening in Riverside, second of their best-of-seven COBL final playoffs. The men o' Murphy turned in a sloppy joust in the Motor City in the opener and deserved their loss, but they'll be out to even it here today. And, with Lefty Bill Dadson—top twirler in the loop this season—likely to fling, the Merchants should be in for a tough time of it. Oshawa have a good ball club and they saved Bill Gingerich, their ace flinger, the last half of the opening tilt, so he'll likely go here for them. But the Petes are due to pin back the Merchants' ears and it might as well be now. The scene shifts Monday aft to the Motor City.

* * * * * *

The trend Labor Day will be toward Riverside where the Allied Labor Council has a big "do", including plenty of athletic attractions. Softball, volleyball, horse-shoe pitching, track and field, and the rest, commencing about 10 a.m. and going all day. Finals in the Recreation Commission playgrounds' competitions at this meet, and boys and girls of all ages will be battling it out on different parts of the sprawling park and north of the bridge also. At seven p.m. Ashby's and Woollens play a girls' softball exhibition in the Bowl and the whole affair should draw a big holiday crowd Monday.

That's The Difference

A huge pro grappler named Wladek Kowalski in Toronto the other day sneered at football and said it would be duck soup for the wrestlers. We wonder. He spoke of an incident in the recent Stampeder-Alouettes game in Montreal where Toohy and Anderson collided. As they hit the dirt, Toohy had his legs around Anderson's neck and Andy took a grip on the other's ankle. "I'll break it if you don't let go," warned Anderson, while Toohy roared: "I'll squeeze your brains out if you don't release me." The ref arrived then and chased both. "You see," Kowalski remarked, "we'd never desist under those circs on the mat. We'd both tackle the referee!" And that's for sure.

Hamilton Tigers take on the Petes at 8.45 in Miller Bowl tonight in the fourth fray of their best-of-seven OLA senior "A" quarter-finals. Down three, the Petes face elimination tonight but will fight fiercely in an attempt to prolong the serial. They gave Tigers a terrific scrap here last Wednesday ere losing by three goals in the fourth frame, and they'll sure try to grab this one tonight. Another gallery expected. During the season, the Dominion champion Tigers scored 397 to the Petes 395, but had only 397 goals scored against 'em whilst the local goalies saw 570 whiz by. Hamilton finished fifth and the locals sixth.

"And Others Pass Out"

Scores in senior lacrosse last gloaming drifted in by carrier pigeon this morn and 'twas 18-11 for Hamilton o'er the Petes for a 3-0 series lead, 13-6 for Mimico 'gainst Owen Sound for a 2-1 lead, and a 9-8 squeak for Brampton over St. Kitts for a 2-1 margin. At Hamilton, Blain McDonald suffered a nasty shoulder injury in a collision in the third quarter and may sit it out the rest of the season. Isaacs and Love led the Tigers in sniping with three goals each, while Leo Teatero again shone on the attack for the Creighton crew with four goals and two assists, figuring in more than half the Petes' total output.

Uniteds weren't looking for a paint job in Oshawa last eve as they rode merrily into the Motor City. But the UAW Broncs of that borough daubed 'em with whitewash to a 10-0 tune to open their OASA senior "B" series. A guy named Samanski was the chief painter as he brushed them off with three hits and whiffed 14 into the bargain. Rest of his buddies fielded perfectly and clouted hard with ducks on the pond. And that was that. Eakins was the losing twirler as all the Uniteds' flingers took a short slab sojourn. Unless that guy — Sam what's his name — is again hotter than a hula's heels, the Uniteds hope to avenge that one here Tuesday p.m. Time will tell.

Lindsay Takes Close One Over Electrics

Lindsay lasses edged out a 13-12 triumph over CGE girls at the Bowl last night in 10 innings of a round-robin contest. It was an exciting if slow joust especially toward the last as CGE and Lindsay both rallied strongly in the ninth frame. Lindsay got five runs in their half and were able to push over the winner in overtime, while Electrics got four in the ninth and had the tying run on third with none out in the 10th but couldn't get it across.

Neither pitcher could hold the batters in check in the free-swinging fray. H. Deyell led Lindsay at bat with four hits as D. Wakelin got a homer, triple and single. D. Jackson topped the losers at the plate with three safeties, and E. Boyce banged out a four-bagger.

Toronto Downs Montreal In 6-2 Victory

By The Associated Press

If the second-place Rochester Red Wings fail to overhaul Buffalo in the International League pennant chase, it will be no fault of Steve Bilko, Red Wing first baseman.

Bilko, a hard-hitting swatter, has been wielding a big bat all season. He currently is hitting 314 and has batted in over 114 runs, tops in the league.

No. 114 came Friday night against Buffalo in the 10th inning and gave the Wings a 3-2 win over the pace-setters. The blow, a crashing single, knocked in the winning run and left the Wings still breathing, 5½ games out.

Clovd Boyer, who threw only two relief pitches in the 10th, notched his 12th victory, while Saul Rogovin went the distance to drop his sixth against 15 triumphs.

Down Royals

While Rochester set their sights on overhauling Buffalo, the battle for the fourth and last playoff spot grew even tighter. Toronto moved into a fourth-place tie with Montreal by downing the Royals 6-2 in Maple Leaf Stadium.

And Jersey City Giants enhanced their chances of getting into the post-season series by taking a doubleheader from Baltimore, 2-1 and 6-4. This left the Giants in third spot, one game up on the Royals and Leafs, with only a week on the schedule remaining.

Ford Smith flipped a five-hitter to take the opener and Andy Tomasic though touched for 11 safeties out-duelled Al Widmar, Oriole ace, in the nightcap for the Giants.

Both Toronto and Montreal counted 10 hits, but hitting in the clutch gave the Leafs their victory. Catcher Hal Wagner's double with two out and two on base in the second was good for two runs. Toronto tallied three more runs in the third off Clary Podbelian and their final run in the fifth. Podbelian was replaced by Mel Himes. It was his ninth loss of the season.

Revamped Lnie

Nick Strincevich went the route for Leafs in earning his 11th victory. George Schmees hit a round-tripper for Royals in the second and two hits and an error counted Montreal's final run in the third.

The homer was the only extra-base hit that Strincevick gave up. Toronto used a revamped line-up with Johnny Welaj and Alex Garbowski returning after being sidelined for some time.

Syracuse rapped Newark twice, 5-2 and 11-3, to dissolve abruptly the Bears fine pitching streak. Thursday night Newark hurlers turned in successive 1-0 verdicts over the Chiefs.

The Chiefs smacked five home runs to make victories for Bud Byerley and Eddie Blake easy ones.

Newcombe Hurls Brooks To 8-0 Win Over Giants

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball world laughed when Branch Rickey hung a $500,000 price tag on Don Newcombe before the big negro ever donned a major league uniform.

Laughter turned to snickers when the head man of the Dodgers "slashed" the price to $300,000 this spring. Today they're not even smiling.

Newcombe is the "solid" member of an otherwise shaky Brooklyn pitching staff.

He hurled another of his well-pitched games Friday night as he hurled the Dodgers to an 8-0, five-hit triumph over New York Giants in the Polo Grounds.

The victory was his third straight shutout and his 14th of the season against six defeats. The triumph also moved the second-place Dodgers to within a game and a half of the front-running St. Louis Cardinals who were idle.

Nice Record

Newcombe now has pitched 30 consecutive scoreless innings. He previously blanked the Cards and Pittsburgh and held Boston scoreless in the last three innings of a game.

He struck out seven Giants to run his total to 119 and tie Boston's Warren Spahn for the league leadership in this department. He also scored twice and banged out two of Brooklyn's 12 hits, a double and single.

The defeat dumped the Giants into fifth place, the Philadelphia Phillies taking over fourth as a result of their 6-3 victory over Boston Braves. The Phils won the game in the eighth inning, scoring three times to snap a 3-3 tie. Willie Jones singled across two of the runs.

Crush Athletics

Meanwhile, Boston Red Sox made hay in the American League pennant chase, crushing Philadelphia Athletics 8-4. The victory cut the idle New York Yankees' lead over the Sox to 2½ games.

The Sox jumped on Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, for five runs in the first inning. Bobby Doerr sparked the uprising with a three-run homer.

Virg.l Trucks pitched Detroit Tigers to an 8-0 triumph over Chicago White Sox in the major's lone day game. Trucks yielded 10 singles but kept them well scattered to gain his 16th victory.

George Kell and Vic Wertz drove home three runs each to lead Detroit's 10-hit attack that included four doubles and a triple.

All other clubs in both leagues were idle.

Lakefield Boy Appointed To College Chair

Dr. C. Grattan Kemp, formerly of Lakefield, has accepted the position of Professor of Human Relations in Missouri Valley College of the Presbyterian Church in Marshall, Missouri. Dr. Kemp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kemp of Lakefield and attended Lakefield High School and Peterborough Normal School. His career as a public school teacher was outstanding. His choral speaking choir was selected to appear at the annual meetings of the Ontario Educational Association in Convocation Hall and Hart House Theatre of the University of Toronto for three consecutive years. He was a recognized leader in religious education circles in Ontario. He was chairman of the leadership training committee of the Toronto East Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, chairman of the leadership training committee of the Toronto Religious Education Council and a member of the National Children's Work Board of the Religious Education Council of Canada.

Dr. Kemp did his undergraduate study in Victoria College, took his theological training at Union Theological Seminary in New York City, majoring in religious education, where for two years he has been assistant in that department. He received his Master of Arts degree from Columbus University, New York and his Doctors degree from Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University. He has been invited by the Missouri Valley College to become head of the Department of Human Relations in a newly established research and experimental program. The objective of the program is to develop not only a high ranking liberal arts program but also to train promising young people for competent leadership in the Church and allied youth organizations. Dr. Kemp and his wife, who was formerly Miss Agnes Lackie of this city, are spending a few days in Peterborough and Lakefield before leaving to assume their new responsibilities.

THIS PANEL TRUCK, complete with public address system which will be sent to Missionary and Maintenance gifts of the India, was bought and paid for by the school children of The United Church of Canada.

Psalms Reflect Faith Of Atomic Age In World

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Jesus and His disciples were thoroughly versed in the Old Testament Scriptures. The Old Testament was their Bible, and Christ declared that He had not come to destroy, but to fulfill.

The quotations from the Psalms in the New Testament are many and varied, but there is to be found a special interest in tracing and indicating certain parallels, which constitute New Testament enrichments.

Read the 23rd, or Shepherd Psalm, then turn to the 10th chapter of John, and read of the Good Shepherd. Here, the Lord who is the shepherd is personified in the Christ, who actually gave His life for the sheep. The Psalm comes to its richest experience and fulfillment in the gentle, loving Master, who made the supreme sacrifice, in a love that could not fail, or rest, while one sheep was lost, though ninety-nine might be safe. The Parable of the Lost Sheep is a part of the shepherd story.

Next to this, the most striking parallel between the Psalms and the New Testament is in setting alongside the 46th Psalm the closing verses in Paul's eighth chapter of Romans.

That 46th Psalm might be expressive of the faith that we need in this atomic age. Apart from all outward differences the times and situation out of which that Psalm came are remarkably like our own.

In the world of the atomic bomb, and the threat of its use in war, discounting all the worst predictions of what might happen, we know that a peril of dire destruction has settled down on peaceful communities that hitherto had little to fear. Vast cities might be wiped out with little recovery or survival.

That, in a way, was precisely the situation of the man of faith who wrote that Psalm. The idea of an atomic bomb was many centuries away, but very similar, and perhaps even more real than ours, was the danger constantly besetting people living in that little land of Palestine, situated between the great ancient empires warring for conquest and world mastery. Again and again it was overrun, its people destroyed, dispersed, or carried into exile. The Northern Kingdom was shattered beyond restoration.

It was, therefore, no merely poetical sentiment when the Psalmist wrote: "God is our refuge and strength; therefore will not we fear," and went on to declare his courage of faith, though his whole world should be destroyed.

Turn now to the 8th of Romans. Here, in the conclusion of a long chapter Paul lists first of all the possible experiences of trial and suffering, and then all possible powers and forces, and he says that none of these things shall be able to separate us from "the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

This might be termed the faith of an atomic age. How can we get it? I think by living with those who have it, and above all by so living with the Christ of the New Testament that He becomes to us, as He did to Paul, the most secure fact of all life and time.

New-found Bible Scrolls Believed 2,200 Years Old

LONDON, Aug. 27—(Reuters)—Some of the Old Testament scrolls found in a cave near Ain Feshka, south of Jericho, now are known to be some 1,200 years older than the text on which the present Old Testament is based.

The disclosure was made in London by G. Lankaster Harding, chief curator of antiquities for the Hashemite Jordan Kingdon (Trans-Jordan), before he returned to Amman.

How Date Established

The date of the scrolls, said Harding, has been established by the fact that they were found in jars made in the second century B.C.

American translators working on four of the scrolls have found that the text agrees to an astonishing degree with the present Old Testament, he said.

The Old Testament was taken from what is known as the Hebred massoretic text, generally ascribed by scholars to the 10th century A.D.

May Describe War

Harding said that one of the scrolls — a hitherto unknown apocryphal book, now called by the Americans the "war of the children of darkness and the children of light"—may turn out to be an account of an actual war involving an unknown Jewish sect, perhaps the Essens.

This book contains a fascinating account of the arrangement of the armed forces of the time and indicates they were divided into age groups, each under its own banner.

With Father de Vaux, director of L'ecole Biblique and Archaelogique Francaise of Jerusalem, and assistants from the Palestine Archaeological Museum, Harding visited the east last March.

For three weeks his party excavated the site with penknives and fingers. Bigger instruments would have damaged the small fragments of inscribed parchment strewn along with shreds, linen and debris.

Lying flat under the hot light of a paraffin pressure lamp, the workers recovered hundreds of pieces of parchment. No fragment bigger than the end of a pencil was left behind.

The jars, since assembled at the Palestine Archaeological Museum, numbered at least 40 originally. Harding said each jar could hold five or six scrolls, so there must have been 200 or more of the documents in the original cache.

Comes Too Late

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 2—(AP)—William Westren, 72-year-old pensioner, bought another ticket in the New South Wales state lottery recently. The ticket won first prize of £6,000 ($19,380) today.

But Westren was not on hand. He died Thursday night of a heart attack.

Carbon Works First Venture Into The Manufacture Of Electrical Products

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough's first industrial venture into the field of manufacture of electrical products was through the once important accessory of the long carbon pencils that used to light city streets. That priority is mentioned in sketchy notes compiled twenty years ago by the late Frank H. Dobbin, whose memory was a storehouse of local information.

The Carbon Works preceded by a few years the coming to Peterborough of the Edison Electric Manufacturing Company, forerunner of the Canadian General Electric Company, whose decision marked the turning point in the development of this town.

The carbon-making industry flourished only briefly within the block bounded by Townsend, Stewart, Wolfe and Bethune Sts. It moved into the building which had been constructed for the Brooks stove works.

Without any explanatory preamble, one of the Dobbin notes refers to the stove industry as follows:

1886—The new stove works of Powell & Jones has opened and is doing business. The factory is on Wolfe St. adjoining the Grand Trunk Railway. Large moulding shop and foundry. Manufacturing line of kitchen ranges and heaters.

1889—J. W. Taylor, Thomas Brooks and others address the council asking that inducements be offered to have located here a factory to make electric light carbons. Further on, a bylaw to aid the Brooks Mfg. Co. to the extent of $4,000 was submitted to the property owners. The bylaw carried. Work began in the buildings of the Stove Works.

1890—Report of a committee of the council appointed to select a site for the proposed Edison Electric Mfg. Co. Secured option at $400 an acre from Peter Hamilton and the Chamberlen Estate. Bylaw prepared to raise money to buy the land. Bylaw carried When the company has erected buildings to the value of $30,000 the site is to be deeded to the company.

The town is to provide water facilities and sewer; also a right of way for switches; the property is to be exempt from taxes for ten years.

Further on, this industry was expanded and merged into the holding title of the Canadian General Electric Company, which has become the largest and most important industry in Peterborough.

Become Porcelain Works

1891—Buildings formerly used by the Brooks Manufacturing Co. have been taken over by interests allied to the Electric Company, and the manufacture of porcelain, etc., for electric installation purposes has been begun. This industry has been enlarged, and now (1919) forms part of the CGE plant in Peterborough.

1895—The Carbon Works have made a mess of things, and the town is looking to realize on the assets to cover its grant of $4,000. It is proposed that the municipality pay off the $10,000 mortgage on the building, and assume the whole thing as a municipal venture. Eventually a proposal was made by the CGE Company to acquire the building, (a claim of $5,000 offsetting the town's claim of $4,000), and carry on the business as part of the general works of the company. The proposition was accepted.

Only a Museum Piece

The carbon arc lamp that once lighted the streets of Peterborough has become only a museum piece, with the hitching post and the water trough for horses. A generation or two has grown up since the lamp disappeared from the streets of Peterborough. Its form and automatic equipment under a protective hood high up above the ground are unknown to the young people of today, but these same young people are seeing its brilliant light in all the movie theatres of the land.

The electric and automatic mechanization of the arc lamp has been greatly improved for the motion picture industry, but the basic principle of operation remains unchanged since the old lamps vastly increased the usable candle-power for lighting the pedestrian's way home at night. Highly incandescent carbon burning in an electric arc, a narrow gap between two positive and negative sticks of carbon, is the light behind the moving film that passes before it for enlargement on the big screens of the theatres.

At any rate, in its gradual industrial expansion, Peterborough edged its way into the new electrical business with a plant on the Townsend St. block for the manufacture of carbon sticks about a foot or more in length and half an inch in circumference.

Those were the days of the local lamplighter. The few elders of the community who still remember the gas lamps, feeble and far between, retain a memory of the man who used to go about the centre of the town opening the tiny valves in the gas lamps and applying his torch. He was followed by the man whose job was to renew the carbon sticks daily in the arc lamps. Their night burning consumed all but a few inches of the positive stick.

Control of the arc lamps was from a switch in the power station of the private company supplying this public service before the Hydro-Electric Commission was conceived to convert it into a utility owned by the people and operated at cost.

But, it should be said for the arc lamp of the streets that its illumination was a grand boon to the people of those final years of man's long benighted era. Once he had only oil for his flickering lamps back in the classic age. The use of gas during the dark quarters of the moon was his first effective peering through the overhead gloom. With the invention of electricity his long nights ended.

One of Peterborough's elders once told the Examiner that the gas lamp lighter used to retrace his steps about midnight or a little later turning off the flame he had started when the night fell.

Although the carbon works failed, they were an early local venturing into the electrical industry, probably adventitious, and apparently replaced in 1895 by absorption into the Edison Electrical Company then becoming soundly established on the wooded property on the west side of Park St. that was owned, in separate parcels, by Peter Hamilton and Edmund Chamberlen.

AS THE SUN BEATS DOWN—Hats grew larger as the crowds became smaller in Riverside Park the past baseball season while fans sat in open bleachers under a blistering sun. Above is shown two fair fans braving the sun at a recent senior ball game here. The girl on the left wears the largest hat available locally, but the other has a special straw sombrero brought back from the Dominican Republic in the West Indies. Neither girl would divulge her name but both were emphatic in saying: "We need a covered grandstand in Riverside."

Theatre-Goers Give Plays Going-Over They Liked Them All, "But Let's Have . . ."

More comedies, more serious plays. Stay all winter. Fix the air conditioning. Get a small orchestra. May we have a musical comedy? But above all, come back next summer.

The Peterborough Summer Theatre printed a questionnaire in their programs for this week's French Without Tears, but they didn't expect the volume of response they got.

A large number of people went to the trouble of filling out the question form to say what plays they considered the most and least interesting and to offer suggestions.

"Rebecca" Approved

From the large sample which was studied, Rebecca had the largest following as the most interesting play. The Importance of Being Earnest and Fortune My Foe were close behind. Other top plays were Arsenic and Old Lace, Angel Street, and French Without Tears.

Strangely, these plays were the least interesting in the opinion of quite a number. What pleased Graham Ferguson, Michael Sadlier and the whole company was that the audience was taking such an enthusiastic interest in all the productions. One lady even wrote the company a letter to say how much she had enjoyed the plays.

"Less Profanity"

"After having enjoyed your work so much all summer," she wrote, "it seemed ungrateful not to tell you so."

Many of the suggestions were pungent and to the point. "Less profanity," was one. "Improve PA system," was another. Some of the others, "A musical comedy written by Gerry Sarracini. Have all the seats the same admission price. Start earlier. Would like one good dripping tragedy."

One lady and her husband suggested the theatre present one play for children. Another suggestion was that the theatre one week present a series of one-act plays in which the apprentices would take over and present.

Several people named some authors whose work they would like to see. Among these G. Bernard Shaw was the most often mentioned.

The actors and actresses have won many fans. Several people said the theatre could do no better than to bring back exactly the same players next summer. Frank Perry seemed to be the favorite of the younger girls. But John Primm, Bill Needles, Jeri Sauvinet, Anna Cameron, Gerry Sarracini and Christine Thomas all were specially mentioned as one many would like to see next year.

The comments were all flattering, but probably the best bouquet the theatre received was from the man who said, "You may put us on your list now for tickets next year," and named the night and seats.

Council Prepares To Dust Off City's Zoning Bylaw

The zoning bylaw—now of rather dim memory, since the Faludi report was completed—is about to be released from the red tape that bound it.

And if that occurs, the council may get on with the planning business which one of its predecessors conceived for the advantage in orderly growth of the Peterborough of the future.

As a new concept of legislation, the planning act of Ontario required publication of any zoning bylaw, a copy of which was to be sent to each property owner.

As they faced that sort of printing bill, the council marked time in the hope that the Department would devise some simpler ways of publicity. Recently it transpired that a digest of the zoning bylaw will be satisfactory. So, instead of printing the entire text, which would be voluminous in Peterborough's basis of planning, it may be abridged, leaving out parts that would hardly be missed by the property owner who is presumed to receive the condensed review with avid interest and desire to get his nose into the pages.

So, the council is ordering 100 copies of the bylaw to be printed in its reduced form. The information is also being passed on to the town planning committee.

Finally, it is assumed that with satisfactory publication, the council may proceed to the long delayed stage of passing the bylaw and thereby giving effect to the planning that was begun when Mr. Faludi was engaged.

District Horses, Sheep Prize Winners At CNE

W. H. Lindsay, of Campbellcroft, was one of the winners in the standard bred futurity class for horses at the CNE. His entry Browne's Play Girl was judged the best mare under three years in the breeding horse section.

G. H. Mark and Son, of Little Britain, showed the championship ram and ewe in Dorset horned sheep. He was a recent exhibitor at Peterborough as were John R. Kelsey, of Woodville, and Fred W. Trewin, of Gadshill, in the Tamworth swine class. Mr. Kelsey drew the grand and senior championship ribbons. Mr. Trewin's awards included the senior and reserve championships for sows.

Several of the sheep breeders of Central Ontario split their flocks to exhibit at Ottawa and Peterborough last week.

Pupil Insurance For Injuries Takes Effect

Parents who long have worried about their children incurring injuries while at school will have that problem lifted from their shoulders if a Board of Education insurance plan succeeds.

Provided parents support this accident insurance plan, covering every Public School and PCVS student, it will become operative from the beginning of the term.

The accident insurance is in addition to the legal liability insurance already in force.

Under its provisions the following yearly rates have been set: 25 cents for each public school pupil; 35 cents for each academic student at PCVS; and 50 cents for each vocational student. It is considered unlikely, however, that vocational students taking the commercial course will have to pay the full half dollar.

Trial Year

The Board of Education has decided to try the scheme for one year and see how it works.

It was emphasized that enrolment for insurance was a case of all or nothing at all: that is, if it is to be put into effect all children must be included under the policy held by the Board, and this requires contributions by parents.

Board members have stated they think parents will support it, appreciating the fact rates are cheap particularly in view of the protection afforded.

Maximum protection is $50. This sum would defray expenses such as doctor's bills, hospitalization and even the cost of an ambulance ($5).

For Injuries at School

To obtain this benefit the injured child must have been hurt while in school, on school grounds or even outside school property—for example at school games away from home, provided he is under supervision at the time.

Those injured outside school property to and from school would not be eligible.

While this is an innovation in Peterborough, it is not a new step so far as the province is concerned. Similar plans are in force at Belleville, Chatham, London, Ottawa and Stratford. And apparently they meet with the satisfaction of both the Board and the parents in these centres.

There is no question of legal liability involved. That is taken care of in a separate policy already held by the Board. The accident insurance policy is meant to look after the many small claims that inevitably arise every year at local schools, Board members point out.

For Minor Cases

In the past parents have often come to the Superintendent of Schools with a doctor's bill resulting from an injury to a pupil sustained while on school property. Sometimes this would be as a result of compulsory sports or gym training and the parents expected the Board to pay because of that fact.

Awkward situations occasionally arose when it was pointed out that the Board was, in many cases, not liable under the terms of the liability policy.

The new accident insurance policy would take care of these cases.

"But we must have the complete co-operation of the parents if it is to succeed." K. S. Wightman, Superintendent of Schools, told the Examiner.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SALARY AVERAGE $2,757

Ontario has 2,896 firemen receiving an average salary of $2,757, as reported at the Dominion Fire Chiefs' convention in Ottawa this week. There are also 8,000 voluntary fire fighters in the province.

COUNCIL MEETS TUESDAY

City Council resumes its schedule of meetings Tuesday at 7.30 p.m. Meetings during July and August were reduced to one meeting of the council each month, with the necessary committee sessions.

GETS APPOINTMENT

Carl B. Banks, assistant accountant at the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has been appointed accountant at the Goderich branch. He has been in Peterborough since September, 1945, and will leave shortly to take up his new duties.

LAKEFIELD FAIR SPECIALS

Dr. H. H. Hamilton and Dr. R. W. Ford are giving at Lakefield Fair seven five-dollar prizes for yearling calves exhibited by members of the 1948 Peterborough calf club. It is open to those boys and girls who exhibited their calves at the club's achievement day last October. The fair is Sept. 7.

GETS PROMOTION

Corporal Ralph Taylor, in charge of the Lindsay detachment of the Provincial Police for the past four years, has been promoted to the rank of inspector and transferred to the Criminal Investigation Branch of the force at headquarters, it was learned today. He will be succeeded by Constable William Milton, formerly of Belleville, who has been promoted to corporal.

FRACTURED HIP

An elderly visitor from Baltimore, Maryland, Mrs. Archibald Michael slipped and fell fracturing her hip Friday afternoon. She was taken to Civic Hospital where officials report her condition as good. Another elderly woman, Mrs. William Stalker, RR 4, Peterborough, was brought to Civic Hospital with a fractured left elbow Friday night. It is not known just how the accident occurred.

Traffic Heavy Out Of City For Labor Day

Indications are that passenger traffic in and out of Peterborough over the holiday weekend will be heavy. Railway lines report that no extra trains are running, and although they expect a heavy weekend, they are almost unable to predict its weight. One agent said "We never know what's going to happen until it's train time."

Bus lines report that traffic on Friday night and today has been heavy, with extra buses running on regular trips to accommodate the load. Friday was heavy with Toronto Exhibition patrons.

Bus lines emphasize that the people have four days, from Friday to Monday, to go away, and all want to come back at the same time, Monday night. This is an ordinary weekend problem intensified by the holiday, they say. Added to this are the people who are ending their summer holidays at the cottage and are bringing the children back for school opening Tuesday.

One or two trains thus far have been running late, but the delay has been almost negligible.

NEW FUNERAL HOME

Work begun this week under the direction of Chas. H. Huffman on the Comstock funeral home at the corner of Simcoe and Rubidge Streets may not be completed until February. Remodelling of the building will include a chapel and five slumber rooms.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

HOUSE No. 44—In this home the wide "V"-joint boards of cedar give a striking effect as their white-painted surfaces catch the afternoon sun. Immediately under the eaves is a dark, horizontal strip, which adds pleasing character to the whole facade with its sharp contrast in color. Notice that the front door is also dark. The roof and gable ends are of weathered cedar shingles. Since only one window in the main part of the house overlooks the side, such a design could have close neighbors. Most interesting room in the house is the big living room. There are splendid arrays of windows looking to both the front and back gardens, and of course there is the wide open fireplace centered on the long outside wall. The combination of the kitchen and dining nook arrangement is particularly well done. It is gratifying to see that no room in the house serves as a traffic lane. Many will be impressed with the tool room, and the covered entrance to the garage. Upstairs are two bedrooms, a bathroom, and a roomy storage area. Keep Cement On Hand For Repairs

Keep a small quantity of Portland cement on hand for household repairs. You will find it very easy to preserve if you keep it in a moisture-proof container such as a covered tin can or glass jar.

Cement is very handy in repairing cracks in concrete flooring or imperfect joints in the wall. Small repairs of this sort can usually be made by using cement alone, or preferably, by the use of cement mixed with one or two parts of sand.

As a specific example of such a repair, let's suppose that a narrow crack has developed in a concrete basement floor. First, chip away the concrete on both sides of the crack to the width of approximately ½-inch and a similar depth. Clean away carefully all the loose material. Next, saturate the concrete along the crack with water. Do this thoroughly so that the concrete will absorb as much water as possible.

Let Cement Dry Slowly

Now make a thin cream of water and cement and with a small, stiff brush apply it freely to the side of the channel which has been chiseled out. Mix a sufficient quantity of 1:2 mortar, adding to it only as much water as is necessary to handle it readily with a trowel. Fill the channel with this mortar completely. After the mortar has dried it is a good policy to keep the floor in the vicinity of the crack wet for a few days by covering it with wet sand or burlap, or by sprinkling it frequently. This will insure a good bond between the fresh mortar and the old, and proper hardening.

Add 10% Dehydrated Lime

Repairs of points in brick, tile, stone and concrete block walls can be made in a similar manner if you will add about 10% of dehydrated lime, based upon the weight of the cement. For such repairs, however, work out the old mortar and then follow the same procedure as was given previously. A similar mixture may be used for plastering a brick wall. Make sure the wall is thoroughly clean and saturated with water before applying the cement.

Repairing Other Cracks

Cement may be used in filling cracks in laundry tubs; holes where water and gas pipes enter the basement; furnace casing and fireplaces; joints and breaks in drain pipes; repairing breaks and cracks in concrete walks and steps; connecting smoke pipes to chimneys, and in patching stucco. Before repairing the last three items, however, keep in mind the fact that such cement patching is not always good looking, so unless the repairs are essential for the maintenance of the walk, steps or stucco, it is better not to make them than to have a plaster patch as a constant eyesore.

School Sets New Pattern

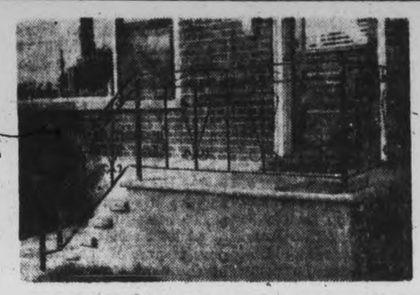
WINNIPEG, Sept. 3—(CP)—A technical-vocational school being built here may achieve fame on the North American continent as the "Winnipeg Plan," R. J. Johns, director of the school, said recently.

One of its distinguishing characteristics, said the director, is that "students will acquire marketable skills, useful knowledge and appropriate work attitudes, tempered with essential human culture. They will be working at crafts of their choice as well as academic studies, English, general science, social studies, mathematics, health and physical education."

The school's major aim, Mr. Johns said, is a balanced education for those who are not going on to university. He said too many young people leave high schools without any real idea of how to find the occupational life for which they are best suited by temperament and native talents.

"They graduate with the hope of finding a job—any job. The new school will provide half its time for technical-vocational training and half time for academic studies.

"Ten distinct families of crafts and occupations have been planned. They are electrical crafts, metal crafts, graphic arts, industrial arts, building crafts, office and distributive occupations, household and personal service occupations, woodworking, auto and power crafts, and needle crafts."



The school recently was approved by the citizens of Winnipeg in a $1,500,000 by-law. The federal government will contribute another $500,000 to the school.

Dry Weather Threatened Potato Crop, So Farmer Built An Irrigation System

By DAVE WHITE

When drought threatened his potato crop this year Hector Morton, 34-year-old owner of Hill View Farm, Cavan, did not sit idly by complaining of his misfortune.

Human ingenuity could more than make up for contrary weather, he felt, and to prove his point he purchased and installed irrigation equipment from the United States.

The upshot of this enterprise is that not only has he the first irrigation system of its kind in this part of Ontario, but also he is looking forward to harvesting about 1,000 bags of Sabago potatoes from the three-acre field.

So pleased is he with the result that he intends to expand the field to five acres and sell potatoes on a year-round basis. Unless a sudden frost upsets his plans he hopes to harvest the crop in from three to five weeks' time. These will remain on the market until next July, and by then the early potatoes will be ready.

Mr. Morton's farm, which he manages with the help of his 11-year-old son, Laverne, is situated on the hilly slopes of Cavan-Manvers boundary. The soil is sandy loam, considered excellent potato land but inclined to dryness as the moisture soon drains away.

Usually a handicap to good farming, the peculiar lay of the land proved a godsend in this instance; for all the ingenuity in the world would be to no avail if there were no nearby source of water.

No pumps are necessary to carry water to the potato field, because the source is a small stream that runs along a comparatively level stretch of land, higher than the field itself. The erection of a small dam and piping to convey the water were all that was required. Gravity would do the rest.

At a cost of about $850 he purchased 920 feet of three-inch aluminum pipe. It runs from the dam, built at the maximum altitude on the course of the spring-fed stream, to the high-point on the potato field.

By doing so a maximum flow of water (or maximum pressure) can be kept in the pipe. Other portable pipes in 20-foot couplings can be laid on a downgrade from the tap on the high-point of the field.

A canvas hose to allow flexibility when applying the water completes the equipment. The potatoes are irrigated in rows; the process being very much like garden-hose watering on a large scale.

Furrows, or drills as farmers call them, are banked up at both ends, and the water is poured in, as into so many individual troughs. To completely irrigate the three-acre field it takes about 30 hours of labor, Mr. Morton estimates.

To date he is delighted with the results.

"Yes, I expect to do it every year now," he said. "But it was the dry season this year that forced me into it. It seemed a shame with water going to waste about 300 yards from my potato patch."

In future years the necessity for such a means of supplying moisture to the plants may not be as pressing. But in the dry, sandy soil of his farm Mr. Morton says that irrigation is needed for at least a month—usually July—during any growing season.

At the moment the dam is a comparatively small one, although sufficient for current needs. It holds about five barrels of water at any one time. He estimates at least 30 acres of land on his 200-acre farm could be artificially watered from this one spring. And there are several such springs on his property.

This year's potatoes were planted the first week in June. The Cavan farmer realized something drastic had to be done to save his crop so he obtained the equipment and installed it in less than a month.

"I caught them in time," he told the Examiner. "And if we don't get a frost in the next three weeks we'll get a bumper crop," he added proudly.

Mr. Morton is not willing to state he has started a farming trend that will be quickly emulated among his farming neighbors. But he does know that the $850 was a worthwhile investment for him.

A cash outlay, some help from nature, a dash of pioneering initiative and a lot of hard work have combined to bring prospects of a lucrative business.

Lancer Drill By Youngsters Steals Show

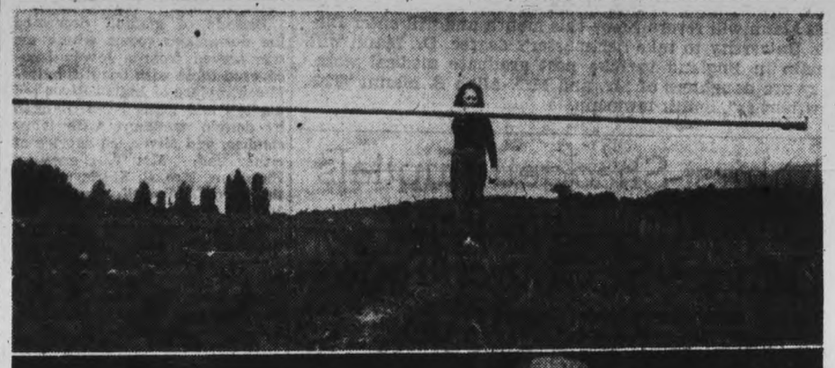
TORONTO, Sept. 3 — (CP).—Toronto's big fair, the multi-million dollar Canadian National Exhibition today passes its half-way mark with attendance records being topped by its varied fare of fun, entertainment, competitions and spectacles.

Already the million-mark in paid attendance has been well passed on the first seven days of the 14-day Exhibition at the 350-acre waterfront park on Lake Ontario. Officials announced another 173,000 paid their way through the gates Friday—featuring the men's 15-mile Marathon swim—to swell the over-all total to 1,284,500.

That means attendance is running 23,500 ahead of last year, when a 14-day attendance record of 2,612,000 was set.

For the holiday week-end, the Exhibition presents as varied a program as ever. To-day is the Manufacturers, Floral and Athletic Day. A track meet, speedboat racing, and other sports events follow up Friday's $12,900 men's 15-mile swim, won by 18-year-old Cliff Lumsden of Toronto. On Monday, the Labor Day accent is on trade unionism.

A group of Halifax youngsters—the Junior Bengal Lancers—Friday night won the hearts of most of the crowd of 3,500 at the horse show which will be formally opened to-night by Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson. Attired in scarlet tunics and white pith helmets, the youngsters, ranging in age from 7 to 14, put their horses through a drill that seemed as complicated as the RCMP's famous musical ride.



The Fraser name again dominated dairy cattle competitions yesterday. J. M. Fraser of Streetsville, Ont., and his brother Dixon combined to win most major championships in Holstein classes while Jack Fraser of Concord, Ont., took the premier exhibitor's award among other Guernsey titles. His animals took 13 firsts in 25 classes.

Harold James of Sarnia broke the Frasers' near-monopoly in Holsteins when he took the female grand championship with Lady Rag Apple Ann. The grand champion Guernsey bull was Pinecroft Rosalie's Holliston, shown by H. V. Howell of Welland.

Among Ayrshires, Glengarry Wee Margie owned by Stansell Brothers of Aylmer, was judged the grand champion female. The grand champion Jersey female was Brampton Crowning Vesla, owned by J. A. Northey of Todmorden, Ont.

AN INNOVATION IN THIS PART OF ONTARIO is the irrigation system constructed by Hector Morton on his 200-acre farm in Cavan. Gravity-fed from a nearby spring the system brings moisture to three acres of potatoes. Top (left) shows Mr. Morton examining a coupling of the imported aluminum pipe which comes in 20-foot lengths. Additional lengths may be added as needed. One of the advantages of this piping is its lightness, demonstrated by young daughter Joan (centre). In the top photo (right) the enterprising Cavan grower is assembling the water line preparatory to irrigating his potato plants from which he hopes to get 1,000 bags. Source of the water supply is the dammed-up spring which provides an ample flow for the three-inch pipe. Mr. Morton (bottom) is looking over his water supply that changed parched, sandy farm land into productive soil.—(Parks' Studio Photos.)

Canadians Pay Tribute To Ian Mackenzie

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 3 (CP).—Canadians from all walks of life joined with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent Friday in paying tribute to the memory of Senator Ian Mackenzie of British Columbia, who died here early Friday from a heart attack.

The Prime Minister, who arrived here only a few hours before Senator Mackenzie's death, said: "I have been very sorry to learn of the sudden death of the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie."

"Senator Mackenzie was a senior colleague in the government when I joined the Mackenzie King administration in 1941 and I recall with gratitude his many courtesies and kindness in the days when I was new to public life.

"The memory of Ian Mackenzie will long be cherished by the hundreds of thousands of veterans whose welfare was his first concern until he was obliged by failing health to retire from the administration.

Leaves a Gap

"His death will leave a large gap in the Upper House of Parliament and in the Liberal Party to whose interests he was so deeply devoted."

Stanley H. McCuaig of Edmonton, president of the Canadian Bar Association, said it was "with profound regret that members of the CBA and their distinguished guests assembled in annual meeting at Banff learned this morning of the death of Senator Ian Mackenzie.

"He was a lawyer of note, a gracious gentleman, a gallant soldier in the First World War, and a statesman whose long record of devoted service to this country will be remembered by his fellow-citizens.

"To Mrs. Mackenzie the heartfelt sympathy of all the members of the Bench and Bar of Canada goes out in full measure."

Cavan News

Mrs. M. Perrin, Millbrook, has returned home after spending a few days with Mrs. H. Keegan.

The W.A. of Cavan United Church held their August meeting Friday afternoon in the Sunday School room. The president, Mrs. W. Armitage, presided.

Mrs. W. Armitage entertained at a trousseau tea on Wednesday afternoon in honor of her daughter Wilda, whose marriage to Alton Madill takes place on Sept. 14. Mrs. Mary Richards assisted in showing the many gifts on display.

Mrs. Cameron Vance and children Rosemary and Bryan, who have spent the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sharpe, have returned to London to join Mr. Vance, who is attending the University of Western Ontario.

Favorite Plays Returning To Broadway

By FRED KERNER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (CP). — Affectionate re-unions shone like sentimental lights over Broadway "First Nights" last week, with the return of two of the Rialto's favorite plays, "Anne of the Thousand Days" and "The Madwoman of Caillot." Each had been closed for eight weeks.

Rex Harrison came back to his role of Henry VIII in "Anne" after touring with his wife, Lili Palmer, through Britain, France and Italy. He intends to stay with the play until about the end of the year and then has a film commitment in Italy with his wife.

Joyce Redman, "Anne" title-role player toured Ireland; the stars of "The Madwoman"—Martita Hunt, John Carradine, Estelle Winwood, and Nydia Westman—all did some "off Broadway" scouting while on holiday.

Joy for Judy

Judith Evelyn who hit New York after Dominion Drama Festival laurels in the late '30s, is winning plaudits for herself all through the United States for her outstanding work in "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Her touring role in the exacting part of neurotic Blanche Dubois, isn't Miss Evelyn's first experience trouping in a prize play across the continent. In 1946 she toured in the Pulitzer Prize-winner ::State of the Union" and one year later she starred in a revival of another Pulitzer winner "Craig's Wife."

Meanwhile the unrestrained cheers that drama critics have given Judith in the Mid-west and on the Coast have resulted in three bids from movie studios

Miss Evelyn, however, currently is reading several scripts for potential Broadway appearances, and seems to be riding on her oft-given opinion that "there is plenty of time for movies."

Movie Column

Film Bosses Want Brains With Beauty

By FLORIA YARBROUGH

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3 (AP)—Gone, apparently, are the days when movie queens were picked from the ranks of hashslingers and beauty contest winners. Stars of the future will have to be intelligent as well as beautiful—or so say the bosses at one Hollywood studio.

Six lovely young things with college sheepskins neatly filed away in their memory books have arrived at Universal-International, to be launched upon cinema careers. Thus have talent scouts gone intellectual.

Even so, the studio has decreed that all starlets shall pose for cheesecake during the first five years of their contracts (if they last that long). Brainy women must have sex appeal too.

FOUR DRAMA STUDENTS

Four of the six studied drama at college, but only one was really preparing for an acting career.

"I took drama simply because I liked it better than any other subject," said Peggie Castle, from Mills College. Peggie is a blonde, with blue eyes.

Dark-haired Ann Pearce, a graduate of the University of Southern California, was a pre-medical student until she switched to drama in her senior year.

Dorothy Hart, the gal who had the acting career in mind all the time, went through Western Reserve in 2½ years, "so that I wouldn't be an old lady by the time I got on Broadway."

They Teach You

Peggy Dow, another blonde, hi a degree from Northwestern. Said Peggy, "Whether you can sing or dance doesn't make any difference at the studio. They'll teach you. I told them I couldn't; but I wound up doing both."

Helena Carter, a green-eyed redhead from Columbia University, has been taking diction lessons for a year to polish off a British accent.

Donna Martel, came off the campus of Los Angeles City College, and wants to make films abroad and be a mother.

Has Narrow Escape

PERTH, Sept. 3 (CP)—Albert Jefferey of Kitchener, escaped with only a few scratches Friday when the 10-ton tractor-trailer he was driving crashed into a 12-foot ditch on No. 7 highway near here. The truck, owned by the Battlers Cartage Company of Kitchener, was carrying 25 cases of ale when the steering gear locked, sending it off the road. It travelled 75 yards in the ditch, rolled over twice and landed four feet from the main line C.P.R. railway tracks. Jefferey crawled out.

14,000 British Troops Camp On Border of Troubled China

By WILLIAM PARROTT

HONG KONG, Sept. 3—(CP)—Britain's rapidly expanding Hong Kong garrison, now unofficially estimated at more than 14,000, is settling down to its unpredicable role of being prepared for whatever comes.

The high morale among men of several regiments was the most impressive feature noticed during a tour of camps along the New Territories frontier with China.

This was the more remarkable considering the bad conditions in uncompleted camps exposed to the torrential downpours of Hong Kong's rainy season.

One officer of the Third Royal Tank Regiment said: "I have never seen troops live under more difficult conditions, even in France and Germany during the war, than have my men during this first week on the frontier."

But he admitted that conditions were fast improving. And his men said they were happy although they are temporarily crowded in hastily roofed barracks that were started but uncompleted when the Japanese overran the frontier in 1941.

While they said that their rations were not quite as good as in England, there seemed nothing wrong with the midday menu they were preparing. It consisted of steak, eggs, onions and chips, followed by banana trifle and tea.

A company of Royal Leicesters, within a few hundred yards of the frontier, were described by their commander as "having the time of their lives."

Tents Flood Daily

They occupy an uncompleted camp on a hillside and almost daily during the present wet season torrents of water come flooding through their tents.

The air is hot and steamy but the men cool off in a small reservoir converted into a swimming bath.

Like other men under canvas, they are on the alert against typhoons. At a warning, they have instructions to strike their tents, take 24 hours' supply of rations, and move to shelter in the restricted space of a few small brick buildings.

All troops along the rugged frontier are in a curfew area where unauthorized movement is prohibited at night.

Civil police still control the area but their fairly frequent clashes with the Chinese bandits have thus far not involved the troops.

Nevertheless, the army is on guard — just in case. Men go to sleep with their rifles locked to their wrists and even in the daytime they may not move about the countryside alone. The danger is not so much injury as theft, for the Chinese bandits will go to great lengths to acquire arms.

Such precautions are regarded as excellent training for possibly much more serious trouble in the future.

Ladies' Guild Planning Sale

WARKWORTH, Sept. 3 (ENS)—The Guild of St. John's Anglican Church met at the home of Mrs. Marvin Bailey. The president, Mrs. Meneilley presided.

As Mrs. Baiyey is returning to her native England in September for a three months' visit the ladies presented her with travelling gifts.

Mrs. Donald Hoar of Campbellford invited the Guild to her home for the September meeting and Mrs. Roy Shea will be hostess for the October meeting.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. F. Meneilley served lunch.

Garage Owner Says Sunday Law Silly

TORONTO, Sept. 3 — (CP) — Ralph Hutchison, owner of the garage whose three employees were fined in court a total of $27 for painting a car on Sunday, said today "the Lord's Day Act is silly."

"What do we do for a tourist who needs car repairs and is passing through town on Sunday?" he asked.

"Toronto, which wants their business, has to say 'sorry, Mac, we can't do a thing for you.' That's silly."

John Comartin, one of the workmen, said if told to do so he would again work on Sunday, in defiance of the Lord's Day Act.

Should Check Roads

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP)—Officials of the Ontario Department of Highways Friday advised motorists to check their route before starting out on a weekend or holiday trip as construction and paving work is being carried out on 35 highways throughout the province. Most of the work is concentrated on highways in Northern Ontario.

Make Fish Survey

GORE BAY, Sept. 3 (CP)—Officials of the fish and wildlife division of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests are surveying the Manitoulin Island lakes with a view to making recommendations for restocking with fish. R. E. Whitfield of North Bay, department biologist, is conducting the survey which consists of depth soundings, taking temperatures and locating shoals and natural spawning beds.

Jet Plane Crashes

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—An experimental jet plane crashed in flames in suburban Amherst Friday. The test pilot was killed and wreckage was scattered over a plowed field. The plane, identified as a Lockheed F-80 Shooting Star, crashed about 15 minutes after it had taken off from the Niagara Falls airport.

Elmhirst-Shadgett Nuptials Double Ring Ceremony In Murray St. Church Today

Vows and rings were exchanged by Miss Jean Mirrion Shadgett and Mr. Percival Wallace Elmhirst in a lovely wedding ceremony solemnized by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan at Murray St. Baptist Church today. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Shadgett, Walnut Street, and the groom the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Elmhirst of Indian River.

Tall standards and baskets filled with beautiful gladioli formed the altar setting. Mr. Stanley Northrop was at the organ and Mrs. M. Shadgett, aunt of the bride, was soloist. Before the wedding she sang "I Love You Truly" and during the signing of the register "Because."

The bride wore an original gown of ivory slipper satin which had a long graceful train panelled with Chantilly lace. Yoke of the fitted torso-length bodice was also of Chantilly lace, fastened at the back with satin covered buttons and the sheath-tight sleeves of satin came to lily points over her hands. The skirt was full with a peplum front. Her veil of ivory tulle illusion was made in three tiers and fell to train length, held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of Indian River red gladioli and ivory roses.

Mr. Shadgett gave his daughter in marriage, and she was attended by Miss Marian Deyell as maid of honor, her cousin Miss Lois Hutchinson, and Miss Audrey Gadd of Cobourg as bridesmaids. Also her cousins Sharon and Brenda Hutchinson as junior bridesmaids.

Miss Deyell's gown was of pale yellow silk crepe, styled with off-shoulder bertha neckline on the fitted bodice, with tiny buttons to the waist at front, and a very full skirt. The bridesmaids wore similar gowns of pale aqua silk. Each of the senior attendants wore a half hat of shirred crepe to match her dress, trimmed at one side with gladioli petals. The small girls were dressed alike in dusty rose silk crepe made in bouffant style with off-shoulder neckline edged with tiny ruffles, buttoned to the waist at back and finished with dainty bows, and they wore halos of tiny flwers in their hair. Each attendant carried a cascade of pastel shaded gladioli, and wore matching mittens.

The groom was attended by his cousin Mr. Richard Elmhirst. Donald Shadgett, brother of the bride, and Gavin Shearer were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Shadgett chose a gown of claret silk crepe and lace and grey felt hat with claret trim. Mrs. Elmhirst wore gown of navy tissue faille with taffeta trim, navy accessories and mink furs, and each wore a corsage of pastel gladioli.

After the reception which was held at the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club the bride and groom left by motor on a honeymoon trip. The bride was wearing a suit of tomato red gabardine, navy and white accessories, and corsage of white gladioli and she carried a navy gabardine topcoat.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmhirst will live at Indian River.

Bowser-Griffin Nuptials Held At All Saints

All Saints Anglican Church was decorated with baskets of gladioli as setting for the wedding today of Miss Ellen Geraldine Griffin to Mr. Alfred M. Bowser. The bride is the daughter of Mr. F. C. Griffin, 733 Water St., and the groom a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bowser of New Brunswick.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite. Mrs. A. Logan played the wedding music and accompanied Mr. Robert Tamblyn, soloist. Before the ceremony he sang "Through the years" and at the signing of the register, "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in traditional white satin, made on princess lines with the skirt extending in a slight train at the back, beneath a bustle bow. Her embroidered veil fell to train length from a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and gypsophilia.

Miss Dorothy Mills was her only attendant and she was frocked in green brocade made over hoops, which were marked with lace trim. The high neckline was outlined with a fold of material, caught with pearls. She wore a shoulder veil in matching green, caught to her head with yellow daisies and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Ken Bowser of Bancroft and the ushers were Thomas Griffin and Jack Graham.

A reception was held at Hooper's Palm Room. The bride's stepmother received with the bridal party, gowned in navy taffeta with which she wore wine accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. W. A. Graham, Sophia St., who wore a wine crepe gown, navy accessories and a corsage of yellow gladioli.

For travelling the bride choose a grey wool suit, hat of black velvet and black accessories, and wore a corsage of red roses. On return from a wedding trip to Toronto, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls, the couple will reside at 358 Dublin St.

Scott-Murphy Wedding In Carmel United Church

Hydrangea arch banked with white gladioli, ferns and delphinium formed the setting in Carmel United Church, Stony Lake, on Wednesday afternoon for the marriage of Ruth Eva, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Murphy to James Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Crawford of Smith township.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. H. Unstead of Warsaw. Mrs. Russel Puffer played the wedding music, and Miss Jean Millar sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered the church, and "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a gown of white slipper satin inserted with lace. It was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and self covered buttons down the back to the waist, with long tight-fitting sleeves coming to points over the hands. She wore a train length veil of white embroidered net caught with velvet flowers, and carried a cascade of red roses and white gladioli.

Mrs. Stanley Hart was matron of honor, and Miss Isobel Millar was bridesmaid. They were similarly dressed in taffeta frocks with off-sholder necklines and full skirts, with maching pleated bonnets and mittens in pretty shades of maize and lime green. Each carried a cascade of gladioli. The tiny flower girl, Joan Crawford, niece of the groom, wore lemon taffeta with matching bandeau and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Mr. Donald Holmes was groomsman, and the ushers were Stanley Hart and Charles Crawford, brother of the groom.

The reception was held at Irwin's Inn, where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a forest green crepe dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow and white gladioli. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a navy suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

For travelling to points west the bride chose a chocolate brown gabardine suit, with green accessories and a corsage of gladioli. On their return they will live near Lakefield.

Bride's Mother Gives Trousseau Tea

Mrs. K. Shadgett, 577 Walnut St., entertained at a delightful trousseau tea for her daughter, Miss Jean Shadgett in honour of her marriage to Mr. Percy W. Elmhirst, which took place today.

Mrs. C. B. Elmhirst of Indian River, stepmother of the groom, received with the hostess and bride-elect. The bridal attendants were in charge of the trousseau. Miss Marian Deyell showed the wedding gifts and Miss Lois Hutchinson and Miss Audrey Gadd of Cobourg the trousseau.

Baskets of gladioli decorated the downstairs rooms where tea was served from a lovely lace-covered table with beautiful floral centrepiece of Indian River red gladioli and white roses, flanked by double candlebra with ivory candles, and silver tea service at either end. Mrs T. Clancy of Hamilton, Mrs. C. Stark, aunt of the groom, Mrs. W. Parkes and Mrs. O. Sugden poured the tea.

Tea room assistants were Mrs. Stewart Fife and Mrs. Robert Garvey, sisters of the groom, Mrs. M. Shadgett, Mrs. W. Butcher, Misses June Hutchinson, Margery Shadgett and Madoline Manley.

Waive The Rules Grant Certificate

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 3—(CP)—Civic officials issue "honeymoon certificates" only to newlyweds visiting Niagara Falls but they waived the rules for Mr. and Mrs. J. E. C. Hoffman.

The couple from Fairhaven, N.J., applying for a certificate, explained they had been married a year. But Mr. Hoffman gave extenuating circumstances.

He had married his wife in a hospital-bed ceremony. She had been injured in a traffic accident and was not expected to live. But, more than anything, he said, the thought of going to Niagara Falls on her honeymoon pulled her through. She left the hospital on crutches last June and finally recovered enough to make the trip.

Elsie Coates Wed In All Saints

All Saints Anglican Church was the setting for a quiet wedding on Saturday afternoon, when Elsie Coates became the bride of Albert Peck. The Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite officiated and the wedding music was played by Mrs. W. H. Logan.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. V. R. Jackson. She wore a gown of hyacinth blue, styled with dorian panel, and a high neckline trimmed with silver and pearl beads. Her headdress was of blue noiri silk, with white flowers, and she wore a corsage of white gardenias. The only attendant was Mrs. V. R. Jackson, sister of the bride, who wore a light grey rayon gown, with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groomsman was Mr. R. R. Payne.

The wedding reception was held at the home of Mrs. V. R. Jackson, who received the guests, assisted by the groom's sister, Mrs. C. Dickenson of Chatham, Mrs. Dickenson wore a navy blue gown, with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

For a wedding trip to Cornwall and Ottawa, the bride wore an ensemble of wine and navy.

800 Women Pick On Fruit Farms

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 3—(CP)—An army of 800 women this week is bringing millions of dollars into the Niagara Peninsula—and adding a few to their own domestic budget.

They are the housewives and school girls engaged in processing the bumper fruit crop in district canneries.

Payment for the work runs from a high of $10 a day to a low of 50 cents an hour.

Besides the women, there are 100 men engaged in getting the crop in and after Monday many more will be required to replace students returning to their schools.

Baker-Turnbull

WARKWORTH, Sept. 3 (ENS)—Parkdale United Church, Ottawa, was the setting for a double-ring ceremony on Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock, when Miss Lorne Merriam Turnbull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Turnbull, became the bride of Cameron Ray Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace B. Baker of Warkworth. Rev. Norman Coll officiated.

Pink gladioli decorated the church. Mrs. Albert Smith played the wedding music and Miss Mary Casselman was soloist.

Given in mariage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Phyllis Conley as maid-of-honor and Miss Dorothy Anderson as bridesmaid.

Elmer Laver of Warkworth was best man and the ushers were Gerald Turnbull, brother of the bride, and Howard Evans of Warkworth.

The bride wore a gown of white taffeta murmure, styled with a fitted bodice, a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves coming to points over the hands and a full gathered skirt. A beaded coronet held her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion in place, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt. The couple later left on a motor trip through western Ontario. For travelling the bride wore a light brown gabardine suit with brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of Pinnochio roses. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Baker will reside in Ottawa.

Social Situations

SITUATION: A divorced woman wonders if it is correct for her to wear her wedding and engagement rings

WRONG WAY: She decides it would be incorrect for her to do so.

RIGHT WAY: She wears them, if she wishes.

◇ ◇ ◇

SITUATION: You are smoking a cigarette in a public room with a carpeted floor

WRONG WAY: Flick the ashes carelessly, without bothering to reach for an ash tray

RIGHT WAY: Be as considerate in your smoking habits when you are in a public room as when you are in a private living room.

6—In Memoriams

BARRIE—In loving memory of a dear only daughter and sister, Margaret Lorraine Barrie, who passed away Sept. 4th, 1948.
No morning dawns, no night returns,
But that we think of you
God has you in His keeping
We have you in our hearts.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Mother, Dad and Brother Lee.

MacDONALD—In loving memory of William MacDonald, who passed away two years ago, Sept. 5, 1947.
Beautiful memories cherished forever
Of happy hours we spent together
A silent thought brings many a tear
For the brother I miss and loved so dear.
Your love and presence is with me yet
You were the kind of a brother that I will never forget.
—Ever remembered by his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Collinson.

WHITNALL—In loving memory of my dear husband, Philip, who passed away three years ago, Sept. 4th, 1946
While you, dear husband, rest and sleep,
Your loving memory we'll aways keep.
—Remembered by his loving wife, son and daughter-in-law.

7—Cards of Thanks

Mr. R. H. Johnston and family wish to thank their kind friends and neighbors, attending doctor, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Reddick, Rev. E. W. Rowland, for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy extended to them during the lengthy illness and bereavement of a loving wife and mother.

DOROTHY DIX

Propinquity Matchmaking Requires Many Safeguards

A study that has recently been made of 5,000 marriage licenses reveals that by far the largest percentage of applications were neighbors or near-neighbors.

Thus do we have it proved to us once more that propinquity is the greatest matchmaker in the world and that all you have to do is to throw the average boy and girl together and they will fall in love with each other. Or think they are in love, which amounts to the same thing, matrimonially speaking.

Dorothy Dix

The power of daily association, of habit, is so potent in drawing people together that I often wonder that parents ever permit a boy or girl to come into their homes whom they would not be willing for their son or daughter to marry. Yet they do, and the results are innumerable tragedies of marriages that never would have taken place except that two inflammable young creatures were brought into daily contact at a time of life when they were in love with love.

How many cases of the kind we all recall. The A.'s, who took into their home a handsome and fascinating young nephew addicted to drink and then were so horrified and amazed when Mamie insisted on throwing herself away on a drunkard. The B.'s, who always took a poetical, temperamental lad who had never even earned his own cigarette money, with them to their summer camp and who were so shocked with Betty's eloping with the ne'er-do-well. The C.'s, who used to let Cousin Sally send her silly, frivolous, brainless, selfish and extravagant little flapper daughter down to spend interminable visits with them and who were broken-hearted when their fine son tied himself up with her for life. The D.'s, who had fits when their talented boy, for whom they were so ambitious, got kidnapped by one of Mamma's friends, who persuaded him that years did not count and that her soul was really as young as his.

When these catastrophic marriages occurr, the bewildered parents always exclaim that they never thought of such a thing. It never occurred to them that Mamie and Betty and John and Tom would have dreamed of making such unsuitable matches. Neither would it have occurred to Mamie and Betty and John and Tom if they had had only casual acquaintances with the drunkard and the gigolo and the parasite and the cradle-snatcher, but when they were thrown together day after day under the same roof propinquity got in its deadly work and drove the ill-matched pair to the altar.

As a matter of fact, we seldom see beauty in strangers, nor do we observe the homeliness of those with whom we are associated with every day. Those who are spellbinders to us are those who know the things we know and with whom we have a thousand topics of interest in common.

Therefore, it is not surprising that so many men and women marry for no other reason than that they are thrown together and are well acquainted with each other. Women realize the value of propinquity, even if men do not, and that is why such hordes of girls who have not the need to earn money have invaded the business world. It is because every office is a happy hunting ground for husbands. Virtually any woman can marry any man whose secretary she happens to be or whose desk is next to her, if she wants him.

In the main these marriages of neighbors are a good thing, since nothing makes for domestic peace and tranquility as does a husband and wife having been brought up in the same environment and having the same tastes and habits and points of view. Certainly many a breakfast table has been a perpetual battleground over the strength of the coffee and whether cereals wer propr food for a human being or were intended as nourishment for dumb brutes.

Undoubtedly it makes for the solidarity of the family for the husband and wife to hold the same political views, to belong to the same church, to have been brought up to worship the same heroes, to have the same antipathies and to like the same kind of pie. This reduces friction to a minimum and removes most of the bones of contention from the fireside.

It takes more love, more patience, more wisdom, more diplomacy and self-control than most men and women possess to enable them to adjust themselves to wives and husbands who have been brought up with different gods, different ideals, different manners and customs, so it is a very sure instinct of self-preservation that makes so many lads and lassies marry the girl next door or the boy who used to pack their books to school.

And if any object that this makes marriage a cut-and-dried affair and robs it of the element of surprise, let them be comforted by the knowledge that no man and woman ever knows the other until after they are married. You can know a man or woman from the day you made mud pies in the kindergarten until you are united in the holy bonds of matrimony and then find you are married to a perfect stranger whose middle name you do not even know.

Friends Honor Councillor, Bride-to-Be

FRASERVILLE, Sept. 3 (ENS) —About 200 people gathered at the Fraserville Orange Hall on Tuesday evening to honor Roy Bothwell and his bride-to-be, Miss Marion Whitfield, prior to their wedding which takes place in Knox United Church, Peterborough, on Saturday, Sept. 3.

Harry Campbell, reeve of South Monaghan Township council, of which the groom is a member, was chairman.

Mr. Campbell spoke highly of Councillor Bothwell and welcomed his bride-to-be to South Monaghan. She is formerly of North Monaghan.

Mrs Lawrence Winslow sang a solo accompanied by Mr. Winslow.

Mrs. Lockey gave a humorous reading. Miss Mabel Darling gave two readings. Earl Lockey accompanied by Mrs. L. L. McClenaghan, sang a solo. James Roddy of Bailieboro and Roy Finlay were called on by Mr Campbell for a few words and spoke highly of the guests of honor.

Gift Presented

Mr. Campbell next asked the honored guests to occupy seats on the platform together with the committee in charge. Norman Willan, Jack Darling, Jack Lewis, Willis Cunningham and Charlie Barnard. Jack Darling read a fitting address and on behalf of their many friends the popular young couple were presented with a velour chesterfield suite.

Mr. Bothwell voiced his appreciation and thanks to all present, on behalf of himself and his bride-to-be and extended an invitation to all to visit them in their home, when they return from their honeymoon trip.

Dancing Enjoyed

Lunch was served after which dancing was enjoyed to music supplied by R. Atchison and W. Kinsman on the violins and Lawrence Winslow at the piano. Russell Darling and L. Hewitt were floor managers.

Friends were present from Toronto, Peterborough, Millbrook, Garden Hill, North Monaghan, South Monaghan and Cavan.

Hamilton Gets OLA Win Against Petes

By the Canadian Press.

The Peterborough Lumberjacks were pushed to within a game of elimination from the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior playoffs last night when Hamilton Tigers defeated them 18-11.

It was Tigers' third successive victory in the best-of-seven preliminary series.

In other playoff games, Mimico-Mountaineers defeated Owen Sound 15-6, to take a 2-0 series lead, and Brampton Excelsiors came through with a 9-8 victory in overtime over St. Catharines Athletics. Brampton now lead that series 2-1.

Tigers' victory may have been costly. Ace forward Blain McDonald left the game in the third quarter with a shoulder separation that may keep him out of action for some time.

Led the Way

Jack Isaacs and Love paced Hamilton with three goals each. Leo Teatro was the top Peterborough marksman, scoring four and collecting two assists.

Scoop Hayes was top Mimico marksman with four goals and Jack Williams scored three and assisted on three. For Owen Sound, Ross Slater scored twice, and Arnold Smith, Marlow Woods, Jack Mason and Douglas Gillespie each netted one.

In the St. Catharines contest, slim Archy Browning scored the pay-off goal for Brampton, picking a top-corner on a pass from Harvey Madgett.

Graham led Brampton scorers with two goals and an assist. Singletons were counted by Garbutt, Raine, Steele, Bryans, Sheppard and Madgett. Croft and Fitzgerald each potted a pair for St Catharines. Smith and Wipper had one each.

Small-Mouth Bass Betters Eight Pounds

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 3—(CP).—"Old Black Joe," tabled King of the small-mouth black bass in Algonquin Provincial Park, fell victim on Friday to one of the lures he managed to evade for years.

Landed by E. D. Riley of Rockport, NY, at Rock Lake, the wily monster weighed 8 pounds 6 ounces.

Caught after a 25-minute battle the finny wonder measured 22½ inches in length and 18¾ inches in girth.

The fish was landed with an 8-pound test nylon line, with a piece of crabmeat as bait. It tired after a 20-minute fight plunged 20 feet and remained for about 3 minutes in a cluster of rocks. It was landed without a gaff.

Riley, a tavernkeeper at Lockport, said he intends to mount "Old Black Joe."

The world record for small-mouth black bass is listed in the world almanac at 14 pounds. Caught by Walter Harden of Oakland, Fla., February 9, 1932, this fish was 28 inches in girth and 21¼ inches in length.

Frederick John Bailes Dies In Oshawa

OSHAWA, Sept. 3 (CP) — Frederick John Bailes, 67, died in hospital here Friday after a long illness.

Mr. Bailes formerly was in the hardware business at Sault Ste Marie and Cobalt, and was also active in the early developments of the mining industry in northern Ontario.

He is survived by his widow the former Ethel B. Hawkey; two daughters, Mrs. C. H. Davidson of Campbellford, Ont., and Mrs. Charles Cawker of Belleville; a son Donald of Toronto; a sister, Mrs. J. J. Mahoney of Colorado Springs, Col.; and a brother, Charles, of Oshawa.

Funeral services will be held Monday.

To Meet In Kingston

WINNIPEG, Sept. 3—(CP)—The National Executive of the Canadian Postal Employees' Association decided here Thursday night that the next triennial convention of the association, which falls in 1950, will be held in Kingston Oct. 25-27. An executive report said 106 branches would be represented with Canada's new province of Newfoundland sending delegates.

Flood Threat Ends

TOKYO, Sept. 3.—(AP).—The flood threat to Tokyo subsided Friday as national police placed the casualty toll from Wednesday's typhoon at 123 dead, 51 missing and 419 injured. Government officials said rivers north of Tokyo have dropped.

Tonight, 7.30 p.m.—Family Hour mixed rink tournament.

Labor Day (Monday), 1.30 p.m. —Mixed rink tournament. Draw from the board. Fee 50c.

Tuesday evening—Group Nos. 1 and 2 play postponed game of Aug. 11.

Tuesday and Thursday evenings the ladies continue their "individual score" competition, 7.30 o'clock each night.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the ladies are holding a tournament. All lady bowlers invited—it's going to be "on the house."

The men's doubles, choose your partner tournament went over in a big way last night. In fact it was the biggest and most popular Friday tournament this season. Apparently that's what the boys want. Don't be surprised if the tournament should be repeated next Friday evening—it has been suggested, and if it should happen, we're guessing that all three greens will be needed to accommodate the entry. Could be!

We'll have the winners for Tuesday's paper.

Grant & Loucks Win

A three-run drive in the sixth gave Grant and Loucks a 6-3 win over Bus Drivers last night at Armour Field to open their best-of-three Civic Softball League semi-finals. Riches threw three-hit ball and fanned 10 while Strickland allowed seven hits and whiffed eight in a good hurling duel. None of the losers got more than one safety. They got their three runs in the sixth, as the victors scored one each in the second, third and fifth, with three in the sixth. Teams:

Bus Drivers: Jamieson, ss; Gordon, cf; Parnell, 2b; Strickland, p; Simmons, c; Brown, lf; O'Dette, 1b; Gray, 3b; Clarke, rf.

Grant and Loucks: Dracup, 3b; Craig, c; Riches, p; Byers, ss; Russelle, 1b; Chenier, 2b; Gauthier, lf; Doucette, rf; Little, cf.

MARKET ASTERS

Asters were challenging gladioli for the favor of the flower loving public on the market this morning. In fact they were gently elbowing the potatoes and tomatoes into the background.

Truck Driver Cliff Lumsden Wins CNE Swim

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP)—Cliff Lumsden, 18-year-old Toronto truck driver, today is $6,300 richer for nearly eight hours in numbing 60-degree Lake Ontario.

The chunky blonde swimmer picked up a cheque for that amount from the Canadian National Exhibition officials after winning the exhibition's 15-mile marathon swim for the world's title.

The course inside the breakwater at the waterfront exhibition park was so tough only three finished of the 43 who hit the water, even though there was prize money totalling $12,900 for the first 10 home. A total of 47 had entered but some didn't even go into the water.

Lumsden covered the 15 miles in seven hours, 54 minutes and 55.6 seconds, beating the veteran Ben Gazel of Toronto by two-thirds of a mile. Third place was taken by William Sadlow, Jr., of Whitestone, N.Y., who proved that perseverance pays off.

Perseverance Pays

Sadlow, at 47 the oldest man in the race, finished in darkness an hour and 15 minutes after Lumsden completed the course. The veteran who has entered every CNE marathon swim but one since 1927 was still flailing along with three miles to go when Lumsden arrived at the finish line.

As Sadlow started the last hard mile, CNE officials offered him $750 instead of the third prize of $1,000 if he would give up. He refused and kept plodding along.

Other swimmers showed less stamina. Gianni Gambi of Ravenna, Italy, who flew all the way from Rome and arrived shortly before the start, lasted less than two miles before he was too numbed to continue.

Steve Wozniak of Buffalo, N.Y., the defending champion, gave up with a cramp in his leg after swimming a half-mile. One starter put his toe in the water and decided it was too cold.

Lumsden built up his prize money by taking the first place purse of $5,500 and leading all the way to win the $750 given to the leader at the end of each one-mile lap. He also won $50 for the fastest lap.

Youngest in Race

The youngest man ever to enter the race, he clipped off a smooth 72 strokes per minute in the early stages, then cut it down to a steady 65 to protect his lead.

Gazel, 1947 winner and second last year, won $2,750 for second place. Sadlow's third-place money was $1,000.

Although the rules called for swimmers to finish to win prize money, officials decided to distribute $850 among six others—four Americans and two Torontonians—who went the longest distances before giving up.

The remaining $2,000 in the pot was put up for a consolation three-mile race for non-finishers to be held next Tuesday.

FLORAL NOTE

To transpose a biblical line, when the salvia is in bloom you know that autumn is nigh. It is one of the bright colors of September. These garden annuals seem to be on fire as summer ends.

South Borneo Trouble Spot For Indonesia

By CHRIS SCHEFFER

BANDJERMASIN, South Borneo, Sept. 3—(AP)—The Indonesians' latest trouble spot since the Dutch Republicans ordered their armies to cease hostilities is no longer Java or Sumatra, but the rich rubber and rice country of South Borneo.

A long chain of incidents in South Borneo has culminated in a general strike by the population. It has brought the economic life of the town of Bandjermasin to a standstill.

Ships at the Bandjermasin docks are unloaded by prisoners from the town's jail. All government offices are closed. Even the big trading companies and banks, mainly worked by the Chinese, are closed. Only hospitals, schools and the electric company are operating.

December Incidents

The incidents started last December when a former school teacher, Hasan Basri, proclaimed a general insurrection against the Dutch here, where 1,000,000 of Dutch Borneo's 2,500,000 are living.

Arson, looting, kidnappings and killings have been reported but knowledge of them has not spread much outside the isolated area.

There have been reports of the disappearance of three well-known Indonesians, one of them the head of Aerah Banjer, as Southern Borneo is called. More civil servants disappeared, including about 50 police.

The situation is reported to be embarrassing to Premier Hatta's Republican government which is now taking part in peace talks with the Dutch in the Netherlands, for it is already agreed with the Dutch and the non-Republicans that Borneo be a separate state in the coming United States of Indonesia.

Algeria Unhappy At Inclusion In Atlantic Pact

By GODFREY ANDERSON

ALGIERS, Sept. 3—(AP)—An international crisis threatening war in Europe might bring into sharp relief the sometimes tense relations between France and Nationalists in French North Africa

Although technically only Algeria is a partner to the terms of the North Atlantic Pact, France's whole strategy in the event of a conflict would force here to rely on Algeria's neighbors, Morocco and Tunisia, as well.

But, at least until the cold war turns hot, spokesmen in both countries are insisting that, because of their sovereign status, they want nothing at all to do with the Atlantic Pact. However, past wars have always found them on the side of France.

Different Position

Algeria's position is different, since she has been officially declared as forming three departments of metropolitan France. Her citizens, whether Arabs, Berbers or Jews, have French nationality. Her military garrison forms the 10th military region of France itself.

Many Algerians are far from happy about their situation. They protest at being dragged into the Atlantic Pact as result of "an arbitrary and unilateral" French decision and refuse to consider themselves bound by it.

French air force units are thinly spread over most of the great Anglo-American-constructed airfields of the last war. The field at Morocco, said to be one of the largest in Africa, has runways to handle the biggest modern bombers. Tunisia, strategically located at the important narrows of the central Mediterranean, is reckoned to have a garrison of about 25,000 men.

AIR AGREEMENT—Exchange of rights to use each other's airports was included in a bilateral air agreement between Belgium and Canada signed at Ottawa. Transport Minister Chevrier, right, is shown signing for Canada while Belgian Ambassador Vicomte du Parc does the same for his country.

Finds Interesting Tidbits Reading Canada Gazette

By MEL SURIN

OTTAWA, Sept. 3—(CP)—If you live in Quebec and have applied for a divorce, if you own a ship and want to change its name, or if you're in the Army and have just been promoted, demoted, retired or decorated—don't think you can keep it a secret. The facts — cold and hard — will all turn up eventually in a widely-distributed publication—The Canada Gazette.

This mine of national information is published in two parts, one of which appears every Saturday morning bringing Canadians up to date on the latest orders-in-council, divorce notices, service appointments, election of M.P.'s, appointment of senators, notices of bankruptcy and calls for tenders on all sorts of projects.

The second section is turned out by the government printing bureau in Ottawa on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month. This one is somewhat less personal and deals with orders and proclamations affecting Canadians more generally.

$10 A Year

Anyone can buy this noble publication which so often casually reports history in the making. Subscription prices is $10 a year, "payable strictly in advance." Single copies go for 30 cents.

If you want the edition in French you pay the same rates, and if it's the combination French-English edition, you pay $12 a year or 50 cents a copy.

There's a charge for advertising in the Gazette of 30 cents a line for the first insertion and 10 cents a line after that.

Everything in the Gazette is printed in formal language but beneath the blanket of "whereases" and "wherefores" there's a lot of tidbits which suggest an interesting, if sometimes tragic story.

Divorce Aplenty

Last week's publication, for instance, had 25 applications for divorce pending in the province of Quebec. It's the only province which must have its divorces arranged through parliament.

Adultery, or adultery and desertion, were given as grounds in each case and only five of the applications were by men—the other 20 came from the wives.

Reject Wage Cut Threaten Strike

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP) — Leaders of some 65,000 longshoremen in eastern United States ports Friday turned down a proposed wage cut and threatened to strike Sept. 30.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), said the men will walk out unless they get a wage increase.

Ryan said a 13-cent-an-hour cut proposed by the New York Shipping Association is ridiculous and insulting. "We are the first group to be singled out for a reduction," he asserted.

The strike threat was voiced by the union's 120-member negotiating committee. It demanded that the present $1.88 base pay of dock workers be raised to $2.10.

Stress Reforestation In Nipissing Area

NORTH BAY, Sept. 3—(CP)—The key part that reforestation will play in the future economic welfare of the Muskoka, Parry Sound and Nipissing areas, was stressed Thursday in briefs submitted to the Ontario Legislature's select committee on conservation meeting here.

The nine-man committee held its final meeting in the north and northwestern section of the province. It is making a province-wide tour and will make recommendations to the government for an extensive conservation program.

The problems of drainage, soil depletion, flood control and the tourist industry were all covered, but reforestation was the main point Thursday.

New Varieties Gladioli Grown By Marmora Men

MARMORA, Sept. 3—(ENS)—William Aunger, in collaboration with his brother George, has been developing new varieties of gladioli.

Two are of unusual beauty and striking in appearance. They are seedlings. Last year the brothers cross-pollenized various varieties and allowed them to go to seed. The two varieties referred to grew from the seed. One is of a pinkish mauve color, with very delicate shades and unusually large blooms. The other is a deep red of various tints. The names they are thinking of bestowing on them are "Crowe Lake Sunrise" and "Crowe Lake Sunset."

William Aunger has now over ninety varieties, and last Sunday a lovely bouquet was placed by himself and Mrs. Aunger on the communion table at St. Andrew's United Church.

Thief Steals Radio In Absence Of Owner

ROSENEATH, Sept. 3 (ENS)—A large radio was stolen from the home of Mrs. Ernest Crowe, Alnwick Township, this week. Mrs. Crowe left her home on Sunday evening. On returning home on Thursday evening she found the house had been broken into. Entry was made by breaking the glass in the kitchen window.

Provincial Police are investigating.

Nazi Commissar Order Called Murder Plan

HAMBURG, Germany, Sept. 3 — (AP) — Hitler's commisar order, labelled by the Nuernberg judgment as a "systematic plan to mruder," was read today to the British Military Court trying former Field Marshal Erich Von Manstein.

The prosecution charged Russian political commissars were shot summarily by Manstein's troops or passed on to the Nazi Security Force for liquiration.

This is the eighth of the 17 war crimes charges against Von Manstein. He pleaded innocent to all.

The stack of documents in the case today pass the 200 mark. No oral evidence has been offered yet.

Canada Plays Big Part In US Aeronautics Uproar

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—(CP)—Canada played a big part this week in the activities of the United States Civil Aeronautics Board, the government agency which tries to keep commercial aviation safe and profitable. Officials of two Canadian companies appeared before C.A.B. examiners to seek permits for their planes to establish new routes over United States territory.

Trans-Canada Airlines wants to fly non-stop between Montreal and New York. Canadian Pacific Air Lines asks a licence to pick up and set down traffic at Honolulu on its Australian service.

These rights are among those assigned to Canada under the Canadian-American Air agreement signed in Ottawa last June 4.

There was no opposition to the CPA application for rights at Honolulu. But top executives of TCA ran into several days of stiff cross-examination from a United States concern, Colonial Airlines, when that case went before Examiner F. Merritt Rhlen.

Colonial has had the run between Montreal and New York all to itself for many years and now is fighting desperately to avoid competition from TCA. TCA's Northstar aircraft is bigger and faster than anything Colonial has and the American company predicts it will lose $1,000,000 a year if TCA is cut in on that business.

Will Get Permit

Most observers say TCA likely will get the permit.

But the basic issue really is the constitutionality of the whole air agreement. Colonial has gone to the courts to argue that the pact really is a treaty between two countries and therefore, according to the constitution, should be ratified by the Senate.

Because it is classed as an executive agreement — it was negotiated by the CAB and members of Canada's Transport Department — it was not sent to the Senate for approval. Like all executive agreements, it must be renewed after a definite period of time — in this case, one year.

A three-judge court will rule, perhaps this month, on Colonial's argument about the legality of the agreement. The decision will have far-reaching implications: in effect, it will be a ruling not only on the Canadian-American air pact but also on dozens of other executive agreements negotiated by the United States Government.

New Minister Welcomed At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Sept. 3 (ENS)—Rev. G. G. Husser, the new pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Mrs. Husser and their four young daughters, formerly of Blind River, Ont., arrived here on Thursday. The parsonage has been freshly painted in preparation for their coming.

Mrs. Allie Payne, president of the Women's Association, and a committee composed of Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, Mrs. W. E. Ball and Mrs. W. Armitage were on hand to welcome the new minister and his family and to serve them the first meal in their new home.

Induction Wednesday

Rev. Mr. Husser will be inducted at a service in the church on Wednesday evening, after which there will be a reception and social hour in the Sunday School rooms.

Mr. Husser will conduct his first service on Sunday, Sept. 11. Next Sunday, Sept. 4, he will address the Sunday School at 10 a.m., but the regular morning service at eleven o'clock will be withdrawn.

Hopes To Stay In Canadian Home

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP) — Leonard Gawlitza, 22, who jumped from the deck of a ship at Montreal into the St. Lawrence River to avoid deportation, arrived here Friday, hopeful that he can remain in Canada.

Recently freed by Quebec courts on $1,000 bail, to be held pending Immigration Department decision on his case, Gawlitza is en route to Dunnville to work on the farm of P. L. Jackson who posted his bail.

Arrested in Montreal after stowing away on a ship at Antwerp, the young refugee said in an interview that Dr. A. G. McFee, member of Canada's immigration department in Germany, had sent him $10 to help in his fight to remain in the dominion.

Death is preferable to returning to Europe and the clutches of European police, he said.

Form RCAF Squadron

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 — (CP) — An RCAF operational squadron and an operation training unit will be formed at Greenwood, NS, shortly, Air Force Headquarters announced Thursday. The OTU formation is planned for November 1, with the first course opening December 12, while formation of the squadron will follow early in the New Year. Heading the OTU at Greenwood will be Sqdn. Ldr. C. C. W. Marshall, DFC, of Kingston.

U.S. Girl Abandons Swim 6 Miles From England In Channel For 10½ Hours

Pleads With Coach For 20 Minutes To Leave Her In Water, Covers More Than 30 Miles On Course

IN THE ENGLISH CHANNEL, Sept. 6—(AP)—Shirley May France today abandoned her attempt to swim the Channel. The 17-year-old girl from Somerset, Mass., gave up at 11.05 a.m. EDT when she was less than six miles from England. She had been in the icy water 10½ hours. She was estimated to have covered more than 30 miles of swimming. The Channel is only 19 miles from Cap Gris Nez, France, where she started, to Dover, England—but tides force channel swimmers to cover much more than that.

Shirley May was moaning when her coach, Harry Boudakian, pulled her from the water. She had pleaded with him for 20 minutes not to make her give up.

The pretty blonde cried again and again:

"Please—please—leave me in."

The girl struggled against Boudakian when he leaned over the side of the rowboat to pull her in.

Hates To Quit

She was hysterical and kept crying. "Look how near it is."

She had been within sight of the cliffs of Dover for more than two hours.

"Leave me Leave me," she cried.

Men swimmers from an accompanying launch jumped into the water and held her against the side of a rowboat as she tried to get away.

Shirley May's father, J. Walter France, was in tears too.

"Never mind, baby, never mind," he said.

He had tried to talk her into giving up several hours before, when the tides were running against her. A sudden shift in the tide's flow had boosted her chances then.

She entered the water off Cap Gris Nez on the French coast at 12:25 a.m. EDT.

At around 9:15 a.m. Shirley May took her first meal. Her father said chicken broth nauseated her, but she gamely kept on swimming.

Shortly after she tried the chicken broth Shirley May complained of being cold.

Her father went over to her in the pilot boat and came back with the word: "She's cold. Maybe we should pull her in."

Brawl On Ferry Lands 4 In Jail Ship Grounded

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 6—(CP)—An international ferry zigzagged out of control in the Ottawa River as eight men engaged in a fist-swinging brawl during a trip from Quebec to Ontario Sunday night.

Four men from East Rockland, Ont., were arrested by Ontario Provincial Police as a result and were lodged in jail at Rockland on disorderly conduct charges.

The mid-stream battle occurred aboard the ferry which runs between Masson, Que., and Cumberland, 15 miles east of Ottawa.

Achilles Lamarche, operator of the car-passenger ferry, said the fight started when one of six young men in an automobile aboard the ferry objected to the fare being charged for the crossing.

Lamarche said he produced a card showing the legal fare. One of the men snatched it from his hand and tore it in two.

Fight Breaks Out

Two other men, said to be from Cumberland, took exception to the conduct of the six men and a fight started.

While fists were swung and the battle raged back and forth across the open deck of the merry, Lamarche struggled to keep control of the craft. It veered crazily and was finally grounded with a bump some distance downstream from the regular dock.

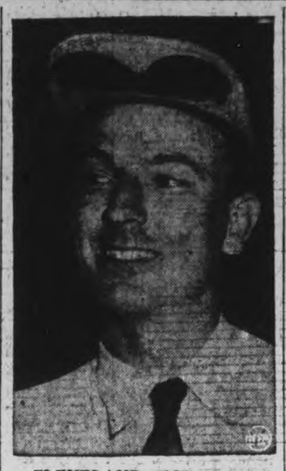
Combatants were tossed into the shallow water one after another, only to climb aboard again and re-enter the fight.

The four men from Rockland East were arrested later. They are: Alfred Lafleur, 20, his brother Roger, 19, Marcel Bazinet, 18, and Henry Villeneuve, 19.

Tired Of Zooters 4 Take Action

TORONTO, Sept. 6—(CP)—Four men, who told police they were "fed up with Zoot Suiters" were held by police on assault charges today, after five youths were reported beaten yesterday.

Two North York youths and three others in York Township were assaulted after being picked up in an automobile by four men. The boys said they were given no warning when the men stopped the car and in two separate attacks "beat us up."



The men charged are James Richardson, 24, William Blundell, 37, Howard Bowsfield, 37, and John Danylock, 28.

Two of the youths suffered broken noses.

Mrs. J. E. Paquette Newlywed Injured

Mrs. J. E. Paquette, Peterborough, was injured on the Queen Elizabeth Way, near Niagara Falls, to-day when the car she was riding in collided with a bread wagon. She and her husband were on a honeymoon trip to the US. Their car and the bread wagon were badly smashed.

Mrs. Paquette was formerly Freida Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Nolan, 380 Holloway Drive and was married Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church. The groom is the only son of Mr. Joseph Raymond Paquette (nee Muriel Goselin of Peterborough).

CLEVELAND AIR RACES were marred by the tragic death of Bill Odom, who died when his plane crashed. The crash also took the lives of a mother and baby.

Flier Bill Odom Crashes In Race Kills 2 Others

CLEVELAND, Sept. 6 (AP)—Global flier Bill Odom died Monday his click green racing plane plunged screaming into a suburban home, killing a mother and her baby son. The tragic finish to Odom's flying career, already rich with the records, came early in his attempt to add one more laurel — the Thompson Trophy, rated at the top of closed-course competition — during the 20th anniversary National Air Races here.

Several hours after the crash, firemen and rescue workers had not yet found Odom's body.

Pilot Steve Beville told a reporter he was flying near Odom just before the fatal dive.

He said Odom had swung too wide at the No. 2 pylon and gone about half the distance of the leg when he appeared to realize his mistake and swerved sharply to the left although he was then doing more than 400 miles an hour, Beville said.

He rolled over on his back, then dived into the house, followed by a burst of smoke.

Killed in House

Mrs. Jeanne Laird, 24, was killed and her son, Craig, was burned severely before his grandfather rescued him. He died later. Bradley C. Laird, husband of the dead woman, and a second son, David, were unharmed.

Odom was flying an extensively modified U.S. Air Force Mustang fighter owned by Jacqueline Cochran, herself a veteran racer and the wife of Floyd B. Odlum, New York financier.

Miss Cochran had personally selected Odom to fly her ship. She watched him get off today behind a couple of big converted navy fighters, and finish the first lap in third place.

When Odom won the closed-course race Saturday in a warm-up for the Thompson, Miss Cochran told a reporter: "I chose Bill because he was a good pilot. Sure he'd never flown a closed-course race before. But, so what?"

Odom's death plunge into a Berea home revived the protests of area residents against the low-flying speedsters shrieking over their homes at 400 miles an hour.

Live In Glass Houses

BONN, Germany, Sept. 6 — (AP) — West Germany's new parliament will live in glass houses. Bleachers have been set up outside so spectators can look inside at the opening sessions tomorrow. One whole wall of the upper house (Bundesrat) is made of glass. Two walls of the lower house (Bundestag) also are glass, from top to bottom. The glass-walled parliament buildings are a permanent feature but the bleachers were described as temporary.

Examine New Mead Batch Find Stuff Has Old Kick

GULVAL, Cornwall, England, Sept. 6 (CP)—Medieval pageantry mingled with a 20th-century belch or two when this ancient village celebrated a "Mead Festival" recently.

The festival marked the revival of making Mead—a generic term for several types of alcoholic beverages brewed from fermented honey—after a lapse of 400 years in which the spicy liquor was never manufactured commercially.

The narrow, winding lanes of Gulval saw a flashback to the days of the Hundred Years' War as a quaintly-costumed procession strode from the parish church to the Mead Hall in the vale of Trevayler which flows into nearby Mounts Bay.

First came the Beadte of the Worshipful Company of Meadmakers, followed by two heraldic trumpeters in tabards emblazoned with the arms of the company.

A page in a blue-and-green tabard more a cushion on which was the worshipful company's mazer—ceremonial silver-and-oaken bowl for drinking mead.

Then came a cross-bearer, a a choir and clergy, constables, mace-bearers and mayors and town clerks of nearby municipalities.

When the procession reached the Postern gate of the Mead Hall, the Vicar of Gulval conducted the ceremony of blessing the mead. The ceremony included four languages—old Cornish, Anglo-Saxon, 16th-century English and Latin.

Mead was poured from a copper flagon into the mazer, blessed by the Vicar and then carried to the sixth floor of the Mead Hall where a few drops were poured into each of several vats where this year's "crop" was just beginning to ferment.

Britain Asks Dollar Ban Ended

Seeking Permission To Spend Money In Any Country

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (CP)—Britain will ask permission to spend Marshall Plan dollars anywhere she likes—not just in the United States—as one way out of her financial crisis, officials said today.

Diplomatic authorities said Foreign Minister Bevin of Britain—on his way here for three-power talks on Britain's economic plight—is convinced his country shortly will have to dip into her dwindling reserves for millions of dollars unless Marshall Plan policies are relaxed.

Bevin and Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, are due in New York tonight aboard the Maurentania for the critical British-American-Canadian financial conference opening tomorrow at the state department.

Stop-Gap Measures

Top diplomats of the three governments hope to devise a series of stop-gap measures at these discussions to keep Britain's condition from getting worse. But they are reported pessimistic about finding an immediate formula for solving Britain's long-range problem.

Finance Minister Abbott of Canada, who arrived Monday night with L. B. Pearson, External Affairs Minister, and other Canadian government officials, tolds reporters he hopes "we will be able to achieve some useful work," but he added:

"One should not expect miracles."

Abbott said he does not think the importance of the questions to be considered here this week can be over-emphasized. As far as Canada is concerned the talks will have a bearing on the future of the Dominion's import restrictions and her trade in general.

Bevin is reported keenly interested in the Marshall Plan phase of the discussions because it may provide a way for Britain to buy Canadian wheat, flour, cheese, bacon and eggs, woodpulp and paper with American dollars.

Britain has been forced to use its own dollars to buy Canadian products. Last year, diplomatic officials said, Britain spent about $110,000,000 of its reserves in this fashion.

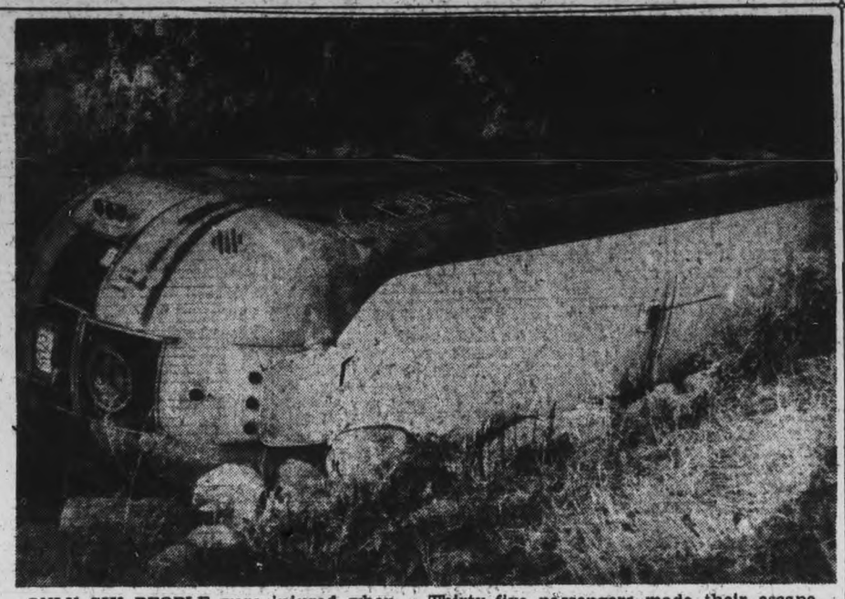
Says Rural Consumers Pay More For Hydro

TORONTO, Sept. 6—(CP)—Increased cost of power to rural consumers was forecast Saturday by Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. Reporting on rural-construction progress, he said the increase will be necessary because of increased labor costs.

Mr. Saunders said in a statement that costs of materials also have gone up. He said a rate increase is needed "to keep the Commission on a sound basis."

He gave no indication of the amount of the probable increase, nor when it may be imposed.

Reds Promise To Free Two American Boys



FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 6 (AP)—Two American boys seized in the Russian occupation zone of Germany late in July will be released today, it was learned here.

The youths are Warren Oelsner 20, of Oyster Bay, N. Y., and Pater H. Sellers, 18, of Philadelphia. They were on a bicycle tour of Germany when they were reported seized in a Russian zone town for taking pictures.

United States authorities have made several demands that the boys be released.

Plane Loses Engine

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 6 — (AP)—The huge flying boat Hawaii Mars, with 54 persons aboard, lost an engine today 400 miles out from Honolulu, bound for Hawaii. The skipper of the big plane sent an urgent radio message that the No. 1 engine had dropped off the wing.

Bus Rolls Over After Crash 6 People Injured

NEWCASTLE, Sept. 6—(CP)—Thirty-five passengers escaped serious injury Monday when a Colonial Coach Lines bus rolled over twice down a 20-foot embankment and landed on a rocky creek bottom.

The accident, a mile east of this town 40 miles east of Toronto, occurred after a collision with a police car, said driven by George Langevin, of Montreal.

The bus rolled over twice and landed in shallow water on the door side. All passengers escaped through the emergency door on the opposite side.

In Bowmanville hospital are Trooper W. Nicholls of Petawawa; Miss B. Crowhurst of Toronto; A. Brown of Carrying Place; Mrs. Ida McMillan and her two-year-old daughter, Susan of Trenton. Driver of the bus was Stanley Waylet of Oshawa and the driver of the car was George Langevin of Montreal.

Police said that the eastbound bus was approaching the bridge on Highway No. 2, over a creek when a westbound car, driven by Langevin started to turn south towards a service station. The bus driver swung north to avoid the car but a sideswipe collision occurred and the bus plunged through the guard rail and then rolled down a 20-foot embankment, over some heavy boulders and came to rest the bus lying on its side in the shallow water of the creek.

Keeps His Head

The driver had cut his switches and there was no fire. The driver and those of the passengers who were only slightly shaken up, assisted the others to get out through the emergency door which was facing up.

Meanwhile the proprietor of a tourist establishment nearby, Richard Davies and his wife clambered down the embankment. They were the first on the scene and when there was no sound from the overturned bus they ran back to the tourist canteen to phone for help. They returned with blankets and towels and by that time the passengers were climbing out.

Urge Radio Licence Fee Be Doubled, Expand CBC

OTTAWA, Sept. 6—(CP)—The CBC board of governors urged today before the Royal Commission on Arts and Science that the annual $2.50 radio receiving set licence fee be doubled to permit an expansion and improvement of CBC services. The Board, which recommended that it be left with the powers it now has over radio matters in Canada, said more money is needed even to retain present CBC services and much more is needed if there are to be improvements and expansions.

"The present licence fee is insufficient to permit the national system adequately to carry out the task laid down for it of serving listeners and the national interest," said the Board.

"The system is squeezed between swollen costs and stationary revenue rates. Unless the financial basis is changed, services and standards will have to be reduced drastically."

The Royal Commission has only power to recommend to the Government that the licence fee be increased. The Government, in turn, would have to go to Parliament for approval of any increase.

Basic Principles

The board set down these basic principles in its 15,000-word brief:

1. All judgment in broadcasting matters must be based on public interest.

2. Our national interest can be met only if we have a national radio system, supported and owned by the public.

3. The national system must be in a position to use all suitable resources for the service of the nation.

4. It is in the public interest to permit private stations to operate on public air channels as ancillaries to the national system to provide community service and in many cases to act as outlets for national service, as long as their operations do not conflict with the paramount requirement of an effective national system.

5. The inter-connection of all Cook Cleland of Cleveland, former navy fighter pilot, took the Canadian broadcasting activities make essential in the public interest the present legislation under which the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, directly responsible to Parliament, has overriding rights and co-ordinating control.

Bogus Bill Ring Cracked In West

VANCOUVER, Sept. 6—(CP)—An attempt to flood this city with an estimated $2,000,000 in counterfeit bills was cracked open Monday night in a series of police raids and seizures.

Two men were arrested and more than $2,500 in bogus bills was recovered—most of it at the Pacific National Exhibition and at Exhibition Park racetrack.

Police estimated 500 counterfeit bills have been passed at the PNE and reported "there's $2,000,000 worth of that stuff around town."

The RCMP said they received a tip that a quantity of the phoney bills was being flown here from Eastern Canada.

As soon as the alarm went out, stand operators at the PNE refused to accept $10 bills.

Police said one of the two men held tried to pass a phoney banknote at a lunch stand and fled when questioned. He was stopped outside and search showed he had $300 in bogus bills and $170 in legitimate bills.

Hamilton Has It

HAMILTON, Sept. 6 —(CP)—Fears that Hamilton may have been flooded over the week-end and holiday with bogus $10 bills were expressed by R.C.M.P. and city police today. Already 15 spurious bills passed on local merchants have been picked up by police.

Giant Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 6 (AP) —A giant tropical hurricane with winds up to 120 miles an hour churned the Atlantic some 400 miles south southeast of Bermuda today with virtually no forward movement. Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster here, said the gargantuan storm "apparently is just wallowing around hundreds of miles from anywhere."

Report Dead Resemble Battle Zone

Five Others Wounded In 45-Minute Blast Before Maniac Taken

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 6 (AP)—A 28-year-old war veteran went berserk today and shot and killed 12 persons.

Five others were wounded.

Detective Marshall Thompson said the busy street on which the mass killings took place "looked like a battlefield."

Bodies were strewn all over the street. Killed in the 45-minute blast of bullets were two small boys, five women and five men.

Police authorities here said they believe it was the greatest mass slaughter on a city street in the history of the United States.

Thompson said the killer was identified as Howard Unruh.

The policeman said Unruh barricaded himself in a second-floor room and exchanged bullets with more than 50 policemen.

Tear gas finally brought him out. He was not wounded.

Thompson said police had "a hell of a time" with men and women on the streets.

In Line of Fire

He said police had to go into the line of fire to pull dead men from cars.

"They stopped for a traffic light," Thompson said. "Then they got it."

Police had to fight off an angry mob of more than 1,000 who screamed "lynch him" and "hang him now."

Among those shot were a druggist and his wife, a shoe repair man, a barber and a young bride.

Detective Marshall Thompson said the shooting in this industrial city in southern New Jersey across the Delaware River from Philadelphia began at 9:20 a. m. EDT.

At that time, the detective said, Unruh, dressed nattily in a light suit and white shirt with bow tie, ran out of a rooming house where he was living.

He swung his gun into action and fired at passers-by on the street.

Runs Into Store

Then he ran into the drug store of Morris Cohen, 40, on the first floor of the rooming house.

Cohen's wife shrieked:

"It's a maniac. He's got a gun."

500 Lose Lives Over US Holiday

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 — (AP).—The United States to-day grimly counted a record-breaking accidental death toll for the three-day Labor Day holiday.

The full count of fatalities was not yet tabulated but more than 500 persons who lost their lives in accidents during the extended holiday was the largest for any Labor Day weekend in United States history.

The highways took the heaviest toll. Of the 505 persons killed in violent accidents, 379 lost their lives in automobile mishaps. The traffic total was nearly 100 more than the estimated 280 probable death toll made by the National Safety Council. Forty-five persons drowned and 81 died in accidents and miscellaneous causes.

This year's Labor Day total compared with the previous high of 428 during the 1937 Labor Day holiday.

Inquest Ordered Into Milne Deaths

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 6 — (CP)—An inquest has been ordered into the deaths here last Tuesday of five members of the Milne family, killed in a level crossing collision. It will be held Sept. 14.

The inquiry, conducted by Dr. A. E. Wilkins, will investigate the deaths of Kenneth Milne, 37-year-old farmer; his wife, Pauline, 33; daughters Faye, 10, and Betty, eight; and Mrs. Milne's mother, Mrs. Ernest Ingram, 68.

Says People Misled On Tourist Revenue

Ontario Anglers Told $200,000,000 Not All Profit For Province

SAULT STE. MARIE, Sept. 6—(CP)—William Smith of Dundas, past president of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, said here today the people of Ontario were being misled by publication "without qualification" of the province's annual revenue from the tourist industry.

The $200,000,000 annual income reported was far from being all profit, he told delegates to the Federation's summer convention. He intimated the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity should also make public the huge sums spent in salaries, advertising and other operating expenses.

The discussion arose when Secretary R. J. Hannam of Hamilton read to the delegates an invitation to the federation to participate in the annual round-table conference on tourist industry problems sponsored by the Department of Travel and Publicity.

Several delegates opposed the sending of a representative to the conference in view of the statement by Mr. Smith that he had been overpowered by the supporters of the tourist industry at last year's conference.

Want More Delegates

The delegates approved a motion to seek permission from the Department of Travel and Publicity to send two or more delegates to the next annual conference.

Mr. Smith charged that the seven-man panel, with the exception of himself, were all interested mainly in "grabbing as large a share as possible of the tourist dollar." He charged that the interests represented at the discussions were not interested in practical conservation of our resources.

"Hotels, bus lines, railroads, breweries, Chambers of Commerce and big tourist operators were represented at the conference," he told the delegates.

Joseph McNabb of Sudbury told the meeting that the tourist industry could be rightly classed as a basic industry and as such was the property of the people as well as the operators.

Replying to the suggestion by another speaker that the federation ask for permission to send two representatives to the conference instead of one, Mr. McNabb charged that nothing short of equal represeniation was of any value to the federation, "and that means more than two representatives."

Rebel Leader Takes Over In Yunnan

Deals Death-Blow To Chiang Plans For Western Bastion

HONG KONG, Sept. 6 (Repters) —Yunnan Warlord Lu Han—reported Monday in independent control of China's Southwest corner—has dealt a death-blow to nationalist plans for turning West China into a new anti-Communist bastion political sources here said.

Chinese reports said General Lu, governor of Yunnan province bordering Indo-China and Burma, successfully threw off all government rule during the week-end without bloodshed after giving a nationalist army 48 hours to quit Kunming the provincial capital.

One report said this army was crossing the provincial border today. At nationalist spokesman in Canton said the army was in radio contact with the war ministry.

General Lu's own forces are not more than 15,000 strong and it is thought unlikely he will be able to establish an independent provincial administration in the face of Communist pressure.

Guerillas Active

Strong forces of guerillas are active in the province though Communist regular armies still are hundreds of miles to the northeast.

The nationalists who had only loose control in Yunnan even before General Lu's revolt, now will probably have to revise their plans to establish a new stronghold around their wartime capital of Chungking, observers think.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has been conferring in Chungking with West China generals since last month.

The loss of Kunming, wartime United States air base, breaks an essential link in air and land communications over the "Hump" route and by the famous Burma Road to Chungking.

Hide-and-Seek Game Ends In Tragedy

BOWMANVILLE, Sept. 6 — A children's game of hide-and-seek ended tragically Monday with the death near his home of 8-year-old Bobby Porter. The child died an hour after his admittance to hospital.

Police said Bobby and a group of friends were playing beside the street while a small girl, her eyes shut, was counting to 10 before searching for those who had gone to hide.

The Porter boy darted onto the street directly into the path of a car driven by Roy Johnston of Oshawa. Police believe he had chosen the boulevard as a hiding place. The game ended with a screech of brakes.

No inquest will be held.

OBITUARIES

MRS. NORMAN C. HATTON

The death of Mrs. Norman C. Hatton, 377 Park St., Peterborough, occurred on Sunday in hospital. Mrs. Hatton was born in Peterborough and was formerly Miss Elinor Collins, daughter of the late J. D. Collins and Anna Maria Hay.

The deceased was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

She is survived, beside her husband, by one daughter Anne, at home, and two sisters and three brothers, Miss Mabel Collins, Peterborough; Mrs. George H. Greening (Annette) Montreal; Frederick H. and J. D. Collins, both of Peterborough; and Alex Collins, of Walkerton.

The remains are resting at the residence, 377 Park St., until 10 a.m Wednesday, and the funeral will be held from the Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water St., Wednesday, at 2.00 p.m., with interment in Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. T. H. Floyd will officiate.

MRS. JOHN O. FIFE

The death occurred at her residence, 225 Princess St., Peterborough, on Monday of Mrs. Violet Adeline Fife, widow of John Oliver Fife, at the age of 72. She was born in Otonabee township, daughter of the late John Thomas Pallin and Caroline Robertson, and had lived in this city for the past 41 years.

Mrs. Fife was a member of St. James United Church and was an active worker in the Sunday School, Women's Association, and the Women's Missionary Society.

Surviving are two sons, Ashton and Harold, both of Peterborough, and two sisters and four brothers, Mrs. F. A. Kidd and Miss F. M. Pallin, both of Peterborough; James Pallin of Tillamook, Oregon, U.S.A.; Percy Pallin of Lethbridge, Alta.; Ralph Pallin, of Red Deer, Alta.; and William Pallin of Toronto.

Funeral will be held Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. from the late residence, 225 Princess St., with interment in Fife Cemetery, Otonabee, Rev. F. W. Craik, pastor of St. James United Church, officiating. The remains will be removed from the Mather Funeral Home, Keene, Tuesday afternoon to the residence where they will be until the funeral.

MRS. MARY ANN ADAMS

STIRLING, Sept. 6—After an illness of three weeks, an aged and highly respected resident of Hastings County in the person of Mrs. Mary Anne Adams died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James S. Wilson, of Holloway. A pioneer in this country, the late Mrs. Adams was well and favorably known in the community. She was born in the county 92 years ago, being the daughter of the late John Robinson and Elizabeth McMurray. With the exception of 19 years spent at Holloway, Mrs. Adams lived all her life at West Huntingdon.

She was a member of West Huntingdon United Church and when health permitted was an active worker for the church. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. James S. Wilson, of Holloway, Mrs. Hugh McFee, of Keene, one son, William Adams, of Edmonton, Alberta, two sisters, Mrs. John McLaughlin, of Camrose, Alberta, Mrs. William Noftall, of Peterborough, and one brother, John Robinson, of Lloydminster, Sask., 13 grandchildren, 32 great grandchildren and two great great grandchildren also survive.

A very large number of relatives and friends attended the funeral. The service was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jas. S. Wilson, and was conducted by the Rev. Morley Clarke, pastor of West Huntingdon United Church.

Many beautiful floral tributes were token of the high esteem in which she was held and the Rev. Clarke spoke fittingly of a long life well spent in quiet service and thought for one and all. His interpretation of the 23rd Psalm was comforting to those who have lost the companionship of this lovely little old lady.

Interment was in West Huntingdon cemetery and the bearers were: Messrs. Ambrose Wright, Clayton Wright, Don Haggerty, Harry Thompson, Wm. Grant and Jack Pitman.

$1,200 Damage In 2 Holiday Car Accidents

One person was slightly injured and about $1,200 damage caused to three cars involved in two car accidents over the weekend on the Buckhorn Rd.

When the car driven by Mrs. Yvonne Munro, of Queen St. E., Toronto, turned out to pass another vehicle while proceeding north, about 5 miles north of Buckhorn, it struck the loose gravel on the left side of the road and turned over three times. It came to rest in a four-and-a-half foot ditch.

Only one of the four Toronto occupants was injured. Emily Munro, Marion St., sister-in-law of the driver, required six stitches to close a cut under her chin.

The two other passengers, J. B. Munro, husband of Mrs. Munro, and Leslie Norman, Maitland St., escaped with nothing worse than a shaking up.

Provincial Constable R. A. Feeley, who investigated the accident which occurred Saturday night, reported that damage to the vehicle at about $800.

Two-Car Collision

A two-car collision occurred Sunday afternoon on the same road, three miles north of the previous one. Nobody was injured.

Morris Duke, of Parkhill Rd., was driving north when his rear wheels struck a rock jarring the back of his car into the southbound auto of W. R. Smith, Altona Rd., R.R. 2 Pickering.

In Smith's car, which received about $300 damage, were his three brothers—all of Toronto. Duke's only passenger was his wife. Damage to his vehicle was set at $150.

Provincial Constable Feeley investigated.

Hoodlums Break 70 Windows

Peterborough's hoodlum element whose specialty is the smashing of school windows had a field day over the Labor Day week-end.

At least 70 panes of glass were broken in Confederation School and also a number at Prince of Wales.

Today the city's more than 7,000 schoolchildren resume their studies, and for some—at Confederation at least—it wil be a draughty initiation.

"We are trying to repair the damage as swiftly as possible," Percy D. Windrim, School Inspector, told the Examiner today.

"The thing that amazes me," he said, "is that these hoodlums could do that amount of damage without the neighbours knowing anything about it.'

"Falling glass from a very great height like that could be heard a block away,' he added.

The Board of Education had just completed the task of replacing broken panes in school windows so school children could come back to comfortable and sightly classrooms. Now workmen must start all over again.

Mr. Windrim said city police had been notified to be on the lookout for the miscreants.

The Thompson, a free-for-all is the traditional classic of air races. The course was revised to make a rough circle around the community of Berea which lies south of the airport and southwest of Cleveland.

The Thompson trophy has been a debated issue inside the daring fraternity of pilots since its revival because of the costs involved in flying the heavy surplus warplanes and the problems of flying them at high speeds around pylons.

Say USSR Milks Own Satellites

BELGRADE, Sept. 6 (CP) — The secretary of the Yugoslav Politburo Monday accused Russia of "exploiting the weak" by squeezing big profits from industries jointly owned with its satellites.

The "exploitation" charge has usually been levelled only against capitalist countries. It ran counter to world-wide orthodox Communist dogma that exploitation of one Communist country by another is impossible.

Molovan Djilas, Politburo secretary, made the accusation in an article written for Borba, organ of the Communist party. It was printed while tension was at its height in the Balkan war of nerves being waged by Russia against Yugoslavia.

The article claimed Yugoslavia had been milked by Russia through the agency of joint shipping and airline companies set up after the war. The two companies were dissolved last week.

Djilas tossed a scornful barb at other eastern-European countries. He said they still are being exploited by similar "mixed' companies.

Djilas emphasized in his article that the Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) has no right to speak for all Communist countries and that no Communist party is obliged to accept its dictates.

GLEASON PALL-BEARERS

Pall-bearers at the funeral of Mrs. Mary Gleason were William Grady, Aleric Letellier, Orville Kenneally, Fred Collins, Edward Condon, and James McDonald. The funeral was from the home of the late Alfred McDonald, 2 Crescent Street, to Sacred Heart Church, where requiem mass was celebrated by Monsignor the Rev. J. J. O'Brien. Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant and the Rev. C. McCarney. Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

23 Boys Enjoy Week-end Camp

Twenty-three boys from Boys Town at Nicholls Oval spent Labor Day week-end camping out at Clear View Inn. The program included sports, a corn roast, and sing-songs.

On Friday and Saturday nights the boys were guests of the Drive-in Theatre. On Sunday afternoon parents of some of the boys visited the camp along with Len Edwards, president of the Optimist Club, and several other club members. They left camp early Monday morning to take part in the Labor Day playground activities.

Future plans for Boys Town include a concert on September 18 at Trafalgar House, and a showing of films next Sunday. The films will be presented on the outdoor stage at Nicholls Oval, and will include movies such as "The Leslie Bell Singers," and "Winnipeg Sings."

The week-end camp was under the direction of Walter Bent, Boys' Town supervisor.

6. The same fundamental considerations apply to television as to other forms of broadcasting.

7. Television is an extremely vivid and effective means of mass communication. The method of its development in Canada will have a strong effect, for either good or bad, on our national life.

8. The necessary means to undertake television development are (a). Adequate television receiver set licence fee and (b) Loans to cover capital and development period expenditures.

Expanding on some of the points, the board blamed many of the CBC's shortcomings on lack of finances.

"To maintain existing services for this year the corporation had to budget for a deficit of $325,000 to be taken out of its own reserves," said the brief.

Need Changes

"Unless fundamental changes are made the outlook for the future is dark. It is estimated that if the corporation in 1949-50, with the present level of licence fees, attempted to maintain only services which now exist or to which it has long been committed, expenditures would fall below revenues by some $900,000 at present known costs and conditions . . .

"A deficit of $900,000 for 1949-50 would, of course, exhaust the reserves of the corporation and could not be envisaged.

"Unless, therefore, the revenue situation of the national system is changed without delay it will be necessary to start next year drastically to cut services and standards."

At present, the corporation obtains 70 per cent of its revenues from licence fees and 30 per cent from commercial programs. The board said the CBC is not desirous of accepting more commercial programs.

Bus Rolls Over

Provincial police from Bowmanville and nearby points went to the accident to handle the heavy traffic and keep it moving.

Police commented that it was a miracle that a fatality did not occur. The bus, had it proceeded further might have gone over the side of the bridge where the drop would have been abrupt to the creek below. Also the level of the creek was only two inches due to the dry weather. The bus rolled, rather than dropped and the shock was evenly distributed. Although the sheeting on the sides was battered, the body of the bus was intact.

Harry Oakman Wins CNE Title

Harry R Oakman of Peterborough won the Canadian championship in outboard motor racing for Class "C" on Labor Day at the CNE, finishing comfortably ahead of nine others with his 22 h.p. "Gizmo." He throttled back near the finish of the three-mile run in choppy Lake Ontario water to make it a race, the runner up being Oakman's entry, too, "Pop's Best," driven by Jack Fitzpatrick of Windsor.

Racing runabouts were entered from Tonawanda, N.Y., Detroit, and half a dozen Ontario centres. "Gizmo," powered by Johnson motor, was souped up by Mr. Oakman, who practised in recent weeks on Chemong Lake. It was the first year he raced this type but he has been at the game for five years and has a number of trophies. The CNE one is a handsome trophy and Mr. Oakman plans to defend it next year.

She dashed upstairs where her son Charles, 12, was in a bedroom. She locked the boy in a closet and hurried downstairs.

A bullet cut her down on the stairway. She died in her tracks.

Cohen, trying to get away, ran through a back door. He was shot as he ran and fell over dead in a gutter.

Cohen's mother, Mrs. Minnie Cohen, came down the stairs at that moment. Unruh turned and wounded her.

Then the mad gunman ran from the drug store and into the barber shop of Clark Hoover.

Then he shot and killed Hoover.

Then he ran into a shoe repair shop and killed the proprietor.

From there Unruh dashed into a dry cleaning establishment and killed the proprietor there. At the same address he found a young bride and shot her.

Has Arsenal

Then, Thompson said, Unruh ran to his own room where he had what Thompson described as an "arsenal of knives, clubs and ammunition."

He barred the door and took shots out the window at passers-by in the street. He felled several of them.

Among those shot down in the street was six-year-old Morris Smith and an unidentified boy of five.

Both died later in a Camden hospital.

Also killed by out-the-window shots were James J. Hutton, 45, of nearby Westmount, N.J., and Alvin M. Day, of Mantua, N.J.

The whole battle lasted less than 45 minutes. It was 10.15 a.m. EDT when Unruh was captured.

Looks Like Battlefront

The dead and wounded were taken to Cooper Hospital which for a time resembled a field station at a battlefront.

A squad of 50 policemen and county detectives tried to shoot it out with Unruh by pumping bullets through the window of his room.

That failed.

Then they sent out for machine-guns and tear gas.

Tear gas bombs were tossed through the bullet-smashed window.

A few moments later Unruh opened the door and staggered out. He was quiet and unhurt.

Little was known of Unruh in the neighborhood. Residents described him as a quiet, rather handsome young man who lived alone and always dressed well and in good taste.

After the shooting, police threw a cordon around the neighbourhood and undertook a house-to house search for any dead or wounded who might have been overlooked in the excitement.

"It was just like a battle," said Dominic Latela, 34, who runs a frozen food business.

"I was in my shop when I heard shots and saw a bunch of children run out of the barber shop," Latela said. "Then one woman came out carrying a child. I took the child from her and rushed him to the hospital. Before I left I heard at least 10 more shots."

The child, Thomas Hamilton, died at Cooper Hospital.

Eyewitness Story

A 48-year-old gas and electric company repairman watched the berserk gunman shoot down people "right and left."

William McNielly, of Pennsauken, N.J., an employee of the Public Service Company of New Jersey, said he was making a call in the neighborhood.

This is his description of what he saw:

"I was going north on River Road and I saw a car ahead of me stop and pick up a little girl. I thought it was an accident.

"The automobile then crossed the 32nd Street and River Road intersection and stopped.

"I was stopped at a corner waiting for the light to change. I saw a man lying on the steps of a drug store, facing the intersection.

"Suddenly a man rushed down the street, stopped in front of the automobile which had just picked up the little girl."

Thinks He's Target

"I heard two shots and I thought someone was shooting at me.

"Three men ran out of a taproom and this other man, who had shot at the car, suddenly began to shoot at these guys who ran out of the taproom. They all fell.

"The killer started running north on 32nd Street. He fired wildly into a barber shop, a shoemakers' shop and a sandwich shop.

"A man came out of the taproom and fired at the running killer, but apparently he missed because the man did not halt.

"The man came back to the intersection with his gun still shooting, ran into a grocery store, shot at customers standing there."

"I saw several fall, but I didn't know how badly they were hurt.

Here is a list of the dead:

Maurice Cohen, 40, a druggist; Rose Cohen, 38, his wife; Minnie Cohen, his mother; Thomas Hamilton, two; Morris Smith, five; Mrs. Helen Zegrino, 28, bride of one month; James J. Hutton, 45, Westmont, N.J., an insurance collector; Clark Hoover, 33, barber; John J. Plauchik, 27, Pennsauken Township, N.J., a cobbler; Alvin M. Day, Mantua, N.J.; a woman, identified only as Mrs. Smith; an unidentified woman.

Big Dispersal Sale Set For Wednesday

The last round-up of Old Orchard Farms' Herefords precedes their dispersal by auction Wednesday. They will be scattered to the four winds when the last "gone" is sounded.

Preparations by Mr. John Stuart Jr. for the sale of this grand herd at his farm about two miles east of the city were reported complete today.

For the protection of buyers, Mr. Stuart has set up a temporary canvas covered corral in the event of the weather turning unfavourable. It is understood that Mr. Stuart is including his main herd sires WHR Proud Mixer and Old Monarch, his first selections and purchases when he decided to establish the OPP Farms herd in Peterborough.

Several farmers have suggested that if these two bulls do not climb into five figures, they would be a sacrifice if sold for less. Bystander estimates of gross receipts of the sale range upwards from $75,000.

Cantrell Wins Speedboat Race

DETROIT, Sept. 6. — (AP).— Wild Bill Cantrell smashed a few more speedboat records with My Sweetie to win the Silver Cup Trophy Monday with virtually no competition.

Cantrell drove the Horace E. Dodge boat at an average speed of 81.974 miles an hour in the second and final heat of the race.

Of the eight boats that started Monday's 45-mile heat, only three were running at the finish. Only Jack Shafer's Crust, second-place winner in the first heat Saturday, gave Cantrell anything like a race —and she was forced out by a broken oil line at the end of her 11th time around the three-mile course.

Second place in Monday's heat went to D. Cameron Peck's Astraea II, entered from the Detroit Yacht Club, and third to Tom and Howard Hughes' Dukie, also of Detroit. The latter two boats were flagged off the course without finishing after all others had dropped out.

Canada's only Silver Cup contender, Harold Wilson's Miss Canada IV of Ingersoll was dogged again Saturday in the first heat by the bad luck which has followed the craft recently. She had to drop out in the first three-mile lap of Saturday's heat because of a lost propeller, and did not compete Monday.

50% of Apple Crop Lost In Bay of Quinte Storm

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 6.—Up to 50 per cent of the McIntosh, Wealthies and Duchess apples on orchards in some sections of the Bay of Quinte district were shaken off trees as result of the gale which swept across the area at the weekend.

Meteorological reports were that the wind ranged up to 40 miles per hour with gusts reaching 59 miles per hour.

McIntosh apples, still about two weeks away from picking time, were heaviest hit with farmers estimating the windfall loss at from 30 to 50 per cent. Some farmers said that all Wealthies and Duchess had been shaken from their trees.

Young trees and trees which were not heavily loaded in some orchards were shaken clean by the wind, while on large trees which felt the full force of the wind only the central branches retained their fruit. Some farmers reported young trees torn out and upset by the force of the wind.

Farmers made no attempt to estimate the actual cash loss as result of the heavy windfall, it being stated that these apples could still be sold at a lower figure. McIntosh, however, have not attained their full color and are still hard, but can be used for cooking purposes.

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

Officials Start To Work To Allot Commons Seats

OTTAWA, Sept. 5—(CP)—Officials are due to start work within the next few days on a seating arrangement for members of the Commons elected in the June 27 overwhelming majority, the task will not be easy. There are so many Liberal members that some of them will occupy seats ordinarily filled by members of the opposition.

The present standing in the Commons is Liberals 188; Progressive Conservatives 40; C.C.F. 12; Social Credit 10; Independent four; Independent Liberal one; Vacant seven; Total 262.

The seats usually are alloted on a basis of seniority.

The Government had a somewhat similar top-heavy majority after the 1940 election and for five years there were Liberal members to the right and the left of the Speaker.

As a centre front seat, opposite Prime Minister St. Laurent, is reserved for the Leader of the Opposition, some of the Liberals are going to find themselves ranged alongside the Progressive-Conservative forces of George Drew.

Mr. Drew's representatives mainly will be behind him and to his left. Farther down from the Speaker on the Opposition side will be the CCF and Social Credit parties and various Independent members.

Senate

Fisheries Minister Mayhew and John Hart, former Liberal Premier of British Columbia, are being mentioned as possible choices to fill the Pacific Coast province's two vacancies in the Senate.

Mr. Mayhew, 68, has been a member of the Commons since 1937 and has been in the Cabinet for about two years.

Mr. Hart, 76, retired from active politics a few years ago. He served as Premier of British Columbia from 1941 to 1947. He was first elected to the Legislature in 1916.

The British Columbia vacancies were caused by the recent death of Rt. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, one of the Liberal Senators of the province, and by the death about three years ago of Senator R. F. Green of Victoria, another Liberal.

Besides the two British Columbia vacancies, there are nine others in the Senate. There are three in Ontario, two in Nova Scotia, one in Alberta and three in the new province of Newfoundland.

Costly Necklace Lost From Safe

PARIS, Sept. 6 (Reuters) — Police are investigating the disappearance of a 3,000-year-old gold, emerald and ruby necklace valued at about $5,500, from the strongroom of a Champs Elysses Hotel here.

It was deposited there by Antoine Gaudin of Newtonville, Mass.

The necklace was discovered in Asia Minor in 1900 by Gaudin's father. It was for display in an exhibition. Gaudin deposited it in the safe Aug. 23.

When he went to the safe to take out the necklace Sunday, the necklace had disappeared.

Gaudin and each of his two brothers inherited similar necklaces from their father, a distinguished archaeologist who discovered them during his travels in Asia Minor.

Percy Hughes Wins Labor Council's Draw

Four lucky draw winners received prizes Monday night to wind up the annual Labor Day celebration in Riverside Park, sponsored by the Allied Labor Council.

Percy Hughes, of 298 Margaret Ave., took first prize in the ALC draw—a Chesterfield set valued at $275. Second prize, an electric stove valued at $79.50, went to Lonnie Maudsley, of 217 Stewart St. He is the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maudsley. His father is a foreman at Canadian Raybestos.

T. P. Kennedy, who gave his address as Nick's Camp, won the combination lamps valued at $60.

A special draw for a mantel radio was held for members of Local 524 UE-CIO. Winner was C. E. Ruttan, of Aylmer St.

Roseneath Folk Honor Memory Late Residents

ROSENEATH, Sept. 6.—(ENS).—The annual decoration service was held at Merrill's cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Rev. R. C. White, pastor of Roseneath United church, was in charge of the service, with Roseneath choir leading in service of song. Miss Carolyn Atkinson was at the organ.

The service was held on the church lawn. Mr. White chose as his subject "Voices From the Faraway Strand," paying tribute to those who had gone before and who honored the open Bible and built the churches.

A vocal number, "The Wayside Cross," was contributed by the Roseneath male quartette.

Benediction at Graveside

Benediction was pronounced at the grave of Robt. Brown, the newest grave in the cemetery.

Those from a distance attending the service were Misses Hattie Turner, Leslie Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Harvey, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rusaw, Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wakeley and son, Port Hope; George Hoar, Toronto; John Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parker, Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mouncey, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. George Dawe, Miss Lois Fowler, Warkworth.

Labor Holiday Celebrated In Fine Fashion

By The Canadian Press

Canadian workers — including students—got down to serious business today. The last big holiday week-end of the summer, Labor Day, is over.

Celebrations were done up in traditionally fine fashion. Fine weather generaly greeted thousands of citizens who swarmed to special parades, summer resorts and sports events.

The only weather exception was in Ontario and Montreal, where rain in the morning interrupted proceedings. Some floats paraded and units marched in Montreal despite the downpour.

For "junior" it was a sad finale —back to school after two months vacation

At Halifax thousands of workers — including Longshoremen, freight handlers and shipbuilders —marched in a mile-long parade that wound up the port's bicentary celebration.

More than 10,000 persons and nearly half as many automobiles combined to create great traffic jams at Moncton, N.B., as an air show was staged at Moncton airport.

At Toronto, 15,000 labor men marched in a three-mile column of bands and floats to the Canadian National Exhibition. The only note of labor-management strife in the parade was sounded by placards carried by striking lithographers declaring they had been locked out.

Everywhere in the Dominion transportation facilities were taxed to handle the crowds.

Plan Surcharge To Finance New Cobourg Sewage Plant

COBOURG, Sept. 6 (ENS). — This town's new sewage disposal plant, now under construction, will likely be paid for by means of a surcharge on the water rate of each ratepayer, it has been learned. The surcharge would be incorporated in the monthly Hydro and water bills and would be based on a percentage of water used by the householder.

One effect of this method of payment will mean that local industries would pay a higher sewage rate, in proportion, than the average householder.

The sewage plant, construction of which was ordered some time ago by the Provincial Department of Health, is expected to cost $673,000, including interest payments.

The new trunk sewer, built in conjunction with the plant, is already being paid for by the property owners. This part of the project added about three mills to the tax rate, which now stands at 56 mills.

The Town Council is holding a series of private meetings at present to decide the exact percentage of the water rate residents will pay in sewer rental.

ALWAYS WALK TOWARDS THE TRAFFIC

Modern highways are designed for motor vehicles. So, when you travel them on foot, always remember to walk towards oncoming traffic—on the left hand side of the road—and, better still, on the shoulder! You can keep an eye on cars and trucks as they near you, and, if necessary, step safely off the pavement to let them pass. Self-preservation, said to be the first law of Nature, is also a "must" for every Good Citizen!

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Will The Provincial Loan Fund Affect Peterborough?

The fifty million dollar loan fund which is being set up by Premier Frost's government to aid municipalities to finance costly local improvements (such as the building or renovation of sewage disposal plants) has been generously praised by the press of Ontario. It does seem to be an excellent practical scheme, and we add our approval to the general chorus, even though Peterborough is unlikely to benefit from it at all.

* * *

The way the new venture into municipal finance will operate is this. The Ontario Government is setting up a Crown Company called the Ontario Municipal Improvement Corporation. The Government will borrow up to fifty million dollars from private financial houses at the current rates of interest, and make the money available to the new Crown Corporation. This Company, will lend money, (by buying their debentures), to municipalities which are financing local public works. The Crown Company will make no profit, so the only charge to the municipalities for this service will be small handling charges, and, of course, the interest at the rate which the Province borrowed the money. It is presumed that most municipalities will benefit from this Fund—and be encouraged to go ahead with necessary local improvements — since the Ontario Government ordinarily is able to borrow money more cheaply than a municipality. Places like Fenelon Falls, to cite Premier Frost's example, often have to pay five or six per cent. on debentures when another and larger municipality pays only three per cent.

* * *

The yardstick of size does not exactly measure the probable advantage of the scheme to towns and cities. Cobourg, for instance, has a good financial reputation, and borrows money at the same interest rates as Ontario has been able to get it. (For that matter, it was not two decades ago that the Province itself paid six per cent. on its own debentures.) The large city of Windsor may benefit, for Windsor defaulted on its bonds in the early thirties, and since then investment houses have demanded higher rates of interest.

* * *

Peterborough's financial stability and its record of paying its bills put it in a favourable borrowing position. Last month Peterborough debentures for nearly two million dollars were quickly bought up by financial houses at a premium price of 100.216. That is, the six Toronto firms paid 21 cents extra on every $100 worth of debentures for the sake of getting them, even though the debentures bore low interest rates, rates from 2¾ to 3¼ per cent. (The rates varied with the maturity dates of the debentures.) City officials feel that even the Ontario government cannot borrow money more cheaply, and the citizens generally are pleased at such outward indications of their city's inward strength. The new $50,000,000 Provincial fund may be advantageously used by some municipalities, but very unlikely by Peterborough.

Five Percenters

The lustiness of the American political scene has always fascinated Canadian and British onlookers. Compared to Washington, Hollywood is a mere novice at the art of showmanship, and the manufacturers of klieg lights probably smile at their gross revenues and bow down reverently in the direction of Washington—not Los Angeles. United States dailies have long since relegated most Hollywood news to the inside sections, but just a hint of skulduggery in Washington is enough to cause even the New York Times to publish expansive details.

The latest example of this sort of affair is the "5 per cent" inquiry, which centres around Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the President's close friend and military aid. It started after an inquiry by a Senate Investigation Committee subcommittee into five percenters. These individuals apparently flourish in Washington like mushrooms in a prosperous pasture. The agencies of the Government, both buying and regulating, are involved in dealings which run into billions each year. Big business companies have established permanent observation posts in the capital in order to keep informed on the latest government moves, but smaller firms rely upon five percenters, whose stock in trade is "contacts" and a detailed knowledge of government operations. Five percenters get their name from the rate of interest collected from clients on government orders.

General Vaughan, according to reports is close to the centre of the five percenters. He is a close personal friend of the President, and this seems to place him in a very influential position. James V. Hunt is another five percenter, who might claim the rather dubious honour of being the man who set off the current flurry in officialdom. John Maragon, another prominent member of the species, seems to be one of those political enigmas that turns up every so often in American politics.

As each of the star witnesses gave his testimony, the case became mired more and more in utter confusion. Such unrelated topics as perfume, deep freezers, molasses, race tracks and distilleries, were uncovered, but latest reports indicate that the net results of the investigation are still in doubt.

We do not attempt to analyze or explain the affair, but we cannot help being interested.

Friendly Schools

This morning the year began anew for a fifth of the population of Peterborough and district. School started. It is usual at this time to think specially of the children who began their school careers. It is a momentous day for them as for their parents. It is the beginning of what is by law a ten-year process, an entire seventh of their allotted three score years and ten. For some of the children it is an entry upon a course which they may follow for fifteen or twenty years, to university graduation and post-graduate studies.

Such a lengthy preparation for living —even the shorter period of ten years— is astounding when one compares it with the fostering other species of animals get. A kitten gets a few weeks of care, a colt a year or two, and then they are put out into the world to fend for themselves. The lengthy schooling given the young of humans is one of the most significant indications of the disparity between the brute and the human world. Usually the more complex and mature the civilization is, the longer the period of formal preparation for it.

This morning one thought of the pupils returning, and of the new pupils, venturing into a new world in fear and wonder. But what of the pupils who are not returning, for whom the nine o'clock bell will never again ring? They have completed their ten or twelve years of schooling and have already gone out to the world of affairs, to the business of living for themselves as adults. Few of them could have let the hour pass without nostalgia for the friendliness of the school, the joys of comradeship, and the easy routine of the classroom. Last June when they passed out of the school's doors forever, there was a bustling cheerful unreality about the momentous day. Two months have passed; they have tasted the pleasures and disciplines of the adult world, and today the full force of the contrast between the new and old ways of living has struck them. Few look back on their schooldays now ended without affectionate regret. This is their tribute to the new ways of schooling, which is a generally pleasant experience, under sympathetic teachers and in comfortable modern buildings. School days are dear old golden days, with little of the stern rule of yesteryear.

High Food Prices

The cost of living has risen by seven-tenths of a point to a new high of 162.8. The increase was caused mainly by a rise in the food index, which is included as a large item in the general index of living costs, food being a major item in household budgets. Food now costs more than twice as much as it did in the years 1935-39. The index of food prices for July (the month to which the Bureau of Statistics latest indices relate) was 209.2, an increase of two points since June, of 6.3 since May. It should be noted that the cost-of-living figures are for the month of July, and that the full benefit of the year's crop of vegetables and fruits had not been reached. It was also an off-month for eggs, so their cost soared. We may with confidence expect that the figures for August and September will show a decline from the July peak.

The great monthly jumps in the cost of living which shocked householders a year ago are no longer recurring. Any changes in prices are fractional. It seems that the new price levels have stabilized. We could wish, however, that the fractional changes were down, not up. The latest figures given by American officials show that the cost of living has declined in the United States—fractionally.

The Ghosted Glens

By IVOR BROWN

(Editor's Note: Charles Edward Stuart (1720-1788) known as the "Young Pretender" was the grandson of King James II of England, and elder son of James, the "Old Pretender". The article refers to the famous rebellion (known as the Forty Five) which he organized in 1745, with the object of restoring the Stuart monarchy. He landed in Scotland in that year and after some preliminary successes marched into England. Desertions and the obvious lack of English support drove him back to Scotland pursued by English armies. He was finally defeated at Culloden, in Inverness-shire on April 16, 1746. This decisive battle sealed the fate of the House of Stuart. Charles Edward escaped to France with the help of Flora Macdonald and spent the rest of his life in exile. He died in Rome in 1788. "A.E."—pseudonym of the Irish poet George Russell.)

❖ ❖ ❖

"WHERE there lingers a legend of Bonnie Prince Charlie." You see it written under nearly all the pictures of the Highland glens that fill the illustrated papers in September. September is the high season of Highland visitation: the tourists in a stream of motor-coaches pass up the grey, savage and misty chasms and down the calm, green and noble straths. Out in the West, wherever they go, there will be in the hotel, a picture, a song-book, or local tradition all centred on the man who might have been Charles III of England. That title remains in reserve: but a new claimant, perhaps, of the years to come is now profiting, we hope, in his pram from the pine-drenched, tingling mountain air that comes down so sweetly to Royal Deeside.

❖ ❖ ❖

CHARLES EDWARD, the Young Pretender, the sad hero of the Forty-Five, who still so ghosts the glens of a nation unquestionably loyal to the House of Windsor, is one of the puzzles of history. Paradox surrounds him. The hero of Scotland, he was brought, sparsely equipped, to its shore by aid of financiers and political schemers in France; they backed him as a "long shot" and, when the gamble was likely to go wrong, they callously dropped him as a rotten investment. The promised help never came; and so Culloden.

Though a Stuart, he was a very diluted Scot: his blood was half Polish, partly French, partly Italian. His mother spoke to him as "Carlo Mio". When he launched on his desperate errand, 204 years ago, his chief companions were mainly Irish. Walsh, Sheridan, Kelly and O'Sullivan were four out of the Seven Men of Moidart. One of the others was Strickland, an Englishman.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE response to his landing was small at first and never very large. Many of the Highlanders were apathetic or opposed; of the cities, Glasgow and Aberdeen never gave him any welcome or support.

Moreover, there is a mystery about the "Bonnie" aspect of the Prince, supposedly a Chevalier of Romance. In some portraits he seems plain and looks rather dull and sheepish, but that may have been due to the incompetence of the artist. In a recent book by a devoted student of Jacobitism, "The Young Adventurer", by Donald Nicholas, there is one picture (date 1750) owned by the author, which makes the Prince look puffy and pop-eyed, and another drawing (1744?) which gives him a squint and a sulky, petulant mouth. Yet most of his militant adherents spoke of him as fine to look upon. The women's vote was often against him.

❖ ❖ ❖

YES, despite the legends, he was a man's man. He was voted "not handsome" by the ladies of Glasgow who, we are told, would not look at him. He suffered from the embarrassing affliction of nose-bleeding at moments of emotion. His sex-life was scarcely a happy or romantic one. He was so ungrateful to Flora Macdonald for the great risk she took on his behalf, that she never heard from him again. Even Mr. Nicholas, ardent defender of the Prince, has to admit:

> Indeed, although Charles did not die till 1788, he never communicated with any of those faithful friends to whom he owed so much. The Stuarts are not celebrated for either long memory or gratitude.

His forty years of exile were a shabby decline from glorious adventure to cadging and tippling in soured unemployment. There was no romantic curtain to his play.

❖ ❖ ❖

AND yet—And yet there are the legends, there is the ghost in the glen. Somehow, by personal magic, this alien invader had Scotticised himself enough in a few weeks to have and to hold the hearts of increasing thousands until his weakness was made plain at Derby and with it retreat, disillusion and desertion. In his escape from Culloden he showed bravery and endurance beyond imagining; he was ever courteous: above all he was merciful. In striking contrast with his opponents, he never encouraged slaughter or practised revenge on prisoners and powerless folk.

SO he lost; and yet was never beaten, if it be victory to remain a presence where other ghosts have faded into oblivion. He was absorbed in the mythology of a nation which knew vaguely that it was cheated by the Act of Union and has felt ever since, subconsciously for long and now more openly, that it has been robbed of what the Irish "A.E." used to call "The National Being". The Young Pretender filled that hunger and so he could appeal even to the radical Robert Burns, who was aptly called "half Jacobin, half a Jacobite". He appeals, as an echo of Scottish sentiment coming out of the West, even now to all sorts of people who know that another Stuart Restoration would probably have led to confusion's master-piece.

Charles Edward, as well as his father, might, in victory, have been a deplorable King. But none has made a more admirable ghost. And how lucky in the end it was for the House of Hanover. After he escaped, Charles in his decline across the seas was no menace; but Charles dragged to London and beheaded would have been not just a ghost in the glens; he would have been an army of demons screaming and tearing at the heart of Scotland.

Tito's Reply

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

IF the Soviet Government accepts Marshal Tito's offer to facilitate the departure of Soviet citizens from Yugoslavia the Marshal stands to gain, in peace of mind, far more than he stands to lose in diplomatic prestige. His offer "to approach the solution of all disputed questions with U.S.S.R. in accordance with, and in the spirit of, the international obligations undertaken by both Governments" may sound rather tame after the abusive language used by his Russian critics. But it should help to expose the real nature, and the real weakness, of the Russian charges; and if he means to submit what is clearly a dangerous dispute to the judgement of the United Nations he will be well within his rights.

For the last twelve months the Soviet Government's only real complaint against Marshal Tito has been his refusal to obey Russian orders. And it is just because, in his obedient days, he was such a good Communist that he has since become so dangerous an enemy. In attacking the present Yugoslav Government, the Russians are attacking a dictatorship similar to their own. For reasons with which they are perfectly familiar, their agents in Yugoslavia are unable to make use of the democratic privileges accorded to their agents in the countries of Western Europe. On the other hand, in common with the opponents of any dictator, they enjoy the one great advantage of those who must work in secret—their strength is never obvious.

It is this hidden danger from within which, until its gravity is known, must be regarded as the most serious threat to Marshal Tito's regime. Anything he can do to reduce it will add to his security. The extradition of a few Russian citizens will help, but they will undoubtedly leave friends behind them to embarrass the Marshal in every way they can. Before long they may be reinforced by the arrival in Macedonia of those remnants of Mr. Zachariades's defeated forces who still support the Cominform. There are also rumours that guerrilla troops may invade Yugoslavia from Bulgaria, from Hungary, or from Albania.

The Cominform is certainly in earnest in its verbal attacks on Marshal Tito and might well decide, before long, to supplement its diplomatic offensive with an irregular, but determined, military attack. Although Marshal Tito knows more about guerrilla warfare than most European rulers his mountainous territories are well suited to the kind of operations he practised, with such success, against the Germans. By copying his tactics his present enemies could certainly cause him a great deal of anxiety without much risk to themselves. If his enemies are bluffing, Marshal Tito's firm reply to their latest accusations will not, perhaps, induce them to expose their true strength as yet. But he is obviously right to try to compel the Russians to keep on arguing on paper, rather than in the mountains.

A Wage Comparison

(L'Evenement-Journal, Quebec)

Windsor, Hamilton and Toronto, three Ontario cities, offer average salaries which are the highest among the nine principal cities of the country, that is to say, $47.41, $45.98 and $43.16 a week, respectively. The reason is easily explained. These highly industrialized centres group among them the most important industries, steel and iron foundries, and the metallurgical plants which feed the thousands of secondary industries. These big establishments demand highly specialized workers who command big salaries. That is why employment is better paid than in the cities of Quebec. If the comparison is pursued, it is to be noted that the average salary in Montreal is $40.95. Here there is a great number of diversified industry and less base industry than in Toronto and Windsor. Quebec, an administrative city par excellence, is the place where the salaries are lowest at $34.45, among the nine big Canadian cities.

Using Their Heads

(Winnipeg Tribune)

One of the so-called minor incidents in connection with the recent visit of the Viking ship to England was that practically all the oarsmen had worn out the seats of their trousers rowing. Before the landing party could take formal possession of the island, members of the Hengist and Horsa commemorative expedition had to be equipped with siren suits supplied by a British destroyer.

The London Spectator wondering how on earth our rude forefathers managed, when the modern trouser seat cannot stand up to (or more properly sit down to) a 600-mile row, made a few discreet enquiries. It found that in the old days of the Jutes, Picts and their Associates, expeditions were timed according to the winds. If voyagers in those times wished to go east, they waited until a west wind was due. By this simple device they avoided excessive rowing, and undue erosion, of the seats of their battledress. It was slower but caused less friction.

This apparently did not become really complicated until the time of Napoleon when armies began to march on their stomachs. Since then the wear and tear on clothes, and practically everything else, has been terrific.

There is a lot to be said for waiting for a favourable wind.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

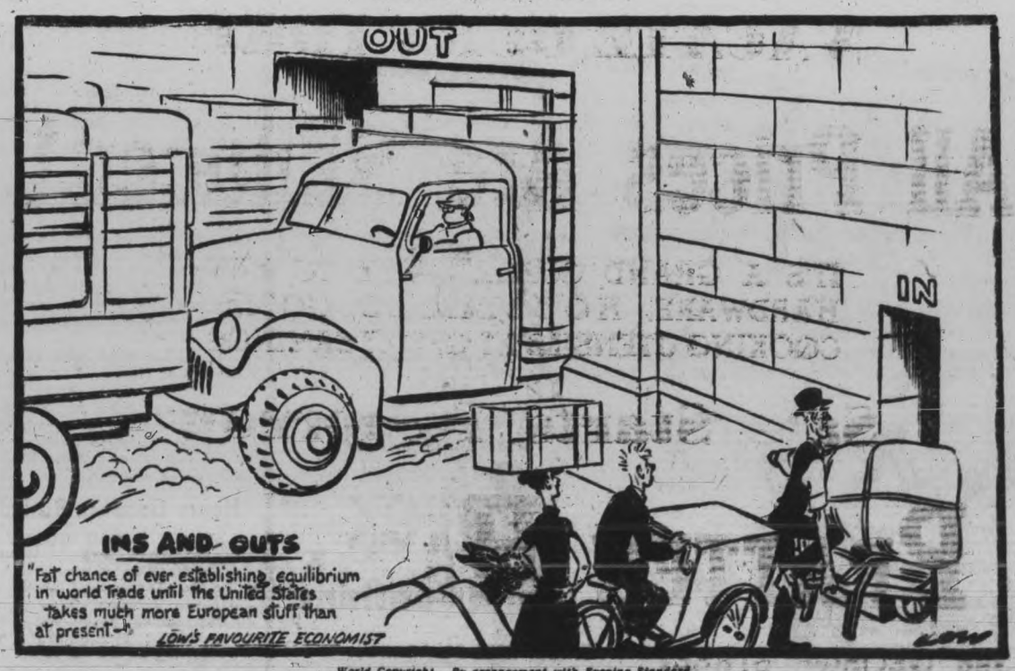
Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.... Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear. (Heb. 11: 1, 3.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection?....The measure thereof is longer than the earth, and broader than the sea. (Job 11: 7, 9.)

❖ ❖ ❖

I will sing of the mercies of the Lord for ever: with my mouth will I make known thy faithfulness to all generations....And the heavens shall praise thy wonders, O Lord: thy faithfulness also in the congregation of the saints....O Lord God of hosts, who is a strong Lord like unto thee? or to thy faithfulness round about thee?....



Blessed is the people that know the joyful sound: they shall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countenance. In thy name shall they rejoice all the day: and in thy righteousness shall they be exalted. For thou art the glory of their strength: and in thy favour our horn shall be exalted. (Ps. 89: 1, 5, 8, 15-17.)

A Subtle Approach

(Le Devoir, Montreal)

If there is one part of the provincial autonomy which should be intangible it is that of culture, because there one comes upon the real reason which has made of our country a federal state, rather than a centralized one. Allow the intellectual activities of Canadians to be centralized—wherein more and more they are in touch with the State—and Confederation loses its profound significance, and French Canadians lose their chief political support. One may quibble a lot about details, about questions of administration, about social problems, concerning which the centralizers insist that they have nothing to do with culture. But the division of powers between the federal government and the provinces remains firm on this point. Beyond all question, the provinces retain education, education in all its forms, which envelope as it were and guarantee a culture. And now little by little, without admitting it, a domain formerly considered as sacred is being penetrated, so cleverly that the federal state can make a show of refusing at first, then of surrendering to irresistible pressure. It will be like the man who "would be glad to give; but would that be constitutional? Would the provinces accept it?" And if the provinces refuse they would appear reactionary, medieval and obscurantist.

Ontario Reports 21 Fatalities During Labor Holiday Week-end

By The Canadian Press

Ontario, with 21 fatalities, led the violent death list of 40 in Canada during the Labor Day week-end a Canadian Press compilation showed today.

The total, with four others missing and feared drowned, was a little higher than last year's 42 over the same week-end.

There were six fatalities in Nova Scotia, five in Quebec, four in Manitoba, two in Newfoundland and one each in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Some 29 deaths were in highway accidents, a reflection of abnormally heavy traffic in the last big holiday of the summer. There were five drownings and six deaths from other causes.

Newfoundland had a double drowning near Grand Falls. Two trappers, Hodges Toulett, 50 and Alphonsus Best, 32, died when their boat overturned.

4 Men Missing

Four men were missing in two other instances. At Grand Beach, Man., police hunted for Herbert Newman and Kenneth Rees, missing after two canoes upset in Lake Winnipeg. At Timmins, miners Otto Winsa and Atte Siren are missing after their overturned boat was discovered in a lake.

Ontario's 15 highway fatalities led the list of deaths in the province. There were three drownings, one death from burns, a woman was gored by a bull and a man was hit by a train.

A number of deaths occurred Monday.

Four-year-old Isabelle McArthur of Durham was killed near Owen Sound when two automobiles collided; eight-year-old Carole Ann King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles King of Preston, was killed when hit by an automobile at Kitchener; Alexander Moore, 20, of Toronto, died of injuries in an accident at Aurora when his motorcycle hit a bump and threw him; Mrs. Jean Boyd, 54, was killed at Wasaga Beach when hit by a bus; Elmer David Polk of Portland, died at Perth when his car went into a ditch; eight-year-old Bobby Porter died at Bowmanville from injuries suffered when he darted into the path of a car.

Tourist Casualties

Tourists figured in two fatal highway crashes. Esther Johnson, 28, of Berkley, Mich., was killed 25 miles west of London, Ont., when her automobile plunged into a ravine Raymond Florek, 24, of Detroit, was killed and six other persons suffered injuries in a head-on collision of two U.S. automobiles near St. Thomas, Ont.

A truck-bicycle collision a few miles west of Toronto cost the life of the cyclist, Joseph Mallett, 55, of the Toronto suburb of Dixie Gordon Cowie, 26, of Kingston, died after his motorcycle collided with a transport truck near Belleville, Ont.

Another motorcyclist, Martin Aitkenhead 19, of Hamilton, was fatally injured in a smashup two miles south of Hamilton.

Hits Loaded Bus

Murray Elford, 21, of Essex, Ont., was killed when his automobile struck a loaded bus near Maidstone, 14 miles southeast of Windsor, Ont.

The death Sunday of Norman Maille 15, of New Liskeard, brought to four the death toll in a Northern Ontario level-crossing smash Three other persons were killed early Friday in the crash at Thornloe, Ont., 20 miles north of Haileybury.

At Midland, Gordon Berrialt of Midland died from injuries suffered when he was hit by a truck.

Thomas Syrett, 40-year-old railway worker, was killed when struck by a freight train near Jackfish, 100 miles east of Port Arthur.

Edward Duncan, 33, publisher of the weekly Wiarton Echo, was drowned at Wiarton in the Owen Sound district after jumping into Georgian Bay from a flaming motorboat. A companion, Andrew Lambrese, was rescued.

Boat Capsizes

When a light motorboat was swamped and capsized near St. Catharines, John Gough, 21, of St. Catharines, was drowned. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Taskey, both 21, of St. Catharines, who had been with Gough in the boat, swam ashore.

James J. Harrison, 42, an accountant from Harriston, Ont., was drowned in the St. Mary's river at Sault Ste Marie, Ont.

Injured Thursday when struck by an automobile, Benjamin Chamillard, 63, of Hawkesbury, died Sunday.

Mrs John Brennan, 29, was fatally gored by a bull on her farm at Dunfville.

In Toronto, Reuben Jones, 28, died of burns suffered in a vain attempt to rescue his two sons from fire which gutted their frame home near Toronto Friday night.

Canadian Play Big Hit At Edinburgh Festival

Robertson Davies is the author of the one-act play, Eros at Breakfast, which was chosen at the Dominion Drama Festival to represent Canada at the Edinburgh Festival. He is editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

By ROBERTSON DAVIES.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 6—The first performance of Eros at Breakfast at the Edinburgh Festival ended an hour and a half ago. Now, with a cable messenger expected shortly, I must attempt to make some estimate of its degree of success. That is a most difficult task.

The audience rarely laughed during the performance, but on the other hand they applauded loud and long when the play was over. Canadian actors are used to judging the success of a play by laughs. What are we to think when laughs are few but when something very like an ovation greets the close of the curtain?

Certainly the Edinburgh audience is attentive to a degree rarely met with in Canada. They listened to Eros with a concentration which could be plainly felt. There were moments when they seemed to be a little shocked, for Edinburgh is even more readily shocked than Toronto.

What were we to make of their attitude? All that we can do obviously is to rely on the word of our Edinburgh friends, who were delighted with the play.

It was, they said, utterly unexpected and a type of drama quite unknown to their own theatre.

They praised the finish of the acting and the beauty and gaiety of the costumes and furnishings They said things about the quality of the writing which it would be immodest to record here.

The actors have apparently given the Scottish amateurs our hosts, food for thought. Here realism appears to be the fashion. Eros as a fantastic play bringing up problems which have not previously troubled them.

On the basis of what the Edinburgh audience has been saying, the Canadian play and the Canadian actors are a great success. The presentation of Eros is part of a program of international drama which is being shown during the last week of the festival under the auspices of the Scottish Community Drama Association.

One group appears with a distinguished Scottish drama society from Paisley which is seen in Wind Along the Waste, by T. M. Watson. This is a very clever piece of what is called somewhat unjustly kitchen comedy. In setting style of acting and impact on the audience it could hardly be more of a contrast to the Canadian offering.

The third play of the evening is Frairsteinen by Bjorne Bjornsen, which is done by a Norwegian group from Oslo.

It is a mime acted without words, but with effective music. Amateur drama, formerly a rarity in Norway, became popular during the war as an expression of the resistance movement. The Oslo group is part professional, part amateur. Its performance was magnificent and moved the audience to great enthusiasm.

The combination of pantomime, dance and music represents a type of theatre work little known in Canada which we might profitably cultivate.

The Canadian group, arriving late last Friday night, rehearsed on Saturday. As any one who has had theatre experience will readily understand, the production had suffered by travelling and the day was spent in bringing it up once again to concert pitch.

The setting properties and costumes could not be used until the dress rehearsal on Sunday, which began at 10 in the morning and went on until 4:30 in the afternoon. Six hours may seem a long time to rehearse a play which takes at most 45 minutes to act, but it was not long enough.

The dress rehearsal was thoroughly depressing to the directors and the actors, experienced though they are in such matters. There is a saying that a bad dress rehearsal makes a good performance, but unfortunately this adage cannot be relief upon. Every actor and director of any experience has seen bad dress rehearsals which were followed by disastrous performances.

On Sunday afternoon the Canadian group were wondering seriously whether death might not be preferable to dishonor and the only persons not depressed were myself and my wife.

"We thought that the performance only needed an audience to pull it together and that proved to be the case. The kindly, encouraging, first-night audience warmed actors by their spontaneous burst of applause for Grant Macdonald's deceptively simple setting as soon as the curtain rose. After that, all was plain sailing.

The little theatre is an unusual and charming playhouse in the older quarter of Edinburgh. It is at present part of a community centre. One enters it through a somewhat forbidding stone archway which leads into a courtyard and the stage door is in one of those circular outside towers which are characteristic of Edinburgh's older houses and which contain stairways.

The interior of the theatre is charming and somewhat recalls Hart House in Toronto, though it is less austere. The walls are panelled to a height of perhaps six feet and the vaulted ceiling is supported by heavy beams This is modern work and makes no pretense to be otherwise, but it fits admirably with the exterior of the building.

The stage, though small, is convenient and has a lighting installation which not more than two little theatres in Canada so far as I know could equal.

Michael Meiklejohn, co-director of Eros with Gwendolyn Blair, has used this fine lighting equipment to the fullest advantage.

As Canadians we have been overwhelmed by the warmth of our reception here. We are delighted to know that we have been able to give our hosts a surprise with the nature of our play and the accomplishment of our actors.

We feel that we have been through a most difficult test and have come through it successfully and with honor.

Lacrosse Petes Rubbed Out By Hamilton In Fourth Fray

A four-goal drive in the dying minutes of the OLA senior "A" quarter-final game here Saturday gave Hamilton Tigers a 9-8 win over the Petes to sweep the series in four straight. The tying and winning goals counted with Arn Dugan in the penalty box. Dugan previously had led the local attack as they kept in front, scoring four goals, with Leo Teatero, Jim McNulty, Jack Foote and Bob Thorpe getting the others. Jack Gair was the big gun for Tigers with four markers, Eddie Powers scoring a pair, and Russ Black, Tony Capola and Merv McKenzie one each.

Hamilton led 1-0 the first quarter, but were down 3-1 at the half and 5-4 to end the third. Play was fast and close all the way, with a lot of slashing penalties handed out in the close checking. Both goalies shone in every quarter. The Tigers were minus Isaacs and Brian McDonald, the latter probably being out for the season with an injured shoulder. About 1,800 saw the finale here.

The teams:

Hamilton—Goal, Flavelle; defence, Teather and Edmonds; centre, Black; wings, Lee and Love; rover, Dorney; alternates, McKenzie, Elliott, Gair, Grainger, Capola, Welsh and Powers.

Petes.—Goal, Speck; defence, J. Creighton and D. Vitarelli; centre, Thorpe; wings, Foote and Dugan; rover E. Creighton, alternates, Chute, L. Vitarelli, Magee, Howse, Teatero, McNulty and Lewis.

Referees G. Madsen and B. Bernard.

East City Boys Capture Peewee Series

East City Peewees made it two straight over Bowmanville Saturday at the Bowl defeating their rivals 9-6 to take the OBA baseball series. Coach Fred Garvey sent Paul McIlmoyle to the mound again and the husky left-hander repeated his Tuesday performance fanning 13 batters while walking but two. The locals outhit their rivals in a hard fought game and showed a margin of superiority in all departments.

The entire team played good ball. Don Stewart hit a triple while Bill Garvey and Paul McIlmoyle hit doubles to lead the hitters along with Baptie who played a nice game, Brian Guerin shone behind the plate while the outfield trio looked good.

Cricketers Get First Round Over Dentonia

By C. H. IRESON.

The Peterborough - Whitakers Cricket Club defeated Toronto Dentonia Park 34 to 28 here on Saturday in the first round of the George Woods Memorial Trophy competition. At match time, but six Dentonia men were present, owing to sickness and motor delays.

Play finally commenced by mutual agreement at 2:45 with Dentonia batting first to give the absent players a chance to arrive. They fared badly, losing all the available players for 28 for five wickets. Booth took four for 15 runs. The locals got the necessary runs with two men out and the game was officially over, giving a promising match an unsatisfactody ending owing to Dentonia's shortage of players. But it was necessary to play and both clubs agreed.

Afterward, and quite unofficially, it was agreed to have each side bowl 13 overs to provide more cricket, and in this the locals scored 79 for three wickets.

Booth 26, Roberts 19, A. Pope 19 not out. By this time the missing players arrived, and Dentonia scored 65 for seven wickets. Pope had two wickets for six runs, Pyle two for 21, Wright two for 18 and Roberts one for 12. The official score:

Dentonia Park

D. Gallagher, c Jennings b Booth	9
E. Hoburt, b Pope	0
G. Mann, b Booth	5
E. Boyden, not out	0
B. Buckmaster, b Booth	4
R. Clipsham, c Wright, b Booth	4
Extras	6
Total for 5 wickets	28

There were only 8 overs bowled and Booth got 4 wickets for 5 runs and Pope 1 for 7.

Peterborough-Whitakers

W. Wright, c Drake, b Mann	3
B. Roberts, not out	14
H. Pyle, b Mann	2
F. Booth, not out	11
Extras	8
Total for 2 wickets	34

Only 9 overs were bowled.

Gonzales Captures Tennis Championship

FOREST HILLS, NY, Sept. 6 (AP). — Richard (Pancho) Gonzales of Los Angeles still is the amateur tennis champion of the United States—but it is extremely doubtful that Pancho will remain simon-pure long, or that he will be back next year to defend the title.

At the moment, Pancho is not talking. He is too happy over the amazing comeback he made in the finals of the national tournament Monday to discuss plans for the future.

Two sets down and facing what appeared to be certain defeat, the 21-year-old champion brought his game to a peak to overhaul Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Cal., 16-18, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

In the stands watching his every move, were Jack Kramer and Bobby Riggs, who have made no secret of the fact they want new blood for the professional tour they will undertake next year.

NICE TRY—Nobody paid much attention to 19-year-old Bobby Fair when the small Toronto golfer filed his entry in the United States Amateur at Rochester, NY. But Fair had the crowds with him as he knocked off four opponents in the match-play tournament—his first in the US—before bowing to veteran Frank Strafaci, 3 and 2, in the fifth round. No Canadian has done as well in the Amateur since C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ont., won the title in 1923.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

The end came suddenly, though rather painfully, for the Petes' lacrossers Saturday night in Miller Bowl. Coasting along late in the fourth quarter on a three-goal lead, the Petes suddenly faded under a four-goal drive by Hamilton Tigers, who took the tilt 9-8 and the senior "A" series in four straight. A goodish crowd groaned its way out after the sudden debacle. Petes were in front at halftime, at the end of the third and till near the finish of the fourth. They were a man shy, in the sin bin, as the tying and winning markers were counted. A tough one to lose after a fine fight, and that washes 'em out for this year.

* * * * * *

They didn't do too badly for their first year up, and they've drawn whopping good crowds all the way as the fans stuck with them. Refereeing of Gus Madsen was really good this final fray, whilst Ref Bun Bernard was just a passenger, letting Gus do the work. A close-checking scrap with a lot of slashing penalties, and both goalies shining. Arn Dugan led the local attack, with Bob Thorpe, Jack Foote, Leo Teatero and Jack Howse also standing out—the whole team fighting hard. Jack Gair starred for the winners. They're a big, smart squad and, even minus McDonald and Isaacs—two of their aces—they proved a shade better here than the Petes in this windup number.

Action For The Men

Three of our men's softball squads are still in hectic action. Oshawa Broncs tackle the Uniteds at 8.30 tonight in the Bowl, second of their two-of-three OASA senior "B" playdowns, and Uniteds must take this one or they're through. Ought to be a dandy diamond duel and rates a hefty crowd. Cosmos are off this eve for the Motor City to open intermediate "A" playdown 'gainst Pedlars. And Johnny Russelle's local Merchants won 3-2 Saturday over North York Lions in the big CNE tourney behind Hunter's fine hurling. They now hit into semi-finals tomorrow at 7.30 p.m. against Toronto Crothers, a powerful pack. Dalton injured his knee again in the Saturday game. Fans wanting to see the semi-final may go by bus. Call 7502.

* * * * * *

'Twas a sad tale over at Riverside on Saturday eve, too, as Oshawa Merchants whitewashed the Petes 6-0 for a 2-0 edge in their best-of-seven COBL finals. Bill Gingerich continued his mound mastery o'er the men o' Murphy with a five-hit chore, whiffing 13. His buddies bashed the turnip hard, with five extra-base blows, as Bill Edger toiled seven heats and Lefty Dadson finished. Joe Lowery and Pat Wilson got two hits each for the Petes but the rest of the boys couldn't solve Bill slants. Bidgood and Jubenville made a lot of noise with their Oshawa bats. Menzies made Gingerich look silly once on a smart play to force a balk. Brown fielded fine again.

* * * * * *

Some More Whitewash

Oshawa Merchants are giving away whitewash these days, particularly to the Petes in these COBL finals. Down in the Motor City yesterday, they blanked the locals 3-0 in a fine fray. A twirling duel between Dadson and Sutton, with Ticcony finally starting Oshawa off on the right foot, and Gingerich rushing to Sutton's rescue near the finish. Anyone's game with Oshawa getting two more hits and having no errors to the Petes' one—but it came out a victory for the Merchants. George Ticcony was given a presentation by teammates for winning the COBL batting crown with a thumping .429 mark. These same squads clash at 5.30 here in Riverside tomorrow, and the Petes must win. Or else ....

* * * * * *

Peterborough Panthers are drilling hard for their ORFU grid campaign now, as they open in Oshawa this coming week-end. There will be no group playoff, the top team at schedule's end going into provincial "A" playdowns. Runner-up gets a crack at "B" competition. In case of a tie for first or second spots, the teams concerned have a sudden-deather on the field of the club compiling most points during the regular season. Panther prospects are quite keen on their chances this semester under the scrappy coaching of Spike Matthews, who will also play, and they figure a well-balanced group playing games here under the arcs will draw bigger football crowds this autumn than ever before.

Frank Wright and Bill Delyea of the "Y" did fine in finishing fourth in their CNE diving competitions.... And Harry Bakman of this city won Class "C" at the CNE with his Johnson outboard motor boat.... Thank goodness that sports-bloated week-end is over.

Oshawa Takes 6-0 Win Against Petes

Blanking the Petes 6-0 here Saturday, Oshawa Merchants took a 2-0 margin in the best-of-seven COBL finals. Bill Gingerich threw five-hit ball and fanned 13 in a fine slab showing for the Oshawa right-hander. Bill Edger was hit fairly hard on the Petes' mound and gave way in the seventh to Lefty Dadson, who finished strong. Fred Bidgood led the Merchants' attack with four for five, with Red Jubenville hitting a triple and two doubles in five times up. Pat Wilson and Joe Lowrey got two hits each for the homesters.

Both sides were a little loose defensively in spots, though a Petes' double play, fine fielding by Danny Brown, and catches by Hanna and Bill Cook were features. Oshawa hit the apple hard with runners aboard to earn five of their runs. Al Menzies tricked Gingerich into a balk in the sixth, starting to leave the batter's box just before a pitch, but stopping with his feet in the outside corner, making the twirler hesitate on his pitch.

Carleton Wins Matthews Cup

Carleton County won decisively from Wentworth County here Labor Day in the county cricket final for the championship and the R. C. Matthews Trophy. On July 1, Carleton won by one run over Peterborough, the winners last year, Peterborough having defeated Wentworth for this trophy.

Carleton batted first and ran up a score of 275 for eight wickets when the inning was declared closed. F. Simpson scored a fine century of 106, assisted by N. Snipper 56, J. McMullen 38 not out, and C. H. Little 29. Bowlers had a rough time, S. Salmon getting three wickets for 65 runs and K. Langton two for 50, the other three men being run out.

On going to bat, Wentworth failed badly, only G. Archer with 28 not out making any defence against the great bowling of C. H Little, who took nine wickets fo 34 runs, and their total was only 65.

Next Saturday, the Peterborough-Whitaker team plays Yorkshire Club of Toronto in the second round for the Woods Memorial Trophy.

Gallant Fox won the mile-and-five-furlong race at Belmont Park 19 years ago today to add $66,040 to his earnings. The great three-year-old brought his total earnings to $317,715, more than $14,000 above the former record set by Zev.

Campbellford Captures League Title

MARMORA, Sept. 6 (ENS). — Campbellford Juvenile baseball team won the championship of the resurrected Trent Valley League for 1949 by beating the other finalists, Marmora, 8-3 on the latter's grounds, Saturday evening.

Marmora had the better of play for the first three innings when they led by the solitary run scored. Macoun's homer in the fourth, however, gave his team fresh heart and good hitting coupled with three errors by home players gave the visitors a substantial lead which they held.

In the fifth, Drummond replaced Mantle on the mound, who waged a good duel with McNaughton until the end. It was a best-out-of-five series with Marmora's only win being at home on the previous Saturday. Teams:

Campbellford—Herd, lf; Jeffs, cf; Macoun, 1b; Bennett, c; Hardy, 3b; Neal, ss; Simpson, 2b; Dunk, rf; McNaughton, p.

Marmora—Darrah, lf; Mumby, c; Dikun, cf; Mantle, p, rf; Borland, 1b; Brown, ss; Jones, rf; Auger, 3b; Brooks, 2b; Drummond, rf, p.

Score by innings:

		R	H	E
Campbellford	000 600 2	8	9	2
Marmora	100 110 0	3	8	4

Umpires—H. McCabe at plate; T. Cousins and B. Kerron on bases.

At the conclusion of the game the new championship cup donated by Carl J. Maier of Campbellford was presented by H. McCabe to Paul Bennett, captain of the winning team.

Captain Bennett, in accepting the cup, said that while all the members of his team had played well, much credit was due their pitcher, McNaughton, who had been winning pitcher in 11 of the 12 games played.

Petes Defeated In Third By Motor Nine

OSHAWA, Sept. 6 — Oshawa Merchants, who finished in first place during the regular Central Ontario Senior Baseball League season took a stranglehold on the league title Monday afternoon when they defeated the Peterborough Marines by 3 to 0 for their third straight win in the best four-in-seven game series for the league crown. It was the second straight shutout handed to the Marines, who had previously eliminated Batawa in the semi-final, as the Merchants took Saturday's encounter by 6 to 0. The fourth game will be played in Peterborough on Wednesday.

It was a stirring pitchers' battle between Dadson of the Marines and Sutton of the locals for six and a half innings, but the Merchants broke through in the last half of the seventh. George Ticcony came through with a timely double with two on and two out. Cook the first batter in the bottom half of the eighth, tripled and came home with the final run on an outfield fly.

Doug Sutton, who had pitched one-hit ball for seven innings, ran into trouble in the ninth and needed assistance from Gingerich to halt the losers' rally. Pinch-hitter Stewart opened the Marines' half with a single, but Manager Ed Murphy, who went in as a pinch hitter, hit into a double play. Estlick raised the visitors' hopes with a single and Gingerich came in from the outfield to take over from Sutton. Another pinch hitter, Bill Edger, singled, but Dalton fanned to end the inning.

During the afternoon Ticcony was presented with a prize by the Oshawa Merchants for leading the league in batting during the regular season with a .429 mark.

THIRD CONSECUTIVE WIN

Dr. Walter G. Robinson Sunday won the St. Lawrence inboard motorboat championship at Alexandria Bay, N.Y., for the third consecutive time. He also won a 2,500 trophy. Kenneth Dempsey of Rochester, N.Y., took second place. In the Class-C regatta, Jerry Beneway, a Canadian entry from Ontario, hosed out Kenneth Puglisey of Webster, N.Y., in a close finish.

Brooks Dump Boston Twice As Cards Split Twin Bill

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Down the stretch come the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals, clinging desperately to 1½ game leads that tradition says they should hold.

Only five of the last 20 Labor-day leaders have failed to make the world series in the last 10 years. But maybe the runner-up Boston Red Sox and Brooklyn Dodgers don't read the record books.

For the Yanks, the payoff comes tomorrow night when Boston comes to town for a vital three-game series starting with a night game. The "big" series in the National is set for Sept. 21-22 when the Cards play with the Brooks in St. Louis.

St. Louis lost a game of its lead to the Dodgers Monday when they split a pair with Pittsburgh while Brooklyn was thumping Boston twice.

Red Munger breezed to his 13th win in the Cards' opener as Enos Slaughter drove in five runs in the rout of Murry Dickson, 9-1. The same Munger, trying for the daily double in the second game, lost the decision on relief in the 10th inning when doubles by Danny Murtaugh and Stan Rojek gave Pittsburgh a 5-4 edge.

Bring Up Artillery

Brooklyn turned loose on the weary Braves after Joe Hatten was knocked out in the first inning of the morning game, Carl Erskine and Paul Minner contributed 8 2-3 innings of no-hit relief pitching for a 7-2 edge over Warren Spahn. Preacher Roe tied the National League strike-out high for the year by whiffing 11 in the lopsided second game as the Dodgers won 13-2.

The soaring Phillies extended their win streak to six games by dumping the New York Giants twice, 9-7 and 4-2, blasting their third-place advantage over the Braves to three games. Dutch Meyer bested Dave Koslo in the second game after a four-run rally in the ninth gave Ken Heintzelman the nod over reliefer Adrian Kabala in the free-scoring opener.

Cincinnati trimmed Chicago 7-3 in the first game with a four-run knockout against Dutch Leonard in the ninth. Johnny Schmitz stopped the Reds with nine hits in the second, 7-2.

Sweep Doubles

All four first division clubs swept doubles in the American, leaving the Yanks' lead safe at 1½ games. New York twice blasted Philadelphia 13-4 and 5-2, while the Red Sox ran over Washington 5-2 and 12-2.

Joe DiMaggio's grandslam homer broke open the first game for the Yanks when Vic Raschi came up with his 18th victory, besting Lou Brissie. DiMaggio was forced to leave the second game because of cramps in both legs after the first inning but the Yanks put on a four-run splurge in the fourth to give Tommy Byrne the nod over Joe Coleman.

Mel Parnell earned his 21st win in Boston's 5-2 opening triumph. Walt Masterson, former Senator, then silenced his old mates with seven hits.

Cleveland took a pair from Chicago, 5-3 and 6-4. Larry Doby hit a homer in each game and George Metkovich hit two for the White Sox in the second game.

Detroit made it 14 of their last 16 by subduing St. Louis twice, 4-0 and 2-1. Neat pitching jobs by Freddie Hutchinson, who spun a four-hit shut-out against Al Papai, and by Art Houtteman who picked up his 14th with a four-hitter, did the trick.

STILL HIGHER—Increased food prices pushed Canada's Cost-of-Living Index to an all-time high for the second time in two months during July, as it rose to 162.8 from 162.1 the previous month. Prices dropped slightly in clothing and home furnishings, but food increases, highlighted by a sharp price rise in eggs and pork products, more than offset them. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics also reported a slight increase in fuel and transportation costs.

Archbishop Raps Great Brutality

HALIFAX, Sept. 6 (CP) — Wherever Christianity has become weak, harshness, brutality and cunning have flourished, Most Rev. Cyril F. Garbett, Archbishop of York, said in a radio address Sunday. The Archbishop is here to attend the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, opening Wednesday.

In a 15-minute sermon over a CBC network, the second-ranking Prelate of the Church of England said:

"In many ways we see the world suffering sorely not only through the neglect of men and women to love one another, but through the growth of open hate and cruelty.

"In the 20th century there have been committed acts of appalling cruelty; wherever Christianity has become weak, harshness, brutality and cunning have flourished.

"Whole nations are obsessed today with hatred of their neighbors; whole classes and generations have been inspired with the spirit of hatred by the unscrupulous propaganda of those who rule them. It is a terrible fact that in some nations hatred is encouraged as a patriotic duty."

Registrar Removed In Liquor Bd. Shakeup

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP). — Robert A. Gaskin has been removed as Registrar of the Ontario License Board, it was announced Saturday.

In a surprise shake-up by Col. Arthur Welsh, chairman of the board, Mr. Gaskin has been transferred to Queen's Park to a job presently undefined.

Col. Welsh has not announced Mr. Gaskin's successor, but authoritative sources say the new registrar will be Hugh Brown, who recently joined the board.

Mr. Gaskin came to the Liquor Authority Board in October, 1946, and when the Liquor License Board of Ontario came into effect three years later he was appointed registrar.

Visits Old Home First In 50 Years

WARKWORTH, Sept. 6 (ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith, of Jerome, Idaho, are visiting relatives and renewing acquaintances here after an absence of fifty years.

Mr. Smith is a brother of H. L. Smith, of Ottawa, C. R. Smith, of Colborne, and Mrs. Harry Allen and Morley Smith, of this village.

He was born in this vicinity. When a young man he went to the Western United States. There he was married and started a business career. This is his first visit back to his old home. He says he notes that a great many changes have been made since he lived here.

Magazine Founder Dies At Picton Home

PICTON, Sept. 6 (CP)—J. Herbert Hodgins, founder and former editor of Canadian Homes and Gardens and Mayfair magazine, died Sunday at his home here. The former newspaper man and magazine writer retired four years ago.

Born in London, Ont., he received his education at Picton Collegiate and Montreal's McGill University. He worked at various times as a reporter on the Kingston Whig, the Toronto World and the Financial Times of Montreal.

He also was a feature writer for Maclean's magazine and remained with the MacLean-Hunter Publishing Company for 20 years. Two years after he established Canadian Homes and Gardens, a magazine devoted to homebuilding and furnishing, he founded Mayfair and served as editor of both magazines.

Film Audiences Can't Get Enough Tarzan

By SOL LESSER

Editor's Note. Sol Lesser has been a producer since Jackie Coogan's heyday as a juvenile. Lesser made his first Tarzan picture in 1945.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 6 (AP). — At the moment you are reading this an audience somewhere is watching a Tarzan movie unfold its plot on the screen.

Nearly 50 Tarzan movies have been made since Elmo Lincoln first thumped his barrel chest before the silent cameras in 1918. Of these almost one-half are still in constant circulation.

Some motion picture theatres run each Tarzan picture as often as eight and 10 times. Some European and South American audiences accept new Tarzan films grudgingly — they prefer to see the old ones over and over again.

One theatre in Ecuador obtained prints of eight Tarzan pictures. These were strung together and run off without pause for an audience which brought its lunches and dinners, then had to be shooed from theatre at the conclusion of the 13-hour show!

Universal Appeal

It is safe to say that no character of fiction has ever possessed such universal and enduring appeal. In the 30 years that Tarzan pictures have been produced, 10 actors have essayed the role of the jungle lord.

The public follows Tarzan, not the actor who recreates the role, although theatregoers are demanding and meticulous about the qualifications of the man who portrays their hero. Lex Barker, currently making his second appearance as Tarzan in "Tarzan And The Slave Girl," probably approaches most nearly the fans' ideal of all the 10 who have enacted the part.

The other nine were, in order of appearance: Elmo Lincoln, Gene Polar, P. Dempsey Tabler, James H. Pierce, Frank Merrill, Buster Crabbe, Herman Brix (now called Bruce Bennett), Glenn Morris and Johnny Weissmuller.

Fans want no matinee idol playing Tarzan. They insist that their hero be portrayed by a real athlete.

From the motion picture series alone, Author Edgar Rice Burroughs has amassed a fortune of $2,000,000, and he still collects a minimum of $175,000 for the right to use his character in each picture made.

Arrest Man At Show In Bogus Bill Raid

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP—Trying to track down the source of counterfeit $10 bills passed in three Ontario cities during the week-end, police Sunday night raided a Toronto house and later arrested a man in a midnight show line-up.

Police said three men were arrested in the house but were released after questioning. The other man, a taxi driver, has been charged with vagrancy and is being held without bail, they said.

Three Toronto men were arrested in Niagara Falls, Ont., on Saturday. Police said they found counterfeit money in their possession. The men were identified as Robert McTaggart, 32, James Alexander, 45, and Donald Hingston, 44.

In addition, 60 different stamps used for making the money with serial numbers were also found, police said.

Thousands Homeless

HONG KONG, Sept. 6. (Reuters)—A fierce fire destroyed hundreds of huts and rendered thousands homeless in Chungking's slum area Friday night. The official Central News Agency reported that Chiang Kai-shek, visiting the city, personally requested the cancellation of a big victory parade in celebration of the fourth anniversary of the defeat of Japan, because of the disastrous effects of the blaze.

THREE IN A ROW—Berniece Looney of Warren, Ohio, splashed her way to a third straight victory in the women's professional five-mile swim at the Canadian National Exhibition in two hours, 33 minutes and 37.7 seconds—five minutes slower than the course record she set two years ago. Miss Looney led all the way, just as she did in her two previous victories.

"Sound journalism is always worthy of praise"

Morley Callaghan

"The Standard has taken the weekly from 20 years ago and made it contemporary. The new magazine section in appearance and freshness has reached the point where it can compare favorably in competence with the magazine section of any big American weekly. It is a lively job and has been turned into a weekly of our times."

Hugh MacLennan

"What I like best about The Standard is that I can read it without wondering how many acres of spruce forest were butchered to make its publication possible. Unlike nearly all weekly papers, The Standard is selectively edited. It is not too big. The stories never lose themselves in an ocean of newsprint and advertisements. It manages the rare feat of being lively without being vulgar, and its colorgravure section is certainly one of the best on the continent."

Mazo de la Roche

"The editors have every reason to be pleased with themselves. They have produced a magazine which impresses me because of its lively and interesting articles on Canadian subjects. I particularly admire the restraint with which the story about the English murderer Haigh was treated. The fashion articles are particularly well done. As a matter of fact, I have just got an idea for a new dress from one of them. The new magazine displays very obviously that The Standard is a paper with very wide scope and not regional in interest."

We feel sure that you, too, will like The Standard's enlarged Magazine section in its new, colorful dress. It is the product of our new rotogravure printing plant, one of the finest anywhere. This is another major step forward in The Standard's long-range program of improvement, the purpose of which is to provide you with a paper that is both easier to read and more pleasing in appearance.

Editorially the newly-dressed magazine will continue to feature articles that are of particular interest to Canadians, without overlooking things that are of broader concern, whether it be the Memoirs of Winston Churchill, or the latest trends in the motion picture world.

More than 300,000 Canadians from coast to coast are buying The Standard. We invite YOU to get The Standard this week, next week and every week.

Social Security Is Goal Of Trade Unionists

"Social security gained in a democratic fashion," was the goal of organized labor in Canada, Lloyd Fell, MPP and UPWA field representative, told Peterborough unionists Monday morning.

Mr. Fell was one of two Labor speakers scheduled to address the rally of local unionists at Riverside Park on Labor Day. He represented the CIO. An AFL speaker was also invited but he was unable to attend.

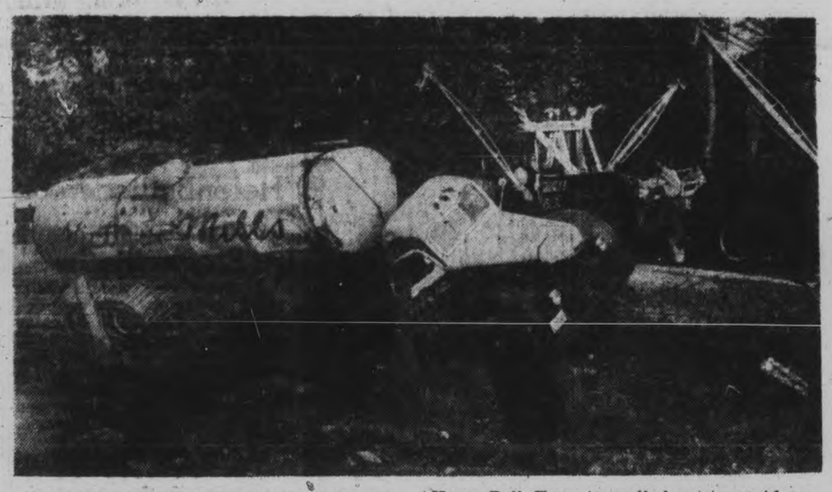
The CCF provincial member for Parkdale, Toronto, told his Labor Day audience that it was a day when trade unionists should review their progress, particularly during the past year, and then rededicate themselves to the tasks ahead.

Of Primary Importance

Raising of the standard of living and improvement of social security are of primary importance to unions, he said, and he contended that organized labor was largely responsible for the advances already made.

"There are still employers who refuse to concede the right of organized labor to bargain collectively," he said, "and there are still others who have made this concession but still refuse to recognize the fact of collective bargaining."

He caled on union members for a "more stringent application of our principles to everyday life," and asked for greater participation by the membership in their individual locals.



Message to Stewards

Addressing himself directly to the large number of shop stewards among his listeners, he said: "There are very few steward bodies but could do with improvement; and remember that the trade union movement as a whole is only as strong as you are willing to make it."

"The steward is the backbone of the union, and being so he is the backbone of the community's economic life."

Rank and file members should reconsider their own personal responsibilities in ensuring the smooth running of their local, he continued. They should support their officers and share in the formulating and carrying out of policies.

In concluding he said that 1949 would be a year when unionists must face up to realities, and the ultimate goal to be kept in mind was economic security.

TWENTY-SEVEN TONS OF TRANSPORT hit the ditch Friday evening after 10 o'clock four miles west of Madoc on Highway No. 7. The vehicle is shown above, being righted by tow trucks. The driver, Harry Bell, Toronto, pulled out to avoid oncoming cars, and was unable to keep the truck from rolling over into the ditch. He was uninjured. The trailer was loaded with 3,000 gallons of brewers' malt.

3 Tow Trucks Required To Move Trailer

No one was injured when a tractor-trailer combination with a gross weight of 27 tons, took to the ditch on Highway 7, four miles west of Madoc Friday evening. Driver of the truck was Harry Bell, Toronto, and the truck is owned by Victory Mills, Toronto.

It is believed that Bell, proceeding west, pulled to the side of the road to avoid oncoming traffic and hit a soft shoulder. He was unable to get the vehicle back on to the road, and it rolled over on its side in the ditch.

The truck was loaded with 3,000 gallons of brewers' malt. The accident occurred at 10.20 p.m. on a new stretch of highway west of Madoc.

Three tow trucks were used to pull the combination out of the ditch. A new surface is being laid on Highway 7 between Marmora and Madoc, a distance of ten miles.

169 AUGUST BIRTHS

Births registered in Peterborough last month added up to 169 as compared with 145 in August last year. There were 45 deaths as against 27 a year ago. Marriages are no longer recorded at City Clerk Outram's office. They're directly reported to the provincial government.

Voice of Turtle Ranks High In Summer Theatre Plays

By BOB HATTON

The Voice of the Turtle, the final production of the summer for the Peterborough Summer Theatre, ends the season on a happy note. It is sure to be high among the favorites of Peterborough theatre goers.

The play is warm and human and that was the way it came across the footlights Monday night as played by Jeri Sauvinet, Anna Cameron and Frank Perry. The play is about people who act and talk not as stage creations, but as ordinary persons. As written, by John Van Druten, the play revolves about three young people. Frank Perry is the young soldier, Bill Page, but he is not a symbol of "young fighting men about to leave for battle." He is rather, a particular young man in a certain set of circumstances to which he responds in his own way. Similarly, Sally Middleton, played by Jeri Sauvinet, is a startlingly fresh young personality who happens to be a young actress having her troubles finding work, but again is not symbolic.

The nearest thing to a symbol or type in the play is Olive Lashbrooke played by Anna Cameron. She is a selfish young actress who previously reached a happy agreement with her conscience. She doesn't bother it and it doesn't worry her. Thus freed, she can concentrate on her real occupation —men. Acting is a sideline which is not allowed to interfere more than absolutely necessary.

Throughout there is much humor, which the audience didn't always see. Much of the humor was supplied by Olive, one part female and three parts feline. The humor produced by Sally's naivety was not so obvious, but no less amusing for that.

The action begins with Olive, faced with two weekend dates for the same weekend, cuts one adrift in Sally's apartment. The date who is left is Bill. Sally, always ready to be charmingly sentimental, feels a great pity for him. The result is a weekend which becomes much more than just a weekend. Both Bill and Sally having had embittering experiences are quite alarmed to find themselves falling in love. To say anymore would spoil thhe plot for the many who will undoubtedly want to see the play.

Three Rooms On Stage

Set designer Martha Jamieson has created one of her best of many fine sets this summer. On the smaller than standard stage she has built three rooms and managed to escape the appearance of crowding. This has been accomplished mostly with simplicity of design. An ingenious device with the walls of the rooms has given all the audience a full view of the three rooms while preserving their identity as rooms.

The cast does well by the play throughout the production. As its worst the acting was competent and at its best moving. Once again, Miss Sauvinet and Miss Cameron nearly stole the show in spite of a convincing and assured performance by Mr. Perry.

Miss Cameron played her part with relish, but she didn't enjoy herself anymore than the audience enjoyed watching her. It was probably her best performance of the season. Like many of the company she has demonstrated amazing versatility in the parts she has played. Her Olive, confidant of power as a woman, was in sharp contrast to the pathetic Jacqueline in last week's French Without Tears. Her voice, facial expressions, the way she walked all reflected her personality as a happily promiscuous self-centred actress.

Miss Sauvinet has what few women have and all would like, charm. The key to her part was childlike charm. Without it the play would fall apart. There was no danger of that last night. The range which she has not been called upon to show until now was revealed to be notably wide. Her last scene was probably her most difficult and almost certainly her best. Both she and Miss Cameron clearly demonstrated why many who have seen them in plays this summer have asked that they be part of next year's company.

Frank Perry as well continued to show the ability he has been developing all summer. He was convincing as the young man with experience wary of making a mistake. He was just as convincing as a persuasive lover. Like several in the company Frank has won many fans who are hoping they have not seen the last of him in Peterborough.

Bill Needles' hand as director could be seen throughout. The play which could have been played extravagantly and lost much of its warmth, was kept at a pitch which added to the realism.

For those who have been regular patrons of the theatre all summer, The Voice of the Turtle will cap a whole summer of fine entertainment. For those who have been away all summer and have just come back to town, it will show what they have been missing.

Jack Hardill Wins Club Championship

Jack Hardill won the club championship of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club when he defeated Don Marquis in the final on Labor Day. Hardill finished four up and three to go in the 36 holes of matched play, winning the annual club trophy, and a prize held for the past year by Hugh Waddell.

The course was in good shape for the match, culminating several weeks of elimination play, and the finalists fought it out on pretty even terms for a good part till Hardill's steadiness pulled him away to win on the 33rd hole. This final competition to declare the year's club champion drew a fair-sized gallery during the afternoon.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

A.A. PICNIC

Members of Alcoholics Anonymous held a picnic Sunday afternoon at Trent Bridge. About 60 were present with members of their families.

DIES IN GLASGOW

Information has been received from Scotland that Mrs. Alfie Wilson, late of Perry Street, who returned to Crosshill, Glasgow, a few years ago, died at her home. Mr. Wilson played for Caledonian Soccer Club and was employed at the CGE while in the city.

MEAT BURNS

A roast of meat left in the electric oven at the residence of W. A. Hunt, 194 Hunter Street, caught fire and was destroyed on Monday afternoon. The smell of smoke was detected by a neighbor in an upstairs apartment and the Fire Brigade was called.

MADE GOOD SHOWING

Two YMCA divers made a fine showing Labor Day in CNE competition, finishing fourth in their classes. Frank Wright of this city was in the senior events and Bill Delyea of Bancroft performed in junior. Each missed on two dives, being unaware in advance that these were compulsory, but their totals against keen competition were still good. They were under the guidance of Gord Minty, honorary coach of "Y" swimming.

WINS AT CNE

R. M. Brown of Peterborough extended in the stronger competition at the CNE the string of prizes which he had accumulated at Peterborough and Ottawa. He won all classes in the section of Aylesbury ducks, and his entries were judged the best greater Toronto male and female ducks in the show. His other awards were for dark brown (RC) Leghorns, Andalusians, Jersey Black Giants, Brahmas, Cochins, Barred Plymouth Rocks.

TWO VEHICLES FIRED

Minor damage was reported to two motor vehicles over the week end as a result of fire. On Saturday afternoon a broken exhaust pipe started a small blaze in the car of F. J. Blaby, 554 Romaine Street. It was extinguished with a hand pump. A short circuit in the wiring of the motorcycle of J. Staves, 460 Elm Street, brought firemen to Charlotte and Albertus Avenue on Monday. It was not necessary to use an extinguisher on the wiring.

FENDER TORN OFF

The right rear fender of an American car was torn off in a collision with a car driven by Orville Kidd, RR 1, Warsaw, about 2:45 p.m. Monday morning on George St. near the corner of King. Kidd told police he was just pulling out from the curb on the west side of George St. when a car driven by Robert Smith, Westboro, Mass., pulled in front of him to park and the two collided. Constable A. Dalton reported Kidd admitted to him he had not made the proper signals before turning out. Traffic was heavy at the time because of midnight shows getting out.

Obituary

LORNE GEORGE LONSBERRY

After a short illness Lorne George Lonsberry of the 2nd Concession, Dummer Township, died Monday. He was in his 60th year.

Son of the late Annie Payne and George Lonsberry, he was born in Dummer and spent a lifetime there. Mr. Lonsberry was a farmer and a member of Bethel United church.

He leaves his wife, the former Ethel Murdoff; three daughters, Mrs. E. Bell (Marjory) of Warsaw, Mrs. H. Allen (Muriel) of Peterborough, and Mrs. S. Nelson (Jean) of Warsaw; a son Ivan at home; a brother Mark of Warsaw, and a half-brother, Arthur Payne of Warsaw.

The funeral wil be from his residence at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, the Rev. E. Unstead of Warsaw United church, officiating. Burial will be in St. Mark's cemetery, Warsaw.

Roads, Railways Crowded With Holiday Traffic

People were leaving and entering Peterborough in thousands during the holiday week-end, filling every train and bus from early Friday evening until midnight Monday. Some 4,000 people either left or entered the city by bus and the railways had heavy traffic between Toronto and Peterborough.

Two thousand bus tickets were sold at the King St. bus depot by Colonial Coach Lines, who dealt with a total of approximately twice that number of passengers. J. Moore, ticket agent at the depot said the heavy traffic started Friday evening and reached a climax Saturday morning. Peterborough residents were mostly bound for Toronto and Ottawa. Those leaving the city at the beginning of the holiday were presumably taking advantage of the long week-end to visit friends and relatives.

In spite of the large crowds, which Mr. Moore considered heavy for the Labor Day week-end, everyone was accommodated and buses left Peterborough with all passengers seated.

Sunday was also a busy day at the depot. Hundreds left for Toronto, many of them staying overnight ready for the Labor holiday at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The King St. depot was a two-way terminal where hundreds of visitors to Peterborough arrived, either in transit to points further north or to spend the week-end in the city.

As holidaymakers started returning early Monday afternoon, others were on their way out of the city. Expecting a heavy exodus, many travellers arrived early for their buses with the result that as each bus was filled it was able to leave promptly.

The Colonial Line also reports a busy week-end in Lindsay. J. Lemmon, regional supervisor, said there was an influx of travellers from Toronto Friday night and Saturday. Monday evening 20 buses each carrying 35 passengers left Lindsay.

Families returning from summer cottages added greatly to the week-end traffic. Ferguson Coach Lines, which operates a bus service to resorts in the Kawartha lake district was unable to quote a figure today, indicating the volume of traffic. It was apparent from the incoming traffic, however, that Labor Day week-end brought to a close for many people, the summer cottage season.

Motorists driving in Peterborough County set an all-time record for good driving according to Peterborough headquarters of the Provincial Police. "Traffic was very heavy," said Inspector C. W. Farrow today, "but driving was extremely good." There were two minor accidents on the Buckhorn Rd. Saturday but no serious incidents within a radius of some 15 miles of Peterborough.

At Bowmanville, a child was killed in a car crash, at Port Hope four people received injuries on the road and from Bewdley, one person was sent to hospital. These incidents are reported elsewhere in this issue of The Examiner.

Expecting a busy and exacting week-end, the Provincial Police had every man on the force out to deal with traffic and holiday crowds. Around Peterborough everything was orderly, Inspector Farrow said and driving was very good.

Heaviest stream of traffic appears to have been between Peterborough and Toronto. There was a continual flow of people coming and going throughout the week-end.

A jostling crowd assembled at Union Station, Toronto, on Saturday night more than an hour before the midnight train to Peterborough was due to leave. At 10:45 p.m. there was a queue of 60 people which had swollen to 200 by 11 p.m. There was a good deal of confusion as late-comers, anxious to catch the train, gave little heed to those who had been waiting more than an hour.

Visits Newfoundland

OTTAWA, Sept. 6 (CP)—Viscount Alexander, Canada's perambulating Governor-General, Saturday returned from a week's tour of Newfoundland and made plans to settle down for at least a week's stay at Government House. He is scheduled to officiate at the 10th biennial conference of the British Empire Service League which opens here next Sunday.

London To Get Victoria Statue If Pay All Costs

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 6 (CP).—London can have Dublin's statue of Queen Victoria — if it will pay all transportation and crating costs.

But Mayor Ray A. Dennis said today he "would not be in favor of city funds being used for this purpose." He added he would "gladly support" any public subscription to raise the money.

Earlier, the city of Peterborough had expressed interest in obtaining the statue, which the Irish city no longer wants, to grace one of the parks in that city.

London was advised in a letter from the Deputy Lord Mayor of Dublin, Bernard Butler, that the Department of Finance of Ireland would release the statue if "all transportation costs and other expenses" would be handled in such a way that no expense will fall on the Irish exchange."

Cost $8,000

General Manager E. V. Buchan of the Public Utilities Commission has previously told city council it would cost approximately $8,600 to transport the bronze and marble figure to London. Crating costs would be extra.

William Loveday, chairman of London Hospital Trust, today repeated a previous offer to open a campaign to raise funds.

City Clerk R. H. Cooper, who, with the Mayor, released the letter from Ireland, said he felt the city should have the statue. "We have too few statues with historical association here," he said.

Mayor Dennis said he had obtained further figures on the cost of transporting the statue and would present them to council Sept. 6.

Advised of the cost, Mayor Max Swanson of Peterborough said:

"We have more important uses for $8,600. It is too much for the statue. London can have the thing with my best wishes."

Car Smashes Creek Bank In 60 MPH Chase

A sixty-mile-an-hour chase through the northern end of the city early Sunday morning ended when the fleeing car, chased by a police cruiser, crashed into a bank at the west end of Edinburgh St. injuring its two occupants and smashing the front end of the car.

The alleged driver, Charles Fader, R.R. 5, Peterborough, has been charged with careless driving and driving while his licence was suspended.

Passenger in the car, MacLaren Logan, R.R. 5, Peterborough, fractured his nose and suffered a deep cut and lacerations on his right arm.

Fader was knocked unconscious and had cuts on his forehead, chin and right leg. His licence was suspended more than a year ago.

The car was first sighted about 1.30 a.m. Sunday by Traffic Officer Claire McGillen and Constable Louis Rodreque in their cruiser. The car was speeding east on Reid St. about 45 or 50 miles an hour, police said. In the chase, the car turned east on Parkhill Rd., as far as George St. It turned down George St. to Edinburgh and then went west along Edinburgh. At this point Constable McGillen reported the cruiser going well over 60 miles an hour.

Doesn't Pause

At the end of Edinburgh St. it plunged across a dry creek bed and smashed into the opposite bank. Both front wheels were broken off and the hood, radiator and motor were all pushed back and badly damaged. The windshield was knocked completely out.

Both men had been drinking, police said, and there were five empty beer bottles in the front seat with them. Logan had two full bottles of beer in his pockets and there was another full one on the floor.

The two men were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Fader was released after treatment and Logan remained. Hospital officials said Monday his condition was good.

MARMORA, Sept. 5 (ENS) — St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, decorated with gladioli, dahlias, zinnias, asters and fern, was the scene of a picturesque wedding Monday afternoon when Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie united in marriage Marie Isabelle (Betty) Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard and Kenneth Clayton Trumble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Trumble, all of Marmora.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. L. R. Rundle, organist, who also sang "Through the Years" before the bride entered the church and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of embossed white satin with sweetheart neckline caught with bows and pearls. Her finger-tip veil was of French tulle and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses. Her sister, Miss Muriel Leonard was maid of honor, frocked in yellow net over matching taffeta with yellow headdress. Her bouquet was of mauve gladioli. As bridesmaid Miss Joan Sandham was gowned in mauve taffeta and wore a matching coronet headdress. She carried yellow gladioli. Little Anne Marie Bedore as flower girl was in light green taffeta, wearing a matching poke bonnet and carrying a nosegay of assorted flowers.

Mr. Earl Cousins was groomsman. The ushers were Roy Cheeseman and Claude Trumble.

Following the ceremony, a buffet lunch was served at the home of the bride's parents to about 70 guests. The bride's mother received wearing a grey crepe gown, black felt hat, and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother who also received wore a gown of blue crepe with black accessories and black hat. Her corsage was yellow roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Toronto and New York, the bride's choice for travellings was a cerise dress with navy accessories and she wore a corsage of white gladioli. They will live at Marmora.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Harsh, Dictatorial Husband Cruel to Wife, Kills Love

DEAR MISS DIX: What sort of an understanding should a man and woman have about practical things before they get married? I mean about such things as money, children, religion, in-laws, etc. No matter how much a couple love each other, these things must be considered, and they often make dissension between husbands and wives.

Dorothy Dix

JOHN AND MARY.

ANSWER: You are right. Every couple contemplating matrimony should have the fullest possible understanding of what they are to expect of each other. If the agreement they reach could be put in the form of a binding contract so much the better, for husbands and wives are prone to forget the promises they make in their courting days.

A man has a right to know what kind of wife a girl is going to make; whether he is going to come home at night to find a tidy, cheerful woman waiting for him with a good hot dinner or whether he will return to a dark house and wait for his wife to come in from her bridge or matinee with something in a paper bag from which she will feed him.

A man has a right to know a woman's financial views and whether she will keep within her allowance or not. He has a right to know whether he is going to have to live with a mother-in-law and how many of his wife's relatives will camp in the spare bedroom.

He has a right to know whether she will consider that matrimony gives a woman the privilege of indulging in temper and nerves or whether she believes it is up to a wife to use as much salesmanship in holding her husband as she did in getting him.

Certainly a man has a right to know how his wife stands on the baby problem and whether she is going to refuse to give him children or not.

A woman has a right to know a man's financial status, so she will have a chance to decide if she loves him well enough to do his cooking and washing and wear shabby clothes on the safe side of the altar.

Every woman has a right to know that a man considers a fair divide of the family income and whether he is willing to make a fifty-fifty split with her or considers that the husband is the God-ordained purse-bearer and that a mere wife is not entitled to any wages for the work she does.

She is entitled to know before marriage whether the man is going to be a fireside companion or one of the roamers who never lets matrimony interfere with philanderings and evenings out.

Above all, a woman has a right to know whether the man she marries intends to treat her with kindness and do all in his power to make her happy or whether he thinks that home is a place in which a man has the right to be as disagreeable as he pleases and that a wife is a person whom he can treat with the disrespect that he would show to no other woman on earth.

There are a lot of problems that an engaged couple should settle before marriage, and it is a pity they don't stop billing and cooing long enough to do it.

DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What can a woman do who is married to a man she can't live with, yet can't leave him? For years I have been married to a man who has made my life hell on earth and who often boasts that he can be as mean to me as he wishes because I have no place to go and no way to make a living if I left him. He insults me in every way he can. He treats me like a slave. He does not permit me to have any women friends, or talk to any one except his mother and himself, and has fits of rage that resemble insanity, but I have two little children, no money, and am trained to no profession. I am young, good-looking and fairly intelligent. Must the remainder of my life be spent like this?

DISTRACTED.

ANSWER: I should say not. No woman in these days need be enslaved unless she is so poor-spirited and cowardly that she hasn't the courage to fight her way to freedom.

Start to work to acquire some trade. Acquire skill in some work by which you can support yourself and your children, and you will not have to endure a brutal husband. Perhaps, when he realizes that you are no longer in his power, he will treat you decently.

Every girl in the world should be taught some way of supporting herself because it makes her independent of her husband and if she gets one who mistreats her, she can simply walk out on him.

DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Won't you please say something to daughters who do not want their mother to look young? I have four married daughters who think I ought to wear elderly clothes. I have white hair that I want to have dyed, but they say that will be a disgrace. They also don't think I should go to parties. I do not mean anything wrong by dolling myself up, but I have a jolly disposition and I think white hair should not mix with gayety and I like to go to parties.

R. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Tell your daughters to mind their own business and you get as pretty clothes as you like. But don't dye your hair because that always looks dyed and is ugly. You will see plenty of white heads at parties.

DOROTHY DIX.

Ox Tongue is a favorite meat with my family, but I have hesitated to give it much space because I know it is not universally popular. But yesterday we had it served to us at a large public function and I cast a quick glance at the empty plates after the luncheon to see how many folks had left theirs, — and there were exactly none. The Hot Chili Sauce with boiled fresh or cured or smoked tongue is my idea — and is very popular whenever I serve it.

Harvard Beets are merely beets which have been peeled and sliced into a drawn butter sauce made from 2 tablespoons each flour and butter or margarine blended together, and mixed with 1 cup boiling water and 2 tablespoons lemon juice, salt and pepper and stirred until thick.

The Corned Beef Hash is an ideal one-burner dish, for it blends both meat and potatoes so deliciously and is a complete first course, when a liberal salad is served too.

I have tasted corned beef hash this week for the first time, with shredded beets and carrots added to it. These were pre-cooked like the potatoes, and there seemed to be very little of either of them but they tasted good and added to the appearance of the dish. Don't forget the good trick of adding ½ cup cream to your corned beef hash about 15 minutes before serving time — it makes the crust crustier, and an already rich dish richer, — but don't do it if you are counting the calories.

The chilled compote of fruits could contain plums (Lombards are best) and pears and peachers, simmered in a spiced sugar-syrup until just barely tender, then chilled. This is good if flavored with red cinnamon candies instead of stick cinnamon for they give it a beautiful pink tinge.

Muriel Covert Has Trousseau Tea

WARKWORTH, Sept. 6 (ENS). —Mrs. Thomas Covert, Warkworth, entertained at a trousseau tea last week in honor of her daughter Muriel, whose marriage took place on Saturday.

Bouquets of mixed flowers were used in the reception rooms where Mrs. Covert and her daughter received. Assisting in the reception rooms were the bride's sisters, Mrs. Floyd Harvey of London and Miss Christine Covert of Toronto.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. W. H. Porter and aunts of the bride, Mrs. L. Lockhart of Roseneath, Mrs. R. Russell of Campbellford; Mrs. M. Sarginson of Regina, Sask., and Mrs. E. Elliott of Vancouver, B.C. Those serving were the bride's sister, Miss Edna Covert of London; Miss L. Covert and Jean Covert of Ottawa; Mrs. W. Covert and Mrs. E. Covert of Warkworth, and Mrs. R. Surerus of Roseneath.

QUESTION: Please can you give me the recipe for "Thousand Island Pickle"?

All I can remember is soaking and mincing cucumbers and large onions and boiling with sugar turmeric, vinegar and I think corn flour. It is very tasty pickle and I would so much appreciate the recipe, it does not appear in any cook book I have. Thanking you in anticipation of an early reply. —Selina L.

ANSWER: I think this is the recipe you want; it is sometimes called Thousand Island Pickle, but is usually known as

✧ ✧ ✧

CUCUMBER RELISH

Four quarts medium-sized cucumbers, 2 large onions, ½ cup salt, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon each celery seed, mustard seed, 1 teaspoon each ground mustard and turmeric, 2 cups vinegar—cider or malt vinegar are usually used. Put the onions and unpeeled cucumbers through the midium grind of the food chopper. Add the salt and allow to stand overnight. Drain and add vinegar, sugar and spices. Boil 10 minutes, then pack into hot jars which have been sterilized, and seal. This relish when combined with salad dressing and a little ground meat makes an excellent sandwich spread.

If you want to use corn flour, mix it with the sugar and ground spices and stir it in with them, but stir the mixture all of the time it is boiling for the 10 minutes.

Social Situations

SITUATION: Your husband says to you, in front of your dinner hostess, "Why don't you find out how Mrs. Brown makes the pudding we had tonight?"

WRONG WAY: If you are annoyed by your husband's suggesting that you could learn about cooking from Mrs. Brown make your attitude clear by saying something like, "Oh, Henry, we've had that pudding at home several times!"

RIGHT WAY: Say, graciously: "I'd love to have the recipe. It was delicious."

6—In Memoriams

SMOUT—In loving memory of Thornton Smout, who passed away September 4th, 1948.

Many a lonely heartache,
Many a silent tear,
Always a faithful memory,
For him no longer near.
God gave us strength to bear it,
Courage to fight the blow,
But what it meant to lose him
None will ever know.

—Sadly missed by his wife and children.

Make Believe Wins Grand Valley Race

GRAND VALLEY, Sept. 6.—Make Believe, owned and driven by Clarence Lockhart of Collingwood, won the Canadian Trotting Derby at a harness meet before 5,000 at Agricultural Park Monday.

The three-year-old won the final two heats after placing second to Enack, owned and driven by Parker Locke of Wiliamsburg in the opening heat. All races had the opening heat 9/16 mile and the last two heats one mile each.

City Playground Title Won By Fleming

With the City Playground Championship at stake children of six playgrounds gave their best on Labor Day to capture the honors sought all summer long. Track and field, swimming, and team games were included.

The new Peterborough Champion is Fleming Playground which this year wrested the banner and the silver trophy from Riverside which has held it for the past two years. The winners piled up a total of 127½ points out of a possible 290 to decisively defeat Riverside by 35 points.

Standings at the end of the day were: Fleming, 127½ Riverside, 92½; Inverlea, 77½; King Edward, 55; Turner Park, 50; and Confederation, 47½. The two other playgrounds, McKellar and Hamilton, did not compete as most of the children were in the very young age group.

Swimming, basketball and some of the baseball games were run off last week.

Jack Dane, Recreational Director, stated that the total number of children competing was less than the previous two years but the level of competition was higher. This year there were fewer athletes dominating the events.

One of the top performers on the day's play was Lorne Hale of Riverside who took four firsts and a second.

In the girls' Pee Wee class the competition was stiffer than it had ever been and two—Marlene Parnell of Confederation, and Joanne Kearns of King Edward tied for first place with two firsts and two seconds. It was the first time there has been a tie in three years of competition.

A similar tie occurred in the Boys' Tadpole Class with Bob Hollingsworth of Inverlea and Ted Rankin of Riverside together in second place.

Exciting Event

One of the most exciting events of the afternoon was the final event to decide the winner in the Girls' Pee Wee. Both Marlene Parnell and Joanne Kearns had the same number of points and there was one event left — the sprints.

Joanne took the lead over her rival but tripped and fell; and Marlene who was folowing closely fell over her and the two top performers finished out of competition.

Each playground sent five children from each of five age groups —three boys and two girls. All had to compete in five track and field events with total points to count; high jump, running broad jump, standing broad jump, hop, step and jump, and sprints.

The winning boy and girl in each event received a medal from the Allied Labor Council, and the runners up were presented with cresta.

Following is a summary of the track and field events:

Primary—Boys': John Parry, Ben Cromie; girls': Carol Hewitt, Carole Hollingsworth.

Tadpole—Boys': Lorne Hale, and tied for second, Bob Hollingsworth and Ted Rankin; girls': Shirley Keith, Peggy Davidson.

Peewee—Boys': Dennis Hale, Jack Kane; girls': Merlene Parnell tied with Joanne Kearns.

Bantam—Boys': Carl Simmons, John Cupoli; girls': Carol Ferguson, Rosemary McMurray.

Midget—Boys': Bill Foster, Don Clapper; girls': Marjory Lang, Rosie McInroy.

A boy and a girl from each playground was presented with a Character Medal, emblematic of good leadership, attendance and athletic ability. Winners were: Inverlea—Ron McIlwain, 14, of 119 Park Hill Rd. and Beverly Gould, 14, of 47 Park Hill Rd.; King Edward—Joanne Kearns, 12, of 131 Princess St., and Garry Kearns, same address; Hamilton, Demas Sanderson, 14, of 529 Bonnacord Ave., and Terry Hawkins, 12, of 492 Bonnacord; Confederation—Paul Parnell, 11, of 430 O'Connell Rd., and Marlene Parnell 12, same address; Riverside—Velma Weavers, 13, of 55 James St., and Frank McGillen, 14, of 390 Rogers St.; Fleming—John Cupoli, 14, of 548 Elm St., and Joan Pearson, 13, of 293 Brock St.; Turner—C. Larock, 11, of 715 Chamberlain St., and Barbara Sucee, 14, of 713 Chamberlain St.

Mayor M. J. Swanston presented the awards to the winners on behalf of the ALC.

Three In Hospital Following Crash

PORT HOPE, Sept. 6 — Three people were taken to Port Hope Hospital on Monday after a St. Catharines taxi cab went into the ditch near here. Still unconscious was the driver, Bernard Dewan, age 29, of St. Catharines. Suffering from lacerations were Donald Lelaire, age 22, of Pontiac, Michigan, and Omer Mercier, age 30, of Montreal, the latter two were hitch hikers whom Dewan had picked up. Provincial Constable W. Baluk investigated.

Riverside Wins Parade Banner

Ever threatening skies and the odd actual shower drastically cut the number of spectators who turned out to see the parade on Labor Day.

As soon as the bands began to play and the parade from the CNR freight sheds to Riverside Park got under way, however, the spectators multiplied rapidly, stepping out from under awnings and other shelters.

Heading the procession was the PCVS Cadet Band, and it was followed by several hundred children from city playgrounds holding their annual athletic field day at Riverside.

Judges awarded the prize for the playground with the best turnout and attendance to Lions-Riverside. By doing so they retained the banner donated by the Allied Labor Council and won by themselves last year.

Softball equipment was also part of the prize.

The second section of the parade was headed by the Citizen's Band. Then came some of the locals affiliated with the Allied Labor Council.

In the Judges' opinion the local with the most novel turnout was Local 210 UPWA-CIO. Members were dressed in white butcher smocks and were accompanied by several Canada Packers' trucks. President Alfred Barber walked at the head of the union leading a goat mascot. The Canada Packers' Union members thus retained the banner won last year.

The CGE Pipe Band marched with Local 524 UE-CIO and raised the biggest cheer with their martial airs. Members of Local 519, International Association of Firefighters, nattily attired in their dress uniforms, rode along the route on the aerial-ladder truck.

Individual awards to children in the parade were as follows:

Comic costume— A three-way tie among Jack Bacon, 69 Hunter St. E.; Murray Byrne, 359 Rogers St.; and Leo Sullivan, 317 Mark St.

Fancy costume—Marlene Parnell, 430 O'Connell St.

Best decorated wagon—Jimmy Wyatt, 554 Rogers St.

Bicycle—Lois Biddle, 431 Rogers St.

Tricycle — Margaret Vint, 553 Rogers St.

Doll carriage—Barbara Hutchinson, 184 Reid St.

Award For Bravery

OTTAWA, Sept. 6 (CP)—Donald Topham, a 14-year-old Peachland, B. C., lad, has become the first member of the Royal Canadian Army Cadets to win the new cadet award for bravery, Defence Minister Claxton announced today. Donald won the coveted medal for saving a young companion from drowning in ice-filled Okanagan Lake last spring.

Special Mass Marks Opening Of St. Anne's Separate School

While workmen busily added the finishing touches to St. Anne's Separate School, pupils went in for their first look and their first classes this morning. A special mass was said in the auditorium in honor of St. Anne, conducted by Rev. P. P. Butler.

It had been planned that His Excellency the Most Reverend Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, would bless the school, but he was unable to be present. The official opening of the school will be held in two or three weeks time when it is hoped the Minister of Education Hon. Dana Porter will be present.

The children were enjoying the novelty of the new school more than anyone. For first graders and children going into kindergarten, it was all a little awe-inspiring. But before long many of them were feeling sufficiently at home to hop and skip about. Many had been brought by anxious young mothers who at first seemed almost as wary as their offspring.

Principal Edgar Boland said "I consider it a privilege to be chosen principal of this new school. The children are fortunate to have such a school." He said it was a relief to escape the overcrowding which other schools still face.

About 116 of the 175 students on hand the first morning were former pupils of St. Mary's and St. Peter's. Another 41 are entering school for the first time in grade one and kindergarten. Most of the rest came in by bus from Bridgenorth.

The teachers will be new to the students with the exception of Mr. Boland. Sister Mary Bernard has taught several years in the city as a primary grade teacher at Sacred Heart School.

Other members of the staff include assistant principal Peter Gravelle who taught formerly in Ottawa. Sister Mary Catherine from a Lindsay school; Miss Mary Neville of Tamworth, near Napanee, and Miss Monica Belanger of Port McNichol.

Buffalo Splits Twin Bill With Montreal

By The Associated Press

Buffalo Bisons today were on the threshold of winning their first International League pennant since 1936.

They can assure themselves of no worse than a tie with one victory in their remaining five games.

The second-place Rochester Red Wings trail by five games with seven to play.

Both the Bisons and Wings divided double-headers Monday. Buffalo split with the Montreal Roys, winning the first game 2-1 in 11 innings but losing the nightcap 6-3.

Rochester split with Toronto, taking the opener 9-7 but losing the finale 7-0.

Bob Hooper posted his 19th victory for Buffalo in the first game, outpitching Clarence Podbielan. Gene Markland doubled home pinch-runner Jack Hussey with the payoff counter.

Bag Nightcap

Chuck Connors' two-run homer enabled the Royals to overcome a 3-2 deficit and bag the nightcap. Ronnie Lee, slim lefthande, up from Newport News, gained the victory in a relief role.

Mel Himes started for Royals in the nightcap and left the mound with two out in the first inning and three runs in.

Lee gave up only four hits to shut the Bisons out for the balance of the game. Luis Aloma hurled the first five innings for Bisons to be charged with his ninth defeat. Kermit Wahl drove in a pair of Montreal runs in the first inning and Chuck Connors actualy won the game with a two-run homer in the third. It was Connors' 19th. Kermit Wahl's double drove in the last two Montreal markers in the fifth.

A home run by pinch-hitter Ernie Dusak with the bases loaded started Rochester into an eight-run rally in the seventh inning of the opener after Leafs were leading 6-1. Russ Derry hit his 41st round tripper in the frame with two on base.

Alex Garbowski had opened the Toronto scoring in the second with a triple that was good for two counters. Garbowski was batted in by Hal Wagner from third.

Four hits, two of them doubles, were good for three runs in the third and Vic Barnhart's four bagger in the eighth finished the Toronto scoring.

Only Two Hits

Bubna Church gave up only two hits in the nightcap in earning his 14th victory of the season. Ed Sarlicki scored in the first for Leafs and Barnhart socked his second home run of the day in the second frame. Six hits and a walk gave Leafs four more runs in the fourth and they added one in the fifth.

Jersey City Giants and Newark Bears also divided two games. The Giants took the first game 4-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Roger Bowman.

Newark bounced back and grabbed the windup 7-2. Less Dodson spun a five-hitter and Bud Heslet and Joe Greengrass made things easy by slamming home runs.

Eddie Blake and Hank Perkowski pitched Syracuse Chiefs to 2-1 and 6-2 triumphs over Baltimore Orioles.

Krol Sparks Argos To 2 Wins Now Tied With Rough Riders

By The Canadian Press

Husky Joe Krol smashed out a total of 26 points during the week-end in sparking Toronto Argonauts to 26-18 and 36-14 victories over Hamilton Wildcats and a tie with Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four.

The Argos' powerhouse, given outstanding support by running mate Royal Copeland and other members of Tedder Morris' import-studded crew, was easily the standout player in the eight games fought during the long holiday week-end.

Krol ran up his total in two touchdowns, a field goal, five singles and eight converts.

Rough Riders won their place at the top of the loop by a nose, edging Montreal 22-21 Saturday in a game featured chiefly by Alouettes' last-quarter drive that almost carried them to victory.

Take Two Games

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, Sarnia Imperials won two weekend games. They defeated Hamilton Tigers 7-6 Saturday and beat Windsor Rockets 13-9 Monday after the Rockets overwhelmed Toronto Beaches 29-1 in a Saturday game.

The Western Interprovincial Union saw the Dominion champion Calgary Stampeders bang out a 20-6 victory over Annis Stukus' Edmonton Eskimos under the lights Monday night. In a day game, Saskatchewan Roughriders avenged a first-game loss to Winnipeg by shellacking the Blue Bombers 20-0.

Argos scored on the first scrimmage and kept piling up the points in swamping Wildcats on Monday. In all, they rang up five touchdowns, two of them by Copeland. The others were by Don Durno, Russ Reader, and Doug Pyzer. Krol counted 11 points in spearheading the Argo play.

Only in the third quarter did Wildcats outplay their opponents hanging up two touchdowns, by Jim Lorenzo and Tom Casey.

Different Story

It was different in the Saturday struggle at Toronto. The Cats took a first-quarter lead on a 17-yard run by Ben Dyack and went ahead again when Bob (Robin) Hood caught a third-quarter touchdown forward pass.

With Scullers trailing 12-6 in the third quarter, Krol came to life to score two majors and heave a 35-yard touchdown pass to Frank Dunlap in the final stanza. The Cats completed another touch on a line smash by Ed Hughes.

In the Ottawa-Montreal game, Frank Filchock of the Alouettes threw three touchdown passes and most of Montreal's 26 forwards. He chalked up what was believed to be a Gig oFur record of 19 completions.

Ottawa led 15-9 at the half and 21-9 at the three-quarter mark, mainly on majors by Pete Karpuk, Howie Turner and Flip McDonald. Montreal with a second-quarter touchdown by Virgil Wagner on the books, looked beat.

Then Alouettes began marching. Filchock connected twice with Chuck Anderson across the Rider line Halfway through the quarter the score stood at 21-21. Howne Turner's punt to Manastersky for a rouge settled the issue in Ottawa's favor.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Johnny Longden, the Alberta-trained leading North American jockey, will get into the famed St. Leger, Britain's last three-year-old classic of the racing season, after all.

It was announced at London Monday night that Longden has been engaged to ride Mon Chatelain in the race next Saturday, after having been robbed of a chance to ride the Aga Khan's Hindostan.

Hindostan came up Sunday with a sore foot and will not compete.

Longden, a native of Yorkshire who was brought up in Taber, Alta., is on a three-week holiday in Britain. On a temporary license to ride on British tracks, he already has booted home a winner.

Mon Chatelain, a French-bred horse, was quoted at 66 to 1 in Monday night's callover.

The American colt, Lone Eagle, owned by New Yorker William Woodward, was a firm 4-to-1 favorite Monday night.

The second of two Egyptian swimmers who tried to conquer the English Channel as a team gave up early Monday.

Press Association said at Folkestone, England, Fahmy Attallah, a slow, powerful stroker, was hauled from the water late Sunday night a mile and a half off shore in St. Margaret's Bay.

His teammate, Abdel Moniem Abdu, had given up earlier, just two miles short of the goal, after a 16-hour battle.

Attallah had been in the water 22 hours and 45 minutes when he gave up.

He and Abdu took off from Cap Gris Nez, France.

At the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto Louis Childs, 18-year-old Michigan State University student from Columbia, won the two-mile swim Saturday in 54-degree lake temperatures. Vivian King of Winnipeg won the women's one-mile event.

Hamilton runners made a good showing at Saturday's senior track meet. Walter Fedorick of Hamilton Olympic Club took a handy win in the feature 10-mile run.

Percy Buddell of Waterloo Monday won two straight heats to take the D Class racing runabouts division of Canadian Nation Exhibition motor boat races. C. H. Abbott of Belleville trailed Buddell in both heats to take second place.

J. N. Robertson of Aldershot, Ont., sailing the Rhoda, Sunday placed ninth in the International Lightning Championships of Biscayne Bay at Miami, Fla. Another Canadian, Eric Dowell of Victoria, sailed the Ariel to 24th place in the official order of finish in the three-day competition.

Power Station Fire

SIMCOE, Ont., Sept. 6 (CP)—Damage estimated at more than $25,000 was caused by fire early Monday at the local sub-station of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway. A bolt of lightning is believed to have hit the building during a night thunderstorm. It is expected that it will take two months to repair the sub-station, which was built four years ago at a cost of $65,000. In the meantime, power will be obtained from sub-stations at Brantford and Preston.

Petes Soccer Club Beats Kingston 6-3

Petes evened the count with Kingston in inter-city soccer here Monday with a 6-3 victory. Hutchins, Savage and Kerr went good for Kingston, while Hennessey, H. Payne and G. Downer were the pick of ten winners. The local club entertained the visitors afterward.

Right from the kickoff, N. Lane conceded a penalty shot that T. Kerr converted from a spot kick. Later, Al Downer handled the ball to give H. Payne the chance to even the count. Kingston's other man then arrived to give them the full quota. Hutchins gave a great display at outside left. E. Lane was thefted by the Kingston goalie but Don Downer rapped in the counter. O'Neill centered across and Proctor scored to make it 2-2.

The Petes drove and H. Payne made it 3-2 on a rebound. Despite an offside appeal, Payne went through again to make it 4-2. Newt Downer's corner kick was blocked but G. Downer shot in the fifth goal. Hutchins got a beauty and it was 5-3, but Newt Downer placed a deadly corner kick home to end it. The teams:

Kingston — J. Chamberlain, goal; J. Lee and A. Downer full backs; A. Mike, W. Tanker and T. Kerr half-backs; T. Kerr, P. King, T. O'Neill, T. Savage, J. Proctor and R. Hutchins forwards.

Peterborough — J. Hennessey goal; G. Foster and T. Foster full backs; N. Downer, A. Downer and N. Lane half-backs; L. Payne, D. Downer and E. Lane forwards. Subs.: D. Downer.

Referee: J. Buchan. Linesmen: J. Adams and A. Downer.

Try To Steal Ice Cream

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP)—Eight teen-aged youths Monday attempted to steal the ice cream and soft drinks at the Lost Children's Shelter at the Canadian National Exhibition. Mrs. Eleanor Rodgers, 20-year-old assistant matron, said the youths demanded all the ice cream and other things to eat. "I was never so scared in my life," she said. "But I tried not to let them know it and sailed right into them and pushed them until they backed out the door. I had swung at them with both fists."

Coaltown Takes Washington Handicap

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 (AP)—Calumet Farm moved its money-grabbing stable to Belmont Park in New York today after a $500,000 take at the 67-day combined Washington-Arlington meeting.

Coaltown's triumph in the $52,900 Washington Park handicap Monday, closing the Washington Park season, boosted Calumet's 1949 earnings to $995,272.

Approximately half that total, $527,262 came from the Washington-Arlington coffers as Warren Wright's great stable won 13 of the 29 rich stakes offered on the combined program.

TODAY WE LIVE IN A GREATER CANADA

New Signs in the Sky...

A distant hum and a flashing streak in the outer sky announce another exciting Canadian achievement—a new jet plane designed and built by Canadians—one more example of the meteoric advances made by Canadian skills and manufacturing abilities.

In Canada, too, giant airliners, which have won international recognition, are now being built for the world's air routes of today and tomorrow.

Today our production—both in extent and variety—has attained heights undreamt of even ten years ago, creating new opportunities in every field of activity for the talents and enterprise of young Canadians.

Increase of air traffic: today Canada's commercial aircraft carry more than four times the number of passengers and three times the amount of mail they did in 1939.

"Countless New Opportunities..."

"I sometimes find it hard to realize the extent and rapidity of our plant's growth. It has all been based, of course, upon the tremendous expansion of Canadian industry in general, which has created countless new opportunities in every field of activity for the energy and enthusiasm of young Canadians."
—says HARRY J. SEHL of Kitchener.

The development of Sehl Engineering is a typical Canadian success story. Only 14 years ago, Mr. Sehl, with one assistant, began operating a small tool and die shop in Kitchener. Its expansion has been spectacular, with new lines of production added, new departments established and new plants built. Today the company, with 90 employees, is fast becoming one of the leading metal producing concerns in the country.

Old Homestead Subject Of WI Sketch

ROSENEATH, Sept. 6 (ENS)—A historical sketch of the Grigg homestead, at Robins Landing, Rice, Lake, occupied by the Grigg family for four generations and presented by Miss Joan Grigg, the only one of the fourth generation bearing the Grigg name, was the highlight of a historical research program presented at the Women's Institute meeting held in Roseneath township hall Thursday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Harold Taylor, presided and Mrs. Harold George was hostess.

By Own Efforts

Miss Grigg spoke of the marriage of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grigg on December 23, 1868, and of the building of their new house, of hauling the bricks from Cobourg by horses, 24 miles distant; cutting down the trees and using the tree stumps for fences; of their early neighbors, four families of Robins', from which originated the name Robins Landing, Rice Lake.

The second generation to occupy this large farm was the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grigg. Now their only son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Grigg and only daughter Joan are in possession.

Financial statement presented by the sec.-treas. Mrs. Bart Thackeray, showed a balance on hand of $119.42.

Soap To Scotland

The president reporting having sent twenty pounds of soap to the Women's Institute, in Roseneath, Scotland.

The good cheer report was presented by Miss Jessie Johnston.

A Bank book was presented to Dwight Bull, infant son of a member, Mrs. Harold Bull.

It was decided to donate $5 to the auxiliary of the General Hospital, Cobourg; also to give one dollar toward the area expenses.

Plans were made for the October meeting with Mrs. Charlton Grigg as hostess and Mrs. Frank Adams, program convener.

Mrs. Charlton Grigg, historical research convener, announced the following numbers: instrumental duet, Misses Mary Halstead and Carol McMillan; vocal solo, by Miss Marjory Sandercock, with Miss Joan McMillan as accompanist; contest, directed by Miss Barbara Adams which was won by Mrs. A. Halstead; community singing with Mrs. Oscar Adams at the piano and a contest conducted by Miss June Linton.

Detroit Youth Lands Big Fish

Another United States visitor who is glad he came up to the Kawarthas his year is 17-year-old Wayne Cawley of Detroit, Michigan.

An ardent fisherman Wayne has been bent on landing a kingsize 'lunge during his stay at Graham's Cottages on Deer Bay. And early Friday morning he found that patience is not only a virtue but also a rewarding proposition when it comes to the hobby of fishing.

While trolling with a pikie minnow he got a solid strike and wound up by gaffing a 23-pound 'lunge. The big game fish measured 44 inches in length and had a girth of 18 inches.

At the time Wayne was out with his father, Roy Cawley of 2727 Whitney St., Detroit, and when he hooked the big fellow he found he had a 20-minute fight on his hands before landing it.

"When I first hooked him he was like a big rock," Wayne told the Examiner. "He just couldn't be moved. We reversed the motor on the boat and finally got to him."

Obviously the 'lunge did not remain like a rock because Wayne had the angler's thrill of seeing him break water twice—once leaping about five feet in the air. Playing it carefully the youthful American fisherman reeled his prize nearer the boat and finally landed him.

The Cawleys are veteran visitors to the Kawarthas, enjoying their stay here every year. This season they have caught a few lunge but none that even approaches the 23-pounder on Friday.

Tito Foresees No War Danger

LONDON, Sept. 6 (Reuters)—Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia foresees no danger of warlike complications despite the serious situation between his country and Russia, Konnie Zilliacus, Independent Labor member of Parliament said here Sunday after a week-end review with the Yugoslav leader in Belgrade.

Zilliacus returned Saturday night from a two-week visit to Yugoslavia during which he met most of the national leaders. The British M. P. was recently expelled from the Labor party for non-adherence to its foreign policy line.

Zilliacus said Tito told him that Yugoslavia remained a Communist regime building a Socialist state, and that she had no intention of joining the capitalist camp.

He added that the Yugoslav leader asserted with passionate conviction that "if Socialism does not mean humanism—if it does not mean more human dignity, more respect for freedom, truth and justice—it would not be worth while working for. These are part of the values we are trying to establish in our new society."

Inspects Work Of Garden Clubs

MILLBROOK, Sept. 6 (ENS)—On Friday, in Millbrook Town Hall, Miss Jean Noble, home economist with the Department of Agriculture, inspected displays of the garden clubs of Durham County. The garden clubs are one branch of the work done by the homemaking clubs for girls under the sponsorship of the Women's Institute. The local club is under the leadership of Mrs. Hilton. The displays of the garden clubs consisted of eight vegetables grown by each of the girls, samples of canned fruits and tomatoes and a bouquet of flowers grown and arranged by each.

The girls of the local club who had displays were Beverley Patton, president, Irene Trick, Lois Gardiner, and Joan Saunders.

These displays count one unit. The home making class work in the winter also counts one unit. When two units are won, the girls receive a certificate; when six units are obtained, the girls are given a county honor pin as well as a certificate.

Beverley Patton won her pin at this display, having completed six units. Irene Trick already had her pin. This display brought units up to seven.

British Leaders To Appeal For Help From U.S. To Fight Financial Disaster

Abbott Hints Canada May Have To Cut Back Imports From United States, Unless Marshall Plan Money Curbs Eased

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(AP)—Britain's economic and foreign policy chiefs brought new appeals to Washington today for United States help in battling a threatened financial disaster. Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, arrived in New York by ship last night and were due here by train this morning. Bevin said in New York he viewed the Washington conference as a means "to win the struggle for one world, one world of free and democratic peoples."

In the Anglo-American-Canadian talks starting in a fifth-floor conference room at the State Department at noon EDT the British leaders are expected to seek American agreement to speed up spending of dollars for strategic materials such as tin and rubber.

At the same time they want to relax a 1946 Anglo-American loan agreement provision so that Britain can increase discrimination against buying American goods.

To Aid Dollar Flow

These and other measures, which American officials are expected to receive sympathetically are designed to increase the flow of badly-needed dollars to Britain and to enable Britain to curtail the spending of the dollars and gold they now have.

Bevin was ready to argue, should the point come up, that the troubles which beset Britain are not due to its Socialist-government programs. He was somewhat edgy when a reporter asked him last night about charges that Socialism has bungled the country's economic affairs.

"Unintelligent people always look for a scapegoat," he replied. And later: "we are not here to blame anybody and we're not going to allow anyone to blame us."

Canada will sit in as third party at the conferences which are expected to last about a week. The Dominion is one of the biggest customers of both Britain and the United States. She is tied to both countries by close economic and military-political arranements.

Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, who will carry the ball for the United States throughout the meetings, promised a public report on the first session today as well as periodic disclosures on further session.

Sell Herd Sire For $2,500 At Stuart Sale

In the dispersal sale at Old Orchard Farms to-day, Peterborough County was seeing the last of the young herd of pure-bred Hereford cattle which John Stuart, Jr., and his wife Mrs. Nancy Stuart, established a few years ago.

The two chief herd sires were sold during the noon hour. WHR Monarch 60th was bought by F. W. Reicheld of Jarvis, one of the leading breeders of Herefords in this province, for $2,500, and WHR Proud Mixer went to Dr. Monteith of Sheddon, Ontario. Monarch was born in September, 1940, and Proud Mixer in May, 1942. They were both from the famous Wyoming Hereford Ranch.

The sale began at 11 o'clock to disperse the herd of 160 head. The crowd of about 300 included a few women. Hayes Limited of Oakville were engaged to handle the dispersal by auction. Their staff included four auctioneers, Col W. S. O'Neil of Denfield, Ont., who did the selling the previous two sales at Old Orchard Farms; Archie Boyce of Olds, Alberta; Jewett Fulkerson of Missouri, and Paul Good of Van Wert, Ohio.

Mr Good was the first auctioneer on the stand, immediately injecting into the atmosphere of the sale a dynamic, rapid fire delivery that is typical of the big stock sales.

Visitors included George Rodanz of Stouffville, president of the Canadian Hereford Association, and David H. Andrew of Calgary, Alta, secretary of the Canadian Association.

Mr Stuart had provided complete accommodation for the crowd, with provision for lunch.

Wolves At Ex Love That Boy

TORONTO, Sept. 7—(CP)—When a 10-year-old boy steps into a cage with two wolves and the animals wag their tails, that's love says an Ontario Government expert on wild game.

Blue-eyed Bryan Salter of Toronto is the boy who have been making the wolves re-act like friendly pet puppies each time he has entered the wolf cage in an exhibit by the Department of Lands and Forests at the Canadian National Exhibition.

"It's just love," said Oliver C. Jennett, the Department's Chief Inspector. "That's what it is. Just pure love. The boy loves animals and they know it."

One Shot, One Held In 50 Cent Robbery

SARNIA, Sept. 7.—(CP).—One man was shot and another was arrested Tuesday while trying to rob a cash register which contained only 50 coppers.

Harry Chesney, 38, was taken to hospital suffering from a bullet wound in the neck. His alleged accomplice, Lyle Cook, was remanded without plea to Sept. 14 on a charge of breaking and entering. Both men are from Sarnia district.

Police said Constable Dowswell surprised the men while patrolling his beat. He said Chesney was shot while trying to attack the officer to make his escape. Cook gave up without a struggle.

She's Not Licked Yet Shirley To Try Again

DOVER, England, Sept. 7 —(AP)—Shirley May France, red-eyed and tired, said today she will have another try at swimming the English Channel.

"It beat me yesterday, but I am sure I can get across next time," said the 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., schoolgirl.

She does not know when "next time" will be, but it may be in a year or two.

Shirley May was pulled out of the water Tuesday after she had tried courageously for 10½ hours to swim from France to England.

Privately-Owned Stations Fine—Under CBC Control

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—(CP). — The CBC Board of Governors believes that there is room in Canada for privately-owned community broadcasting stations, but feels that the CBC should have over-riding control over radio matters, the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences was told yesterday.

A. D. Dutton, CBC chairman, said the CBC could legally expropriate the private stations and the move could be made financially possible, but the Board felt that there should be privately-owned stations giving a community service.

He made the statement after the CBC and the Canadian Association of Broadcasters presented briefs to the Commission as it opened its hearings on radio and television problems. Today it will hear from William Guild of Lethbridge, Alta., chairman of the Board of Directors of the CBC.

The C.A.B. asked establishment of a separate and completely impartial authority to administer rules and regulations applying to both CBC and privately owned stations. The Association asked that, if the CBC is to continue in the commercial field, private stations should be given the same rights and privileges as CBC stations. It urged that CBC be kept out of the commercial field in television.

Mr. Dunton told the Commission the CBC Board could not comment on the proposal for a separate body until it was given some indication of what powers the body would have. So far there had been no indication of what the powers would be.

Ducks Ruin Crops

BROOKS, Alta., Sept. 7—(CP)—Hail, drought and infestation of crops have plagued most Alberta farms to a marked degree this year. But farmers in the prosperous eastern irrigation district surrounding this southern Alberta town 108 miles southeast of Calgary have a new problem—ducks. Ducks—thousands of them—swoop down daily on lush fields to gorge themselves on ripening grain. What they don't eat, they trample to the ground.

Bogus Bill Plant Believed Near Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 7. — (CP).—Police said to-day they believed the criminal ring flooding Canada with millions of dollars in phoney bills has distributors in every large city in the country.

Within the last 24 hours bogus $10 bills have been found in Toronto, Montreal, Windsor, London, Vancouver, Fort Erie and Cornwall, and all were printed on the same press.

Police said some of the bills were passed after the series of arrests over the holiday week-end, indicating to them that distributors were trying to get enough cash to go into hiding.

One police official said: "The heat is on and the distributors are scattered."

Two counterfeit bills recovered in Hamilton yesterday brought the total cashed in that city since last Saturday, to 16, police said today.

Confident that the bogus money plant was located in Ontario, police concentrated their search for the presses in the Toronto-Hamilton area.

"Certain information leads us to believe that the printing press and plates are only a short distance from Toronto for this city was made the distributing centre," one officer said.

Police said the rash of phoney $10 bills has put every one on the alert. They said the counterfeits are limp and don't crackle, and that the turquoise green spots which appear on genuine bills of this denomination are lacking from the counterfeits.

Of six persons arrested during the Labor Day weekend one has been released, police said today. They identified the man only as a Toronto taxi-driver who had been detained on a vagrancy charge.

Air Gun Holdup Nets 4 Years

HAMILTON, Sept. 7.—(CP).—Twenty-five year old Kenneth Brown of Hamilton, who with an accomplice held up Alex Irvine, 31, of Hamilton, with an air pistol Tuesday night and left him bleeding on the ground, today was sent to Kingston penitentiary for four years.

Brown and his 22-year-old accomplice, Arthur Rogers of Hamilton, both pleaded guilty to attempted robbery with violence. Brown has a long record of former offences and Rogers, who had never been in trouble before, will be sentenced next Wednesday.

Ottawa Police Force Investigated

15 Officers Request Transfers To Other OPP Units

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP) — A dispute between members of the Ottawa detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police and the force's senior officer in Eastern Ontario will be investigated next week by a top-ranking police officer.

Deputy-Commissioner E. T. Doyle will investigate charges of maladministration levelled by Ottawa officers at Inspector Sidney Hunter of Cornwall, Chief of No. 11 district which includes the capital.

Commissioner William H. Stringer, head of the force, said in Toronto he had ordered the investigation after about 15 Ottawa officers asked for a transfer out of the district. The men accused Inspector Hunter of maladministration but did not elaborate.

The Ottawa Morning Citizen today quoted unidentified Ottawa officers as saying they would ask for a Royal Commission to investigate published reports of alleged rackets in the detachment. The newspaper listed 18 officers it said had asked for transfers.

The Ottawa Journal said Tuesday that Inspector Hunter had discovered "rackets" at the Ottawa police detachment, involving an unidentified Ottawa reporter and photographer.

Ignorant of Rackets

Commissioner Stringer said he had no knowledge of "rackets" in the detachment.

But "we are taking these charges very seriously," he said. "When 14 or 15 men on the force file written charges of maladministration, we feel an investigation is certainly necessary."

Sgt. J. Allan Stringer—no relation to the commissioner—was in charge of the Ottawa detachment at the time the maladministration was charged. Since then, he has been promoted to inspector and put in charge of the Sudbury district.

"I don't know what Inspector Hunter is driving at," Inspector Stringer said Tuesday night. "I can say that all the time I was in Ottawa—that is, up to a week ago—I knew of no racket or anything remotely resembling a racket. That is all I wish to say. If I am called as a witness in an investigation, I am confident the result will be complete vindication of myself and the men under me."

Declines Comment

Inspector Hunter, 26 years on the force, declined to comment on the investigation. But he said a complete report had been submitted to Commissioner Stringer.

The Journal quoted him as saying: "Rackets have been going on

Gunman's Toll Reaches 13 Dead

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 7 (AP)—The toll in Camden's River Road mass shooting rose to 13 today with the death of 10-year-old John Wilson.

The youngster was the third member of his family claimed by the bullets of a stalking gunman who turned a city block into a place of terror Tuesday.

The boy's mother and grandmother were killed beside him as they sat in their car waiting for a traffic light.

Three other persons were wounded in the hail of gunfire.

While the stunned families of the victims prepared to bury their dead, police maintained a round-the-clock vigil at the hospital bedside of Howard Unruh, 28-year-old war veteran who collected guns as a hobby.

A bullet was removed from Unruh's hip last night at Cooper Hospital—less than 12 hours after he had pumped 33 shots from a German Luger automatic in a methodical door-to-door search for human targets.

Captured when police tear-gas bombs forced him from his own barricaded bedroom, Unruh later was found to have the hip wound.

16 Boys, 2 Girls Admit Breaking School Windows

City police have traced 18 culphits who have admitted breaking at least 70 windows at Confederation School during the latter part of last week and during the holiday weekend. Only two days before the schools started the fall term, smashed windows were found at Confederation and Prince of Wales Schools So far the culprits at Prince of Wales have not been detected.

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson, who was detailed to investigate the breakages, told the Examiner to-day he has spoken to two girls and 16 boys, all under the age of 18 who have admitted throwing stones at various times Thursday, Friday and Saturday last week.

When a small group of lads was questioned by the principal of Confederation School, J. G. Nichols, they said they were not prepared to pay the cost of the damage, and as they unfolded their story of how the damage occurred, other names came into the picture until there was a total of 18.

Police Chief John Thompson told the Examiner today, it was up to the Board of Education to lay charges if it felt such action was necessary.

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson said the youngsters were pupils at Confederation and St. John's Schools. Some were starting their first term at Collegiate.

Cortisone Experiments Ease Rheumatic Fever

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(AP)—Doctors at Mayo Clinic Rochester, Minn., experimented on a case of rheumatic fever with a substance they called "Compound E"—now known as Cortisone. The results were almost miraculous. One day after the treatment was started some improvement was noted. In less than two days the patient was sympton-free.

Cortisone is one of the two new substances employed with dramatic promise in relieving the pain and other symptoms of rheumatoid arthritis. The other substance is called ACTH.

But these two big questions remain in the patient's case, as they do in two others treated by the researchers with Cortistone:

1. Was the apparent recovery due to cortisone, or was it spontaneous, as sometimes occurs?

2. Will cortisone prevent or even lessen, the damage to the heart that can follow rheumatic fever?

The Mayo doctors raised those questions in their retort, but they also said this:

1. Some of the favorable effects were achieved faster than with drugs of the salicylate class—including aspirin. The salicylates have hitherto been medicine's best in rheumatic fever.

Other Benefits

Some other benefits generally not claimed for the salicylates were noted.

2. The helpful effect which cortisone has upon the muscles and certain tissues of patients afflicted with rheumatoid arthritis offers the hope that the muscles and valves of the heart may respond in like manner to cortisone when used in rheumatic fever.

Cortisone was administered to the three rheumatic fever patients for a certain period and then discontinued when symptoms disappeared. With rheumatoid arthritis it appears that it must be given continuously.

Some scientists point out that cortisone and Acth involve man's glandular system. And they say the way may now be opened to learning more about how man can be protected from "poisons" possibly generated within his own body without the invasion of germs.

Says British Election In March Or June

MONTREAL, Sept. 7—(CP)—Britain's general election will take place either in March or June of next year, Maurice Webb chairman of the Parliamentary Labor party, said here Tuesday.

Mr. Webb, who arrived here on the liner Empress of Canada to attend the conference on Commonwealth relations at Bigwin Inn, Ont., said the only thing which might make the Labor government go to the country this year would be failure of the dollar talks in Washington.

Fights Off Bear With Broken Rifle

No Holds Barred In Battle For Life

MATTAWA, Ont., Sept. 7 (CP) —The story of a young farmer's desperate fight with a huge black bear that attacked him in the bush and almost killed him came to light today.

Fernand Therrien, 21, who lives on a farm seven miles east of here, staggered into his father's farmhouse bruised and bleeding and carrying a shattered .22 rifle to tell how he fought off a bear for nearly half an hour.

Therrien said he was walking through the woods in the back pasture when the bear, surprised while feeding, jumped on him. Therrien sidestepped the bear's first rush and shot into the back of the bear's head.

Maddened, the wounded animal turned and leaped at the man again. Therrien struck the bear across the head a second time but the rifle broke and the splintered stock fell loose from the barrel.

Therrien bent over to pick up the pieces of his rifle. . . an almost fatal mistake. The bear swung his paw and the blow staggered Therrien and the animal pounced on him. Together they rolled through the brush and into a small gully. Therrien regained his feet and stood to meet the animal's rushes.

Each time the bear charged at him Therrien managed to clout it viciously with the gun barrel and stock held in either hand.

Finally he left the bear bloody and stretched out on the ground. Exhausted, Therrien managed to make his way to the home of his father, Wilfred Therrien, where he nearly collapsed.

In His Kitchen When Hit By Bullet

Frightened Residents Barricade Doors Post Special Guards

CALEDON, Ont., Sept. 7 (CP) —Shot through the kitchen window of his home as he rolled a cigaret, Charles Aiken, 35, is in Toronto hospital today while Provincial police attempted to solve the mysterious shooting.

Police said Aiken was shot in the left shoulder, the heavy calibre bullet entering two inches above his heart and lodging in his collarbone. Caledon village is about 35 miles northwest of Toronto.

Aiken, a bricksetter, fell between his two sons, aged six and seven, who were standing near him. Hospital authorities said the man suffered shock and heavy loss of blood.

The shooting brought such fear to residents of this normally quiet rural district that doors were barricaded and locked Tuesday night, some for the first time in years. The menfolk armed themselves with rifles, revolvers and shotguns in protection against the unknown marksman.

Don't Know Motive

Provincial Constable Douglas Struke of nearby Brampton said he was unable to tell whether the shot had been fired intentionally. He said there were deer in the area, but he felt there was little likelihood of hunters shooting them out of season.

Constable Struke described the Aiken home as situated about 50 feet from the highway with a tall hedge along the road The bullet entered the lower pane of glass and travelled upward about two feet before it struck the man.

The shot was fired about 9:30 p.m.

Catch 4 Youths In 90 MPH Chase

SIMCOE, Sept. 7 (CP)—Four Montreal youths were arrested today near here after a shot was fired over their heads during a 90-mile-an-hour chase in an allegedly stolen automobile. Simcoe is about 20 miles south of Brantford.

Held for Belleville police on automobile theft charges are Fred Caldwell, 17; Louis Cucculuzzi, 21; Claud Roy, 17 and a 15-year-old juvenile.

A police constable said the four sped away from a highway intersection at nearby Jarvis when he approached to tell the driver to turn on his lights. Provincial highway squads at Dundas and Simcoe were ordered to look for the car.

The two police cars forced the fleeing four into a sideroad. The shot was fired over their heads when they tried to escape said police.

Engine Defect Grounds Planes

LONDON, Sept. 7 — (CP) — British Overseas Airways Corporation announced Tuesday that the Canadair Argonaut aircraft employed on Far East routes are being withdrawn from service following discovery of a minor engine defect.

The Canadian-built Argonauts, similar to the North Star used by Trans - Canada Airlines, are powered with Rolls Royce engines. The announcement said Rolls Royce is taking "urgent remedial steps" to eliminate the defect.

MONTREAL, Sept. 7—(CP) — T. J. Emmert, vice-president of Canadair, said Tuesday that temporary withdrawal of Argonaut (Canadair) aircraft by British Overseas Airways Corporation from Far East routes because of a minor engine defect is a detail matter between BOAC and Rolls Royce, having to do with engines.

Mr. Emmett indicated that nature of the defect was not yet known here.

Bulk Sales Mean Loss For Farmers

Fruit Prices Drop Kennedy Reports, Calves, Grain Decline

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP) — A downward trend in the prices of farm products, now being sold in bulk by the farmer, is noted in figures released Tuesday by Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario.

The figures, prepared by the Agriculture Department's statistics branch, cover prices paid in August, 1948 and August, 1949.

Only in the case of beets, carrots, lambs, hogs and chickens, were there increases. Fruits, including apples, pears, peaches, plums and prunes, potatoes, beef, veal calves and grain all fell off in price.

The biggest drop was shown in Clapps Favorite No. 1 pears. A year ago these sold for $1.38 per six quart basket; now they are bringing 63 cents. Ontario Burbank No. 1 plums and prunes, which sold for 95 cents in August 1948, are bringing the grower 53 cents.

Other Decreases

Other decreases noted were: apples Ontario Duchess, $1.63 per bushel, now $1.38; Melbas, $2.38, now $1.75; peaches, Ontario yellow flesh, No. 1, 88 cents per six quarts, now 70 cents; potatoes, $2.76 a hundredweight now $2.27; beef cattle, live weight, $21.12 a hundredweight, now $18.23. Wheat is down 33 cents per bushel; oats, 10 cents and barley eight cents.

Beets are up two cents per dozen bunches and carrots 12 cents; lambs three cents a hundredweight; hogs, dressed, 35 cents and chickens, liveweight, one cent a pound.

Mr. Kennedy said if the reductions were not being reflected in the price paid by the consumer, it was because the distributor and wholesalers were getting a greater margin of profit.

Give Contracts For Six New Naval Vessels

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 — (CP) — Contracts for six new naval and other government vessels costing about $8,000,000 will be announced today by the government, it was learned.

The ships, all to be built in Canadian yards, are understood to include four minesweepers and a trawler gate vessel for the navy and a large vessel for the Department of Transport.

The orders are in addition to contracts for three anti-submarine escort vessels which were placed last summer at $8,000,000 apice. These three are to be built in Halifax, Montreal and Vancouver.

The combined naval orders represent the biggest peacetime construction program in the Canadian Navy's history. It is expected that the building will be spread over a considerable period, with the largest anti-sub vessels taking about three years to complete.

Work on the contracts will be distributed through yards in various parts of Canada, which in the past year have been suffering a dearth of work and have cut their manpower down to little more than 10,000—a fraction of wartime payrolls.

Plants on the east and west coasts, the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes will share in the work. The bulk of the $8,000,000 worth of building will be done on the river.

About half the total value of the contracts, it was understood, will be for the naval construction. That would place the cost of the minesweepers at something under $1,000,000 apiece. They will incorporate new features developed since the war.

The other naval vessel will be of the small trawler type used in opening and closing the anti-submarine gates at the mouths of harbors in wartime. The order is an initial contract and is expected to be followed by others later.

Industrials, Metals Edge Ahead Slowly

TORONTO, Sept. 7—(CP)—Activity slowed to a crawl as Industrials and Base Metals edged slowly forward here today. Golds tended lower on scattered losses in junior producers and western oils recovered early declines.

The exchange's 1 p.m. index showed industrials up .17 at 178.09, golds down .81 at 104.60, base metals up .42 at 98.62, western oils unchanged at 46.09. Volume for the first three hours was 531,000 shares, about 104,000 shares less than yesterday's similar period.

Prices generally moved warily as investors awaited news from the monetary talks in Washington. A few key industrials climbed ahead fractions. Some early losses were wiped out in midseason.

Dome Mines was strong in senior golds, gaining ½ at 20 following a monthly production report. Upper Canada mines continued under selling pressure, dipping 20 cents at $3.40 in comparatively active dealings.

Anglo-Canadian and Calgary and Edmonton climbed into the gain column as western oils recovered early losses.

Britain's New Deficit

LONDON, Sept. 7 — (AP) — Britain's nationalized transport system ended its first year of operation with a deficit of £4,732,824 ($18,921,296), the British Transport Commission said today in a 424-page report.

British Leaders

State Secretary Dean Acheson and Paul Hoffman, Chief of the Economic Co-operation Administration are serving with Snyder on the American delegation.

Canada is represented by Finance Minister Abbott and L. B. Pearson, Minister for External Affairs.

Abbott, at a press conference yesterday, summed up the attitudes which have been taken publicly by most of the participants in the Washington talks. He said he thought "there is reasonable hope for good progress in dealing with Britain's economic plight.

Privately, however, many British and American officials are gloomy about how much progress they can actually make.

At his press conference, Abbott steered clear of questions that Britain devalue the pound.

The Canadian finance minister said "it would be very helpful' if the United States would relax present Marshall-plan restrictions to permit Britain to spend Marshall-plan money wherever she wants

Hints Import Cut

Under restrictions set by the United States Congress, Marshall-plan money devoted to farm products must be spent in the United States, if the United States has a surplus of such products.

Abbott explained that if the restrictions are lifted, these funds could be used to buy such products as Canadian wheat, cheese and other supplies, and thereby enable Canada to pay for its essential imports from the United States

He hinted that Canada might have to cut back Canadian imports from the United States unless some such way is found to assist Britain.

"We won't be in a position to buy if our customers don't pay," he said.

Germany Begins New Life, Parliament Open

BONN, Germany, Sept. 7 (Reuters)—Germany starts a new life as an organized state today when the parliament of the federal republic assembles here for the first time.

It will be the first freely-constituted German parliament since Hitler destroyed the Weimar Republic.

It will create the first German government since the allies destroyed Hitler's third Reich. But it will still be confined to Germany West of the Elbe and will still work under the supreme controlling authority of the allied commission.

Across the Rhine, a few miles upstream, the allied commission is starting work at the same time in the modern spacious 300-room hotel on the Petersberg.

Attend As Guests

Today the high commissioners start representing the allied governments in the new Germany by attending as guests the opening sessions of both houses of parliament—the Bundesrat (federal council) representing the West German state governments in the morning and the Bundstag (federal diet), consisting of 402 directly elected members, in the afternoon.

The new parliament assembles in a feverish atmosphere of rebuilding.

The centre part, once a teachers' academy which housed the constituent assembly for nine months, now is surrounded by extensions, three-quarters finished.

The gigantic effort to turn this small university town into a capital has created contrasts. The boom-town atmosphere around the parliament is quite different from the idyllic "natural" Bonn with its shaded, chestnut-lined walks and the narrow, crooked lanes of the old town.

Paul Loebe, 73, for many years president of the Reichstag under the first republic will open the Bundestag as its senior member. Loebe is one of the eight non-voting delegates from Berlin; his opening address is bound to deal with the burning problems of the new divided Germany.

The Journal said: "The inquiry broke after a dramatic 'raid' on the Ottawa office last week by Inspector Hunter and a squad of constables from the Cornwall office."

A cloak of secrecy quickly closed down over the affair. Late Tuesday, Inspector Hunter declined to talk to a reporter and Sgt. Stanley Bush, in charge of the Ottawa detachment, declined comment.

He said 12 constables and three N.C.O.'s serve in the detachment.

Temporary Charge

Sgt. Bush was posted here just a week ago—about the time of the reported raid—to take temporary charge.

The Journal said the Ottawa detachment has been under direct supervision from Cornwall for the past week.

Commissioner Stringer said the requests for transfers were made by the constables in the ordinary way and sent through the usual channels to Inspector Hunter's office, thence to the commissioner's office. They were dated Aug. 30 and there was "no delay" in their being forwarded said the commissioner.

The investigation will be carried out under the provisions of the Provincial Police Act, said Mr. Stringer.

Heavy Power Demand Causes Hydro Failure

Residents north of Dublin St. between Water and George Sts., to the city limits were without hydro-electric power for about 40 minutes at noon today. An overload on the switch was responsible for the breakdown.

Utilities officials stated it was due to an overload brought on by consumers making a sudden demand on electricity for lights, electric stoves, heaters and other equipment requiring power.

Residents reported lights began flickering at approximately 12 noon, and they remained off until about 12.40 p.m.

The condition was rectified when the peak load passed.

Walker-Fanning Nuptials At Warkworth

In St. Jerome's Roman Catholic Church at Warkworth on Monday morning the Very Rev. Dean Ferguson performed the marriage of Mary Eileen Celestine, daughter of Mr. Charles Fanning and the late Mrs. Fanning of Burnle and Joseph T. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Walker of Smith Falls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white silk faille made with a short cape and small turned-down collar. The skirt fell from a corded yoke to a short train. A Juliet cap of white wood violets held her veil of tulle illusion which fell to floor length. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Bridal attendants, Miss Mary Coughlin as maid of honor, Miss Mary Rose Fanning and Miss Thelma Walker, sisters of the bride and groom, as bridesmaids, were in gowns of silk faille of the same designed as the bride's dress. The maid of honor wore apple green and the bridesmaids emerald green, and each had a matching hat. Their bouquets were of yellow roses and gladioli.

Mr. Arthur Walker was groomsman and ushers were Paul Masterson and Neil Fanning. Mr. John Tench was soloist and Mrs. Chas. Coughlin played the wedding music.

The wedding breakfast was served at Maple Lodge and a reception was held in the afternoon at the home of the bride's father. Her grandmother received the guests, gowned in black and wearing a corsage of lavender and white 'mums. The groom's mother who also received was attired in navy and wore pink roses.

For the wedding trip through eastern Ontario and Quebec the bride chose a grey suit and accessories of emerald green. The couple will live in Iroquois Falls.

Mystery Shot

"The bullet must have been fired from close range, because the impact knocked Aiken down and went four inches into his body before it lodged in his neck" Constable Struke said.

Aiken was standing beside a stove in his kitchen. With him were his brother William, and Aiken's two sons Larry and Stuart. Mrs. Aiken was in Orangeville at a lacrosse game, police said.

William Aiken said he thought his brother was joking when he fell.

Not First Blow

"But when I saw the pain in his face and the blood oozing through his shirt near his shoulder, I knew he was not fooling."

Mystery also shrouds the burning several night ago of the Aiken family car parked outside their home The Aikens claimed it had not been in use for eight hours prior to the fire and they discounted a theory it was caused by a short-circuit in the wiring.

George Engwell, one of five neighbors who stood armed guard over the Aiken home after last night's shooting, claimed that during the last two weeks he had heard gun fire throughout the district, always between 9:30 p.m. and 2 a.m.

Tommy Glassford, another all-night guard, said he suspected queer goings-on in the area recently in the rustling and slaughtering of cattle and the raiding of chicken coops.

HONG KONG, (Repters) — A ship blew up in the harbor here tonight, rocking the city with the terrific explosion. Details and casualties were not known immediately. The ship was believed to be carrying explosives.

Washington Talk Won't Solve Crisis--Bevin

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—(CP) — Ernest Bevin said Tuesday night that the solution to Britain's economic crisis will not be solved in Washington during the tripartite talks in the next five days.

But, asking the United States press not to blow up every difficulty into a crisis, the British Foreign Secretary said the exchange of "deep views" on the crisis at these talks will go far to solve the disequilibrium which now exists between the sterling and dollar areas of the world.

Bevin and Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, arrived aboard the Mauretania last night. They left later by train for Washington where they are to meet cabinet ministers of Canada and the United States.

While Bevin spoke to a press conference aboard the ship, anti-British pickets marched outside the pier carrying posters and shouting unintelligible slogans. The posters called for an end to Marshall Plan aid to Britain, withdrawal of British troops from Northern Ireland, and called the recent Anglo-Argentine five-year trade pact "a typical British double-cross."

The Foreign Secretary, his greying hair blown about by a stiff breeze, described the Washington talks as a "mission to win the struggle for one world, a world of free and democratic peoples." He added that "we cannot achieve one democratic world politically if it has to be based on two worlds economically."

This problem can be solved between the great monetary and trading areas of the world—the sterling and dollar areas—by a mutual adjustment of the policies of each.

Robins, Roseneath; salt and pepper, won by Jean Harris, Gore's Landing; bowls, won by Leslie Avery, Cold Springs.

Handles Megaphone

Major R. E. Drope, presided at the megaphone and called off the various events. A throng of children followed a clown around the park, to the amusement of everyone.

W. O. Harvie, Glenn Hogg and Harold Drope ran a successful bingo in the community hall during the afternoon.

Mrs. Walter Johnston read tea cups. Mrs. E. T. Shearer and others assisted in pouring tea.

Those in charge of the refreshment booth were Mrs. Wm. Baker, Mrs. E. Isaac, Mrs. Drope, Mrs. Graham Whitney, Mrs. Chadwick and Shirley Drope.

Mr. William Baker ran the wheel of fortune.

Wallace and Keith Young were in charge of a softball game. Gore's Landing girls' team played Cold Springs, and Gore's Landing won.

Plainville Wins

Plainville boys' softball team played a community team, Plainvills boys winning.

The Harwood Women's Institute presented a cheque for $100 to the Park Committee, Harry Hayward, who won $5 for selling the most tickets, presented the amount to the Park Committee.

OH BOY!—Grand finale of recreation day at Tillsonburg, was a pie-eating contest at which contestants, hands tied behind their backs, tackled blueberry pies. Winner David Misner is shown coming up for breath. Even the losers were happy—it was a good pie.

Rev. W. J. Lennox Goes To Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 7—Appointment of Rev. W. J. Lennox, rector of Christ Church, Campbellford, to the rectorship of Sunshine Mission, Diocese of Toronto, Church of England, was announced Tuesday.

Mr. Lennox intends to build up a parish in the new subdivision, Sunshine Valley, in the Dawes Rd.-O'Connor Dr. area. This community already boasts a population of between 400 and 500 families. A site secured by the diocese provides for erection of a church, parish hall and manse. At the present time Sunday morning services and Sunday school are conducted by the Anglican church in the community hall. During the summer months T. D. B. Ragg, Trinity College student, son of Rt. Rev. H. R. Ragg, Bishop of Calgary, was in charge of the mission.

Mr. Lennox came to Toronto some years ago as head of the Church Army in Canada. Since 1943 he has been rector of the combined parishes of Warkworth, Hastings, Roseneath and Campbellford. For the past two years he has served as rural dean of Peterborough, and for four years as chaplain of the Midland Regiment Reserve. He will assume his new duties Oct. 1.

Has His Fun Too

TORONTO, Sept. 7—(CP)—Spectators at the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand show got an added-thrill Tuesday night. One of the trained bears in the act, slipped away and was found shortly afterwards—headed for a candy floss booth. Bruin was coaxed to rejoin the act.

Carnival Held On Labor Day Aids Rink Fund

HAVELOCK, Sept 7 (ENS) — Labor Day celebration, comprising a fowl supper, dance and carnival, was held here in aid of the rink fund sponsored by the Rink, Legion and Rotary committees.

Activities commenced in the park at 5 p.m. with a baseball game between Peterborough Juniors and a Trent Valley all-star team which resulted in the former winning by a score of 20 to 4. The fowl supper was served in the town hall.

Change Dance Locale

The dance was scheduled to be held in the park on the floor of the arena but owing to the chilly weather it had to be held in the town hall. The bingo was cancelled and will be held at a later date.

Winners of the draw for the rink committee prizes were: first a three-burner electric stove, Jack Scott; second, combination Marconi radio, Norman Bay, Norwood; third, boy's bicycle, Harry Dafoe.

The proceeds from the ball game and dance were $110, the refreshment booth $38.40.

Belleville Rink Gets Bickle Cup

COBOURG, Sept. 7 (ENS) — The handsome Bickle cup for doubles competition was won here by F. Harper of Belleville, who had three wins and a score of 54 and plus of 17. Rinks from Peterborough, Oshawa, Port Hope, Cobourg, Madoc, Lindsay, Brighton, Belleville, Havelock, Campbellford and Bowmanville took part. Second with three wins was Ben Ward of Oshawa; third was S. McMillan of Oshawa followed by E. A. Hircock of Cobourg, H. Williams of Port Hope, and M. Booth of Cobourg. High with two wins was C. Smith of Colborne and high with one win was S. Netley of Brighton. Forty rinks took part.

Grandfather 6th Time

WESTERHAM, Kent, England, Sept. 7 (AP)—Winston Churchill is a grandfather for the sixth time. His latest grandchild, a girl, was born to Mrs. Christopher Soames, the former Mary Churchill, his youngest daughter. The announcement did not say when or where the baby was born.

Farmers Day Big Affair At Exhibition

TORONTO, Sept. 7.— (CP).— This is farmers' day at the Canadian National Exhibition, the world's biggest annual fall fair.

Exhibition officials have named this agriculture and livestock parade day. All the prize beefsteak and mutton chops, on the hoof, will be trotted into the judging ring at the Coliseum to show off their ribbons. Would-be livestock experts get a chance to show their stuff in the boys' judging competition. Clifford D. Graham, Ontario's Deputy Minister of Agriculture, will be guest speaker at the daily directors' luncheon.

Tuesday was international day at the C.N.E. waterfront park in West Toronto. James S. Duncan, president of the Massey-Harris Company, told the directors' luncheon meeting that Canada must buy less in the United States and more in Britain to ease Britain's dollar shortage. This policy was dictated not by patriotism, he said, but by self-interest.

Canada would be reduced to a much lower standard of living if Britain, "our great pre-war customer," was no longer in a position to buy Canadian goods.

Has Solution

The best solution to the dollar problem was "the good old principle of buying from these who buy from us." Trade restrictions should be lessened and Britain should make a more "dynamic" effort to sell in the dollar markets, he said.

Star of Tuesday's C.N.E. sports calendar, Tony Park of Hamilton⅛ won the men's professional two-mile consolation swim in 52 minutes, 32 seconds. Eight of the 10 starters finished the swim, held to distribute prize money left over from last Friday's 15-mile event in which only the first three of the 10 prizes offered were won. Only three swimmers managed to finish Friday's gruelling course in icy water.

Attendance Tuesday was 135,500, an increase of 3,000 over the corresponding day last year. Total attendance since the fair opened Aug. 25 is 1,969,500, some 47,000 ahead of the comparable period of the 1948 fair.

See Tokyo Rose Taking Bath

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7—(AP)—Five United States Congressmen insisted on peeping at Tokyo Rose while she took a bath in Sugamo prison, Tokyo, a former United States army staff sergeant said Tuesday.

But he never told his story in court, where Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, the accused Tokyo Rose now is on trial charged with treason. Instead, the former sergeant, Martin Pray, told it to reporters.

He was a Sugamo guard when five Congressmen arrived. Told that Tokyo Rose was taking a bath, he said, they insisted on seeing her anyhow. They were allowed to peer through a slot in the door.

"We were pretty disgusted," he said, adding that the prison chaplain had written a note of protest.

He did not name the Congressmen.

Vehicles Collide At Busy Junction

Five o'clock traffic congestion Tuesday resulted in an accident at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter Sts. when a collision between a car driven by Miss E. Proulx, River Road South, and a truck could not be avoided.

Constable S. Keliele, on duty at the intersection, reported he signalled southbound traffic to stop. A motorcycle and a truck stopped, but the Proulx car could not stop in time.

There was no damage to the truck, but the radiator of hte Proulx car was pushed back and the fan bent as well as a smashed left headlight.

Has 70th Birthday

BIRMINGHAM, England, Sept. 7—(CP) — Sir Barry Jackson, father of the modern little theatre in Britain, Tuesday celebrated his 70th birthday at his home in the Malvern Hills. Sir Berry spent the morning "following Voltaire's advice by cultivating my garden," he said. In the evening he was scheduled to attend a performance by the Birmingham Repertory Theatre which he founded 36 years ago.

NURSERY SCHOOL: "I would like to earn extra money at home and thought of starting a nursery school. I was a teacher before I was married and am a good cook. I have an extra room and could serve a simple luncheon. What should I charge per week? Do I need a permit to operate such a place?"

Sounds like a good sound idea to us. Rates charged for nursery schools run from $12.00 a month to $18.00 a month. You do need a license to operate and you get it through the Provincial Day Nursery Office at the Parliament Buildings, Queen's Park, Toronto.

STIES: "What causes sties? My son suffers from them and they're terrible!"

Our medical expert says sties come from infection round the eye winkers complicated by sweat and rubbing. A small boy manages to get quite a bit of dirt on his hands, too. Relief comes from penicillin in the form of ophthalmic ointment. For this you need a doctor's prescription.

HORNET STINGS: "A bee or hornet sting makes me break out from head to foot. I black out and go dizzy. Also the last sting was followed by intense shivering and shock. What do Tamblyn's advise?" Say Tamblyn's experts, you have a definite allergy to the "sting" poison. And, add our experts, in this case you should see a good doctor. Such allergies are not to be monkeyed with.

Governments In Housing

Mr. R. H. Winters, Minister of Reconstruction, has been charged specially with the problem of housing in Canada. He has recently returned to Ottawa from a tour of the provinces with the conviction that there is "a determination on the part of all provinces to come to grips with the problem and to assume their responsibilities". That is encouraging, for it means that there is likely to be a co-operative effort of Provincial and Federal governments to deal with housing. Mr. Winters has also stated that he expects that legislation will be introduced early in the coming session of Parliament to prepare for large-scale building programs which will effectively meet the housing requirements.

• • •

Why is government—federal, provincial, municipal—dabbling in such a matter as housing anyway? The reason is apparent when the homeless families or the thousands of other families in altogether inadequate shelters are counted. The country needs houses in tens of thousands, but for one reason and another private enterprise is not capable of providing them without government support and direction and without public money. There is nothing newly socialistic about government entering such a field as housing. There are many matters of public weal or necessity which private capital or "free enterprise" has had to give up because they were without profit or were too complex; there are many which government has always had to undertake. Examples of these are roads, municipal sewer and water service, postal service, defence of the homeland, parks, education, hospitals, law enforcement, scientific research, (atomic energy, for instance), libraries, halls of assembly, railways, Hydro-electric power, canals. In fact, even in forthrightly anti-socialistic North American countries, the list of affairs in which the governments take a direct hand or run the business entirely is so large that these nations all must be called by the newest fancy term of abuse, "welfare states". It is the task of governments to promote the public welfare. One item of this welfare now urgently needing government action is housing, even if such action is socialistic.

• • •

The Prime Minister has said that his Government will not go into the business of being a landlord, and it will not directly subsidize housing. The legislation which will be introduced in the House will therefore be directed towards giving financial support to provinces and municipalities in housing projects undertaken by or in them. It is perhaps well that such intimate concerns of communities should not be centralized in Ottawa or even Toronto. The municipalities can best know their own needs, and can direct the work most closely. Even if the work is undertaken by private firms, there must be municipal, provincial and federal direction, for the money cannot be provided as largesse; the agency which pays must be the agency which controls. Govenment is therefore "in" housing, whether it likes to be or not. In fact, during the last four years, and chiefly on account of veterans' housing, the Canadian Federal Government has become one of the larger landlords in North America.

• • •

All sorts of advice will be given the Government on what it should do. The prescription of the Community Planning Association of Canada is as good a we have seen. It analyses the need: to provide houses which people of lower incomes can buy or rent within their means, which private enterprise cannot provide. Decent new rental dwellings are certain to cost not less than $45 to $50 a month to build. The families for whom these are intended can afford to pay for monthly shelter an average of $25. There is therefore a gap of $20 a month on each dwelling which must be got from other sources. The sources are federal, provincial and municipal funds. It suggests that the Provinces should expect their municipalities to contribute one-fifth of the current subsidy, that is, four dollars, which is now about half the average tax on the dwelling, and that the remainder of $16 should be divided between Provincial and Federal Governments, each paying the monthly eight dollars on a new family dwelling, or one six and the other ten dollars. The Community Planning Association points out that "The sum in dispute by any government will be of the order of $2 per family per month. For the first year's program in the largest province (it suggests that 12,000 new low rental dwellings a year be built) will revolve around some ($2 x 2 x 4000:) $96,000. We trust our statesmen to get on with the job—not letting the debate itself cost the people more than the outlay required to close the debate and to begin building the low rental housing."

• • •

We are confident that our elected representatives, including the local provincial and national, will get on with the job and do it harmoniously and with good will. Mr. Winters' statement on completion of his tour points to such a co-operative attitude.

Shadows Of Black-Out

Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario, has announced that power restrictions similar to those imposed last year will go into effect on October 1st. They will apply to outdoor displays, shop window lighting, electric heaters in homes and the like. The restrictive regulations are far from imposing a black-out; they will be more of a bother than a hardship unless, as Mr. Saunders warned, further curbs have to be made (such as the cut-offs in power of last year) because of a dry autumn.

Ontario Hydro has unfortunately become a political issue, and Mr. Drew's Conservative administrations must accept a considerable responsibility for this. Of course, the other side has not been slow in giving kicks to the Hydro political football. In the light—if that word is not incongruous in this context—of Mr. Saunders' announcement last week, we reprint on this page today an editorial from the Toronto Globe and Mail, which appeared on June 3rd of this summer, prior to the elections. If one paper "exploits", another exculpates, for political reasons. The Globe did have Mr. Saunders' assurance that "There is no anticipation of cutoffs". (Mr. Saunders is a Conservative in politics). The Star had logic based on last year's Hydro situation on its side.

It would be best for all concerned—including Toronto papers—if Hydro were taken out of politics, as it should be. Then neither the Star nor the Globe would run any risk on the score of Hydro of a "blackout of journalistic integrity".

A Parliamentarian Passes

The death of the Right Honourable Ian Mackenzie last week removed from the Canadian political scene in which he played brilliantly and warmly another of the many sons of Scotland who have enriched Canadian life. Senator Mackenzie—for so he was after retiring from Cabinet and Commons last year—was born 59 years ago in the northeast of Scotland, the son of poor parents. His native ambition and ability took him through the University of Edinburgh, where he was a triple gold medalist, and to Canada in 1914. He served overseas with Canadian troops, and entered provincial politics in British Columbia, where he practised law. He was first elected to the House of Commons in 1930, and from 1935 to last year served continuously in Liberal cabinets.

He will be best remembered for his oratory and his expert knowledge of parliamentary procedure. He is mourned by his widow (he married two years ago) by a host of friends across the country, and by all Canadians who were acquainted with this colourful, robust and eloquent compatriot.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Sunk Bites Man" says a headline. Interesting, but we will really jump when we read that a man has bitten a skunk.

In ancient Babylon, we read, men often offered their wives as security for a loan. Modern banks frown on collateral which has to be fed and listened to.

An American has invented a noiseless popcorn bag. Patrons of the Peterborough Summer Theatre are eagerly awaiting the advent of the clunkless pop bottle.

A character analyst says that black eyes are possessed by clever, witty people. Even blue eyes can be changed to black if you become too clever and witty.

We saw a picture recently of Winston Churchill being kissed by a pretty girl. He had his hat on and a cigar in his mouth. This may be well enough for elderly statesmen, but young men who hope to be popular with the girls should not copy Mr. Churchill in this respect.

A London Letter

From CONRAD FROST

THIS summer, like the Government, refuses to realize when we have had enough. We are no better equipped to withstand ceaseless heat than we are economically capable of surviving too much Socialism. It is high time the cooling breezes of autumn, and the cool breath of political sanity, blew through this land.

But the Fall—both of leaves and reigning politicians—cannot now be long delayed.

The epidemic of Infantile Paralysis soars to the year's highest new-cases figure for any week—273. The Duchess of Kent brings her sons back from Jersey, where the epidemic is bad. All along the Thames the bathing stations are closed and if you swim elsewhere you do so at your own grave risk. The doctors cancel operations for the removal of tonsils, and some insurance companies will write you a risk policy against the dread disease.

Drought, which has polluted our rivers, and caused there to be no washing away of the sewage which, under a crazy system, lies uncovered on broad tracks through every one of our cities wherever the railway runs, has caused a crisis in milk, too. My ration of a pint every other day is already 'dishonoured'. It is now two and a half pints a week, and is likely to be less. Greengrocers say, anxiously, that there may be a return to potato rationing this winter, and the Ministry of Food are too cautious to deny the possibility.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is a lot of caution around the M.O.F. Offices these days. There is a story that they have been hoarding frozen rabbits from Australia—20,000,000 of them put on ice in the past five months. Then there is a story that meat stocks are becoming so great that the ration will have to be increased because soon there will be no more cold storage space left.

Today the Evening Standard guesses that the ration will go up from 1/4d to 1/6d. The Star takes a shot in the dark and predicts a 2/- ration by Christmas. The cynics at Northcliffe House, where the Evening News is published, think Mr. Strachey will hold his hand, appearing in the role of a genial Santa Claus with a double meat ration for Christmas.

This sort of intelligent guess work is displeasing to the Government, which hates to have its aces uncovered too soon. There has always been a nice timing about Socialist concessions. They usually come around the eve of by-elections, or just before a municipal vote has to be decided.

We shall get more meat. It is inevitable. It is as inevitable as the General Election. An army, Napoleon said, marches on its stomach. So do voters, to the polling booths!

MEANWHILE, in London, there are new domestic problems to irk the citizens. The number of passengers allowed to stand on the buses during rush hour is now cut down to five from eight. To thousands of office workers every night this means missing the customary train home.

The telephone shortage grows worse instead of better. For the past year and more, each new subscriber has had to share a line with a neighbour who could eavesdrop. Now, in desperate effort to keep down the waiting list, thousands who have had a private line of their own since 1947 are being told that service will be taken away unless they agree to share the lines and numbers with total strangers. The priority system creaks and groans. My own sister-in-law applied for a priority as she was an expectant mother, living alone, her husband in Germany. She was allocated a priority—by implication because of medical grounds. The baby is now two years old!

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the West End a new phenomenon makes itself more and more apparent. It becomes impossible to shut the eyes any longer to a colour problem, and that is something alien and strange to the Londoner. A London Harlem of zoot-suited brown skinned West Indians is setting the police and social workers a puzzle. There are now about 9,500 of these young men. Many first came here during the war to join the R.A.F. This columnist taught one to fly, though most were absorbed into the ground staffs.

They found London "paved with gold". They began to colonize here. Now they have virtually taken over four cafes, two milk bars, four public houses and one of the biggest dance halls. In that dance hall on a Saturday night you may find an average 500 of them, with sometimes fewer than five white men present, but about 400 white British working girls. There are seldom any coloured girls present. So far no awkward situations have ariven.

But some night cafes in the district are closing down! Maybe that's the easy way to dodge!

LATE holiday makers this week in the holiday camps dotted all along Britain's coast line are coming under the critical eye of 27 executive type Americans. The twenty-seven top men of American travel agencies are here to see whether our camps, free from austerity restrictions, renamed "vacation villages," would attract a new lower-income class of dollar tourist to Britain next summer. The holiday camp business here, which has made its millions out of the average British worker, is about to be sold over to ten thousand Transatlantic campers with an estimated spending power of half a million dollars.

Pretty soon the joke about the Britain who cultivated a Bowery accent whenever he wanted to hail a taxi may be no joke at all.

WITH Radio Olympia all set to sell Television on the biggest scale ever in only 28 days time, 200 vital camermen and TV technicians give the required 21 days notice of a pay dispute. At the end of that time they can stage the lightning strike which would wreck the biggest British radio exhibition of all. It looks like the hold-up it probably is. Manufacturers, who have been hard trying to guess one another's secrets, now wonder if there will be anything to unveil! Tipped as the "sensation" is the rumoured portable battery television set—the set they said couldn't be built!

Plans to build a mile stretch of a 200 m.p.h. air railway across Belvedere Marshes in Kent as a Festival of Britain exhibit, are under discussion this week. The railway, fastest and safest, is slung down from overhead tracks suspended 42 feet up. The inventor, George Bennie, refuses to give up his fight to get the Government to build such a track from London Airport to Marble Arch at a cost of £6 million against £27 million estimated for a new trunk road.

When Fulmer, a suburban village, opened its Village Hall Fund back in 1931 the target was £2,000. They had nearly collected enough to start building when the war broke out. Now they have started collecting again. The same hall will now cost £7,000!

Champagne 'on the house'—200 free bottles—opened the London Autumn season here this week, when the new Astor Club in Berkeley Square staged a 350-strong celebrity party.

✧ ✧ ✧

AUTUMN'S here whether the thermometer admits it or not. The first bonfires are burning in Hyde Park. Park Superintendent Hepburn is busy choosing 300,000 bulbs which will add spring colour to 1,400 acres of central parks. There are to be daffodils in Piccadilly.

Ballerina length frocks are new for autumn dancing and society girls just back from the south of France find themselves dated by their hairdo styles. Overnight a new short hairstyle has swept its way into the smart spots.

The Royal Meteorological Society promises a "golden September", Transport Minister Barnes promises more and more bans on street parking of cars, the newly nationalized gas industry promises almost universal increased charges, but the promise that's really strong and in the air is that Socialism is on its way out.

This week a London vicar, the Rev. Eric Bailey of Upper Norwood, reached front pages with his protest about the "appalling" waste of money on funeral flowers.

There will be no floral tributes when we come to bury the Welfare State!

KEY TO THE CASTLE?

Exploiting Public Fear

(TORONTO GLOBE AND MAIL)
(An Editorial Published June 3, 1949)

FRANTIC for weapons to use against Mr. George Drew, the Toronto Star resorts to trumped-up forecasts of Hydro power blackouts. In its Tuesday issue, the Liberal organ spread on its front page in large type the heading, "Hydro Blackouts Sure, Say Facts withheld as Tories Fear Voters."

Nowhere in its "news story" which followed did even its unnamed sources predict blackouts. That was the habitual extension made in the Star's office. The nearest the printed report came to supporting its diembodied headline was the statement that "One official said he did not see how power cuts can be averted....." (Note that the word used was "cuts," not "cutoffs".) The Star then went on to say, again without naming sources, that at the behest of "high strategists of the Conservative Party" the Ontario Government had vetoed until after election day the publication of advertisements "appealing to the public to conserve" power.

The proper authority to have approached for the facts was Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders. If he had verified the picture the Star painted, then the newspaper would have had some basis for challenging Premier Frost on its report that the advertisements were withheld. As it was, both of them categorically denied the Star's statements. "Absolutely and positively wrong. There is no anticipation of cutoffs," said Mr. Saunders. "Grotesquely wrong. I don't know any party strategists," said Mr. Frost. The Star buried them obscurely away in its turn-page, below its anonymous "sources."

Substantiating these official denials was the statistical position of the water levels, announced by the Hydro Commission. The figures show that the Hydro water storage reservoirs are at or near capacity levels. They are encouraging in view of the shortage of rainfall this spring. But present figures are no indication of what the situation will be next fall, and no one at Hydro pretends that they are. We have been all through the question of rainfall and water levels before. There is no mystery about it.

Electric power is the life current of this country's industry. The deliberate manufacture of false reports about it on any pretext is a vicious abuse of a newspaper's trust. Yet here is the Star, which screamed for years against "dragging Hydro into politics," now making Hydro a political football for the sole purpose of attacking Mr. Drew and the Progressive Conservative Party.

To make matters worse, it does so in the midst of a near-record dry spell which already has caused widespread uneasiness among farmers and those dependent on them. The Star deliberately sought to create and capitalize fear with the public in the interests of the party leaders it serves. It gave no evidence of impending power blackouts. It produced ample evidence of a blackout of journalistic integrity.

Bible Message

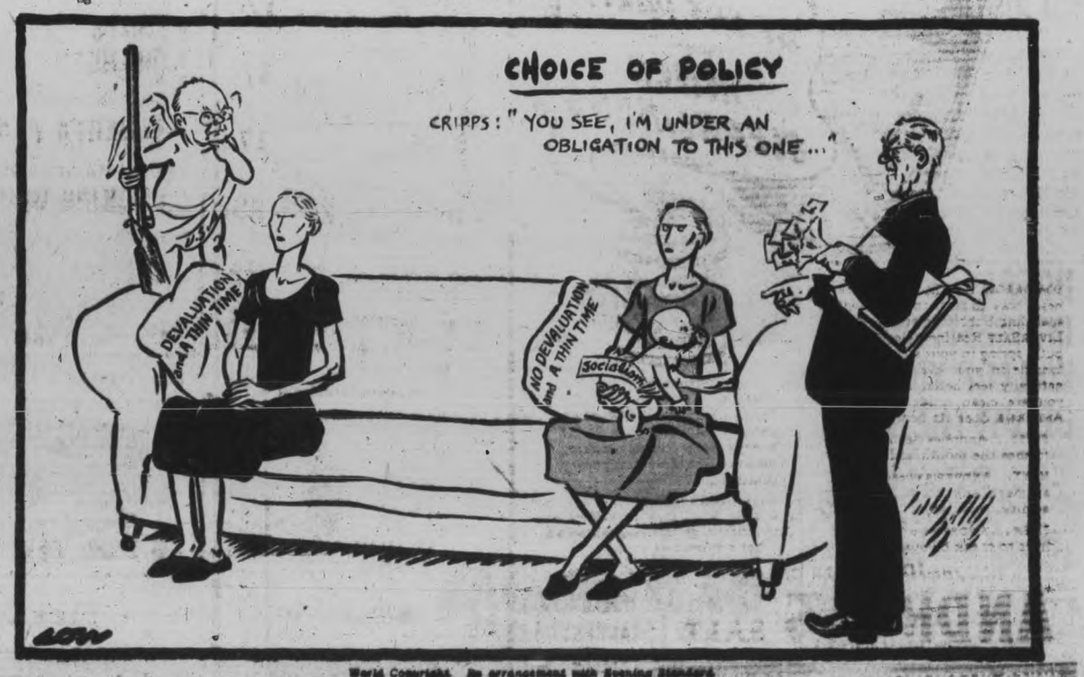
(From the Authorized Version)

I said in mine heart, Go to now, I will prove thee with mirth, therefore enjoy pleasure: and, behold, this also is vanity....

I sought in mine heart to give myself unto wine, yet acquainting mine heart with wisdom; and to lay hold on folly, till I might see what was that good for the sons of men, which they should do under the heaven all the days of their life. I made me great works; I builded me houses; I planted me vineyards....

So I was great, and increased more than all that were before me in Jerusalem: also my wisdom remained with me....Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do: and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun....

Then I saw that wisdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkness....For God giveth to a man that is good in his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy. (Eccl. 2: 1, 3, 4, 9, 11, 13, 26.)



Letter To The Editor

PROTESTS FUNERAL HOME SITE

Sir: In Saturday's "Examiner" reference was made to the new funeral home at the corner of Simcoe and Rubidge Streets. Almost solidly the Resident Property Owners in the immediate district protested to the City Council by petition against this funeral home. In spite of this the Council to a man, voted in favour of breaking the restrictions to allow the funeral home to be established. At the Municipal Board meeting in April Mr. Dutton, chairman of the Town Planning Committee, made a statement to the effect that the committee was in favour of the funeral home if the restrictions were lifted. The Town Planning Committee at a meeting held in December 1948, refused the funeral home. What has happened to justice and fair play in Peterborough?

CLOSED BY TAXES—The Queen's Hotel in Carleton Place, Ont., will remain closed, says proprietor Dan Miller, until the town agrees not to impose an extra business tax on it Dan says he hasn't paid business tax since 1916 when the town went "dry" and he can't see why he should start now.

Ladies' Guild Member Presented With Gifts

MARMORA, Sept. 7.—(ENS)—St. Paul's Ladies' Guild resumed its monthly meeetings at the Rectory on Thursday evening.

The president, Mrs. D. B. Robertson, presided. Financial statements of the general and decoration funds were given by the treasurer, Mrs. D. McInroy. Attention was drawn by the rector, Rev. J. M. Brownlie, to tentative plans for observing the seventy-fifth anniversary of St. Paul's in mid-October. It was decided to hold the annual supper in the Town Hall on October 20. A donation was received from the Trinity group.

A bake sale will be held on September 17 at a place to be decided later.

Mrs. H. McIlmoyl Is Hon. WA Member

SELWYN, Sept. 7.—(ENS) — The Women's Association of the United Church began their fall activities on Thursday when they held the monthly meeting at the summer cottage of Mrs. Wilfred Nichols, Chemong Lake. Scripture and topic were read by Mrs. Reginald Bell and Mrs. Charles McIlmoyl respectively. Letters were read from Mrs. Herbert McIlmoyl, Sr., Mrs. Grace McIlmoyl and Mrs. Charles McIlmoyl thanking the WA for flowers received while ill. Mrs. Herbert McIlmoyl also wished to resign from the WA, but the ladies decided to make her an honorary member instead of accepting her resignation.

An appeal was made for used clothing to be turned in before next meeting to be packed and sent to Europe. A few more church towels were turned in for the church hall. The October meeting will be held on October 6 at the home of Mrs. Bruce Fitzgerald.

Try For Flying Trophy

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 — (CP) — Thirteen amateur airplane pilots —including one girl—will compete at Windsor Sept. 9 and 10 for the Webster Memorial Trophy, highest award for amateur airmanship in Canada. Representing the central zone will be winner R. J. Smallma, of the St. Catharines, Ont., flying club, and Lorne D. Campbell, runner-up, of the Toronto flying club.

69th Anniversary Celebrated By Couple

ROSENEATH, Sept. 7.—(ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ash of Toronto, who are holidaying with their son Sam A. Ash and Mrs. Ash at Rolling Banks, Rice Lake, celebrated their 69th wedding anniversary on Saturday, September 3. Both the bride and groom of yester-year are in their 91st year and enjoyed motoring from Toronto to Rice Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Ash are former residents of Hamilton township near Cold Springs.

Also with Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ash at their cottage are their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. George L. Sidey, Toronto.

4 Children Trapped In Bed By Flames

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 7. (CP) —Four children—the oldest 14—were trapped in bed by flames early today and burned to death when fire swept their small frame home on the Saginaw outskirts. A fifth child was severely injured as she leaped to safety from the second-storey window.

Firemen said the mother, Mrs. Cleo Walters, 34, a divorcee, made several attempts to rescue her children but was unable to penetrate a wall of flames encircling the stairway. She suffered severe burns and was admitted to hospital.

Dead are: Samuel, 14; Angeline, 8; George, 4, and Walter, 3.

Firemen said the early morning blaze apparently started when an oil stove exploded on the first floor of the home.

Uniteds Fade From Picture As Oshawa Wins 7-5 Fray

Oshawa Broncs beat Uniteds 7-5 at the Bowl last night to take their OASA Senior "B" series in two straight. Three unearned runs for Oshawa in the third inning made the difference in a good game Bob Greenlaw pitched six-hit ball while Preem Whitely allowed nine bingles, but fanned nine, with the latter getting better support in the pinches. Uniteds kept fighting and threatened in the ninth but could only count one and the visitors earned the nod before about 300 chilled fans.

Dean McLaughlin led the winners at bat with two for three, as Gilbert and Romaniski hit homers, and Taylor a double. Bud Harrison shone at third and led the hitters for Uniteds with a double and two singles in four tries. Douglas got a double and single in four, and Greenlaw tripled. A stop by Harrison and two catches by Jake Wade in centre were fielding features of a well handled game. Aside from the third shaky frame, Uniteds went well defensively.

The box score:

Wilson Plans To Try Again

DETROIT, Sept. 7 — (AP). — Harold Wilson of Ingersoll, whose Miss Canada IV met with bad luck in two speedboat races here, is going to try again to lift the Harmsworth Trophy from the United States.

He said yesterday he will challenge in 1950.

The Canadian made the announcement prior to leaving Detroit after watching the Silver Cup in a spectator's role. Miss Canada IV damaged a propeller in the first lap of Saturday's heat and was shipped home before the final lap of the race Labor Day.

"I definitely will submit a Harmsworth challenge for 1950," Wilson said. "I expect to make the challenge sometime this fall officially. There is no hurry about it, as we have until January 1 to issue it. I will not wait that long, however."

Despite failures in the Harmsworth, the Silver Cup and speed trials at Picton, Wilson still has confidence in Miss Canada IV.

"We feel we are near the solution of our problems now," he said. "I am disappointed, but not disheartened. Remember, I raced Miss Canada III for five years before she even finished a heat. Trouble is not new to me."

KELLOGG'S ASTHMA RELIEF FOR ASTHMA & HAY FEVER

Reject Repeal Of Bonus Rule

CINCINNATI, Sept. 7 (AP) — Major league baseball has voted against repealing the bonus rule, the office of baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler announced today.

In a brief statement, Walter Mulbry, secretary-treasurer of baseball, said: "The amendment to major and major-minor league rule 3 (F), the bonus rule, on which a mail vote from the major league clubs was requested Aug. 25, failed of passage."

The amendment which had been approved by the major league executive committee, would have set aside provisions of the bonus rule for the new crop of players but would have kept them in effect for three years for those players already covered.

Mulbry told reporters the amendment, "perhaps with modifications," would be on the agenda for the joint major league meeting in December.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association, will not request minor leagues to vote on the amendment, considering the action of the major leagues, Mulbry said.

He declined to say how each of the 16 major league clubs voted.

Briefly, the bonus rule provides that a player, paid more than $5,000 to sign a major, AAA or AA league contract, may not be farmed out without waivers. The bonus amount for class A clubs is $4,500 and for BC, and D clubs $3,000.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

In the final game of the novice competition, played last evening, W. Jones won from E. Howard by 21-6. Billy now has the honor of holding the P. J. Giffen Trophy for one year. This competition is sponsored by the Peterborough Examiner.

Many of the boys have already made their entries for Friday night's men's doubles tournament.

Charlie Renaud and Reg Dyer will represent our club in the annual Globe and Mail doubles. Play begins to-morrow morning in Toronto.

Our bowlers who took in the Elora tournament over the holiday report having a good time; the same goes for those who took in the Cobourg tournament.

The ladies held another series of their individual score contest last evening.

As far as we know there is nothing scheduled on the greens for this evening.

Strikes His Stride

JASPER PARK, Alta., Sept. 7 (CP). — Crooner Bing Crosby struck his stride yesterday in the first round of the Totem Pole Golf Tournament eliminating Frank Dunn of Seattle 4 and 3 while the other favorite, George Coleman of Miami, Okla., dumped Pete Rule of Calgary by the same score. Crosby, who just barely qualified yesterday with an 18-hole score of 82, went the first nine holes in even par and was only two over when the match ended.

Senior Petes' ballsters are on the spot tonight as they clash—weather permitting—at 5.30 in Riverside with Oshawa Merchants. Latter have won three straight in the COBL finals and the Petes must win tonight or they're out of the "A" competition, and Oshawa are loop champs. While the Merchants are strong, they're not so good that they should sweep the Petes aside in four straight. In fact, the locals led 'em half the season in top spot, and were close runners-up the last half. Ed Murphy will have his squad fighting hard for this one, and it rates a big twilight crowd.

Right after the senior ball play; there's a girls' softball tussle tonight of considerable importance at eight in the Bowl. It'll be Toronto lasses vs. the Dominion Woollens in the opener of their best-of-three Provincial Women's Softball Union playdown series. Return game or games Saturday in Toronto. With Westclox and Lindsay ousted a space back in PWSU playdowns by Kingston and Cobourg respectively—the latter two since having fallen by the wayside—Woollens carry the only local hopes of an Ontario girls' title, in the junior competition. And they may come up with a real surprise for the Toronto belles. A good gallery is indicated.

NHL-ers Won't Come

Proxy Bit Clapper of the City Baseball League informs us that there'll be no exhibition softball tilt here tomorrow to aid minor baseball. The NHL all-stars were slated to come but he can't be assured of enough of them to advertise such an offering. Too near the puck season for the pro hockeyists, and they don't want to chance twisted ankles or such accidents. Some were willing but not a full team. So Dit is working now on an attempt for next week to get Toronto Tip Top Tailors down to play the local all-stars, the latter to have an ace battery from Toronto, maybe Justice twirling. If this can be arranged, it'll be a real attraction, too.

Curtains fell upon the Uniteds (East City Motors and Babe's Place) at ye olde Bowle last cool eventide when Oshawa Broncs kicked through with a 7-5 victory before the next of kin and a couple of hundred cash customers. Won the OASA senior "B" series in two straight. A goodish game but for the third heat when Uniteds got oleo on their fingers and handed the Broncs three unearned runs. Bob Greenlaw pitched winning ball, while Harrison and Douglas hit well, and Wade and Harrison shone afield. But they didn't have quite enough, and the Broncs earned the right to seek further pastures. And that leaves only the Cosmos in OASA play now from here, their tilt last eve in Oshawa being postponed due to CNE softball activity.

A Sense Of Humor

Joe Krol of Argos, Canada's "Mr. Football", writes a weekly grid column now for the Star. In his first effort the other day he remarked: "I had to laugh at Doug Pyzer after he tried to stop Tom Casey in Saturday's game. Casey hit him so hard he knocked the helmet down on Doug's head. After the game, Doug wanted to know what hapened from the time he hit Casey. He couldn't recall a thing until about three minutes before the game ended." Yeah, a teammate is knocked punchy, and big Joe has to laugh. What a sense of humor. A good thing Pyzer wasn't maimed, or Krol might have ha-ha'd himself into hysterics!

Walt Murphy slips us the latest minor OLA lacrosse info up this way. Four local clubs still in competition. Juves go to Scarboro tomorrow, while midgets and bantams await their next rounds. Peewees hit into a big OLA tourney at Mimico or New Toronto on Sept. 17, five boxes being used for the sawoffs. Coach Rowan Chute will select his all-star peewee team at a six o'clock drill tonight in Miller Bowl, while the midgets work out there this e'en at 6.30. All players should be on hand. Some aid for the minors is needed in transportation—the loop paying for gas—and those willing to help might phone 8324 or 2-1426. These boys should go somewhere this semester.

Bisons Clinch 1949 Pennant Trounce Royals

By The Associated Press.

Buffalo Bisons are regular-season champions of the International League.

They clinched their first pennant since 1936 last night by trouncing Montreal Royals 11-5 while their nearest pursuers, Rochester Red Wings, were splitting a double-header.

This combination of events put the front-running Bisons out of mathematical reach in the few games remaining. Rochester trails Buffalo by 5½ games and have only five games to play.

To represent the circuit in the little world series, however, the Bisons must also win the Shaughnessy playoffs, the four-team elimination that follows the regular campaign.

With less than a week of play remaining, the four playoff principals appear pretty well set, with Rochester, Montreal and Jersey City following Buffalo in that order.

Toronto still has a chance of cracking the first division. The Leafs are only a game and a half out of fourth place and two games back of Montreal, in third.

Don't Need To Worry

Second place Rochester, 5½ games back of Buffalo, is 4½ in front of fifth-place Toronto and doesn't have to worry much about losing that playoff gravy.

Saul Rogovin had the honor of pitching Buffalo's flag clincher. He was touched for 12 hits and gave up six walks but he managed to hang on in the clinches.

The Red Wings shaded Toronto 3-2 in the opener but lost the second game 12-8.

Jersey City strengthened its hold on fourth place by winning a double-header from the hapless Newark Bears in semi-privacy at Ruppert Stadium, 8-5 and 8-2.

Bud Byerly hurled a two-hitter for Syracuse in shutting out Baltimore Orioles 4-0. Al Widmar who has won 22 games for the Orioles, suffered his 14th setback.

Raybestos Takes Opener In Series

After a shaky first inning, Raybestos last night settled down behind Nichols' steady flinging and earned a 9-3 victory over Westclox to open the Industrial Fastball League finals. The Big Bens were unable to hit with men aboard and they had some sloppy fielding at times.

McMasters, Morin, Guelja and Watson were the main hitters for the losers, as Stewart, Maudsley and Parsons led the victors at bat. The Clockers reeled off one double play to ease the pressure. Their three runs came in the first frame, while Rays counted two each in the second and fourth with five in the big seventh stanza. Next game is Thursday. Teams:

Westclox: Watson, 3b; Morin, cf; Macdonald, rf; McMasters, lf; Guerin, ss; Quigley, p; Casey, r; Heffernan, 1b; Millar, c; Donoghue, 2b.

Raybestos: Crompton, r; E. Maudsley, 1b; Simpson, 3b; Giles, c; Murphy, cf; Parsons, rf; Stewart, lf; Tyndall, ss; L. Maudsley, 2b; Nichols, p.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Eight of Canada's top amateur shotsmiths Tuesday held Britain's 1949 Walker Cup team to a 6-6 draw in a 36 hole competition at the Toronto Golf and Country Club. The Britons won the morning singles matches 5-3, but the Canadians came back in the afternoon to sweep the best ball foursomes 2-1. With a point awarded for each win and half a point for a split, the British team went ahead with four victories and two halved matches in the singles. Their one successful best-ball game saved them from defeat.

In the singles, Gerry Kesseling of Kitchener Rockaway, put the Canadians temporarily in front with a surprise 4 and 3 win over British amateur champion Max McCready of London. Kesseling won his match the hard way. He was one down after nine holes, but threw a flock of birdies at McCready to gradually pull in front.

The Sarnia Sailors hockey team will represent the city next winter in the International Amateur Hockey Association rather than the OHA as in former years, it was announced Tuesday by Manager Logie Allen. The league composed of Windsor, Chatham, two Detroit teams and Sarnia will form a group that will give Sarnia 20 home games from Oct. 22 until March 18.

Ted Williams, sparkling outfielder with Boston Red Sox, appears headed for his third consecutive American League batting championship, with only George Kell of the Detroit Tigers threatening him. The rangy Red Sox slugger, participating in 135 games has an average of .353 to .341 for Kell, who has been in 125 games.

Dixie Walker's 11-year burn at Elmoire Larry Goetz cost him $100 and a three-day suspension, but Dixie figures he got a bargain.

"I wanted for 11 years to tell Goetz off and believe me it was worth the money," the 39-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder declared.

Ford Frick, National League president, levied the fine and suspension for Walkers altercation Monday with Goetz in St. Louis.

Frank Fortese of Toronto Tuesday night at London punched out an eight-round non-title decision over the British welterweight boxing champion, Henry Hall. The 22-year-old Toronto negro weighed 149 to Hall's 149½. In the main event, Dave Sands of Australia won the British middleweight title by knocking out Dick Turpin in the first round of a scheduled 15-rounder.

Star Reward, owned by Charles T. Fisher of Detroit, Tuesday set a track record in winning the $12,000 inaugural handicap on opening day at Chicago's Hawthroen Park. Under top weight of 124 pounds, Star Reward went the six furlongs in 1:10 1/5. The old mark was 1:10 3/5.

Lusty Song, owned by Hayes Fair Acres Stables, Du Quoin, Ill., at Indianapolis, Tuesday set a two-year-old trotters' world race record at 2:02 1/5. But Florica, from Arden Homestead Stable, Goshen N.Y., won the rich horseman stake for these animals in the run-off at the grand circuit meet at the Indiana State Fair. The brown colt's record performance came in the second heat of the $33,000 event. H. M. (Doc) Parshall pushed Lusty Song ahead of Florican by two lengths to erase the old record, of 2:02¼, set in 1931.

Three Montreal players were named Tuesday to the International League all-star team, to give the Royals top billing on the 1949 dream team. The three were: shortstop Bob Morgan, outfielder Same Jethroe and catcher Steve Lembo. Toronto Maple Leafs had two players on the team—outfielder Ed Sanicki and pitcher Jocko Thompson.

Newcombe Leads Dodgers To 10-2 Win Over Braves

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York Yankees, leading the American League since the opening gun, face their severest test of the season tonight when they open a vital three-game series with the challenging Boston Red Sox.

Casey Stengel's crippled Yanks lead the sizzling Sox by a game and a half and a Boston sweep would dump the Yanks into second place.

Stengel has selected Allie Reynolds (13-4) to face Ellis Kinder (18-5) before an estimated 75,000 plus crowd.

Reynolds, despite his impressive won-lost record, has had a rough season while Kinder is enjoying the best campaign of his career. Reynolds has completed only four of 25 starts.

Kinder is working on an eight game winning streak.

The return to action of Joe DiMaggio and possibly catcher Yogi Berra greatly enhances the Yankee chances. DiMaggio has been suffering from leg cramps but reports the ailment has disappeared. Berra has been out with a fractured left thumb since Aug. 7.

The "percentage" rides with the Yanks. The bombers have won 10 games and lost five to the Sox and they are great "homers."

One Game Ahead

Meanwhile, the equally-tense National League race finds the front-running St. Louis Cardinals only one game ahead of Brooklyn Dodgers.

Don Newcombe, big Negro righthander, pitched the Dodgers to within a game of the Red Birds last night as he turned back the Boston Braves 10-2 at Ebbets Field. The Cards, Chicago Cubs and the entire American League were idle.

Newcombe, in bagging his 15th triumph, yielded only six hits and fanned seven to run his league-leading strikeout total to 126. His string of consecutive scoreless innings was snapped at 31 when the Braves scored in the second inning.

The defeat was the Braves' seventh straight and dropped them 3½ games behind the third-place Philadelphia Phillies.

Beat Giants

Philadelphia came from behind to beat New York Giants 4-2 in a 10-inning opener but Leo Durocher's men took the nightcap 4-1.

Larry Jansen had the Phils beaten 2-0, with two out in the ninth when they rallied to tie up the game. Bill Nicholson's single broke it up in the following frame.

Sheldon Jones outpitched Hank Borowy in the finale, winning out when his battery mate, Wes Westrum, poled a three-run homer in the sixth.

Cincinnati Reds exploded for four runs in the 10th inning to clip Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3 under the lights in Pittsburgh.

Winning pitcher Ewell Blackwell singled to start the rally and Johnny Wyrostek climaxed the uprising with a two-run triple. Ralph Kinder poled his 43rd homer for the Pirates.

CAPTURE 1st ROUND OF OBA

Port Colborne Junior Sailors captured their first round of the Ontario Baseball Association Junior A baseball playoffs here Tuesday night, outlasting Niagara Falls Constructions 3-2 to take the round in two games out of three. Ports now meet Guelph.

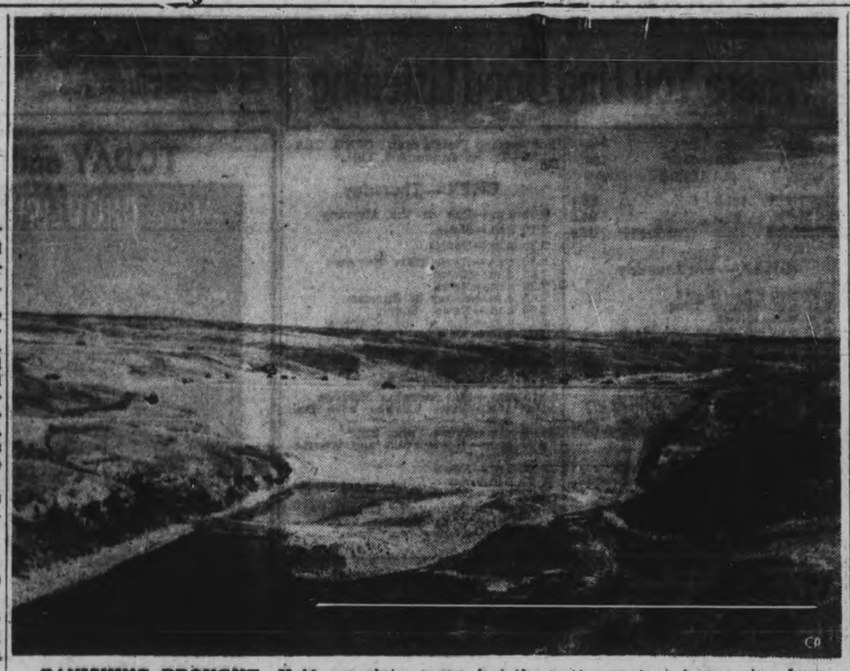
First Regatta On Jack's Lake Attended By 500

APSLEY, Sept. 7 (ENS). — The first Jack's Lake regatta, held on Saturday afternoon under sponsorship of the Apsley Athletic Club, was very successful, with ideal weather and an attendance of approximately 500. Trophies or prizes were awarded in each event, the cup presented by H. L. Garner, general manager of The Peterborough Examiner, being won by Dr. Victor A. Onorato of Buffalo, N.Y. It was offered for competition in the open inboard motorboat event.

The course for the larger boats was three miles and for the smaller boats 1½ miles.

Prize Winners



The trophies were won by the following entrants:—

3.5 h.p. and under — Murray McCormack, Apsley; 5.5 h.p. and under—Mickey Wagar, Jacks Lake; 7.5 h.p. and under—C. C. McCormack, Apsley; 10.5 h.p. and under—Vaughan Tucker, Peterborough; 16.5 h.p. and under — Norman Lean, Apsley; open outboard—Bob Wagar, Jacks Lake (Wagar's Pine Point); Open inboard—Dr. V. A. Onoroto, Jacks Lake and Buffalo, N.Y.; Open outboard and inboard—Dr. Onoroto.

There were many other events, such as canoe races, row-boat races, swimming for children and adults.

Mr. Wagar and some guests put on an aquaplane show.

The Athletic Club is well pleased with the results of their venture and plan another on a larger scale for next summer.

BANISHING DROUGHT—Half completed, the huge St. Mary River dam is the key project in a long-term irrigation plan which will bring moisture to 500,000 acres of dry farmland in southeastern Alberta. The St. Mary dam will be finished next year, but the entire project, harnessing four rivers with a network of canals, dams and water mains, will require many more years. The tiny black spots on the dam, which now measures 105 feet in height, are machines, each capable of carrying a railway carload of clay.

Dummer Council To Seek Subsidy

WARSAW, Sept. 7 (ENS). — Accepting a motion by Councillors Gallaher and Olver, the Dummer Township Council at its monthly meeting here last week decided to apply to the provincial government for a road subsidy to the amount of $25,300.81.

On motion of Councillors Hamblin and Sloan, it was decided that the 1948 tax roll be accepted, with a balance of $1,407.34 to be returned to the county.

The council adopted a resolution of Councillors Gallaher and Sloan, that the reeve and road superintendent study the matter of procuring a tank and pump for fuel oil for the grader.

On motion of Councillors Sloan and Hamblin, it was decided to prepare and widen a part of the 12th Line for snowplowing.

It was agreed, on motion of Councillors Gallaher and Hamblin, that the reeve and road superintendent see Mr. Marston and act on his advice in regard to selling the old grader.

General accounts amounting to $1,352.04 and road accounts totalling $17,269.22 were passed for payment.

Seek Boards Approval Sewage Plant Addition

The contract of the city council for the completion of the sewage disposal plant will be referred to the Ontario Municipal Board for its approval this afternoon in Toronto.

Mayor Swanston is accompanied by Ald. H. Dodds, chairman of the board of works, City Engineer Chalmers and City Clerk Outram.

The city's application is for permission to proceed with the financing of this project which, according to the accepted contract will cost in excess of $600,000. The amount voted by the ratepayers was $375,000. It is understood that the council is asking informally for the authorization of the Board as sanction for the council's assuming the additional cost of the work without further vote of the property owners.

France Host To 2,500,000 Visitors; Things More Expensive This Year

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

PARIS, Sept. 7. (AP)—France is closing the books on its biggest tourist year in history, but contrary to advance reports travel costs haven't been dirt cheap.

By the end of the tourist season the country will have entertained some 2,500,000 visitors.

Numerically the smallest important tourist group — about 250,000 — the American is still the biggest spender. That's one of the reasons France is so anxious to explain why rumors of inexpensive living here were not true.

"The tourist dollar gets into the economic bloodstream of a nation quickly," explained an American member of the travel development section of the Economic Co-operation Administration. "It acts exactly like a shot in the arm."

Right now France is interested in spreading its tourist season over a 12-month period. The 250,000 Americans this year were a capacity load for the ships and planes available. France hopes there will be enough space to bring twice that number over next year.

Tourists Disappointed

Guy Herpin, inspector-general of the French Commission on Tourism, said he realized many returning tourists were disappointed in the way their money went.

"Things cost about the same or a little more than they would have in the United States," he said. "I think those stories about cheap touring were started by people who were abroad last year when the franc was very, very low."

Twelve months ago a U.S. dollar frequently brought more than 500 francs. This year the dollar has consistently brought around 330 franc on the open market.

Herpin pointed out that much of last year's inexpensive travel was accomplished through black-market sales of dollars which the government since has pretty well stamped out.

In addition to touting the advantages of travelling "out of season" to France, Herpin said, the French Government is striving to get its economy into such shape that it can advertise officially in January what financial conditions will be in June.

An executive of the largest American travel agency in Paris said the number one tourist gripe of the year had been prices.

CANADA NEEDS HEALTHY RAILWAYS TO SERVE HER PEOPLE

41 MILLION —a lot of passengers

On good days and bad, for business or pleasure, some 41,000,000 passengers stepped aboard Canadian trains last year.

They travelled the fantastic total of almost four billion miles. That's over 300 miles each for every man, woman and child in Canada.

The gigantic task of carrying this multitude of commuters, vacationists, business people, requires an army of train crews, trackmen, dispatchers, locomotive engineers . . . and miles of coaches, dining cars, engines . . . and mountains of coal, forests of ties and telegraph poles . . . and 42,000 miles of track . . . altogether a capital investment of well over three billion dollars.

Every Canadian depends on railroads—not only for travel but also, as freight carriers, to bring him almost everything he eats, wears, dwells in, uses . . . It amounts to 12 tons a year for every citizen.

The railways EMPLOY a lot of people, too

They paid $544,000,000 in wages and salaries to over 190,000 Canadians last year. But that's just the beginning of what the railways mean to employment in Canada. Lumbermen, factory workers, miners, farmers—men in a hundred occupations—are busy producing things the railways buy. Last year their purchases added up to more than $400,000,000.

This advertisement is one of a series pointing out the railways' key place in Canada's economy. As Canada's largest builders of railway rolling stock and equipment, this company and its employees are directly concerned with the railway industry. Canadian Car & Foundry, operating eight modern plants, turns out thousands of railway cars of every type. The company is fully equipped to supply Canada's railways with the latest type passenger and freight cars to meet the growing needs of our expanding economy.

Lake Pollution Not Injuring Fish Population

In the opinion of Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, Little Lake is not sufficiently contaminated to cause a major decline in the fish population of the lake. Dr. Kelly expressed this belief Tuesday night at the first full meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association held in the K. of C. Hall. He reminded his listeners, however, that he was no expert on marine biology, and that if they wanted a definite opinion on the matter they would have to consult such an authority.

Dr. Kelly was asked to appear before the meeting to describe in detail the extent of pollution of waters adjacent to Peterborough and the causes which brought it about.

He said that if Canada Packers, Ltd., was able to connect to the city's main sewer it would not be necessary for them to dump any of their industrial waste into the lake.

City's Responsibility

Dr. Kelly said that this phase of the matter was the city's responsibility and not that of the packing firm, since the pipe leading across Jackson's Park Creek was not large enough to handle the flow of packing plant waste to the sewage disposal plant. He added that the company had cooperated very well with his department in taking other measures to reduce the amount of waste sent into the water. "The company would connect with the sewer tomorrow if the pipe was big enough," he declared.

The Health Officer said that it was questionable whether the existing sewage plant would be able to handle the extra flow of sewage which would result when the new pipe across to Ashburnham is connected up. Due partly to the fact that present storm sewers often overflow into the main sewer, the volume of sewage now going into the plant is "very large" and the facilities are greatly "overworked."

Dr. Kelly told his audience that while he was far from satisfied with existing conditions as respects pollution, Peterborough was better off than those cities possessing industries such as tanneries, breweries, etc. He said that industrial waste was much more contaminating than ordinary sewage and that many cities in the U.S. were worse off than this city for that reason.

Annual Corn Roast

During the business part of the meeting, which was presided over by President Cam Rowatt, other matters included: arrangements for the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters at Midland October 1 and 2, and tree planting project at Buckley's Lake, activities of the association's Rifle Club, and the annual corn roast, to be held Friday night at Wallace Point.

Those going to the corn roast will leave the CNR freight sheds by car at 7.30 p.m. Any desiring transportation are asked to be at that point at 7.15.

Among resolutions recommended for consideration at the annual meeting of the Anglers' Federation was one urging that any carp taken when catching lunge for spawning be destroyed instead of being thrown back in the water. The members also indulged in considerable discussion over the use of minnows as bait.

President Rowat gave a report on the recent meeting of Zone Five (Lake Simcoe District) of the Anglers' Federation which he attended as a delegate.

Norman Bradley reported that the trees planted by the association last spring at Buckley's Lake were all thriving with only a few exceptions. It was decided to plant more trees on September 17, members to meet at the CNR freight sheds at 9.00 a.m.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

$1,366,181 SPENT

Total expenditure on the new Civic Hospital to the end of July was $1,360,181.23 as reported to the city council by John Hornal, superintendent.

REFUND BY COUNCIL

Exhibition Board's cheque for $590, covering a licence fee in connection with the recent fair, is being returned by the council as a combined matter of record and grace.

56 MUNICIPAL POLLS

There will be five more polling booths for the December election this year. The increase is from 51 to 56. The change was authorized by a bylaw of the council Tuesday night.

ASK FOR LIGHTS

A petition from residents of Wilson St. asked the council on Tuesday night for street lights. Some of those signing it were: George Coward, W. R. Mader, Frank James, John C. Hickson. It was referred to the fire and light committee.

BEECH NUTS PLENTIFUL

A heavy crop of beech nuts in Cavan woods may be an indication of a hard winter, Alex Huston of Otonabee mentioned this morning to the Examiner. Even if there be doubts about the significance of this yield of the beech trees, it is hardly likely that the district will see next winter as mild as the last two.

SMALL COLLISION

Slight damage was caused Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. when a car owned and driven by James Brown, 47 Benson Ave., and a truck owned and driven by Vincent Junkin, Bobcaygeon, came into collision at George and Charlotte Sts. The rear of the Junkin truck struck the Brown car on the right front door. Constable Clair McGillen investigated.

TRUCK DITCHED

Provincial Constable G. E. Henderson at about 1:00 a.m. Wednesday investigated an accident which occurred on No. 28 Highway, just south of Fraserville, when a truck left the road and overturned in the ditch after the stearing gear went out of commission. The driver, Walter Holder, 199 Church St., St. Catharines was uninjured, although the vehicle sustained about $200 worth of damage to its front end.

APPRECIATION TO COUNCIL

Three letters of appreciation were read to the council Tuesday night by City Clerk Outram. One was from the Canadian Bandsmen's Association for the cordial civic greetings and hospitality in their Peterborough convention; another was from Nicholls Park Trust for the use of city benches and tables for a civic holiday picnic; a third was from the Peterborough Exhibition Board for cooperation during the recent fair.

ASKS TO BE LOCKED UP

Jail was more welcome than freedom for a Toronto man who was today remanded in custody until Friday by James J. Fleming, J. P., at city police court. The remand was on a charge of vagrancy. Norman Alfred Woods walked into city police station on Tuesday evening and asked to be locked up for ten days. "I've been on a binge" he told the police "and I want some time to get straightened up."

FALSE ALARM

A supposed house burglary which turned out to be just a "false alarm," was investigated by Chief of Police Garnet Samis of Lakefield Tuesday night. After a window was discovered broken, it was at first feared that the home of Charles Birch had been entered, but it was later learned that the pane had been broken by a child. The break-in idea was further strengthened by the fact that an automatic revolver was missing; it was found to have been merely mislaid.

WINNER OF THIRD PRIZE for collection of vegetables at the Canadian National Exhibition, the Peterborough display was provided by the following local growers, Chas. Kitney and Son, Alfred Johnston, Gerald Lowes, Eric Johnston, Kitchener Johnston and Ray Johnston. The exhibit was arranged by Harold Johnston.

Controlled Timber Cutting Makes Perpetual Mill Feed

By NICK NICKELS

COCHRANE, Sept. 7—"Industry and development will follow wherever there is the right political and economical climate," was the key to a speech by Colga G. Parker, president of Kimberly-Clark Corporation to touring members of the Ontario Legislature on Tuesday at the company's inn at Kapuskasing. Mr. Parker told that his company had found the climate in Ontario favorable and had invested 90 million dollars in paper plants and townsites at both Kapuskasing and Terrace Bay.

The party arrived in Kapuskasing had breakfast at the inn and made a two hour inspection of the two mills which make up the industry of this thriving well run town of 6,000 people. The main mill proper which is jointly operated by an American newspaper and Kimberly-Clark Corporation produces 20 carloads of newsprint per day while the secondary mill turns out from five to six carloads of absorbant tissue each 24 hours.

Model Community

The industry with its townsite, which has been established for 30 years, is a model community with buildings erected for permanency. Its hospital, schools, churches, homes, parks and business area reflect the general welfare of the enterprise. Officials, by stringent forestry cutting methods are confident of perpetual mill feed. Their cutting limits, coursed by three rivers, extend over an area of 6,000 square miles and at the peak of the woods production season employ 1,500 to 2,000 workers, who are well housed.

In addition to selective cutting, the company started a reforestation seedling farm 20 miles east of Kapuskasing and north of Moonbeam where some of the visitors saw seed beds of pine and spruce nearly four years old which will soon be ready for transplanting in cut-over areas. The farm which covers several acres of rolling ground, unusual to the terrain of this flat claybelt country, is strictly in the experimental stage but contains enough acreage to step up the seedling program as plantings mature.

It was also of interest to members to see the Dominion Experimental Farm just outside the town limits, which it was said, is the second largest of its type in Canada.

It was of interest to note that the town was no more than an insignificant flag stop during The First World War and that the labor of interned German prisoners of war started the original clearings. They also worked on the first crude roads in the district.

Chosen To Enter Military College

James E. W. Fitzpatrick, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. Stanton Fitzpatrick, 335 Stewart St., and Robert S. Bigelow, Millbrook, are among 167 Canadian boys selected for admittance to military colleges for training as officers. Both will be going to Royal Roads near Victoria, B.C., as Army officer cadets.

The list of successful candidates was released by Defence Minister Brooke Claxton, who announced the boys are "recommended for cadetships." Some will serve cadetships at Royal Roads and others at the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

Both colleges now educate and train young officer cadets for commissions in all three services of Canada's Armed Forces. This policy was instituted at the Royal Military College when it reopened last September after having been closed since 1942 and at the same time, Royal Roads began to accept Army candidates in addition to RCN and RCAF personnel.

City Accepts Offer

City council accepted Tuesday night the offer of Garth Braund to pay the cost of laying a sewer on a short street stemming from Chamberlain St., opposite the end of Alfred St. He has told the council he can put six houses on that lot which has been used as a neighborhood playground for small children while under the ownership, until recently, of Mr. R. C. Braund.

The city will be required to open the dead-end street into the property. It will be immediately west of the Mendel Braund store.

Traffic Charges Follow Accident; Both Dismissed

Two charges of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and careless driving against Royal Clarke, 496 Gilchrist St., were dismissed by Magistrate R. B Baxter, Port Hope, in police court Tuesday afternoon.

The charges resulted from an accident near the corner of Reid and Sherbrooke Sts. in which motorcycle rider Murray Wight, 167 Adaline St., was knocked from his machine. He suffered minor cuts and an injured ankle.

Clarke's attorney, W. J. Arthur Fair, K.C., showed while cross-examining Crown witnesses, Mr. Wight, Clare Heard and Kenneth Granger, 255 Reid St., that Clarke had stayed at the scene after the accident. Clarke had also offered to take Wight to the hospital if he wanted to go. Wight and Clarke knew each other by sight before the accident.

Wight said he was travelling south on Reid St. on his way home. As he came close to the corner he saw a car on the west side of Reid St. apparently coming west out of Sherbrooke, moving slowly in a north east direction. He thought it was going to turn left to go north on Reid St He testified he thought the car would stop, but it didn't. He said it was too late to stop his motorcycle or get up speed He veered to the left but was unable to avoid being hit. He said he could not see whether Clarke had stopped for the stop sign.

Evidence Leaves Doubt

Magistrate Baxter said he could find no evidence of negligence and there was sufficient doubt in his mind to warrant his dismissing the careless driving charge.

On the charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident, Constable E. S. Niziol, who investigated the accident approximately half an hour after it happened, said the accused was not there when he arrived.

Mrs Irene Johnston said she saw someone cover up the rear license plate of the only car at the scene of the accident, but had never seen the accused until she saw him in court. She testified she did not know whether the car was driven by Clarke but she had taken note of the license number before it was covered. Miss Jean Weir said she had looked at the license plate of the car, which seemed to her to be the one involved in the accident. When she looked a second time to check the number the plate had been obscured. Both women said they saw the car go north on Reid St Neither knew who was the owner or driver Hurd testified that Clarke had been standing talking to him when the car was driven up the street. He said Clarke later walked away in the same direction the car had gone, although he had tried to persuade Clarke to stay until the police arrived

Magistrate Baxter said there was not sufficient evidence to convict Clarke and dismissed the charge

Must Expropriate Normal School Land

Ontario government has to proceed with formal expropriation of the lands on which its Normal School was built here some forty years ago. A department of the government apparently did not get a deed for the property which was provided by the city when the School was located in Peterborough when the late T. E. Bradburn was member of the legislature.

The Department of Public Works has registered a plan of the land, but there has been some discrepancy by which the deed was not given notice of expropriation in compliance with the Public Works Act.

City council was informed Tuesday night of the formal expropriation. At present the land is owned by the city of Peterborough and not the province of Ontario.

Contract Firm Awaits Order To Start Work

The contracting firm of George Hardy Limited, Leaside, wrote the council Tuesday night that they are prepared to begin construction of the addition to the sewage disposal plant as soon as the council has received the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board.

The letter from A. D. McKee, general manager, conveyed appreciation of the council's action in awarding the contract to his company "We wish to assure you that upon instructions to proceed, this project will receive our full and immediate attention, and will be prosecuted to completion at the earliest possible date."

A deputation from the council is in Toronto today interviewing the Ontario Municipal Board regarding the cost of the disposal plant in excess of the amount voted by the ratepayers two years ago.

Report Accepted

Pertaining to the contract for the sewage disposal plant was the following clause in the committee of the whole report, Monday night, which the council adopted: "That the recommendation of Gore & Storrie, consulting engineers, be accepted in full, which includes the acceptance of the tender of George Hardy Limited, providing the council secures the necessary approval of the Department of Health to the project, and also the authority of the Ontario Municipal Board to issue the necessary additional debentures required to finance these works."

By way of repeating the information published from the report of the proceedings of the committee of the whole, the estimated cost was as follows::

(1) The amount of the Hardy tender (lowest of three) for alterations and extensions to the sewage treatment plant, $483,662.20. Sludge disposal-beds and trucks, $22,000. Add 15% for engineering and contingencies $75,849.

(2) Storm water pump, installed at the lower end of Park St. on the right bank of the river $20,000. Total $581,511.

New pump installed in sewage plant and repairs to existing pumps $7,500.

Amounting to $27,500.

Add 15% for engineering and contingencies $4,125. Increasing that (2) amount to $31,625.

Total for the whole project $613,136 or in round numbers $615,000

Opposes Paying $3,000 For Land

"Some ratepayers have been objecting to me that $3,000 is far too much to pay the Walter Ferguson estate for that little strip of land on Louis St.," Ald. Herbert Young told the council Tuesday night.

"If we gave them notice of expropriation we could fix the price at that amount for the present, and gain some delay in considering what should be paid," Ald. Young said.

Ald. Young refused to vote for the bylaw that authorized payment of the $3,000. Settlement was recommended to the finance committee the other night on the ground that the council had nothing in writing to support its contention that the late Mr. Ferguson had promised to give the strip to the city.

Mayor Swanston said a week ago that the man who accompanied Mr. Ferguson to the meeting with the council about two years ago was prepared to declare that he heard the promise of gift made. However, it was said there still was nothing in writing, and the committee concluded that it might as well pay the $3,000 instead of going through expropriation proceedings.

The strip of property is a narrow frontage on the east side of Louis St. north of King St. It is required for the widening of Louis St.

PLAY DONKEY BALL

A game of donkey baseball will be played Friday, September 16, between the Peterborough Lions and the City Police. This event will take place at Riverside Park at 7.30 p.m. Proceeds will go toward Lions community welfare work. Further details are being arranged by a committee.

Appointed Statistician

TORONTO, Sept. 7. (CP) — Douglas L. English, formerly assistant city editor of the Toronto Telegram, has been appointed statistician for the Ontario Department of Mines, it was announced Tuesday. He took up his duties Sept. 1. His work includes handling publicity and press releases for the department.

Animals Go On Spree

Any illusion that Peterborough was becoming a large urban centre was shattered Tuesday when a pig and a horse were found wandering the streets.

In each case Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford was called to collect the animal and he has them both now waiting for their owners to claim them.

The pig gave the neighborhood an exciting time running about the CGE grounds and surrounding streets until it was finally cornered in the basement of Prince of Wales school.

The horse was seen wandering west across the lawns of houses on Aberdeen St. about 8 a.m. It was captured near Mason Ave. on the Chemong highway.

Mr. Dunford thinks the owner may not know the horse is missing. The horse was not shod and probably got out of a field. It is a chestnut with white legs. R.H.

Citizens Send Petition Against Dairy

Opposition to the erection of a building on the south side of Dublin St. between George and Division Streets "for a dairy or other manufacturing business" was expressed to the council Tuesday night in a petition requesting that no permit be issued for that purpose.

Among the names subscribing to this petition were: F. E. Hooper, G. F. Jackson, George Whatley, John Gainey, L. P. Brown, N. A. Rishor, George F. Schneider, George F. Rishor, C. M. Rishor, W. H. Taylor, Marion Beals, George E. Munro and others.

Accompanying the petition was an additional statement of objection bearing the names of Noel Rishor and F. E. Hooper, from which the following is a quotation:

"The so-called zoning regulations list this area as R-2, or second class residential classification, and the manager of the dairy company, who was our former Mayor, should have been familiar with this before the company he represents purchased the property for a dairy site"

Referred to Board

That personal reference is presumably to W. J. Ovens, and the dairy firm Campbell's Dairy.

The petition was signed by 89 per cent. of the property owners and 95 per cent. of the assessment in the block bounded by London, Division, Dublin and George Streets. It was referred to the city planning board.

The protest was based on the zoning restriction of the area for residential purposes only; and also that work in a dairy was said to begin around four or five o'clock in the morning, thereby causing disturbance in the sleeping hours of the neighboring dwellers.

City Will Support Air Service Charter

Application of Rockland Airways for a new air service charter will receive the support of the city council, as decided Tuesday night in a motion by Aldermen Gillespie and Waddell.

George A. Stephens and T. D. Matthews have been operating this service for two years on a license limited to seabases. They wish to change to a non-schedule charter air service to transport passengers and carry on a flying training service from a base on Chemong Lake.

The request to the council was received from A. L. Elliott, K.C., of Elliott & Chandler in behalf of the Rockland operators.

7,000 Enrolled In City's Several Schools

A record number of children trooped back to school Tuesday and tardy registrations are still coming in.

First figures reaching Public School Inspector Percy D. Windrim indicate that 3,951 pupils enrolled at the 10 public schools on Tuesday—130 more than at the opening day in 1948. Of these 539 were going to kindergarten.

Registration at PCVS has also set a new high with the old record of 1,234 falling early today. Principal C. S. Browne told the Examiner that on the first day 1,229 (608 boys and 621 girls) came to classes compared with 1,150 on the first day last year.

No specific figures have been obtained from the Separate Schools and St. Peter's High School, but it had been anticipated that attendance would be boosted by about two per cent.

In Oshawa, 2,998 pupils have registered at Public Schools, 596 at Separate Schools, and 1,330 at the Collegiate, making a total of 4,924. At least another 125 pupils are expected to enrol within the next week.

Public School pupils were assigned to their proper classes and were largely occupied with distributing supplies and getting organized for their first day of undivided study. They were dismissed at 2:45 p.m. Secondary school students were acquiring the necessary text books for their year's work either by purchasing new editions or arranging trades for old.

Following is the enrollment at the various public schools: Central 404, King Edward 381, King George 512, Prince of Wales 698, Queen Alexandra 375, Queen Mary 746, Confederation 485, Grove 100, May's 191, and Parkhill Road 59.

As the total Public School and PCVS attendance is already more than 5,100 and the Separate Schools have more than 2,000 (1,700 at primaries and 325 at St. Peter's in 1948), the total number of children attending school in Peterborough stands at well over 7,000.

Shortly before 9 a.m. today the city streets once again resumed that familiar pattern of noisy, playful boys and girls hurrying along to their appropriate school.

It was the first official sign that vacation time is over.

Shunting Eliminated During Night CPR Says

CPR has eliminated the cause of complaints of the noise of late shunting in the general vicinity of Monaghan Road and Romaine St., Mr. J. O. Johnston, Toronto, superintendent, wrote the council Tuesday night.

The company had wished to improve and extend its service in Peterborough by some changes in a switching schedule. That was done, but this change entailed certain shunting around midnight that brought complaints to the council.

Since then the company investigated the circumstances, Mr. Johnston wrote, and has been able to retain the improvements of service and eliminate the objectionable aspects of the work.

Gets Telephone Interview While Killer Busy Shooting

By PHILIP W. BUXTON
Camden Evening Courier Reporter.

CAMDEN, NJ, Sept. 7 (AP)—Howard B. Unruh, wholesale killer, was not too busy to answer the telephone Tuesday while he was still shooting it out with the police in his home.

Purely on a hunch, I called Camden 4-2490-W, which is the number listed for Unruh. The time of the call was shortly after 10 a.m., while Unruh, gun in hand, was still exchanging shots with a cordon of police after he had slain a dozen persons.

The result of that telephone call was one of the strangest interviews that this writer has had in his long newspaper experience.

I heard the receiver go up on the other end.

"Hello," said a strong, clear voice.

"Is this Howard?" I asked.

"Yes," said the voice, "this is Howard. What's the last name of the party you want?"

Only Silence

I strained my ears to catch the sound of shooting, but there was only silence. It seemed as though the man at the other end of the line had clapped his hand over the receiver.

Then the voice, as if stalling for time, repeated:

"What's the last name of the man you want?"

"Unruh," I said.

"Who are you and what do you want?"

"I'm a friend, and I want you to know what they're doing to you."

"Well, they haven't done anything to me yet but I'm doing plenty to them."

"How many have you killed?"

"I don't know yet — I haven't counted 'em, but it looks like a pretty good score."

"Why are you killing people?"

"I don't know. I can't answer that yet—I'm too busy. I'll have to talk to you later. A couple of friends are coming to get me."

There was a click on the other end of the telephone. Apparently the "friends" were the police to whom he later surrendered.

Court Uncertain After Hearing About Drinking

Judgment was reserved in the trial of Russell Bowers, 159 Aylmer St., and John Whaley, 416 Park St., on charges of being found-ins in a residence in which the tenant permitted drunkenness. Magistrate R. B. Baxter said he would reserve judgment to consider the argument of John Corkery, lawyer for both Bowers and Whaley.

Mr. Corkery said there was no proof of the offence having taken place. He also said evidence given by police officers showed that Grover Halpin, the tenant, was too sick to be aware of any drunkeness in his apartment or to do anything about it if he were. Halpin therefore could not be said to have permitted drunkeness. That being the case, the two accused could not be guilty of being found ins where drunkeness was being permitted.

Detective William A. Clark said he had seen Bowers in Halpin's apartment the morning of Aug. 22. He said he had warned Halpin to clear out the men drinking in the apartment. He said he received a call about five p.m. the same day and had gone with two constables and had captured several men who were all intoxicated. Whaley and Bowers were among the group. There was evidence of drinking and the apartment contained about 1,000 empty wine bottles and bottles of other intoxicating beverages.

Mr. Corkery offered no evidence for the defence, but submitted that the charges should be dismissed. Magistrate Baxter said he would give his decision on the dismissal Friday morning.

Marmora Man Dies At Home In 97th Year

MARMORA, Sept. 7—(ENS)—The death occurred at his home at 10 p.m. on Monday of Marmora's oldest resident, George Albert Henry, in his 97th year. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Henry, pioneer Irish settlers in the Kingston district, and was born at Collins Bay. Later he lived at Madoc, but most of his life, extending over a period of half a century, was spent in the Bancroft district. He came to Marmora 21 years ago.

Fond of Reading

He was fond of reading and had a lively interest throughout life in world affairs.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mary Hawley, and one son, Seymour, of Marmora.

The funeral takes place on Thursday, leaving his late residence for service in St. Andrew's United Church at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

FULL HOUSE—The suburban London, Ont., family of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Carter has almost tripled within the past year. A year ago there were only Mr. and Mrs. Carter and their four-year-old son. Now there are eight members in the family with triplets and twins born in 11 months. Shown here with their mother are, left to right: the triplets, Jill, Jon and Joan, who were a year old Monday, and Mrs. Carter, holding the month-old twins, Dennis and Derek. Needless to say the arrival of the twins meant father erecting an additional clothesline.

Dance Hall Row Costs Visitor $14

Causing a disturbance at Pine Pavilion Saturday night cost James Drake, 391 Parkhill Rd., $5 and $9 costs in police court presided over by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, Port Hope, Tuesday afternoon.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court Drake had gone into the dance hall without paying and when dance hall employees tried to put him out, a scuffle took place.

Drake said this was right, but he had gone in to look for a friend.

"I couldn't see paying a buck to look for a fellow," he said. He paid the $14 fine and costs.

The case against Clarence Carey, Tory Hill, charged with drunk driving on Monk Rd. in Galway township, Sept. 3, was adjourned until Sept. 14 on Carey's request.

Havelock High Has New Staff; Enrolment 69

There was no change in the public school staff. They are Principal R. D. Buchanan, Harold Hunter. Miss G. Hunter, Mrs. R. Backus and Miss A. Gillies.

London Seeks To Raise Fund Finance Statue

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 7—(CP)—After hearing an estimate that it would cost $13,500 to ship a large staute of Queen Victoria from Dublin, Ireland, to London, city council decided Tuesday night to explore the possibility that the project might be financed by public subscription.

Mayor Ray Dennis said he would confer with William Loveday, chairman of London Hospital Trust, who intimated some time ago he was willing to head a public fund to acquire for the city the statue that was banished from a Dublin square when Eire became a republic. Since then it has been in storage.

Council first made overtures about the statue several months ago, and there developed sporadic correspondence with the Lord Mayor of Dublin and the Eire Government.

First definite progress came last Saturday when the city was advised by the Eire Government it could have the statue for the asking—if it would pay all shipping charges. The statue has become the centre of some controversy, with Peterborough and another un-named Ontario municipality also making unofficial bids for it.

Local claims are that London geographically is very close to Victoria's reign, having Victoria Park, Victoria Hospital and Victoria St. named after her, with other local names tied with the Royal family.

Ald. A. M. Towe said he had heard that as a likeness to the beloved queen, the statue was a monstrosity. He advised council to go slowly in making any deal to acquire it.

"Those of us who have seen this statue will agree that it is not a monstrosity," retorted Ald. J. Cameron Wilson.

Bob Hope Set 3-Ring Circus Reporter Finds

By JACK QUIGG

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7 (AP).—Fun in Hollywood, or a three-ring circus without rings. That's a Bob Hope set.

In one corner, Lucille Ball was entertaining a group with her imitation of "Mighty Joe Young," the gorilla in the picture of the same name.

In another corner, crew members were slyly pasting "Kick Me" signs on anyone who ventured near enough.

Where Hope reigns anything goes, and anything gets a laugh.

The comic himself was up to his ears in people. He posed for pictures with a couple of visiting baseball players, said Howdy to an out-of-town fan and signed an autograph book.

Hope kept up a running patter with everybody. Agents, writers, electricians, sound men, visitors—a score at least—gawked and milled around.

Open To Everyone

A Hope set is open to all. He says he tried being alone once, and didn't like it.

"Let's bake the ham," shouted an assistant director. That's how they call Hope to the camera.

"A straight man would make a million bucks on this set," quipped Bob. "Everybody wants to be the comic."

I suggested that the bedlam on the set must bother him sometimes.

"Did you ever see a happier set?" he asked in turn. "I love it."

Apparently there's no limit to the attention he can take.

Outside the sound stage he hopped on his bicycle to pedal to his dressing room. A sign on the bike read:

"Bob Hope, available for parties, banquets, weddings, etc."

Silo Spits Open

PROSPECT HILL, Ont., Sept. 7—(CP)—Several farmers narrowly escaped injury when the 45-foot cement silo in which they were working on a nearby farm suddenly cracked and split open from top to bottom. The men leaped to the roof of a nearby barn when someone shouted a warning. A huge piece of cement barely missed one of the men.

Housewives Annoyed

EDINBURGH, Sept. 7 (Reuters)—The Scottish Housewives' Association demands "leadership, food and above all, freedom," in a cable sent Tuesday to Sir Stafford Cripps at the British Embassy in Washington. The cable said: "Instead of holding back our food in refrigerator ships and stores for vote-catching, let the harassed housewives have it."

Peterborough Tops All Canada As Lover Of Sweet Biscuits

The people of St. John's like marmalade with their toast. More households in the Newfoundland capital (76 per cent.) use the breakfast combination than any other Canadian city. Next in line (69.9 per cent.) are the English-language residents of Sherbrooke, Que.

The habits are recorded in the Canadian consumer survey conducted by the Canadian Daily Newspapers' Association as a guide for advertisers. The survey, which the CDNA says represents 1,300,000 urban households, is still being analyzed.

Popularity of baked beans is tops in Glace Bay, N.S. Sweet biscuits (with or without tea) are used by 91.4 per cent. of the householders in Peterborough. The Canadian average is 69.4.

Sandwich spread is used in St. John's 30 per cent. more than the Canadian average, 32.1 per cent.

The CDNA survey is expected to be completed in October.

HAPPY STOWAWAY—Leonard Gawlitza, 23-year-old Austrian refugee who leaped from a freighter taking him back to Europe after he stowed away on a Canada-bound freighter, is temporarily a free man. A Superior Court order released him on $1,000 bond, pending hearing of a writ of habeas corpus contesting his deportation.

Northerners Ask More Roads Touring MPP's

By NICK NICKELS
Examiner Pressman with M.P.P. Tour

HEARST, Ont., Sept. 7.—Roads, roads, roads were the burning demands heard at many points of call by touring ministers and members of the Legislative Assembly as the first week of their 12-day junket closed. It can be said that the request of northern communities did not fall on deaf ears, for as more and more of this vast province rolled past to its various industries, the more members were able to see the pressing need of this one development alone. This burning issue was given a dramatic twist when the party was visiting the Rock Iron Mines north of Atikokan on Friday. This gigantic engineering feat deep in the bush between the Lakehead and Fort Frances, has no road to connect it with the outside but the company has spent thousands of dollars building their own property roads to go into the mining of iron ore. Its 33 ore trucks carry 22-ton loads from the yawning open pit to the loading head 24 hours a day. Railway trains of 200 cars rumble away from the mine each day. At the staffhouse dinner each member was more than convinced of the need for a highway that would give this community access to the head of the Lakes.

Large Tourist Industry

After detraining at Fort Francis the following day, buses were provided to carry the party to Kenora and lunch was served at Sioux Narrows on the beautiful Lake of the Woods. At this point and for many miles in either direction the visitors were able to see something of the large tourist industry on lodge-dotted lakes of north-western Ontario. There it was said that 400 operators are running some of the most attractive summer camps in Canada.

Kenora and Sioux Lookout

On arrival at Kenora on Saturday evening where the Ontario Minnesota Power and Paper Company officials were hosts at a reception, members were able to enjoy the Lake of the Woods still further from the guesthouse lawn. They were tendered a civic reception later at the Town Hall and were taken for a two-hour boat ride under perfect weather conditions. The same buses took the members to Dryden on Sunday where two officials acted as hosts at a fine luncheon at noon and took them touring around the vicinity in private cars to see the Kraft Paper Mill the farming district and to have some short air hops in Department of Lands and Forests seaplanes at their Wabigoon Lake base.

The same individual hosts drove them 160 miles north-east to Sioux Lookout, arriving there quite late in the evening. It was not too late for this progressive town to entertain them still further where a delegation of people of Hudson, 15 miles to the west, joined with their northern sister town in presenting a very comprehensive brief on district needs. They also had a road problem among other matters, but they went so far as to ask for the present connecting highway to be hard surfaced. While the Dryden group of travellers were being entertained, others were taken on an air tour of the Red and Pickle Lakes mining camps and joined the ground party at Sioux Lookout.

Monday was spent on the train as far as Hearst. Those who wished detrained at Little Long Lac station early in the morning to visit Geraldton and the gold mines in that area. This group had lunch in the new curling rink, played some golf on the pretty Kenogamisis Club links and went air hopping from the Forestry base. They were driven 150 miles along the splendid gravel highway to join the main party in Hearst. The train party were able to see something of the fine clay belt farms which lie east, west and south of Hearst and Columbus Hall. On Tuesday the tourists will proceed to Kapuskasing and Timmins.

Pre-Nuptial Events

WARKWORTH.—Previous to her marriage Monday at Warkworth, Miss Eileen Fanning was entertained at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Mary Coughlin and Mrs. S. Starr of Toronto, and another given by Miss Thelma Walker of Toronto. A personal shower was given by girls of the F. F. Barber Machinery Company, Toronto, where she was employed, and the employees made presentation of two woollen blankets. A tea in her honor was held at her home in Burnley by Mrs. A. Fanning and Mrs. E. Noonan.

Community Honors Couple

WARKWORTH, Sept. 7 (ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith who were married Saturday in Warkworth and are leaving shortly to live in Winnipeg, were honored Monday evening when friends of Warkworth, Oak Heights and Burnley gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Covert in Warkworth. An address to the couple was read by Mr. Bruce Birney and presentation of a silver tea service was made by Mrs. Alvin Pratt and Miss Norma Ferguson. The Rev. H. G. Lester acted as chairman for an enjoyable program. Contributions included a piano solo by Garth Allen; readings by Mrs. S. Lawrence; coronet solo by Edward Thompson with accompaniment by Mrs. Don Thompson; recitation, Mr. S. J. Russell; vocal solo by the Rev. H. G. Lester; piano selection by Miss Fernie Killingbeck and a reading by Mrs. Grant Allan.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD G. EASON who pledged nuptial vows Saturday afternoon in Mark St. United Church. The bride is Mabel Marion, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Barnes and the late Mr. Barnes. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Eason, all of Peterborough.—(Roy Studio Photo.)

Mabel Barnes, Donald Eason Wed In Mark St. Church

Miss Mabel Marion Barnes, daughter of Mrs. Barnes and the late Alfred Barnes, became the bride of Mr. Donald George Eason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Eason, all of Peterborough, on Saturday afternoon in Mark St. United Church. The Rev. E. H. Rowland officiated and the wedding music was played by Mrs. C. Searles. The soloist was Mrs. J. Custance, aunt of the bride.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. H. Barnes, of Toronto, the bride looked lovely in a gown of white satin with off-the-shoulder necklace trimmed with rose point lace. The fitted bodice was fastened with tiny self-covered buttons and the full skirt caught up at the front with pearl clips to show a tiered lace slip. The hemline fell into a circular train, edged in rose point lace. Her long veil was held by a crown of seed pearls and crystal beads and she carried a shower bouquet of Briarcliffe roses.

The bride's three sisters were among the attendants. Matron of honor Mrs. Reg. Hopkins chose a gown of daffodil yellow velour marquisette with headdress and mittens to match. Mrs. Charles Wood and Mrs. George Hawkes and junior bridesmaid Miss Maxine Patterson had similarly styled gowns and accessories in orchid and all carried contrasting bouquets of gladioli.

The groom was attended by Mr. Clayton Drury, and the ushers were Noel and Craig Eason, brothers of the groom.

At the reception, held at the church, the bride's mother received wearing a gown of navy taffeta and matching accessories and was assisted by the groom's mother dressed in autumn brown ensemble.

For the wedding trip the bride chose a powder blue gabardine suit with navy accessories and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

Stewart-Falls

In St. Peter's Cathedral on Monday morning the wedding took place of Sarah Myrtle, only daughter of Mrs. Frederick Falls and the late Mr. Falls of Kendall, and Albert William Stewart, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Stewart, Peterborough. The Rev. F. K. Malane said the nuptial mass and Mrs. R. G. Aman played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother Mr. Leonard Falls, the bride wore a dress of turquoise taffeta, made on fitted lines in street length, and trimmed with self-covered buttons. Her hat was in matching shade and her accessories in navy. She wore a corsage of red roses and white 'mums. Miss Doris Falls was her cousin's bridesmaid wearing a similarly styled dress of rose taffeta, matching hat and navy accessories, and she had a corsage of white 'mums.

Mr. Joseph Stewart attended his brother and Grant Smith and Thomas Osborne of Sarnia were ushers.

A reception was held in the Empress Hotel with the bride's mother receiving, attired in blue with black hat and accessories and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, was in black and white flowered dress, black hat and accessories and had a corsage of pink roses.

The couple left later on a trip to Battle Creek, Michigan, the bride wearing a two-piece dress of rose wool, with hat, accessories and shortie topcoat in navy. On return they will live on Stewart St.

George Pomeroy Weds Oshawa Girl

The marriage of Mr. George Gerald Pomeroy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy, Peterborough, to Miss Marion Kathleen McEachern, only daughter of Mr. Ronald McEachern and the late Mrs. McEachern of Oshawa, took place on Saturday afternoon in Adelaide House, Oshawa.

The nuptial vows were solemnized by the Rev. D. G. Sprunt of Toronto. A background for the ceremony was formed of cedar boughs and baskets of gladioli. Mrs. Vincent Millen of Peterborough played the wedding march and "The love of God" during the signing of the register.

The bride wore a suit of powder blue gabardine, a hat of navy velvet in off-the-face style with powder blue feathers at the side, and navy accessories. Her corsage was of deep red roses. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Greta Halloran who was attired in a suit in loganberry shade, taffeta hat and accessories of navy with corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Ronald Pomeroy of Peterborough was his brother's groomsman. The ushers were Ronald and Arnold McEachern, brothers of the bride.

After the reception which followed Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy left on a wedding trip to the United States. They will live in Peterborough on return.

MR. AND MRS. RAY BOTHWELL of South Monaghan after their wedding Saturday in Knox United Church. The bride is the former Marian Whitfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitfield, and the groom is son of Mrs. J. R. Bothwell and the late Mr. Bothwell, all of Fraserville.—(Parks' Studio Photo.)

Take Trip to West Coast

Knox United Church was the scene of the wedding on Saturday of Miss Marian Idell Whitfield and Mr. Thomas Ray Bothwell with the Rev. H. G. Douglas performing the ceremony. The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitfield, and the groom is son of Mrs. Bothwell and the late Mr. J. R. Bothwell, all of Fraserville.

The chancel was decorated with bouquets of asters and snapdragon. Mr. Porter played the wedding music and Miss Dorothy Mitchell sang the "Lord's Prayer" and "Through the years."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a gown of traditional white satin and she wore her mother's floral design necklace. Her fingertip veil was caught in a coronet of flowers and she carried a cascade of American Beauty roses Bridesmaid was her sister Miss Eleanor Whitfield, frocked in coral taffeta and wearing mittens to match and a headband of pink flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of pink gladioli

Mr. Percival Bothwell was the groomsman and ushers were Grant Whitfield and Haig Bothwell.

The reception was in the YWCA Green Room, Mrs. Whitfield received her guests in a grey crepe dress, black hat and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Bothwell also received, wearing black gown and hat and red roses.

With the west coast as their destination, the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride wearing a navy gabardine suit with shortie coat to match and all navy accessories. On return they will live on the groom's farm in South Monaghan.

Sex-based Marriage Shallow Must Be Other Attractions

DEAR MISS DIX: Is sex attraction the most important thing in marriage. Are a woman's looks more important than anything else about her?

My husband says that only the physical counts, but it seems to me that marriage cannot last if there is only a physical attraction.

Dorothy Dix

PUZZLED WIFE.

ANSWER: Probably physical attraction is the basis of marriage. It is the mysterious force that draws a man and woman together, but there has to be something deeper and more lasting to hold them together and make a marriage a real success.

For passion dies of satiety. Physical attractions fade. Sickness, work, anxiety, time, all of the inevitable wear and tear of life, slay the roses on the fairest cheek, dim the lustre of the brightest eyes, rob even the most lissom figure of its willowiness, and if she has nothing to take the place of these charms the wife is sunk and marriage becomes nothing but dull endurance to her husband.

It is because men put the physical above the spiritual and the mental in picking out their wives that so many weary of lawful spouses and wander away from their own firesides. If a man values only the physical, he must be forever seeking fresh fields, younger and more beautiful women.

There are many women who have sex attraction for men, but who lack both head and heart. You see brainless dolls that men flutter around, but you cannot imagine any man of intelligence being happy with a wife of this type or living through forty or fifty years of contented wedlock with her.

For marriage, after the first wild rapture, settles down into the business of life in which a man and woman must develop a sort of glorified friendship if they are to find life joyous together. They must be chums who can talk together by the hour without ever talking out. There must be a bond between them that strengthens as the year go by, not one that weakens and snaps as soon as the fire of youth dies down.

It is easy enough for any fairly good-looking woman to marry any man she sets her fancy upon. The hard thing to do is to hold him, and that is why it is far more important that the inside of a woman's head should be more lavishly furnished than the outside.

For a man will weary in time of a picture, but the thing he never tires of is being entertained and amused and jollied along. If you look at the middle-aged women whose husbands are still crazy about them, you will see that they are clever.

They are wives who had enough intelligence to know that men get all the bumps they want in the outside world and don't enjoy coming home to a fight. Also, they have enough intelligence to know that all men are bound to have some woman look up to them and flatter them, and that if the wife doesn't do it, they will hunt up some other woman who will.

Undoubtedly sex counts in marriage. But so do brains and common sense and tact and a host of other qualities and, most of all, personality, which is really what we call "IT" in a woman.

DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am engaged to a girl whom I love very much. I was thrown out of work by the closing down of the firm by which I was employed, and had to come back West and live with my family. I am still unemployed. My sweetheart lives with her grandmother, who is a wealthy woman and gives her everything, but my girl insists on coming here to marry me, although I tell her I have no way of supporting her. She says her grandmother is unkind to her and persecutes her because she does not want her to marry me. My parents, of course, will take the girl in if I marry her, but they are old and are none too well off. The girl threatens to kill herself if I do not let her come to me. What shall I do?

L. S.

ANSWER: Don't worry about the girl's committing suicide. She won't do it. For some reason the young like to toy with the thought of death, but it is seldom anything more than a morbid imagining. If they cut a finger or have a pain they howl for a doctor.

Don't take too seriously the girl's complaint that her grandmother is treating her cruelly. That isn't the way of grandmothers. The chances are that she spoiled the girl to death.

I don't think the young have any right to buy their happiness at the expense of their old parents. I think it is a dastardly deed for boys and girls to get married when they have no way of supporting a family, and take the bread out of their old parents' mouths to feed some stranger that they inflict upon them. Boys and girls who think themselves in love get married and dump a husband or a wife on father and mother. Presently their children also have to be taken care of, and father's and mother's last days are made hard and bitter by their children's selfishness.

Tell your girl that you are too much of a man to marry until you can take care of your wife. If she isn't willing to wait for you, she isn't worth having.

DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: How can one develop the ability to talk on any subject? I am always dumb when I should be able to speak.

ANXIOUS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The gift of gab comes by Nature and is nothing that you can acquire. But you can learn to be an intelligent listener. They are so much rarer and more popular than talkers. Cultivate that end of the conversational game. There is more profit in it.

Garden Fireplace Is Popular To Entertain Teen-agers

By MARY MOORE

Last week I wanted so much to tell you about the out-door fireplace that Peter was building ably aided by Marianne.

The reason for all of this frenzied activity was that in a burst of enthusiasm while she was at camp Marianne had invited a lot of her camping pals to a barbecue party at our house for the end of August,—but was most casual when she told us about it.

When the idea finally congealed in Pete's and my minds we had four days to build an out-of-door fireplace.

Granite rocks, fire brick, fire-brick cement, bags of ordinary cement and sand, iron grills, trowels and mountains of advice started to arrive, with Pete doggedly working in the middle of it all, smeared to the eyebrows with cement and sand — and giving occasional glimpses at his home-made blueprint.

Well — to shorten the story, he had it in working condition by Saturday night. The chimney wasn't high enough, it's true, but the fire drew, the weiners cooked, and that was all that mattered. They will finish the chimney this week.

Their teen-age friends started to arrive about 9 o'clock after it was dark and Pete started the fire, using wood he had gathered from the countryside far and wide, because our grills are too open for charcoal — beside charcoal would cost a fortune for the way those young people make fires last and last. It was all I could do to tactfully break the party up by midnight; and a blazing fire was burning all of that time.

The only thing that was extraordinary about the menu was the colossal cake that my sister made for the party. It was a double-size chocolate layer cake with a date filling and an orange frosting, and if I had not sampled a sliver of it before sending it out to the garden to the young people I would not have known how extra good it was, for they didn't leave a crumb.

THE BARBECUE PARTY MENU:
Hot Dogs and Mustard and Relish (see notes)
Chocolate Layer Cake (see notes)
Grape Punch (see notes)
Toasted Marshmallows
Grapes and Pears

It was a "must" to provide weiners for we had new long toasting forks (which incidentally only cost 25 cents each). Two pounds of weiners and one and one-half dozen hot dog buns were enough for the 4 boys and 4 girls we had to feed.

But they drank 3 quarts of Grape Punch made with one 32-oz. can grapejuice, one 6-oz. can lemon juice, two large bottles ginger ale, one cup sugar and two trays of ice cubes. This was very popular.

LARGE CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE

(A Devil's Food Cake Recipe).

Three-quarters cup shortening, 2¼ cups granulated sugar, 3 eggs, three-quarters cup cocoa, 3 cups sifted cake flour, 2¼ teaspoons baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups sour or buttermilk, 1 ½ teaspoons vanilla. Cream the shortening until it is the consistency of thick cream. Add the sugar slowly, while beating, until the mixture is light and fluffy. Add the well-beaten egg yolks and beat well. Add enough hot water to the cocoa to make a smooth paste, then add enough to make 1 cup of the cocoa mixture.

Add this to the creamed mixture. Sift together the sifted flour, soda and salt, and add them alternately with the sour milk to which the vanilla has been added. Mix well. Fold in egg whites which have been beaten stiff. Pour into 3 greased and floured layer cake tins. Bake for 30 to 40 minutes at 375 deg. Fahr. Cool on cake cooler. Put together with:

Date Filling: ¾lb. cut stoned dates, 6 tablespoons orange juice or hot water, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons honey or sugar, ½ teaspoon salt. Cook in double boiler over boiling water until of paste-like consistency. Chill before spreading between cool layers of cake. Frost cake with:

Orange Frosting: Cream very well 3 tablespoons margarine and add the grated rind of 1 orange and ½ lemon. Begin to cream into it 2 cups sifted icing sugar, adding 2 tablespoons orange juice while doing so,—until all is light and creamy and of spreading consistency. If desired 1 teaspoon lemon juice may be added — in which case an additional ¼ cup of sifted icing sugar is needed.

For special occasions this cake is lovely if further decorated, at the last moment, with sections of orange which have had the membrane peeled from them.

Do not buy the marshmallows that are dipped in cocoanut for toasting over the fire, for they won't toast, they merely melt and drip off of the forks into the fire.

Social Situations

SITUATION: As a member of a woman's social club it is your job to telephone club members, some of which you known only slightly.

WRONG WAY: Identify yourself over the telephone by saying, "This is Mrs. Graham."

RIGHT WAY: Say, "This is Sandra Graham" even though you call the person to whom you are speaking "Mrs. Brown."

A novel provision in the constitution of Brazil is that no taxes be levied upon royalties of authors or the incomes of professors or journalists.

Dedicate Meeting To Memory Of Dr. J.R.R. Cooper

Preceding the opening meeting of George St. Church Woman's Association Tuesday afternoon in the Board Room, a brief memorial service was conducted in memory of a beloved assistant pastor, the late Rev. Dr. J. R. R. Cooper.

Mrs. W G McLaren, in charge, made reference to the high standard of service he had rendered to the church and its organizations, and expressed the respect and admiration which is held for him by all members of the congregation. She then read two of his favorite poems, "God has not promised" and "Passing through the waters."

Mrs. Stanley Gilmore continued with the devotions which included the hymn, "Unto The Hills." A unique translation of the 23rd Psalm was given by Mrs. H. S. owers After observing a minute silence Mrs. E. Brown led in prayer, followed by singing "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

To conclude the memorial service Miss Eleanor McGee played the beautiful sacred selection 'Abide with me," with variations.

President Mrs. E Wand presided during the afternoon. She welcomed a large attendance and conducted the business. Mrs. W. G McLaren and Mr. L. M. Richardson were appointed to invite an out-of-town speaker for the November meeting.

Miss McGee again entertained with a piano solo, "The Hidden Waterfall."

Winnipeg Home Of Bridal Couple

In St. Paul's United Church, Warkworth, Saturday afternoon a double ring wedding ceremony united Muriel Isabelle Covert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Covert and Howard Albert Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Smith of Toronto. The Rev. H. G. Lester officiated. The soloist was Miss Harriet Gourley of Toronto and Miss Ina Bowen was at the organ. The church was decorated with baskets of mauve and yellow gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin wth a Mary Stuart stand-up collar on the fitted bodice. Tiny satin rosebuds outlined the waist and the full skirt fell into a train. Her long veil fell from a white satin halo and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink Pinnochio roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Miss Christine Covert, sister of the bride, wore green moire taffeta with matching hat. Bridesmaids, Miss Valerie Fletcher and Miss Norma Covert, were gowned alike in orchid moire taffeta with matching hats. They carried bouquets of Picardy gladioli florets. Flower girls, Jane and Judy Armstong, wore green taffeta dresses and hats and carried baskets of Picardy gladioli florets.

The groomsman was Mr. Wilbert Smith, brother of the groom and the ushers were Norman Covert brother of the bride and Herbert Bronsdon of Toronto.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where her mother received, wearing a gown of smoke grey crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of pink Rapture roses. The groom's mother who also received was gowned in wine with matching hat and a corsage of Lestra Hibberd roses.

For travelling the bride wore a green wool suit, with matching hat, brown accessories and a brown squirrel neckpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will live in Winnipeg.

Cellar 250 Ft. Deep

COBALT, Ont., Sept. 7 (CP)—Grover Bill Thompson plans to re-open his store with the "deepest" cellar in the world—250 feet deep. He built the store 10 years ago over an old mining shaft. A nearby shaft supplies cold air and water and Thompson figures there's tons of ice between the shafts "Butter comes out as hard as silver ore," he said.

Mayor Scores Editorial In Weekly Paper

COBOURG, Sept. 7—(ENS)—Speaking on his own behalf, as well as for the town council, Mayor Joe Smith last night lashed out at an editorial which appeared in a local weekly paper criticising the council for holding committee meetings. The mayor declared that the editorial had been written by a reporter who had only been working a month for the paper in question and that it exhibited a lack of understanding of the town and the functionings of municipal bodies.

Councillor Frank Lapp said that the council had held a committee meeting on the water rates at his own request as the matter was one which required much discussion before a by-law could be drafter to cover adequately the problem of helping finance the cost of the new sewage disposal plant through an added charge on the water rates.

Considerable apprehension was voiced by the council in connection with a request from the CNR to run a pipe under the highway and under Ontario street, in order to convey water from the creek for use on the railway infilling locomotive tanks. The company said that it would be cheaper to get its own water instead of paying the town for it. It was revealed that over a million and a half gallons were used each month in June and July by the railway. Mayor Smith said that the effect of the extra tapping of this creek should be ascertained in view of the new sewage disposal plant now being built near the creek. Council will make further enquiries.

Reeve Roy Dodge observed that it was 18 months since the railway had been asked to install signal apparatus and gates at the dangerous Ontario street crossing. The equipment was on hand, but nothing had been done about it. The Reeve referred to the recent railway tragedy at Campbellford and said it should spur installation of the safety equipment here. Council decided to seek an explanation of the delay.

C's Take Tourney

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 7 (ENS)--laying gilt-edge ball, the local club captured first prize in the big invitation softball tournament on the high school grounds Monday afternoon by defeating Corbyville 3-1. Reid hurled a good game for the C's. Carson was pitcher for Corbyville Robinson swatted a homer for the locals and rounded the bases a second time on errors. Corbyville gathered in the second prize.

The homesters advanced to the finals by taking Peterborough Quakers 2-1 in a 7-inning fixture. McComb pitched for the local nine. Shine hurled steady ball for the Quakers. Corbyville earned the right to meet Campbellford by eliminating Belleville 5-2 with Halloran pitching and Boyle flinging for Belleville.

MP Promises To Seek Crossing Protection

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 7 — (ENS)—Dr. F. G. Robertson, M. P., Cobourg, recently inspected Centre Street level crossing where a disastrous train-car collision occurred Aug. 30 and promised to place the matter of having a suitable safety device installed at once before the proper authorities.

He said that he had intended to deal with the situation when Parliament convened but had he been informed of the dangerous character of the crossing he would have taken action sooner.

Heartbroken Girl Dies With Father

ATLANTA, Sept. 7 (AP) — A frail, heartbroken little girl stepped quietly to the casket of her father Tuesday night and whispered:

"Daddy, I know you loved me very much and I know you know that I loved you, too. I want to go with you."

Then nine-year-old Mary Long slumped against her father's casket and collapsed. Doctors from Grady Hospital pronounced her dead when they arrived. The cause of death was not determined immediately.

Mary will get her last wish. The funeral for her father, Hiram B. Long, was scheduled for today but was postponed until Thursday so double services could be held.

Long, a 65-year-old retired brass worker, died Monday.

Hastings Juniors Reach OASA Final

HASTINGS, Sept. 7—(ENS) — Hastings Juniors gained a place in the OASA junior "C" finals on Tuesday night at Sterling, drubbing Tweed 13-6 in the final game of a best-of three series.

Both teams played good ball but Hastings opened up in the eighth, pushing six runs across the plate and putting the game on ice.

West, on the rubber for Hastings, gave up nine hits, and had fine support all the way. Twice when Tweed threatened, double plays eased the pressure, and brought the game under control.

West helped the cause with a homer, while Morrow, with a homer, triple double and single, and Richardson with two triples and a double were the big sticks in the Hastings attack.

Spencer started for Tweed and all went well till replaced in the fifth by D. Manion with the score 6-3 in Hastings' favor. Manion held Hastings to a run till the eighth when he was blasted off the mound and Spencer was called back to put the fire out.

Spencer was the main cog in the Tweed attack with four for five.

SMC Girls Victors

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 7 — (ENS). — The Sunday Morning Class of Toronto took the Campbellford District All-Stars to the tune of 3-0 in an exhibition softball contest on the High School diamond Monday night before a crowd of 1,000 fans. It was the best game played here this season. The All-Stars were unable to cope with the fast ball of Gordie Wright, who was the only man on the Sunday Morning Class team. Rene Adams, behind the bat for the visitors, played stellar ball and Mae Stark, patrolling first, gathered in everything coming her way. The girls outplayed and outfoxed the men in every phase of the game.

McComb, Reid and West shared honors on the mound for the homesters.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

First world's heavyweight boxing championship battle under Marquess of Queensbury rules 57 years ago today was staged between John L. Sullivan and James J. Corbett at New Orleans. Corbett won with a 21-round knockout. He lost the crown to Bob Fitzsimmons in 1897.

Every Canadian Has Stake In Dollar Talks

By The Canadian Press

Canadian business in particular and virtually every Canadian in general has a stake in economic talks in Washington between this country, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Canada's export business to the sterling area, worth $1,000,000,000 in 1948, is endangered by the fact that the United Kingdom and her sterling associates are short on trade balance about $1,500,000,000 to pay for this year's purchases in Canada and the U.S.

The simple answer would seem to be that the sterling area must sell more goods to the U.S. and Canada to earn the dollars necessary to pay for what it buys on this continent.

It is quite probable that, simple as this solution appears, it will be the main subject of discussions in Washington. There will be talk about devaluating the pound, increasing the price of gold, and loans and credits, but trade is likely to be the real topic of long-range planning.

May Be Possible

Some authorities on international trade say this simple solution to the current problem may not be impossible.

It depends largely upon the ability of the U.S delegates to sell their people the idea of easing tariff restrictions, even though it hurts certain individual interests, and buying more imported goods.

The U.S. consumed the immense volume of $130,000,000,000 worth of retail goods in 1948.

Of that amount less than $1,500,000,000 came from the sterling area. That is about $10 per capita per year.

Canadians, in the same period, bought from the sterling area about $40 worth of goods per person.

If the United States increased its purchases from the sterling area to $25 per capita per year, and sterling area purchases from North America remained at or about the current level, the dollar shortage would be ended for the U.K. and Canada.

Leads Second Round

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP) — Henri Rochon, Canadian titlist, today led Canadian entrants into the second round of the Toronto Cricket Club annual invitation tennis tournament. He defeated M. Armstrong of Toronto 6-1, 6-0. Southpaw J. J. Desjardins of Montreal ran into unexpected trouble in Kingston's tailby before winning 6-3, 8-6. Toronto's Dave Dyment, defeated clubmate Al Percival 6-3, 8-6 in another match.

FIRST DAILY NEWS

The earliest known origin of the daily newspaper was the Acta Diurna the daily gazette of ancient Rome, probably written in manuscript and hung in some public place.

Peach Tree Loaded Planted 5 Years Ago

A peach stone planted five years ago has borne fruit for the first time in the yard of Asa Downer, 371 Bethune St. The tree has been loaded with peaches, and two of the largest measured 10 inches and 9¾ inches, each weighing seven ounces.

Mrs. Downer said there must have been more than 100 peaches on the tree, but that the children of the neighborhood have knocked them to the ground. The stone was planted by Mrs. Downer's mother, Mrs. Sarah Burfield. The tree has received no special attention, Mrs. Downer said, but like Topsy, "it just growed."

Mystery Writer In Hospital

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 7 (AP)—Craig Rice, writer of mystery tales for magazines and radio, was found unconscious in her home Tuesday and taken to hospital.

Police officer Lloyd Hilaiel said there was evidence she was "under the influence of sleeping pills or some type of sedative."

Miss Rice, 41, was taken to hospital last week after police, answering a tip, found two bottles of sleeping pills in her hotel room. She was released after she told a judge she had no idea of taking her life.

"The purpose," she said, "was to make sure my estranged husband would hear about this and come back to me."

She has sued to divorce her fourth husband, Henry De Mott, 29, a radio producer, on grounds of cruelty.

Railmen Call Strike

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7—(AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen Tuesday night said it has called a strike for 4 p.m. Friday against the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway. However, intervention by the National (Railway) Mediation Board is expected to halt the walkout.

Bethany Wins

The play-off game between Bethany and Millbrook was very close, with Millbrook ahead until the closing moments of the game. The final score was 7-6 in favor of Bethany. The line-up for Bethany was the same as before. In Millbrook's lineup B. Dawson and T. Wade took the places of B. Lunn and A. Breckenridge.

While the hard ball tournament was in progress the girls were holding softball tournament of their own in another part of the grounds.

In the first game, between Yelverton and Millbrook, the score again was close. At first it looked as though Yelverton was to have it all their own way. Toward the end they were weakening, but took the game 12-11.

Yelverton lineup: Eileen Kerr, 3b; Grace Kerr, cf; Madge Kerr, 2b; Marge Stinson, 1b; Berniece Kerr, lf; Margaret Shea, c; Jean Hickson, ss; Phylis Stewart, rf; Helen Heaslip, p.

A TALL SURPRISE—Last spring a friend gave a package of mixed flower seeds to MartinPierzchalski, of Montreal. He planted them and they soon started to grow and grow and grow into a sunflower which now has reached the 10 feet 8 inches mark as shown here.

Troops Watch Work

OBERHAUSEN, Germany, Sept. 7 (AP)—British troops in battle dress, and mobile machine-gunners Monday took up positions to enforce the dismantling of the Ruhr-Chemie synthetic gasoline plant. Eighty German wreckers tore into the dismantling job with between 700 and 800 soldiers on guard. Then 20 workmen quit at mid-day saying they couldn't work under military escort.

Trinidad Man Speaks To Congregation

HAVELOCK, Sept. 7. (ENS)—Esmond Sinanin of Trinidad, who is studying law in Toronto and is connected with the Youth Movement of the United Church of Canada, was the guest speaker at the evening service in Havelock United Church on Sunday.

Mr. Sinanin based his sermon on the 6th chapter of Matthew which contains the exhortation not to be careful for worldly things, but to seek first the Kingdoom of God and His rgihteousness. This chapter, he said, contained the whole code for the highest type of living.

Must Surrender Self

He placed emphasis on the need for singleness of vision and thought and the surrender of one's whole self to Christ.

Many people are satisfied he concluded, in just being a decent chap and stop there, but there is no stopping place in the Christian's path, a steady advance being essential to reach the realms of light, as sons of God.

Mr. Sinanin made the trip from Toronto by bicycle. This is his second visit to this community, he having conducted services last Christmas on the Belmont circuit of the United Church.

Havelock, he said, was his choice as a place for rest and relaxation.

To Visit Camp

Before returning to Toronto Mr. Sinanin will visit the summer camp of the young people of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada at Moira Lake.

Young People Hold Lively Box Social

HAVELOCK, Sept. 7. (ENS)—A successful box social was held at Rush Point United Church, sponsored by the Young People's Union.

Ralph Watson, student minister, was chairman for the evening and Earl Pollock officiated as auctioneer for the boxes. The proceeds from the sale amounted to $48., which will be given to the general fund of the church.

The program opened with community singing with Donald Pollock as accompanist. Those taking part were: guitar and violin duet by Gerald and Robert Wrightly; vocal trio by Herbert Dawson, Betty Wrightly and Eileen Embleton; vocal duet by Marina and Barbara Pollock; two vocal solos by Eric Ellis accompanying himself on his guitar; vocal solo by Herbert Dawson accompanied by Ronald Newton; guitar and violin duet by Barbara Brooks and Betty Wrightly.

Bank Of Toronto To Expand First Of Year

Further indication of the continued business and industrial expansion which has been occurring in Peterborough in recent months and years is contained in the announcement that the Bank of Toronto is planning to expand its premises at the corner of George and Hunter Streets. The tenant of the store in the southern portion of the building, Pratten Hardware, Ltd., has been given notice to vacate by the end of the year. W. A. McEvoy, branch manager of the bank, confirmed Monday.

Mr. McEvoy stated that his head office had not yet approved final plans for the necessary alterations to the building, which are being drawn by the local architectural firm of Blackwell and Craig. But he expressed the belief that the work would be begun soon after the beginning of the new year. He said that the bank was badly cramped at present and was greatly in need of additional office space.

GUNMAN TERRORIZES QUEBEC VILLAGE

2 Watchmen Kidnapped By Bandits

Cart Away Plant Safe With $300 Loot, Trick Police Patrol

TORONTO, Sept. 8 —(CP)— Three men—one of them masked and one of them armed—Wednesday night kidnapped two night watchmen in a dry cleaning plant and held them for nearly six hours. They carted away the plant's safe, opened it in suburban Scarboro and got an estimated $300.

Police said the trio entered the garage of Keith's Dry Cleaners on Geary Street near Dufferin in west-central Toronto around 10 p.m.

They seized George Seward, 77-year-old watchman who was sitting in the garage, saying "Keep quiet if you don't want to get hit." They tore an old dress into strips to bind him.

They took the key to the plant office from Seward and entered it. They waited there until William Jardine, 56, the second watchman, arrived.

Put Safe On Truck

Then they loaded the safe into a panel delivery truck, putting the watchmen in too. The watchman told police that the trio appeared to drive around aimlessly for two hours or so, ending up in a suburban lumber yard where they pried the safe open with crowbars. They abandoned the safe and drove off with the watchmen but they ran out of gas.

The party of five flagged a taxi They drove in it to Bloor and Yonge Streets, main midtown intersection, where the two watchmen were released—shortly before 4 a.m. The watchmen got to a phone and called po-

Crazed Man Has 24-Hour Bullet Spree

Cuts Telephone Poles To Keep Neighbors From Calling Police

POINT COMFORT, Que., Sept. 8 (CP)—Quebec provincial police Wednesday broke up a 24-hour shooting spree by a crazed man who chopped down telephone poles to prevent terrified neighbors from calling police.

Police said Nicholas Perrier, 50, ran amok with a shotgun Tuesday after an argument with his neighbors in this backwoods village 45 miles north of Ottawa.

They said the enraged man fired spasmodically at neighbors, passing motorists, children and members of his own family. No one was injured.

Perrier was held in custody at Hull, Que., where crown officials said they had not yet decided what charges will be laid. Perrier's wife was held as a material witness.

Packing Suitcase

He was found in his house late Wednesday, calmly packing a suitcase, by a squad of provincial police. Officers said he raised his gun as they came in but offered no resistance.

Once during the hectic 24 hours that Perrier roamed the village and surrounding country, police said, he fired at his own son when the boy tried to quiet his father.

Officers said he cut telephone wires, spattered others with shotgun pellets, then forced his wife at gun-point to help him chop down poles.

They claimed, too, he poured kerosene over the $8,000 summer home of E. S. Sherwood of Ottawa at nearby 31-mile lake, then set fire to the building.

Forcing his wife to accompany him, Perrier left the village Tuesday night and apparently spent the night in the woods.

Using his wife as a shield, Perrier crept back into Point Comfort where officers found him in his house.

HEAD OF THE ONTARIO Liberal party for two years, Farquhar Oliver has announced his resignation. He will lead the group in the Legislature through the next session until a successor is chosen.

Oliver Resigns Leadership Of Ont. Liberals

TORONTO, Sept. 8 (CP)—Farquhar Oliver is stepping down from leadership of the Ontario Liberal Party. But, since it is unlikely that a convention to choose a successor can be held before next spring, he will lead the 13-man Liberal group in the Ontario Legislature through the next session.

His resignation, announced late Wednesday, will be considered at a meeting of the Ontario Liberal Association's management committee in London, Ont., Oct. 1. If the committee rejects it, there is a possibility that Mr. Oliver might reconsider.

But the 45-year-old Grey County farmer who has led the party for two years and four months declared upon accepting the leadership in May, 1947, that he was not interested in leading an opposition party. The Liberals have been in opposition since 1943.

Not Easy Job

Choosing a new leader is not expected to be easy, since there is no favorite candidate in sight who clearly wants the job. Names mentioned include those of Health Minister Martin; Walter Harris, member of parliament for Grey South and parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister St. Laurent; William Benedickson, member of parliament for Kenora - Rainy River! David Croll, member of parliament for Toronto-Spadina and former Ontario Labor Minister; Colin Campbell, former Ontario Public Works Minister; and Campbell Calder, member of the Legislature for London.

Mr. Oliver said in a statement released by Norman L. Mathews, president of the Ontario Liberal Association:

"I am most anxious to facilitate in every way the organization of the party in the province in anticipation of the next general election and I am determined that the new leader will have ample time to carry out organizational work."

Set Up Special Committee To Study British Request For Freer Dollar Spending

Report U.S. Told If Changes Not Made U.K. Reserves Will Vanish; Criticize Antiquated Customs Procedure

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—(AP)—The three-power conference on the British financial crisis today set up a special committee to go into Britain's request for more freedom in spending E.C.A. dollars outside the United States. It was learned that Britain has told the United States that unless changes are made in present Marshall Plan operations they will have to spend several hundred million more dollars out of their dwindling reserves. The decision of the British, Canadian and American cabinet ministers to make a special study of the whole question of the use of economic co-operation administration funds was one of four decisions made today.

Special groups were also assigned to work on the following three problems:

1. Commodities and stockpiling: Britain has told the United States on this point that a speed-up in the use of American funds for stock-piling strategic materials such as rubber and tin would assist the British government in increasing its dollar earnings.

2. Customs procedure: Both Britain and Canada have repeatedly complained to the American government that its customs procedures are so cumbersome and old-fashioned that foreign exporters are discouraged from trying to get goods into the United States for sale there, and that American buyers are discouraged from seeking foreign goods.

3. Overseas Investments: British and Canadian conferees are reported to have taken the position that the United States, as the world's greatest creditor country, must find new ways to put dollars to work by encouraging heavier American investments in foreign countries.

Asked whether devaluation of the pound has come up, Treasurer Secretary Snyder said he would not discuss devaluation publicly "at any time." Pressed on the point, he sharply replied: "Let's drop that and go on to something else."

Promises Consideration

Treasury Secretary John W Snyder, the American spokesman, promised "sympathetic consideration" to suggestions made by Sir Stafford and Abbott for arresting the drain on Britain's dollar reserves and seeking to balance Britain's world trade.

At the same time Snyder renewed his emphasis on the American position that Marshall Plan aid must end in 1952 and that Britain's major need is to become self-sufficient by that time

Cripps, Abbott and Snyder set forth the basic positions of their governments at the second session of the three-power talks which opened here Wednesday. All dealt in fairly general terms. None mentioned the question, much discussed publicly, whether the British pound sterling should or would be devalued.

Great Composer Richard Strauss Dies In Germany

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Sept. 8 (CP) — Richard Strauss, grand old man of German composers, died today. He had beben gravely ill for the last 14 days from a heart and kidney disease. He was 85.

Strauss was a musical prodigy at the age of four. He began strumming the piano almost as soon as he could sit at one and began composing when he was six.

He was best known in North America for his impressionistic operas, "Salome," produced in 1904, and "Elektra" which he finished three years later.

Strauss ranked as one of the greatest contemporary composers.

He was born in Munich June 11, 1864. His father was Professor Franz Strauss, first horn player of the Royal Bavarian Orchestra, and himself a master craftsman. He was not related to the Strauss family of waltz fame.

His genius ran the gamut of musical poems, symphonies and operas. At 12 his Opus No. 1, a "Festmarsch" for orchestra was before the public.

Impressionistic expressions in tone form which Strauss composed in middle life were the subject of critical debate. He lived to see many of his innovations become almost commonplace musical devices.

His tone poems, "Til Eulenspiegel" "Don Quixote," and "Don Juan" are popular with symphonic audiences throughout the world.

"Tod Und Verklaerung," (death and transfiguration) a tone poem written in 1889 is regarded by many critics as one of his greatest works.

Liquor Board Cracks Down On 2 Premises

TORONTO, Sept. 8 (CP)—The Liquor Licence Board today cracked down hard on two licensed premises, ordering the owner of one to sell while the license of the other was cancelled outright.

J. A. Aubry, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, Nakina, who had been warned previously about unsatisfactory operation was found guilty of selling beer "out the back door" and was instructed to seek a buyer for his business as the board no longer would permit him to operate.

Cancellation of licence was ordered in the case of T. G. Maw, Sand Point Cabins, Sand Point Lake in the Rainy River district. Maw was convicted of illegal possession of American liquor.

General Manager Kenneth Graham, who announced the board's decisions, said the penalties against Aubry and Maw were the most severe since the current clean-up campaign was started.

Suspension of licences was ordered in four other cases. Those of Canadian Corps, Branch 120, Kingston, and the Edgewater Public House in the Hamilton area were lifted indefinitely because of poor operation.

A week's suspension was handed out to the Maple Leaf Hotel, Tottenham, and the Northland Public House, Cochrane, to give them an oportunity to reorganize their staffs and clean their premises.

Will Stand Trial

LINDSAY, Sept. 8.—(CP).—A. S. Davies, 45, a Toronto clothing firm representative, was committed to a higher court on a charge of motor manslaughter. Davies drove a car which crashed into a Canadian Pacific railway train June 27 at a level crossing near here, killing Elsie Pryor, 18-year-old Toronto dress model.

$67,825 Gross Receipts In Stuart Hereford Sale

Gross receipts of $67,825 were reported from the dispersal sale Wednesday of the herd of Hereford cattle owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, Jr., of Old Orchard Farms, three miles east of the Lift Lock. The herd comprised 165 head, including quite a number of calves which were sold with their dams. For the catalogueing purpose of the sale, the animals were offered in 111 lots, the majority as individuals. The calves were sold with their matrons, thereby explaining the average returns on the basis of the number of lots, rather than the actual total of the herd.

Top price was $2,500 for the senior herd sire WHR Monarch 60th which was bought by F. W. Reicheld of Jarvis, Ont.. On the female side, Old Orchard Helen 2nd brought the highest price at $1,375, paid by Robert D. Peck of Sidney, Man.

Nine animals were bought by breeders from the Canadian west, and only one went to the United States.

CMR Advance Domino 81st is actually recrossing the border. He was the herd sire of the polled Herefords which Mrs. Nancy Stuart had selected for her special attention in laying the foundation of a white faced herd without horns. This bull was bought for the Margaret Gage Stock Farms, Delanson, N. Y., for $1,200. His rating among polled Herefords on this continent is reflected in the fact that when Hereford semen was sought for artificial breeding in Britain, through the facilities of Cambridge University, the chosen source was the polled sire at Old Orchard Farms.

Local buyers included a new group composed of Garth Braund, E. V. O'Toole and Archie Clysdale, OOF herdsman and manager of the sale. Mr. O'Toole was present as bidder.

Some of the purchases which should retain OOF Hereford qualities in this district were:

WHR Starlette 3rd, in calf, born in May 1939, bought by Mel Edwards of Lakefield for $350.

WHR Super Sally 2nd, in calf, born June 1940, bought by Donald Maloney Havelock, for $425.

Spend 8 Million On New Ships

OTTAWA, Sept. 8—(CP)—The Navy stepped up its ship-building program Wednesday night with an announcement of contracts for the construction of four new coastal minesweepers and a trawler-type gate vessel.

Along with a new Arctic patrol ship to be built for the Transport Department, the new ships are expected to cost about $8,000,000.

The first of the new 370-ton minesweepers is expected to be finished in 1951. They will be built by the Saint John, N.B., Drydock Co., Ltd., the Davie Shipbuilding and Repairing Co., Ltd., Lauzon, Que.; Port Arthur Shipbuilding Co., Ltd., and the Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd., Victoria. The gate vessel will be built by George T. Davie and Sons, Ltd., Lauzon, Que.

At Lauzon, Que., it was announced that a $5,000,000 ice-breaker—the largest in North America—will be built there.

The proposed ice-breaker will be 300 feet long and will have a range of 12,000 miles. It will accommodate a crew of 70 and 22 passengers. It will have a writing room, library, provision for movies, quarters for eskimos and a hospital. It will have a helicopter landing deck and space for two helicopters.

Move Gunman From Hospital

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 8 (AP)—Howard B. Unruh, Bible-reading gun collector accused of slaying 13 persons, has been removed from hospital where he was threatened by a relative of one of his victims.

The 28-year-old former artilleryman was taken Wednesday to the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton.

Detectives said that a relative of 10-year-old John H. Wilson—whose death Wednesday raised the toll in Tuesday's River Road massacre to 13—appeared at Unruh's room in the same hospital. Unruh was under treatment for a bullet wound in the hip

The Wilson boy's relative, detectives said, declared "I'm going to get him." The man—whose identity was not disclosed—was restrained and led away.

Mitchell Cohen, Camden county prosecutor, emphasized that Unruh "has not been declared insane." The shift had been recommended by four psychiatrists who examined the accused slayer after his capture.

Cohen's office Wednesday prepared 13 murder complaints against Unruh several hours after the Wilson boy died—one for each of his victims.

Keeps Guard Over Children

CALEDON, Sept. 8 (CP)—Mrs. Ed Harrington, a young district stepmother who is afraid of guns, Wednesday night propped an unloaded .32 rifle beside her and kept vigil over four children, sleeping together on a living room couch.

She feared the return of a well-mannered prowler who asked her a handout Wednesday and then fled when she called police.

She said he crossed the fields which lead to the farm house of Charles Aiken, who was mysteriously shot through a window Tuesday night.

Although Mrs. Harrington had not heard of the Aiken shooting, she was immediately suspicious of the caller who came to her back door.

Police have so far failed to find any trace of the man.

Mrs. Harrington's husband, a construction worker at Ajax, Ont., who only gets home on week-ends, was informed that his wife would have police protection tonight.

CSU Lifts Ship Ban In New Zealand Ports

MONTREAL, Sept. 8 (CP). — The striking Canadian Seamen's Union announced on Wednesday night it had lifted the ban on Canadian ships in New Zealand ports.

Canadian ships were tied up by striking CSU crew members and New Zealand dockers who refused to load and unload strike-bound vessels.

The announcement came from Harry Davis, president of the CSU, and followed an earlier announcement that the union recommended immediate affiliation with the World Maritime Federation, recently formed in Marseille

Sell Brimsek Chicago Hawks

BOSTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Frankie Brimsek, star goal-tender for Boston Bruins Hockey Club has been sold to Chicago Black Hawks, the club announced today.

Brimsek has been a mainstay on the Bruins, excepting for war service, since he succeeded Tiny Thompson early in the 1938-39 season.

"Mr. Zero," as Brimsek was called by Boston hockey fans, won the Vezina Trophy his first year in the National League; the Calder Trophy rookie award the same year; the Vezina again in the 1941-42 season.

Brimsek's trade was at his own request, the club said. His home is in Eveleth, Minn., and the 33-year-old goalie wants to finish his active career near home.

Brimsek had asked to be traded to another club last April after the announced retirement of Dit Clapper as coach of the Bruins. At that time the goalie said he was "stunned" to hear of Clapper's resignation and "now, with Dit [illegible] hope the management will let me go to some other club."

Bermuda Escapes Worst Of Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 8 (AP). — The centre of a huge Atlantic hurricane edged past Bermuda today, missing those honeymoon isles just enough to spare them a fearful beating by winds up to 140 miles an hour.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster at Miami, said the great tropical storm's centre was 60 miles east of Bermuda at 10 a.m EDT.

"This places the islands on the weaker west side of the storm," said Norton. "Heaviest winds reached only 40 miles from the centre on that side. Therefore Bermuda should be receiving only heavy gales with the gusts somewhat higher, and high tides."

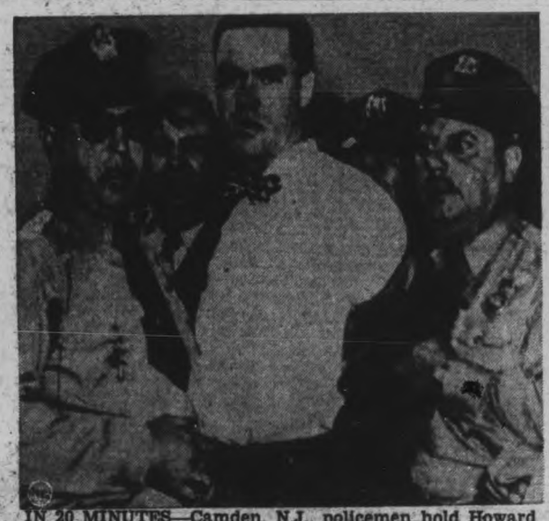
Norton said the storm which hung nearly stationary for three days in a war of nerves with Bermuda was now on the move and speeding up its forward pace.

Canadian Atomic Plant Reports New Discovery

OTTAWA, Sept. 8 (CP)—Nuclear scientists may have to revise many of their intricate calculations as the result of a discovery at Canada's atomic energy plant.

Experts at the Atomic Pile at Chalk River, Ont., after months of computation, have come up with the announcement that the neutron—whose behaviour is a major element in producing atomic energy—is heavier than scientists have thought.

The nutron, a part of the atom's nucleus, is the third smallest form of matter.



In announcing the new weight determination, the council in its annual report issued Wednesday said only:

"Particular mention may be made of a new determination of the mass of the neutron, which is somewhat higher than the previously accepted value."

However, council officials commented that the finding was of importance in the scientific world and would be of "definite value" in furthering atomic research.

It is the third determination of the weight of the neutron. The original one was revised downward a few years ago, and now the Chalk River finding indicates that the neutron is almost as heavy as was originally supposed.

The council also reported that its Chalk River plant now is producing the highest "neutron flux density" of any research pile in existence.

IN 20 MINUTES—Camden, N.J., policemen hold Howard Unruh, 27, after his capture following a harrowing 20 minutes in which he shot 17 persons, killing 13. Unruh, described as a near-religious fanatic, ran from store to store along a busy street, firing wildly.

2 Men Drown As Boat Upsets

KINGSTON, Sept. 8 (CP)—Two Ottawa men were drowned in Thirty Mile Lake, 50 miles northwest of Kingston Wednesday night when their boat capsized. The men were Arthur Buske, and Max Cohen.

Two companions managed to swim to shore. The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m.

Attempts were made to recover the bodies Wednesday night, but operations were hampered by the darkness and rain. Provincial Police Constable Gordon Stout, stationed at Northbrook, was in charge of grappling operations. He and Jack Hatch of the Provincial Police Madoc detachment went out today in a further attempt to recover the bodies.

Seek Lindsay Thief With Big Appetite

LINDSAY, Sept. 8.— (CP).— Lindsay police are seeking a thief with a particular appetite.

He entered the home of R. J. Morris and indulged in some peaches, peppermint candy and lobster sandwiches from the ice-box and left with a supply of salmon, tuna fish, shrimp, tea bags, jelly powders and a bar of toilet soap.

He also took $7, a mantel radio, alarm clock and four pairs of socks.

Morris and his wife were sleeping at the time of the theft.

8 By-Elections To Be Held On October 24

OTTAWA, Sept. 8 (CP)—Eight Federal by-elections—a miniature general election—will be held Oct. 24 to fill vacancies that have occurred in the Commons since the June 27 election.

The date was announced Wednesday night by Prime Minister St. Laurent in a statement that told also of the appointment of three veteran Liberals to the Senate

Two of the by-elections were caused by the deaths of members elected in June. The other six resulted from the appointment of members to the bench, the Commons clerkship and the Senate.

One of the new Senators is Tom Reid, from British Columbia who has been Liberal member for New Westminster since 1930. In the last parliament, he was parliamentary assistant to both the fisheries and the health ministries.

The other new Senators are Robert William Gladstone of Guelph, former member of the Commons for Wellington South, and J. Wesley Stambaugh of Bruce, Alberta, president of the Alberta Liberal Association.

In Quebec

Five of the by-elections are in Quebec ridings. Two of them will fill Montreal seats emptied by the appointment of cabinet ministers to the bench. The ministers were Postmaster Gene Bertrand, who sat for Montreal Laurier, and Solicitor General Jean who represented Montreal Mercier.

Both Eugene Marquis, Liberal member for Kamouraska, and Elphege Marier, Liberal member for Montreal Jacques Cartier, also were appointed to Quebec judgeships and resigned their seats.

The two members who died are J. E. McMillin, elected to the Commons as a Progressive Conservative from Toronto Greenwood for the first time in the June election, and Benoit Michaud, Liberal member for the New Brunswick riding of Restigouche-Madawaska.

The appointment of Leon J. Raymond as clerk of the Commons left a vacancy in Gatineau, a new Quebec constituency, and Mr. Reid's appointment left a vacancy in New Westminster.

The Liberals now hold 187 of the 262 Comomns seats. The Progressive Conservatives hold 40 seats, the CCF 12 and Social Credit 10. There are four Independents and one Independent Liberal

Post Office Man Faces Charges; 27 Letters Stolen

Patrick Gahagan was committed for trial by a higher court by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, in a preliminary hearing at police court Thursday on two charges.

He was charged with stealing $8 from a letter and also stealing several letters. Twenty-seven were produced by Post Office officials in court as evidence.

Col. G. H. Lawrence, Post Office inspector from Ottawa and Cecil B. McNabb, also a Post Office official from Ottawa, testified they had prepared a letter containing a $5 and three $1 bills, whose serial numbers they had noted, the evening of Aug. 23. The letter was handed to H. E. White, assistant post master of the Peterborough post office, who told the court he placed it in the post office drop box about 9.30 a.m. the next morning. He later recovered it from the city sorting rack and observed it had been opened. He took it to the post master, Charles Lacheur, who in turn handed it to Col. Lawrence. Gahagan's work in the post office included clearing this drop box. Three or four other men did the same job.

Col. Lawrence and Mr. McNabb said they intercepted Gahagan just after he left the post office to go home for lunch.

Back in the post office building they told Gahagan they were looking for a missing letter. He said he knew nothing about it. They asked to see the money in Gahagan's wallet and he turned it over to them. In the wallet, along with other bills, they found the four bills they had planted in the fake letter.

On the second charge of stealing a number of letters from the post office, where he had been employed since July 27, Col. Lawrence and Mr. McNabb testified they had asked Gahagan at the same time whether he had any letters with him. They said Gahagan brought four letters from his left pants pocket and five from the right pocket. None of these had been opened and some had no post mark on them They were addressed to addresses in Peterborough, Toronto and other towns.

The city police were called and Detective Sergeant John Stevenson went to Gahagan's home, 390 Mark St., with the accused. Detective Stevenson testified Gahagan produced a bundle of 18 letters from the bottom of a trunk in an upstairs room in the house. All these letters, some containing cheques, had been opened.

Col. Lawrence said as far as they could determine, nothing had been taken from the letters.

Magistrate Gee committed Gahagan for trial on both charges by the next higher court having jurisdiction in Peterborough county.

It is not yet known whether Gahagan will come up for trial in the Supreme Court or General Sessions. Bail has been set at $3,000.

Conviction on either count may vary from three years to life sentence.

Obituary

MRS. DAVID COONS.

After a short illness Mrs. David Coons of Haultain died in St. Joseph's Hospital Wednesday in her 52nd year. A resident of Haultain during the summer months she lived in Peterborough and Lakefield in the winter.

Mrs. Coons was the former Celia Alma White, daughter of the late Martha Dunsford and Sidney White. She was educated in Wilberforce and was a Presbyterian.

She leaves her husband, David Coons, and four children: three daughters, Mrs. Victor McFadden (Mildred) of Apsley, Mrs. Jack Chappell (Ruth) of Lakefield, Mrs. William Bolton (Dolly) of Lakefield, and a son Clare.

The funeral will be from the Tedford Funeral Home, Lakefield Saturday at 2 p.m. Mr. G. Cleveland Robb of Peterborough, officiating. Burial will be in Lakefield Cemetery.

Truck and Two Cars Tangle At Intersection

Provincial police investigated two accidents which occurred on No. 7 Highway Wednesday at about 2 p.m. within a few minutes of each other. No one was injured, although there were three vehicles involved in the first accident.

The three-way mishap took place at the Keene turn and involved vehicles driven by George McTaggart, Flat Rock, Michigan; Francis Gibbons, 232 Prince St., Peterborough; and Peter Gravelle, Bridgenorth. According to Provincial Constables A. F. Grayling and E. G. Patterson, who investigated the crash, Gravelle, who was driving a truck, failed to stop before entering the highway from the Keene road. This caused the two cars to sideswipe each other in their efforts to avoid being hit by the truck. The American car was travelling west and the Peterborough car east, the former sustaining $150 damage and the latter $300.

The other accident occurred five miles east of Havelock when a car driven by George Nicholls of Campbellford went out of control due to slippery driving conditions caused by rain and overturned in the ditch. Nicholls was unhurt, but the car received about $300 damage.

Canadians Play Minor Part

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Sept. 8 (CP)—Canadians should take a more prominent part in Edinburgh's annual festival of music and drama, says Miss Audrey Cook of Montreal, co-chairman of the Festival's Canadian Council.

"I think that some outstanding Canadian performer like Fridolin, the Montreal actor-playwright, could appear as a real representative of Canada," she told the Canadian Press.

Miss Cook was one of a large party of Canadians who attended the festival this year.

The chief Canadian performer in this year's festival proper was Jean Watson of St. Thomas, a former Scottish girl, who sang the part of Ulrica in Verdi's opera "Un Ballo In Maschera," presented by the Glyndebourne opera.

Other Canadians appearing in Edinburgh during festival week were members of the Ottawa Drama League, who came here specially to present Robertson Davies' "Eros At Breakfast," their prize-winning production of 1948.

Stars of the festival were world-famous performers, drawn chiefly from Europe. But despite the stiff competition—including a new play by T. S. Eliot—one of theh most popular productions was "The Three Estates," a rousing satire in broad Scots written 400 years ago by Sir David Lindsay.

Staged experimentally last year, it was such a success that it may be repeated annually.

lice while the taxi headed down Jarvis Street to the downtown area.

Later police talked to the taxi driver who reported that as they drove down Jarvis Street one of the trio suggested going to a bootlegger's. The taxi driver told them it was closed. Near the main downtown King and Yonge intersection, the three men paid off the taxi and went into an all-night restaurant.

Young Men

Police described all three men as being about 25 years and weighing 135-150 pounds.

One—called Harry by his associates—was the tallest and wore a gabardine coat. Another was about five feet eight inches and dark. The third was about five feet seven inches and wore a maroon windbreaker.

Police said another safe containing $200 was stolen during the night from a central Toronto cigar store.

The watchmen described their ride as one of terror during which they remembered recent murders in Toronto. Seward said that when the car ran out of gas, a car drove up with two men who talked with the gunmen.

Afraid To Yell

"And we didn't know the two men in the car were police officers," Seward said. "If we had known, we certainly would have shouted out. When the cruiser drove off, we asked the gunman who was in the auto."

Seward said the gunman and his accomplices all laughed "until they almost doubled up. They said the car was a police cruiser. They continued to poke fun at us until we hailed a taxi but they warned us not to make any noise in the cab."

Stanley Owen, the taxi-driver flagged by the kidnappers on Eglinton Avenue, said the men tipped him $1 when they got out.

"They mentioned something about having a good time and having plenty of money."

Of the three policy statements made Wednesday that by the Canadian Finance Minister called for the most sweeping review of basic American economic policies.

Asks Policy Review

Abbott asked that these be studied "to determine whether they are appropriate" to the United States' present position of leadership in the western world.

Abbott said he had in mind not only the maintenance of high levels of employment and income inside the United States "but the question whether tariff policy, policy regarding customs administration, policy regarding foreign investment, policy regarding the distribution of the financial burden of political responsibilities in various parts of the world, is appropriate to the present international position."

He thus touched on several points which American and British officials have thus far preferred to discuss mostly in private.

Some top officials of both countries, for example, are known to believe that unless the United States eventually adopts—by action of Congress—a tariff policy encouraging the import of British goods against American competition, Britain will find it virtually impossible to earn the dollars she needs.

Small Child Suffers Injury To Both Legs

The wheels of a car ran over the legs of a three-year-old girl while her father looked on helplessly in an accident on Braidwood Ave., about 5:15 p.m. Wednesday night.

The child, Marlene Reader, was taken to the Clinic by her father Earl Reader, 154 Hurley Ave., and a friend, Fred White. She was attended by Dr. R. M. Matthews. It was reported she had bruise injuries and cuts to both legs.

Constable D. S. Mackay reported that a car driven by Mrs. R. McFadden, 336 Braidwood, was travelling west on Braidwood about 20 miles an hour. Three children playing with a wagon on the north sidewalk darted out in front of the car.

Both wheels on the right side of the McFadden car passed over the knees of the Reader youngster. The other two children were not hit.

Mr. Reader was walking east on the opposite side of the street with Mr. White and saw the accident.

Constable Mackay reported the longest skid mark from the McFadden car was eight and a half feet.

52 New Applicants For Figure Skating

Fifty-two new applications for membership in the Peterborough Figure Skating Club have been received by the executive, it was disclosed at the annual meeting Wednesday night. The club has already applied to the Curling Rink Company and the Civic Arena Committee in an effort to assure the acceptance of, and accommodation for, the new members.

Reports for the past season's activities and plans for the 1949-50 season were presented to more than 100 members and parents.

A directors' meeting followed, and the following officers were elected for the coming season: Honorary Pres., Judge S. L. Smoke; Pres., Ralph Standish; 1st Vice-Pres., A. Galoska; 2nd Vice-Pres., James Harkness; 3rd Vice-Pres., Clare G. Collins; Treasurer, K. A. Wilson; and Secretary, Mrs. Grace Simpson.

Find Overturned Boat Fear 2 Men Drowned

FLIN FLON, Man., Sept. 8 (CP)—Fears were held Wednesday for the safety of Derrick Mott, 25, of Ottawa and Louis Dubois of Flin Flon after the recovery of canoe paddles, a man's sweater and a gasoline can on a northern Manitoba lake 60 miles northeast of Lynn Lake.

The two, fieldmen for the International Nickel Company, were reported missing Friday when a plane which was to drop supplies on their camp, found no signs of life. Their overturned canoe was found on the lake later and dragging operations began Saturday.

BUT ACT NOW . . .

Scrambling to make a Will when danger threatens is probably better than not making one at all but the preparation of such an important document should not be left to the confusion of a last minute rush.

Making a Will is something that can easily be attended to before emergencies arise. This duty should not be neglected. The logic and advantages of appointing a Corporate Executor and Trustee are obvious and well recognized.

All that is needed to get the job done, and done well, is to ask us to help you plan your Will, which we shall gladly do without charge. You can then have it drawn in proper legal form, naming The Royal Trust Company your Executor and Trustee, execute the Will and file it with us for safekeeping.

Australia Gives Britain 32 Million

CANBERRA, Sept. 8.— Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley, presenting the budget in the House of Representatives announced Wednesday that in view of the further contribution Britain would make to European revival this year "and to assist her in her own great effort' the Australian Government would make a further gift of 10,000,000 Australian pounds (about $32,240,000) to the British Government.

Mr. Chifley explained that the Australian decision to adopt recommendations of the recent London Conference of Commonwealth Finance Ministers meant a further reduction in dollar expenditure by government departments as well as cuts in all major commercial projects.

The full 25 per cent saving would not be possible in 1949 50 because of outstanding commitments, the Prime Minister said

EYE TOPICS

LEARNING TO SEE

We have ear training in music courses. We speak of cultivated tastes. But the sense of sight is usually taken for granted. Most people do not realize the necessity of learning to see. It is high time more attention was given to the cultivation of this important art.

Eyes have much to learn and many adjustments to make during infancy and early childhood. It takes them at least six years, and probably a good deal longer, to develop fully.

Color perception is one of the faculties which come to us gradually. It is believed that good ability to distinguish different colors is not acquired until twelve to fifteen months after birth.

Most babies and young children are farsighted. The fact that their arms are short makes it doubly hard for them to concentrate upon anything that they are holding. On the other hand, children's eyes have more flexibility, or "accommodation," as it is called, than older people's eyes. This high degree of accommodation enables children to examine things at close range, but only by overworking their eye muscles. Such strain causes harmful effects and should always have the advantages of large print and good light. As they grow older, they will naturally lose their farsightedness, and proper guidance can help make this evolution a healthy, normal process.

London Airport Handling 100 Flights Daily Now

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Sept. 8—(CP)—In less than four years, the government-owned London airport has grown from a collection of market gardens and disused gravel pits into an airfield handling 100 flights a day and 385,000 passengers a year. And it is still growing. By 1953 the port's capacity is expected to be 100 aircraft an hour, and there will be six runways in use instead of the present three. They will be arranged in the form of two superimposed triangles, with control tower and offices in the centre.

Eventual cost of the airport, owned by the Ministry of Civil Aviation, has been estimated at £30,000,000 ($120,000,000) and no one knows when, if ever, it will pay. Main income is derived from landing charges and rent of buildings to the airlines. These, however, cover only about one-sixth of the total cost of operation.

Every time a Boeing Stratocruiser touches down, the airport collects £30, while a Constellation pays £15. Rents for the buildings work out at £1,500 a year for a large hut and about £900 for a small one. But these revenues are offset by huge operating costs.

4,000 On Staff

The airport is run by some 4,000 aircrew, customs men, hostesses, police, firemen and technicians. The ministry employs 800 of them. British Overseas Aircraft Corporation, the biggest operator, employs a further 1,000.

A great army of workers is employed on development and expansion. Since 1946 1,000-odd workmen have excavated more than 8,700,000 cubic yards of earth and filled in the old gravel pits with another 5,500,000 cubic yards. They have also laid about 600,000 cubic yards of concrete, most of it in runways.

Runways are 100 yards wide and paved to a depth of 20 inches so as to withstand a payload considerable greater than that of the 127-ton Brabazon, as yet the world's biggest aircraft.

In December the airport handled a record load of 1,584,339 pounds of freight and 1,024,000 pounds of mail. Of this BOAC carried the major share.

"We handle everything from lions and tigers to hangman's ropes," a BOAC official said. "One of our recent cargoes included radio-active material, ship's spares for Singapore, a live tiger, aircraft parts, monkeys, pigeons and some human remains which had been cremated."

Kindergarten Expands Into Church Hall

COBOURG, Sept. 8 (ENS). — To handle the large number of children starting to school this term, the public school kindergarten has been enlarged with a class being held in St. Peter's Parish Hall.

More families coming to Cobourg along with the local growth of the town, has put a strain on the facilities of the public school and it has been necessary to add to the kindergarten in order to accommodate the children.

Adjournment Granted In Conversion Cases

COBOURG, Sept. 8 (ENS) — Further adjournment was made yesterday in connection with the preliminary hearing of a charge against Eugene Bolster of converting $2,638.61 of his employer's money to his own use. Jack Kewin, also of Cobourg, is charged with conversion of $450.82. Both were at one time employees of Claude Fowler, wholesaler.

Defence counsel T. F. Hall said that he required additional information in regard to the various items in the charge. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said that if defence counsel would list the particulars he required, they would be furnished him.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter accordingly adjourned the matter further to Sept. 21 on the understanding that all parties would be ready to proceed on that date.

Nine Disease Cases

COBOURG, Sept. 8—(ENS)—Nine new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending September 3 in the counties health unit area. The report issued by Dr. Charlotte M. Horner, in the absence of Dr. C. W. MacCharles, chief medical officer, who is on vacation, lists three cases of chickenpox, one of measles, one case of tuberculosis and one of whooping cough. The cases were all in urban municipalities.

John Bull As Mother Hubbard

When Mother Hubbard went to the cupboard to get her poor bulldog a bit of Argentine, Canadian or American beef, she found the cupboard bare, despite what her cousins had been giving her. The trouble was that she had more than the one bulldog to feed. There were many litters across Europe, all hungry; there were also some carnivorous creatures called communists against whom the pack had to be protected. So British Mother Hubbard who is mother to western Europe, has gone to Washington, looking, in the form of Mr. Ernest Bevin, very John Bullish, and in the shape of Mr. Cripps, very shrewd.

• • •

There are many reasons why Britain is hard up, in international monetary terms. One is that Britain is still having to spend millions of pounds feeding and re-equipping Europe, and in armaments, at a time when she has herself been impoverished. Another reason is that her chief creditor is the United States, but the United States does not want to act like a creditor. That is, the Americans do not want to take what they can get in repayment. They are not importing enough British goods, which is the only way that Britain can pay. Further, they are not really willing to let Britain trade where she can (using E.R.P. dollars) in order to become solvent again. The fact is that British and American industry are in competition, and the creditor Americans do not want her competition.

• • •

Many North Americans tell themselves as well as the British, that Britain is living too expensively, that the Socialist policies of the present Labour Government (to add to the National Debt by buying industries and railways for nationalization; to give free medical health service, and the like) have put the country into the sorry state it is now. It is therefore salutary that a businessman like Mr. James S. Duncan, president of Massey-Harris, should speak out as he did at the International Day lunch at the C.N.E. Tuesday. Speaking as an ardent advocate of the capitalistic system and an opponent of socialism, he asked his audience to realize that Britain suffered from an acute form of the world condition which resulted from two wars; Britain's sickness was not a direct result of the policies of her Labour Government.

"Because of this fact, we on this continent are not in any way justified in withholding our aid on the ground that we do not agree with the policies of the government in power, unpalatable though it is to many that our assistance is, in some measure, helping to keep the Labour government in office."

• • •

The Britons have come to Washington appealing for help to avoid financial disaster. It is well to remember that Canadian have also gone to Washington, and they are not there as mere onlookers or possible helpers. The Canadian cupboard needs replenishing too.

To Be Normal (Proprietorially) After Forty Years

Crafty men whose job it is to ferret out such irregularities have now discovered, forty years after it was built, that the Peterborough Normal School is not sitting on its own—or the Provincial Government's—property. The authorities neglected to get the deed of the land, or even to register it, when they built the school. So the rather fine city block in the northern residential section of the city belongs to the city, not to the School or the Provincial Government. The Department of Education is now taking the necessary steps (towards the City Hall) to have the land duly passed to the Province. It will be "expropriated".

Thus by the accident of oversight, the City Fathers have been handed a nice big stick to wield. What a wonderful opportunity to beat the Provincial Government into giving the city a hundred thousand dollars more towards our new hospital, or a large donation to the new City Hall site, or even to compel them to allow Peterborough all the outdoor lighting it wants at Christmas time! What a pity that our aldermen are not to a man solidly at odds with Queen's Park. Perhaps the Council should stall on this expropriation business until next December 1st, resign, and urge the voters to elect a new Council solemnly pledged to claw the Government with might and main.

The property to be expropriated is not quite as large as it seems. The Normal School does own some of its site, due to the generosity of a former graduating class. This class (1931) bought the disused railway ravine behind the school, full of birds, little beasts, and variegated trees and shrubs, as a going-away present for its pedagogic mother. Little did it realize at the time that it was presenting a landless school with the first sods it had ever owned.

Authorities In Housing

As Mr. R. M. Winters, Minister of Reconstruction, has indicated, the Federal Government is planning to adopt measures very soon to assist in reducing the housing shortage in Canada. These measures will probably be solely financial, in the form of grants to the Provinces. There will be a difference between the new scheme and the veterans' housing measures, under which a Crown Company (Central Mortgage) has almost a landlord status. There must, however, be, some centralized Housing Authorities. These may be centred on the Provincial capitals. It is probably well that centralization should be reduced to a minimum; this would necessitate Local Housing Boards, such as were created during the war.

Such a proposal would need careful consideration, for though these local Housing Boards operated on the whole efficiently and wisely in the matter of wartime housing, conditions were unusual. The only houses being built were the government wartime houses, and the whole economy of the country was under controls. Now, in peace time, houses are being built privately and private enterprise must be taken into account on a very local level. It may be that housing boards independent of elected bodies are not proper to these times and our system. City Councils are elected to look after the city's business. One phase of that business is the housing of its citizens. It is more democratic that an elected council shall be locally responsible, rather than an appointed housing board. Consideration should be given to making any civic housing boards responsible to the City Council, rather than to a Provincial Board in Toronto.

Highway Through Canada

Like most Canadians, we already knew what was told us in a booklet giving an assortment of facts about Canada—a booklet intended for foreigners as well as for Canadians—but every time we think of the matter we feel rather ashamed for our country. Here is the paragraph we happened to read:

Motorists desiring to make a tour across the continent within Canadian territory may now do so. There is as yet no continuous motor road all the way across the Dominion; there is still a stretch of territory north of Lake Superior not yet crossed by highway, but the tourist can bridge this gap by shipping his car by steamer from Sault Ste. Marie at the eastern end of Lake Superior to the twin cities of Port Arthur and Fort William—a 250-mile voyage.

For national prestige, if not for military precaution and commercial and touring convenience, Canada must have a highway from coast to coast. Both the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition agree to that. Both Liberal and Conservative parties had the completion of the Trans-Canada highway on their election platforms. The Government has promised that it will be built, and there have been conferences and there will be others this year to ensure that the job will be not only planned but begun. Let us hope that the Trans-Canada highway will be high on Parliament's agenda when it sits this month.

It seems that a chief cause of the delay has been the inability to reach a firm decision on the routes the highway will take. Even within provinces, towns are bickering and bargaining that the road should pass their way. Let the provinces get down to business, and give the Federal Government approved provincial plans, so that Ottawa can get on with the work. It is a wry fact that the main gap in the present road system is in highway-proud Ontario.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Police Shoot Bull on Toronto Street" says a headline. They should keep that sort of thing for the station-house.

Two boys who recently appeared in court on charges of petty swindling pleaded that they had been encouraged by their father. Gyps off the old block, obviously.

A house fire in Alberta recently was quenched with an ample supply of milk which was nearer than water. This is a use for milk which the dairy men have never thought of popularizing.

PROFILE—

Dean of Canterbury

IN the hierarchy of the Church of England the Dean of Canterbury has always held a special place as the guardian of England's Mother Church. The present occupant of the post, the Very Reverend Hewlett Johnson, also holds a special place in the hierarchy of international Communism as the outstanding Christian convert to its materialist doctrine.

"The Red Dean," as he likes to be known, is a zealous crusader for the Communist doctrine, though with an unfortunate predelection for preaching to the converted. In the last few days, at the age of 75, the call of duty has taken him once again to Moscow to tell his fellow-crusaders how right and how lucky they are, and in what misery dwell his own benighted fellow-countrymen.

The crusade began more than half a century ago, when the "young master" was working as an apprentice in his father's prosperous cotton mill in Manchester. The Dean likes to tell of his early days struggling to live on 13s a week. He did; but in the struggle he was surrounded by men who touched their caps to him as the boss's son. He walked home at week-ends, he relates, to save the cost of the fare; but he walked home to a large, comfortable house in the country.

◇ ◇ ◇

FROM his own writings one gains a strong impression that his contrast with his fellow-workers filled the young man with a feeling of guilt. He longed for his early childhood days when the firm had been less big, his home nearer the factory, and when his father called each worker by his first name. Working at his machine, Hewlett Johnson's mind was filled not only with these social misgivings but with profound doubts about the truth of Christianity—doubts planted in his mind by a zealous Darwinian who had prepared him for the Bachelor of Science degress which he earned from Manchester University before his eighteenth birthday.

Eventually the spiritual crisis ended: he embraced a practical Christianity, with God somewhat in the role of Deus in machina. He resolved to become a "missionary engineer." A missionary society accepted him for work in Central Africa, but suggested a year's study of theology first; eager for perfection, he took four years at Wadham Colege, Oxford.

At Oxford he neglected few opportunities, becoming known as a walker, a talker, and a good oar. His second class in theology was a disappointment, but he soon got over that. He new saw himself as not just a cleric interested in minor details of theology; he was an engineer, and a broad churchman, with a mind capable of looking beyond the difficult, doubtful details, and perceiving the essential goodness and purpose of Christianity.

The missionary society was less broad-minded, and the apointment did not come off. Instead of going to Africa, Hewlett Johnson joined the I.L.P. However, a call soon came for him to a parish near Manchester, filled with the wealthy friends of his father and father-in-law. There, for twenty years, he held the modest post of parish priest, though he also wrote a few articles "in very simple language" explaining the principles of banking to the readers of the "Economist." But, in general, he was confined to preaching Christianity and Socialism, plus a sprinkling of Social Credit, to a wealthy flock, who regarded him as a mild local eccentric.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN his parish no one but his wife took him quite seriously, but in intellectual and political circles in London he became quite well known to the growing band of Socialists. In 1924 his friend, Ramsay MacDonald, was able to reward virtue by making him Dean of Manchester, but even in this more exalted position his passionate pleas for dress reform or wider seats in third-class carriages went almost unnoticed in the national Press. In 1931 his wife died, leaving the Dean even more lonely in an unkind, blind world. Two months later Mr. MacDonald again came to the rescue by inviting him to succeed that unworldly pastor, Dick Sheppard, as Dean of Canterbury.

This was the chance, and Johnson seized it. Within a short time his passion for rich ceremonial had transformed the mother church of England. His appeals for more gorgeous copes overcame rigid Protestant scruples, and no more stately figure was to be seen in England than the Dean of Canterbury wafting Archbishops to their high places in His Cathedral.

The thirties were a stimulating, thought-provoking period for a man with a social conscience. Sometimes boys' clubs, soup kitchens, even Social Credit seemed only palliatives for unemployment, Fascism and war in Spain. Where was the cure? It was at this point that Russia began to shine out for the Dean as a possible saviour of the world. "From this tottering capitalist world of storm and stress," he was later to write, "where ancient pillars of society collapse, where morals are outraged, where science is balked, production impeded and poverty unchecked, we turn at last to the Soviet world." Its programme fitted all the Dean's requirements: as an engineer, he admired its drive for productivity; as a scientific Darwinian, he saw its inevitability. Surely, he reasoned out loud, something so good must also be Christian?

◇ ◇ ◇

THE proof that Bolshevism, with its much-publicized anti-God museums, was truly religious took no little effort. But preseverance won; "Communion and Communism are really the same word," he said with finality. "Is Stalin a Christian?" he was asked, after he had journeyed to Moscow. "I didn't ask him," replied the Dean, "but he was very kind to me"—surely that was proof? Indeed, on a later visit to the Kremlin the Dean went further and suggested to the Marshal that the Soviet Government was far more in the tradition of Christ than the Russian Church had ever been. "Stalin and Molotov both," the Dean eagerly relates, "smiled slightly."

Encouraged by this signal proof, the Dean has never ceased to speak of the U.S.S.R. as "profoundly Christian." He has visited Russia several times to seek proof of what he already believed. "Profitable travel in Russia," he wrote, "demands a mind well informed beforehand." He spared no pains in this direction, and each visit, during which he has been received with the consideration due to so valuable a catch, has impressed on him the superior virtue of a system which treats him thus.

The Dean generously admits that mistakes have been made in the U.S.S.R., but, as a practical man, he has always taken pains to "look past the mess and muddle to the fundamental things they were doing." With a faint smile he says, "I know they weren't velvet-gloved to the people who opposed them," but "it was a temporary expedient like chopping off King Charles's head." Even Stalin told him that there had been some excesses, but "that is all forgotten now." To the spirits of millions of liquidated kulaks, this must be comforting news.

The happiest days of the Dean's life were when Russia was an ally in the great anti-Fascist war. He was no longer alone, he was no longer guilty of his father's capitalism, he was preaching a new system where the Government looked after the worker, he was popular, he was cheered—heaven lay around him in his second infancy.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT then came the expected counter-attack of the forces of evil; the attempts to create a breach with the Promised Land of the Soviets. The Dean was prepared. He was no ivory-towered cleric, but a practical engineer, an editorial board member of the "Daily Worker"; and he launched a world-wide crusade for peace. At last he was a real missionary, and a success — the applause at his meetings proved that. The meetings all over the world were indeed a success; Jonnson has a fine voice, a kindly face crowned by silver hair, a good presence; and to these gifts of nature he has added a fine oratorical manner cultivated by public appearances and practice in his own home.

As he flits round the world, being mistaken for the Archbishop of Canterbury, the well-organized welcome at every halt washes away in floods of satisfied vanity more of that clinging guilt, the guilt of owning the Manchester works, of being set apart from the people. The cheers of his audience prove he has friends. With so many friends, with one-sixth of the world on his side, surely he cannot be wrong: "do you think in God's world that 600,000,000 people would be led by something wholly bad?" There is safety in Numbers, whatever matters of detail may be found in other books of the Bible.

SOMEHOW WE'RE SORT OF LOSING INTEREST IN BUYING (An American Opinion)

Privy Council Appeals

(MONTREAL STAR)

THE Canadian Bar Association at its annual meeting in Banff has asked the federal Government to delay legislation to abolish appeals to the Privy Council. The lawyers want more time for public discussion of the issue and the difficulties involved in transferring ultimate legal jurisdiction from the United Kingdom to Canada.

Ottawa will doubtless give thoughtful consideration to this request, coming as it does from so influential a body representing the country's best legal minds. The Government, however, is committed—not irrevocably but by reason of public statements — to bring down legislation on this subject soon, and the assumption has been that it would be placed before Parliament at its next session. A draft bill was prepared for the last session but held up by dissolution.

When the Privy Council itself held that Canada had the right to set up a final court of appeal, Mr. St. Laurent, then Minister of Justice, said that appeals to the Privy Council would not be abolished until a substantial majority wanted it done. The difficulty, then, as now, was to determine when a substantial majority had reached agreement. A more compelling difficulty was created by provincial attitudes. Some provinces wanted to abolish overseas appeals, some would have retained them. Before the Privy Council only Manitoba and Saskatchewan supported Parliament's right to abolish appeals. New Brunswick, Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia were opposed. Since then Quebec has changed its mind. It wants the appeals abolished but claims the right to abolish them by provincial legislative action instead of by Parliament, and it opposes the establishment of the Supreme Court as a final court of appeal.

These are the difficulties now to be got over. The problem is no longer one of ensuring a substantial majority opinion in favour of abolition. That clearly exists. The problem now is political, one of bringing the opposing provinces into agreement on some plan that would abolish Privy Council appeals and at the same time relieve their fears that abolition may cause an invasion of provincial jurisdiction.

Surely this can be worked out. If there are legal questions relating to jurisdiction still to be solved, they can be referred to the courts. The area of agreement is now wider than the area of disagreement and it should not be beyond the powers of Canadian statecraft to resolve the difficulties that remain.

SATURDAY NIGHT MEN

Sir: In Thursrday night's edition of the Examiner Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay said that Constable H. W. Andrews was a little over-zealous in requesting a group of men to move on from in front of a restaurant on Charlotte St. Magistrate Gee do please take a walk for your self, any Friday or Saturday night from 11.30 till 2.30. Then and only then, you will wonder why you ever said that Constable H. W. Andrews was a little over-zealous in telling them to move on. If by chance that you do take a walk around town on any of the above nights, please don't take your wife or friends with you to hear the . . .

Thank you again, Constable H. W. Andrews. We are with you.

Yours truly,

Battle Of The Sexes

(The Printed Word)

C. S. Lewis, English writer of fantastic novels with a theological basis, puts into the mouth of one of his characters a remark that may explain to some husbands the underlying cause of domestic misunderstandings. This character says:

"The cardinal difficulty in collaboration between the sexes is that women speak a language without nouns. If two men are doing a bit of work, one will say to the other, 'Put this bowl inside the bigger bowl you'll find on the top shelf'. The female for this is: 'Put that in the other one in there.' And then if you ask them 'in Where?' they say, 'Why in THERE of course'."

Which leaves men just where they were.

Porcupine Camp Produced $962 Milllion Worth of Ore

By NICK NICKELS
Examiner Staff Man With MPP Tour

SWASTIKA, Sept. 8—Ontario's greatest gold mining area, the Porcupine Camp, pulled out all stops to entertain members of the legislative assembly Wednesday at a civic luncheon. They were addressed by R. J. Ennis, general manager of the McIntyre Mines who has been in top capacity with his company for 38 years.

"Don't sell the North short," Mr. Ennis warned the travelling legislators. He pointed out that the area had produced six million tons of ore in 1941 with 12,000 men employed but that excessive operating costs and higher federal taxation had cut production this year to an estimated five million tons and employed only 9,000 men.

To learn of the magnitude of the Porcupine camp Mr. Ennis said the area had produced 112 million tons of ore since production first started valued at $962 million Of this amount labor had received 36 per cent, purchases of supplies and power 18 per cent and direct taxes seven per cent.

As one of camp's major producers the McIntyre Mines have opened up 729 miles of drifts and crosscuts, 122 miles of vertical shaftings and diamond drilled 2,000 miles of rock in exploration programs.

Mr. Ennis was replied to by the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests. The Hon. Charles Daley, Minister of Labor who joined the tour at Timmins spoke briefly in defence of social services and pointed out the need of more aid to unfortunate people who were no longer able to earn a living

Before the luncheon some members of the party, after dressing in underground clothes complete with headlamps, were taken to the 3875 foot level at the McIntyre Mine.

They saw the underground crushing unit. The double-decked shaft cage which took them below travels at 2,000 feet per minute and is counter balanced by skips which bring ore to surface storage bins at the same rate of speed.

Members who did not go down the mine were shown the hoist and crusher plant of the Hollinger Mines, and travelled over a road which is being constructed west of Timmins to open up an inaccessible district that is estimated to contain more than 40,000 mining claims many of them patented.

On the return trip the motorcade passed through a new farming development and stopped briefly to see the working of two modern sawmills on the Matagami River. After crossing town again they were taken to see many of the South Porcupine area mines from their cars before proceeding to the luncheon.

On Tuesday evening the party detrained at Schumacher and as guests of the combined municipalities were taken to a splendid agricultural and horticultural show in McIntyre Community Centre The fertility of the soil was dramatically shown in displays of vegetables and flowers that would put many Southern Ontario centres to shame. Top attraction was paid to a perfect exhibit by market gardener Karl Doran, a young German-Canadian who had worked underground in the mines and eight years ago turned to the soil. Members were so lavish in their praise that Mr. Doran brought the complete display to the station at train time divided into cartons for the visitors to take home. Mr. Scott was tendered a large green onion as a token gift.

Minister Lauds Role Of Labor

KEENE, Sept. 8 (ENS) — The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the United Church on September 11 at 11 a.m., with preparatory service on Friday, September 9 at 8 p.m.

There was a good attendance at the church service on Sunday when the topic of Rev. George Murray's sermon was in keeping with Labor Sunday. The text was I Corinthians 3.14 "If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon; he shall receive a reward". Rev. Mr. Murray referred to the splendid work done by organised labour which is seen in the world markets which are open to our Canadian produce. This applies not only to produce from the farms but the many manufacturing industries.

Delbert Coward sang "The Lord's Prayer" with Walter Morrow at the organ.

The W.M.S. met in the Sunday School Hall on Monday evening with the president, Mrs. H. McFarlane, in charge. "The Northern Lights" group was responsible for the program with Mrs. E. Fife presiding. Mrs. S. Davidson gave a synopsis of the study book "Growing with the years" Mrs. J. Henderson read a poem and Miss Margaret Bryce sang a solo

Miss Pauline Barr, of Toronto, spent Labor Day with Mr. and Mrs. George Barr.

SPARE A RIB, BROTHER?—That's the plea in the popping eyes of Bingo as his young master chews away on tasty spareribs. Five-year-old Mike and his collie recently turned up lost at the Windsor police station. The pair soon forgot their troubles and made themselves at home, especially when an officer "My pal," said Mike—offered the spareribs. Bingo got the bones.

Tourist Chiefs In U.S. To See Canada's Lakes

The charms of the Kawartha Lakes, Haliburton Highlands, and Muskoka Lakes tourist areas will be unfolded to a party of 30 leaders in the tourist industry of the Commonwealth of the State of Virginia next week, it was learned today from Gil Watson, manager of Gilmar Lodge, Sturgeon Lake, who together with James M. Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, is heading up arrangements for their local visit. The party, which will include hotel and tourist resort operators, travel agents, and others interested in U.S.-Canada reciprocal travel, will visit Peterborough on Wednesday, September 14, and Lindsay on Tuesday, September 13.

The tour has been arranged by the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity and the Tourist Resorts of Ontario and is in return for a visit paid by Ontario tourist leaders to Virginia last year.

The visitors, who will be accompanied by their wives, will register at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Sunday night. On Monday they will be entertained by the Toronto Convention Bureau and the Toronto Harbor Commission. On Tuesday and Wednesday, beside visiting Peterborough and Lindsay, they will be taken on a tour of all the tourist resorts in the Kawarthas. On both nights they will stay at Gilmar Lodge.

The City of Peterborough will tender a luncheon to the party at noon on Wednesday; a tour of the city and a boat trip from Bewdley to the Liftlock are also planned. The Town of Lindsay will give a luncheon on Tuesday, followed by a tour of the town.

To Visit Highlands

On Thursday, September 15, the group will leave for the Haliburton district, a luncheon at Deer Lodge being scheduled for that day. Dinner on Thursday will be at Hotel Britannia, Lake of Bays, where they will also stay overnight. On Friday they will visit the Ojibway Hotel, Point Au Baril, returning to Cleveland House, Muskoka, where they will stay Friday night and all day Saturday. Sunday will be spent at Muskoka Beach Inn. On Monday, September 19, the visitors will return to Toronto for a luncheon in the King Edward Hotel, to be given by the Ontario Hotel Association, which will be the final event of the tour.

Mr. Watson headed the Ontario party which visited Virginia last year as 1948 president of the Resort Operators of Ontario. This year's president is Jack Tressitter, Sparrow Lake, near Orillia.

Giants Grab Two From Bears

By the Associated Press.

Rain may be the deciding factor in determining the four berths for the International League playoffs — with the fifth-place Toronto Leafs acting as "fall guys."

A downpour caused the cancellation of a double-header Wednesday night between Rochester and the Canadian club, thus depriving the Leafs of a chance to crack fourth place—the last playoff slot.

By the same token, the washout insured the second-place Red Wings of a position in the Shaughnessy playoffs commencing next week.

Thus, the Leafs today are two games behind the fourth-place Montreal Royals and 2½ games behind the third-place Jersey City with only four games left to play. Hence, they must win their remaining four contests and hope for the best.

The only league action saw the Li'l Giants enhance their chances by twice defeating Newark Bears 2-0 and 3-0.

Red Hardy outpitched Bill Woop in the opener, hurling a smart two-hitter to take his eighth victory. George Bamberger snapped a personal six-game losing streak in the nightcap by twirling a three-hitter.

Bus Drivers Ousted By Grant & Loucks

Grant and Loucks blanked Bus Drivers 3-0 to take the Civic Softball League semi-final series in two straight. The winners now meet Bell Telephone in the best-of-five finals, the first game being set for tonight.

Riches allowed but three hits and fanned six, while Strickland threw four-hit ball, whiffing five, in a neat twirlers' duel. Both sides hustled all the way, and Riches helped win his game with a double in the fifth which, coupled with three walks, scored three markers. Teams:

Bus Drivers: Jamieson, Gordon, Brown, Strickland, Simmons, O'Dette, Gray, Rowe, Clark.

Grant and Loucks: Dracup, Craig, Riches, Byers, Doucette, Russelle, Birgenaw, Hancock, Little.

Umpires, Trennum and Moher.

City golf championships will be decided this week-end at the Peterborough Golf Club when a flock of topnotch players from the Kawartha and Peterborough clubs go 18 holes to finish up the 36-hole competition. Draw in maybe tomorrow. Bob Buchanan of Kawartha led in the first half with a 78, one ahead of Stan Whiddon of the same club, while Ross Cutmore was best for Peterborough with 82. The other day, Jack Hardill took the Peterborough Club title, but the Kawartha winner has not been declared yet. Closing date at Kawartha is Sept. 24, and at Peterborough on Oct. 1. Winner and runner-up in each local club may enter the "champion of champions" golf tourney at Lakeview Club, Long Branch, on Sept. 19. We have the info if any here are interested.

Hugh Stewart's Hilltop Stock Farms outside Peterborough draw a lot of interest from time to time. A recent Tely item says the place has "as its premier sire, Prince Direct, which has proven a sire of speed and stamina and at the present time has three performers racing in the United States and giving creditable performances. At Roosevelt raceway are Stewart Direct, who recently finished fifth in the $50,000 two-mile race, and Stewart Worthy, who needs no introduction to Ontario fans. At Maywood Park in Chicago, Prince Direct has Buddy Direct racing and he was a recent winner there in 2.08 2-5." Other horses on the farm are mentioned, too.

Most Valuable Player

As the softball and baseball season draws toward a close, a couple of annual trophies will draw some attention. Alex Kay, commissioner of minor baseball here, will again select the player considered most valuable, to win the Fred Craig Memorial Trophy. It was won last year by Don Pagett. The Pellar Trophy, won a year ago by Howie Dalton, is for the outstanding softballer in the men's city loop. Each club submits in writing to the league secretary the name of its most valuable player. Then the loop executive and scorer vote on the five names submitted. This is done right after the season finishes, which may be in another week or so.

No senior ball game here last night as pure aqua pelted down spasmodically through the afternoon and evening. So, the fourth fray of the best-of-seven COBL finals betwixt Oshawa Merchants and the Petes had to be postponed. Manager Eddie Murphy advises us that the tilt will be staged tomorrow (Friday) eve at 5.30 sharp in Riverside, weather permitting. If the Petes win this one, these squads clash again Saturday in the Motor City, a further fixture being Monday p.m. here if it goes that far. If the locals lose one more, Oshawa are COBL champs for the season and continue in OBA senior "A" playdowns, with the Petes hitting the "B" trail.

Amateurs Go On Strike

Baseball is a business for the so-called amateur players in the Inter-County League of Western Ontario. Dan Odette of Kitchener writes a piece about members of Galt Terriers going on strike ere playoffs for more money, threatening to stay away from the park. The Galt manager says the fellows were well paid, getting 15 per cent of playoff gates after expenses, in addition to regular salaries. The boys want 15 per cent off the top. A compromise was finally reached whereby they'd get 15 per cent of the gross gate next series or 15 per cent of the net plus $25 a man. Two of the more troublesome players won't be back with Galt again, the pilot says, adding that had any player failed to take the field the loop would have suspended him for keeps in that circuit.

Peterborough Merchants bowed out in the CNE softball semi-finals 6-2 to Toronto Crothers last night, while St. Kitts pushed Oshawa Pedlars into the discard. It'll be Toronto vs. the Saints in the final tomorrow night. Ron Akers started for the Russelle squad but they reached him for six runs in three heats. Guilfoyle held the classy Crothers scoreless the last five frames. Merchants made it a real fight but left 14 stranded on the runways, and that was that. They did well to reach semi-finals 'gainst some stiff opposition. And now, Cosmos will be going to Oshawa tomorrow to open OASA intermediate "A" playdowns with Pedlars, return tilt being here at 8.30 in the Bowl this Saturday eve.

Bing Crosby Gets Into Quarter Finals

JASPER, Alta., Sept. 8 (CP).—Two Canadians and six Americans, including crooner Bing Crosby of Hollywood, Wednesday won their way into quarter-finals today in the annual Totem Pole golf tournament. The Canadians —Sid Thompson and E. E. Oana, both of Vancouver—meet in one bracket. Defending champion J. Edgar Green of Seattle will meet Carl Haymond of Los Angeles in another match; Bing Crosby, also a former winner, meets Harold Staff of Cincinnati, and George Coleman of Miami, Okla., plays W. J. Gilbert of Mount Vernon, Wash.

COBOURG, Sept. 8—(ENS)—In order not to conflict with the presentations planned by the Canadian National Theatre Guild, which Mrs. Bertha Bright Knapp is staging this fall and next summer, the Community Concert winter program has been cancelled, the local committee revealed yesterday.

Lindsay Victorious In Softball Tourney

OMEMEE, Sept. 8 (ENS). — The Reaboro softball team, assisted by the people of the community, staged a successful field day Labor Day, on their Community Hall grounds. The afternoon feature was a softball tournament. Tea was served in the hall, and for the evening entertainment there was a play "Gangway for Gracie," by Valentia talent.

The teams competing in the tournament were Lindsay, Omemee, Mount Pleasant, Fairmount and Reaboro. The players were:

Lindsay — Jones, A. Green, G. Eberts, Eakins (Hattie), Snooks Martin, Peadley, G. Green, Williams.

Omemee — R. Crawford, W. Weir, K. Bradley, D. Armstrong, O. Crawford, R. Rehill, C. Stephenson, W. Parker, E. Johnson, J. Pogue, J. Evans.

Mount Pleasant — G. Bryans, R. Jamieson, M. Fee, K. Bryans, H. Downer, C. Dracup, C. Bryans, B. Fee, B. Mitchell, W. Bryans.

Fairmount — C. Harvey, S. Miller, R. Ballentyne, J. Hooton, N. Ballentyne, W. Fair, G. Graham, R. Fair, B. Callaghan.

Reaboro — J. Callaghan, L. Thurston, R. Reeds, L. Reeds, B. Callaghan, S. Reeds, G. McNevin, E. Poast, N. Reeds.

Reaboro and Omemee took the field, Reaboro batting. At the end of seven innings they were tied 9-9, and the play went on into the second half of the eighth innings when Omemee bagged a run making the score 10-9.

Mount Pleasant got a bye, and Lindsay and Fairmount were next to play. At the end of the second innings it was anyone's game, but from there Lindsay piled up the runs until at the end the score was 26-5. Fairmount, hiwever, were at a disadvantage, being minus a couple of their regular players.

In the next draw, Lindsay got the bye and Omemee played Mt. Pleasant. Interest began to mount as this game got under way. In the third innings Omemee got the edge and kept the lead all the way. The score was 17-10.

This left Lindsay and Omemee for the playoff, which ended 8-4 in favor of Lindsay. Three of Omemee's four runs were in the first innings, but the extra game began to tell on them, slowing them down.

Pick Marveil Horse To Beat

DONCASTER, England, Sept. 8 (CP)—A whisper is spreading over the historic town moor here where the St. Leger will be decided Saturday, that the horse to beat in Britain's long-established classic may be the only French colt in the race, Marcel Boussac's Marveil II.

In a year when home-bred three-year-olds seem a notch or two below the true classic standard, the foreign entry shapes up well in the form book. Over the Longchamps mile in April, Marveil II gave Jack Hylton's Royal Empire four pounds and a two-length beating.

Two months later, over the two miles at the Royal Ascot meeting, American millionaire William Woodward's St. Leger cofavorite, Lone Eagle, beat Royal Empire by four lengths at level weights.

Dopesters figure this should give the French colt a narrow margin over Lone Eagle.

Page Yanks' Man of Hour Crushes Boston In 5-2 Win

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Smoky-Joe Page is the man of the hour for the pennant-bound New York Yankees.

The strong-armed fireman from the bullpen is a leading candidate for the most-valuable-player award in the American League.

Page never was better than Wednesday night as he struck out four of the five men he faced in the Yanks' important 5-2 victory over Boston.

Called to the rescue of Allie Reynolds after Bobby Doerr tripled with the potential tying run in the eighth, Page blazed his fast ball past the Red Sox in a sizzling performance that dampened their pennant hopes.

Now 2½ games behind the Yanks, the Sox must win the final two games of the Yankee Stadium series to remain within striking distance.

Boston took an early load on Reynolds' wildness but the Yanks struck back to go ahead 3-2.

His 17th Rescue

After Doerr tripled to put the tying run on third, Page took on his 49th relief job and his 17th rescue of Reynolds, leading pitcher in the league. He retired Al Zarilla on one pitch. Then he fanned Billy Goodman to end the inning.

Bobby Brown's homer followed Phil Rizzuto's bunt single made it 5-2, in the eighth but Page never let up. He whiffed Birdie Tibbetts, pinch hitter Matt Batts and Dom DiMaggio in the ninth to end the game.

Rain knocked out the Cleveland-Detroit and Philadelphia-Washington games but Chicago White Sox took a 7-1 triumph over St Louis Browns. Bill Wigh stumped the Brownies with a four-hitter while only 2,210, smallest night crowd of the Chicago season, watched.

There was no let up in the National League with St Louis coming from behind to shade Chicago 3-2 after Brooklyn nosed out Boston 5-4 The Cards still lead by one game.

Violence Flares

Glenn Nelson, who hit a homer in the fifth to break a string of 17 hitless trips to the plate, started the winning surge for the Cards with a single Solly Hemus, Nippy Jones and Marty Marion followed his lead to give Howie Pollet victory No. 18 Violence flared up in flatbush as Eddie Stanky of the Braves and Spider Jorgensen of the Dodgers squared off in a fist fight that involved members of both clubs After both were ejected, Eddie Miksis replaced Jorgensen. He came through with the game-winning blow, a two-run homer in the seventh inning, his first of the year

Stanky apparently spiked Jorgensen accidentally while pivoting fo a double play in the fifth. Both players went down and there was a wild flurry before order was restored President Ford Frick may have more to say about the matter after he gets the umpire's report.

Kenny Raffensberger of Cincinnati nailed down his 15th victory with his first home run in subduing Pittsburgh 5-2 Danny Litwhiler also homered for the Reds.

The Giants and Phillies were not scheduled.

Canadiens Plan To Carry Score More Players

By W. R. WHEATLEY.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8 (CP) — In keeping with the expanded season schedule and an enlarged seating capacity in their home-ice Forum, Montreal Canadiens are expected to carry a score or more players on their regular roster into the coming hockey campaign.

National Hockey League regulations now permit dressing of 18 players in addition to goaltender, and Canadiens' general manager Frank Selke said Wednesday it looks as if the distribution for each game will be six defencemen and 12 forwards, four separate lines.

In addition the club will probably carry several other players regularly as injury replacements and as alternates to plug any weakening spot.

Train In Week

Selke announced that Canadiens will report at their St. Hyacinthe training camp Sept. 15, with 33 players on hand including 14 newcomers.

His plans were made known following the semi-annual meeting of the National Hockey League. The business was pretty much routine, the directors approving the 1949 playing dates allotting 70 games—an increase of 10—to each club, 35 at home and 35 away.

The team that finished third and lost to Detroit in the Stanley Cup playoffs will be practically intact. Selke said no deals are in prospect.

Holdovers for defence jobs are Bouchard, Reardon, Glen Harmon, Doug Harvey, Hal Laycoe and Roger Leger.

Elmer Lach, the much-injured centre star, will be back along with Billy Reay, Ken Mosdell and Tod Campeau, other pivot players.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The 16-year-old Sportsmen's Association of Montreal promised a new deal for the sandlot kids Wednesday when it announced at Montreal formation of a sports institute to hold monthly clinics in athletics.

The Association is made up mostly of business men who finance its operations through membership fees.

Its chief function during recent years has been holding an annual golf tournament honoring some top sportsman of former years, and the annual "award dinner" honoring some Montreal athlete who has won national renown.

Starting this month, and continuing until April, the institute will sponsor a monthly two-day sports clinic, bringing outstanding authorities in eight branches of sport to this city to act as director and coach of each session.

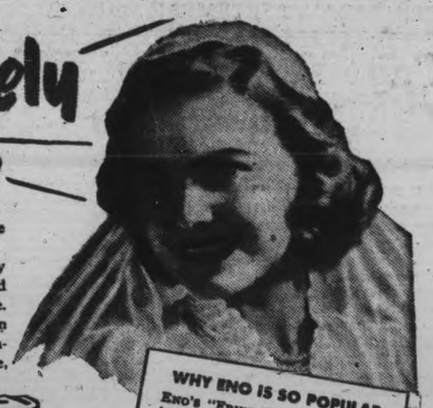
Yvon Petra, former member of the French Davis Cup team and Wimbledon champion in 1946, seeded No. 1 in the first Canadian professional championship tourney at Quebec, won an easy victory Wednesday night over Michael Gaylorde, Harbor Point, Mich., 6-0, 6-0, 6-1.

Stewards at New York Aqueduct Park Wednesday suspended Ted Atkinson, Toronto-born jockey, for 10 days because of his ride on Royal Castle in Tuesday's second race. Royal Castle allegedly interfered with several horses in the stretch run, and although finishing second was disqualified and placed out of the money. This is the first suspension for the Toronto reinsman, under contract to Greentree's Stable, since the Hialeah meeting in 1948.

A record entry of 264 golfers will compete in the Kesselring field day at the Kitchener Rockaway Golf and Country Club on Saturday. The draw shows players from 27 clubs between Buffalo, Toronto and Windsor. The feature foursome will be between Phil Farley of Toronto, and Nick Weslock of Windsor against Don Varey of Brantford and Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener.

The Big Four Junior Football League will again operate as a four-team loop this season although Toronto Argonauts and Oshawa Red Raiders have withdrawn, it was announced at Toronto Wednesday.

Officials said that along with Hamilton Wildcats, last year's champions, and Parkdale Lions, Toronto Notre Dame and St. Catharines Rams will take part.



At Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., the Detroit Red Wings Wednesday opened training camp for the coming National Hockey League season. The Wings and their farm teams—Indianapolis, Omaha and Windsor Spitfires—will undergo 18 days' training. Some 100 players will participate.

The sixth game of the best-of-seven Ontario Lacrosse Association senior semi-final series between Brampton and St. Catharines Wednesday night was postponed until Thursday because of rain. St. Catharines leads the series 3-2.

Stay as Lovely as a Bride

Every woman wants to keep the radiance and charm she possessed the day she was a bride.

Any woman may keep her radiance and charm for many years simply by obeying the laws of health; good food and a proper diet, plenty of sleep and sufficient exercise. A pleasant dose of effervescing ENO's "FRUIT SALT" in the morning when needed may help combat that occasional day when acid indigestion with sick headache, or constipation gets you down.

ENO is non-habit forming. When you want a really mild antacid and gentle laxative, do as thousands do every day—ask for ENO's "FRUIT SALT."

Start the Day Right

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"

WHY ENO IS SO POPULAR

ENO's "FRUIT SALT" contains no harsh purgatives—no sugar—nothing that can irritate or harm. Every particle is pure and beneficial. It acts gently but effectively, and is non-habit forming. Millions of men, women and children the world over take pleasant-tasting ENO's "FRUIT SALT" first thing in the morning when required. Insist on ENO's "FRUIT SALT"—a household word for more than seventy-five years.

"Look! Light as a Feather—That's Calumet's Double Action"

IT'S TRUE! Women everywhere are discovering that Calumet's double action assures greater baking success. Muffins, fine-textured as cake . . . fluffy, melt-in-your-mouth biscuits . . . feather-light cakes — Calumet's double action protects their lightness, all the way.

First — in the mixing bowl, myriads of tiny, even-sized bubbles are formed when liquid is added. Then — in the oven, new even-sized bubbles continue to raise the mixture, holding it high, light and even. Try Calumet! Follow directions on the tin for any recipe.

So tender, so flavorful, these

SPICY RAISIN MUFFINS

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ cup chopped raisins
- 1 egg, well beaten
- ⅞ cup milk
- 4 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening

• Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar, salt, cinnamon; sift again. Add raisins. Combine egg, milk, shortening. Add to flour. Beat only enough to dampen flour. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (425°F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 12 melting, delicious muffins — serve them hot.

Twice Your Money Back

If you are not satisfied that Calumet is the finest baking powder you ever used, send tin containing unused portion, along with your name and address and a note of the price you paid — to General Foods, Limited, Cobourg, Ont. You will receive back twice what you paid for Calumet.

THE DIONNE QUINTUPLETS

The first quintuplets in recorded history who survived infancy, the five Dionnes are the picture of health at 15. The famous doctors who cared for them during the critical months of their babyhood prescribed Libby's Baby Foods—the only baby foods which are both strained and homogenized.

Here is a bargain indeed! A beautiful polished plastic comb and brush set for baby—$1 value, yours for only 25c when you enclose 6 labels from Libby's Baby Foods. The brush has extra soft Wynene plastic bristles and handle of sparkling pink or blue Polystrene, a sturdy new plastic material of jewel-like brilliance. The comb is clear polished plastic with rounded teeth that comb smoothly. To get this beautiful set for your baby, just send us your name and address clearly printed on any slip of paper, or use convenient coupon above. Enclose 25c in coin and 6 labels from Libby's Baby Foods, any variety (see list below). The important thing is, don't delay. Our supply of brush and comb sets is limited, and this offer may be withdrawn without notice. Act now and be sure of your set.

ONLY LIBBY'S BABY FOODS ARE HOMOGENIZED FOR EASY DIGESTION

Mothers, do you know that Libby's alone takes an extra step in preparing fruits, soups and vegetables for your baby? After straining the foods, Libby's homogenize them.

This exclusive Libby process, which breaks up the food cells, makes Libby's Baby Foods at least ten times finer in texture than foods which are only strained. By breaking up the coarse, irritating food fibres which often cause digestive upsets when baby first starts on solid foods, it removes the cause of indigestion from these foods. Clinical tests show that even a six-week-old baby can digest Libby's easily, without upsets. This is true only of Libby's, the only baby foods which are homogenized.

Think what this means at the critical time when you start feeding fruits and vegetables! What a continued safeguard it is! And Libby's are the only baby foods which offer these extra benefits.

C. E. Wilson, GE President, Office Boy 50 Years Ago

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. — Every once in a while a tall, powerfully-built, executive-looking man saunters down 34th Street between 10th and 11th Avenues here and stands gazing nostalgically at an old warehouse.

The executive-looking man is an executive all right. He is Charles E. Wilson, President of the General Electric Company. In his office 45 floors above Lexington Ave. he explained why the head of an organization employing more than 200,000 persons will go and look at an old warehouse now and then.

was the anniversary celebration. He started as an office boy with Sprague Electric, which was taken over by GE.

The GE top man doesn't look like the emotional, nostalgic type. he isn't. He is every inch the level-headed businessman, except when talking about that warehouse.

Less Rugged Now

For example, he doesn't go whole hog for the Horatio Alger tradition, although he climbed the ladder that way himself. He is happy that most youngsters today find the rungs of the ladder a little closer together, and get a boost from their environment.

"The requirements for business success today are not as rugged as when I started," he said, "and I'm glad things are that way. Great social progress has been made. Young people don't have to start at $3 weekly, even relatively speaking. Life is not as complicated; it leaves young people more time to direct their efforts so as to get there faster and more surely."

Again, he is not the type to mourn the "good old days." "Things were no better then," he said. "Opportunities are as great today, though maybe in different lines. The only thing I fear is that young people will focus their eyes on security rather than opportunity. The tendency is to make a god of security."

ved for 40 years before I got that post. But, truthfully, if I searched my soul, I'd have to admit to myself that the biggest moment was when I came into full-fledged responsibility for the management and success of a plant.

Always Pleases

"And, of course, when I went to Washington and had some very small part in war production. There I was working against time and that always pleases a production man."

There's not a pessimistic pound in the GE executive's 200 when it comes to the future of American business.

"If the great American system is just allowed to progress without being thrown out of kilter by people with foreign philosophies, I think it's go on to much greater heights," he declared.

Drunken Soldiers Kill 2 Germans

FRANKFURT, Sept. 8 (AP). — One German was killed and another severely beaten by an intoxicated group of American infantrymen assigned to current war manoeuvres on the Rhine, United States authorities reported today.

Five soldiers of the first division are under arrest pending further investigation of the violence at Mainz, a French zone city on the west bank of the Rhine, two nights ago.

U.S. Air Force police, who took the soldiers into custody, said a waiter on a docked Rhine boat was found dead of wounds after he had been assaulted.

Another German was beaten on a Mainz street and a third was attacked in the railway station. German and French police called the U.S. Air Force to help subdue the soldiers.

Appeals To U.N.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8 (CP) — Dr. Otto Strasser, former Nazi who broke with Hitler in 1930 and subsequently fought him, said Wednesday night he would appeal to the Unitde Nations against Canada's refusal to grant him travel papers. He said that Ottawa had refused his six applications for an International Identity Certificate, a document which he said Canada—as a signatory to an international convention—was obliged to grant stateless persons.

Baby Weighs 1¼ Lbs.

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 8 (AP)—A baby girl, weighing at birth 1¼ pounds, was being cared for Wednesday in an incubator at St. Mark's Hospital. The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Ray Allen of Salt Lake City was born Monday, 1½ months premature. Nurses said the baby's head is about as big as a small orange. She is 12 inches long, has arms and legs about the size of a pencil.

Producers Heed Sharp Criticism Of Movie-Goers

By ERIC JOHNSTON

(Editor's Note. Eric Johnston is president of the Motion Picture Association of America, representing the major film-producing organizations.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8 (AP)—Few people are neutral-minded about the motion picture. By contrast, the state of the stage, literature, radio—or even the union itself—scarcely whips up a flutter of excitement.

To me, that's all to the good. Where the motion picture is concerned I go along with the veteran politico who didn't care what people said about him, as long as he wasn't ignored.

Propaganda

He wants pictures overloaded with "significant messages" and propaganda; pictures in the image of his own circumscribed thinking. It distresses him to realize that people go to the movies to be entertained and not to have their eyebrows lifted.

I've never been able to make up my mind whether this highbrow doesn't like the movies—or doesn't like people.

It is uncanny how people discover a good picture and pass the word along as if by grapevine. No amount of professional criticism, good or bad, can shake their point of view. No amount of panning by professional critics can stop the march to the box office if the people like a picture.

MAORI'S ORIGIN

The aborigines of New Zealand called Maoris, are a branch of the Polynesian race, having emigrated from the eastern Pacific prior to the 14th century.

800 Tire Workers Stage Union Walkout

KITCHENER, Sept. 8 (CP) — A walkout of 800 employees of the Dominion Tire Company Wednesday climaxed a union-management dispute over a worker in the bad graces of the union.

Vice-president A. E. Scherer of Local 80 of the United Rubber Workers of America (CIO) said a union suggestion that an employee be discharged was turned down by the management. Union officials say the employee was at loggerheads with his fellow-workers in the curing department and they refused to work alongside him.

The strike spread from the curing room to [illegible] floors of the plant and more than 2,000 workers may be affected. Union members are scheduled to meet today to discuss the difficulty and in an effort to get the men back to work.

Governor T. E. Dewey Demands Strikers Behave

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP) —Violence broke out again Wednesday in the 13-week-old Bell Aircraft waves-pensions strike and Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York State called for a halt to "such lawlessness."

Six persons among them five employees reporting for work, were injured at the plant, in nearby Wheatfield.

The outbreak occurred as about 500 club-bearing demonstrators responded to a ca issed by the United Labor Defence Committee against what it described as Bell's efforts to "smash" striking Local 501 of the United Auto Workers (CIO).

"A serious outbreak of lawlessness occurred," Dewey said in a statement at Albany, the State capital.

"An organized group became a mob, obstructed the free use of a highway and of passage for those trying to use it lawfully."

The Governor said he has directed the Niagara County sheriff, Henry E. Becker, to "exhaust the powers and forces available to him to deputize police reinforcements from neighboring communities."

Wins 3rd Preliminary

TORONTO, Sept. 8 (CP) — Hangover, second-place winner in the Canadian National Exhibition horse show's first two touch-and-out stakes, Wednesday night won the third preliminary. Hangover, product of Mr. Cardy's Val David, Que., stables and ridden by Bob Egan touched at the Liverpool, last of the eight obstacles on the course. No mount has jumped the course without a touch since Mr. Cardy's Flying Colors did the trick in the first preliminary Monday.

Use Rideau Canal As Winter Rink

OTTAWA, Sept. 8 (CP). — There'll be hockey and skating in the heart of the capital this winter—if the winter is as cold as Ottawa winters usually are.

City council Tuesday night approved Controller C. E. Pickering's plan to turn a quarter-mile stretch of the Rideau Canal into a rink. Controller Pickering has been advocating the plan since last winter.

A closed rink—beneath a bridge across the west end of Confederation Square, a few hundred yards from the Parliament buildings—will be used for hockey, figure skating and ice festivals. An open-air stretch from the bridge to the Laurier Avenue bridge, some 1,500 feet south, will be used for general skating.

The project is expected to cost $7,820.

VETERAN THREE-MASTERS—Two of the few remaining tern schooners afloat, tied up at a Halifax wharf, give the waterfront an atmosphere familiar to old sea-faring men of the sailing vessel area. At left is the City of New York, which took Admiral Byrd t othe Antarctic in 1929, and the other is the Americain, left-remaining three-master under Canadian registry.

Proud Three-Masted Ships All But Gone Off Sea Lanes

By IRVING G. WHYNOT.

HALIFAX, Sept. 8 — (CP).—They are all but gone now, the three-masted sailing ships which once carried Nova Scotia's flag and merchandise across the seas.

Only one remains under Canadian registry plying an irregular schedule between Nova Scotia and the West Indies But even she has stepped into the modern era—engines have been installed to supplement the billowing white canvas which has made the craft of her type an artist's delight.

It will be a sad day for this sea-faring province when the tern schooners disappear from shores which once boasted a fleet of more than 1,000 wooden ships — and the traditional iron men.

It was unique when two of these picturesque three-masters tied up together in Halifax a few days ago. One was the City of New York, one of the few tern schooners remaining under United States registry, and the other was the Armoricaine, the only active one under Canadian papers.

Has History

The City of New York has history in her three-foot hulls and 14-inch planking. Built 64 years ago at Arendal, Norway, and originally named the Sampson, she began as a sealer and later became an exploration vessel.

In 1928 she was bought by Admiral Richard Byrd and used in his 1929 expedition to the South Pole. After being used as a museum, she was later sold to private owners.

The Armoricain, too, has history, although she was built in France only 25 years ago.

She was used by the Free French Forces during the war. A sister ship, manned by a Vichy French crew was captured by the Germans. Later she was sold to Canadian interests.

Profitable Ships

As proud a three-master as any is the Frederick P. Elkin, awaiting her fate in Barbados. Doughty Capt. Archie Croft of Brooklyn, NS, came back to Halifax with a sad tale to tell of his ship, registered in Barbados. There is no more business for a ship such as her, carrying 2,000 yards of canvas.

Slave labor built Nova Scotia's first ocean trading ship in 1751 at Yarmouth. After that busy shipyards along the entire coast began building the profitable ships. In 1796 vessels of 600 tons were common

From 1800 to 1840, the shipping industry expanded rapidly. Trade was begun with the West Indies and soon extended to Brazil, then to Europe.

Nova Scotia ships sailed everywhere: Along the United States coast for small cargoes, trading with the West Indies in rum, salt and lumber, and with South America and abroad.

Then came iron hulls and steam power.

As Archie Croft put it: "When I started out it was wooden ships and iron men. Now it's iron ships and wooden men."

380,000 Lions In Organization

A brief account of the recent convention of Lions International held in New York City was presented to Peterborough Lions Tuesday night by Bert Sisson, 1st vice president.

Mr. Sisson told of the hospitality of the United States' Lions and their appreciation of the new international president Walter Fisher, a native of Fort Ecie, Ont. District Governor Stan Darling also gave his impressions of the convention.

Lions International is the largest service organization in the world, having clubs in 26 countries and comprising about 380,000 members. Mr. Darling stated that within the past year four countries—Bolivia, France, Norway and the Phillipines—had clubs formed in them.

During the last three years, he said, the rate of growth has been on an average of 800 clubs a year.

Deb Gardiner won the draw prize. Tom Doughty boosted Bill Bennett, the club's "Tall Twister."

Find Woman's Body Lashed To Ship's Mast

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP). — The partly-dressed body of a young woman — bruised and bloody—was found today lashed to the stump of a mast of a half-submerged sailboat adrift on Lake Michigan. There was no trace of her three sailing companions.

Chief Wararnt Botswain Kenneth Foster of the United States coastguard said Mrs Gladys Swenson identified the body as that of her daughter, Mrs. Laurel Netezo 22, Chicago, a recent bride.

Mrs. Swenson said that her daughter and son-in-law Carl Netezo, 29, sailed out of Chicago Sunday morning for Michigan City, Ind. Mrs. Swenson said another couple was aboard.

Conservation Ideas Pooled As Four Counties Present Briefs To Subject

By STAFF REPORTER

LINDSAY, Sept. 8—The Ontario Legislature's Select Committee on Conservation met with representatives of four counties in a hearing on conservation problems and recommendati[illegible] in the town hall [illegible] of representative farmers and others interested in conservation from Peterborough, Durham, Victoria and Ontario counties. The other briefs had been prepared by the Ganaraska River Conservation Authority, the Kawartha Conservation Association and the Victoria County Fish and Wild Life Association.

The three main aspects of conservation, farming practices, forests, and wild life, which are interrelated, were all considered in the briefs and discussed.

Representatives from Peterborough included Agricultural representative Frank Paterson and his assistant Bob Bell; Dick Stewart, chairman of the Peterborough county council conservation committee; president M. N. Clysdale and Fred Marshall of the Kawartha Conservation Association; Melville Johnston, reeve of North Monaghan; and Robert Peirson, manager of the Peterborough District Co-Operative Services.

The joint Peterborough, Durham, Victoria, Ontario brief was read by Garnet Rickard, a director of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association.

It recommended, in the field of reforestation, that "present legislation authorizing counties to pass bylaws to restrict cutting of trees should be replaced by new legislation, which places the responsibility for enforcement in the hands of the provincial government. Many who were present thought perhaps people would have to become more conservation conscious before they would accept such laws from the province.

Classify Land

A program of classifying land according to its best use, whether rotational crops, pasture, forest or other uses, was suggested as preliminary step in a conservation program.

The brief also mentioned that technical help should be provided to all who request it. It also recommended demonstration of conservation practices should be established on more selected farms, "as a means of showing farm operators how improved methods may benefit them."

Another interesting recommendation to the committee was that "assessment of farm lands might be changed, so that the wasteful land owner would pay comparable taxes to the good farmer, on similar land.

Existing methods of weed control legislature member.

"I don't blame the municipalities for not paying any attention to weed inspectors. I don't myself," he exclaimed. He said the method of cutting weeds down with a scythe was "nonsense," because it was often done too late in the year. He added that in this age of mechanical and chemical development, individual farmers should be obliged to take care of their own weeds, including those along county and provincial roads adjoining their land.

Recommendations even extended to the realm of the best methods of administration. It was the feeling of the representatives of the four counties that "the Department of Agriculture should administer all government policies relative to conservation which concern farmers."

Mr. Paterson reported that the feeling of the four counties meeting was that the farmer should have to look to only one department for guidance and information rather than not knowing just which among several departments should supply the help he sought.

Mr. Newman suggested perhaps the answer would be a conservation branch within the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Pearson of the Peterborough Co-Op, said, although the use of commercial fertilizer had increased about 23 times since 1940, many farmers didn't know what type fertilizer was best for their particular soil.

He suggested an education program to teach farmers how best to use commercial fertilizers. He said that most of this district, for instance, required a good deal more potash than is supplied in the most commonly used commercial fertilizer. He said in cases in which he knew the soil where the fertilizer was going to be used, he had spiked it with potash.

Drainage also came up for discussion. Mr. Newman said Victoria county was overcoming its drainage problems since the county bought a drain digging and tile laying machine. Several speakers brought out the danger of indiscriminate draining. Some times it did more harm than good.

One brief, presented by the Kawartha Conservation Association, said the present policy of the government in setting aside many small pieces of land on lakes for public use is very commendable, but in our opinion "is not as desirable as the use of fewer, but larger areas for public use."

Mr. Marshall added that even in the Kawartha district it was becoming increasingly difficult for people who didn't own land of their own on a lake to find a place for a picnic or other similar outing.

Another brief presented by the Kawartha Association dealt with education in conservation. The association suggested a three point program to promote the advancement of conservation.

The first point was that a central bureau of conservation education, independent of the Department of Education, be set up to act as a clearing house for all conservation information and education through publications, including school texts, press releases, exhibits, producing motion pictures, lectures and other methods.

A second point was that local committees be created "to make a survey and analysis on local conservation problems in order to focus interest and attention on their local conservation problems."

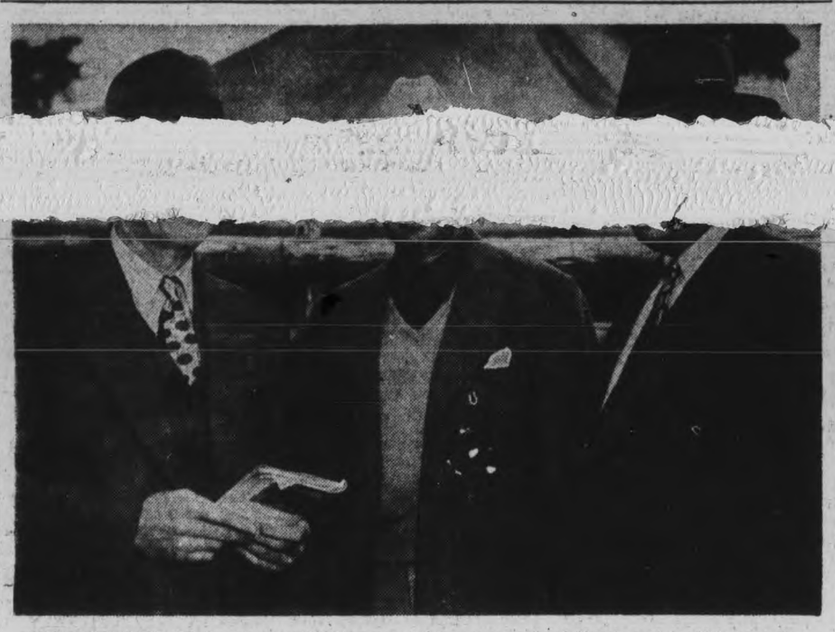
The third proposal was that conservation be made one of the subjects in the public schools.

A detailed and comprehensive description of unsatisfactory conditions in the Ganaraska watershed was given in the brief read by the Authority's secretary, Stuart Ryan, Port Hope.

Most important of the recommendations made in the brief was that most conservation measures could be carried out by Conservation Authorities, such as the Ganaraska River Conservation Authority, each of which would embrace a natural area which would not necessarily correspond to political divisions.

These Authorities, Mr. Ryan pointed out, were responsible to local municipal governments.

Reliable information and experts in various phases in conservation should be available to help these Authorities, the brief said.



Fishing Season

Fish and wild life also had their share of the spot light. B. F. Read, Bobcaygeon, of the Victoria County Fish and Wild Life Association, read a brief suggesting several changes in fishing and hunting regulations designed to replenish fish and game animals.

The recommendations were: that the season for pickerel fishing open May 1 and close May 31; that during June no fishing be allowed except for trout; that the fishing season end in October, except for trout; that all fishing be prohibited after nine p.m.; that the government be commended for its measures to eliminate carp, but recommend greater efforts should be made in this regard; that the government be commended on shortening the deer hunting season; that when a municipal council asks that deer be protected, this be granted, without making the district a game preserve, thereby protecting unwanted animals such as foxes; that all fire rangers be made deputy game wardens and receive increased remuneration.

KINSMAN GUESTS

Four guests attended the Kinsman Club meeting at the Kawartha Club Wednesday night. They were N. C. Staples of Hamilton, Ray Weldon of Cambral, Don Wood of Peterborough, and J. R. McGill of Hamilton.

JOHN STUART, Jr. (centre), with George Rodanz, (right) Stouffville, and David Andrews, Calgary, secretary, officers of the Canadian Hereford Breeders Association at Old Orchard Farm, east of the city, Wednesday. In the few years of his highly constructive interest in Hereford cattle, Mr. Stuart made a great contribution to the improvement of the breed in this country. His planning and investment were deeply appreciated by Hereford cattle breeders across Canada to whom the OOF dispersal sale here Wednesday was clouded with regret. Freedom of Press, A Right That Is Given The Public

Freedom of the press is not an unrestrained licence given to newspaper publishers in their handling of the day's news but the right of the public to see news undistorted, H. L. Garner, general manager of the Examiner told a meeting of Kinsmen Wednesday night.

"Most publishers fail to understand what freedom of the press means," he said. "It makes sure that you and other people get the news freely. It is not a special freedom granted to newspapers but one given to the public."

"Freedom to you means the right to see undistorted news," Mr. Garner told the more than 50 Kinsmen at the Kawartha Club. "That is a sacred right and the newspaper has no business interfering with it."

In his address "The Story of the Newspaper," he made clear at the outset his opinions on the functions of a newspaper. "It doesn't make news, it simply records it," he stated; and it exists so "at all times people can learn what other people are doing."

If a shot is fired in London it will be recorded on the teletype machine in the Examiner newsroom within five minutes.

He explained how this was accomplished through the various press service agencies set up in large centres throughout the world, and he then described briefly the organization and purpose of the Canadian Press.

Unique Set Up

"In Canada we have a unique set up. CP is not a private concern but a co-operative news-gathering agency owned by the newspapers. To finance it newspapers are assessed according to population of the city in which they publish.

"I don't think any newspaper should tamper with the news," asserted Mr. Garner. 'And I don't think the news should be slanted."

The editorial page at any particular time is not necessarily right, he conceded, but right or wrong if it makes people think it has performed a useful function.

"A safety valve" was the way he described Letters to the Editor. "If people ceased writing letters to the editor I'd know they had also ceased taking an interest in the 'paper and I'd want to look around to see what was wrong."

Addressing himself directly to advertisers he said that unfavorable news should not be withheld but at the same time it should not be played up as head-line material, or to catch street sales. These latter methods were not fair, he contended.

Truth In Advertising

On the subject of truth in advertising he said it is now accepted as a business axiom that if a man wants to carry on successfully he must be truthful. If he is not he soon finds himself out of business.

Advertising has introduced a number — and a still increasing number—of new words into our vocabulary. Originating as trade names they are now accepted as ordinary nouns. Such words as kodak, victrola, frigidaire and vaseline began in that way, he pointed out.

"Your demand for speed" was one reason for a number of errors in newspapers, he said. It leads to careless proof reading.

For several minutes Mr. Garner then entertained his listeners with "howlers" that had been committed in newspapers large and small-including the Examiner. When the laugnter had subsided he pointed out that there was a serious side to the matter and that it could lead to inconvenience and acute embarrassment.

He concluded his address on a serious note by quoting the words of Grattan O'Leary of the Ottawa Journal: "Unless someone discovers the spiritual counterpart of the atomic bomb we are licked."

"The more I think of that I realize the responsibility of the press and radio to give that formula to the people," he said.

Mr. Garner was introduced by Harry Huff and he was thanked by Alex Elliott. Stan Gilmore, retiring president, was in the chair.

Walter Smiley Manages Arena

Walter Smiley of Maxville was appointed manager of the Civic Arena by its board of management Wednesday night. He has been for 18 years secretary-treasurer and manager of the Jubilee Rink Company of Maxville; secretary-treasurer of the High and Public School Board, and a member of Glengarry County High School Board.

Mr. Smiley is 44, is married, and has two children. He was for 15 years a retail merchant in Maxville, and had been active in promotion of community affairs. He was president of the intermediate hockey club that won the Maritime title in 1939-1940, and was then eliminated by Peterborough in the Eastern finals.

He is a past president of the Central Ottawa Valley Hockey League and has been a spare-time coach of Maxville hockey teams. Mr. Smiley is returning home to wind up his affairs, and expects to be back here in about 10 days.

Percy Killingbeck was chairman of the Wednesday night meeting which continued until nearly midnight.

Make Ice September 26

First ice will be made in the Arent September 26. For a few days it will only be for testing purposes, preliminary to the opening of the season October 1, according to present plans. The piping of the refrigerating system has been submitted to pressure tests for 16 days, and there is now brine in the pipes.

Charges for teams using the ice were set by the board, and it is intended that minor hockey will receive generous consideration. It is reported that the minors will be excepted from the schedule of charges, at least to the extent of possible accommodation. That is a detail which was adopted on a general basis, depending on the minor hockey needs.

Expect Approval Of Bylaw Without A Vote

"The Ontario Municipal Board was quite receptive Wednesday to Peterborough's plans for enlarg[illegible] disposal plant and its completion. It is expected that at an early date the council will give two readings to a bylaw to borrow the full amount of $615,000, that has been estimated, and the bylaw will then be sent on to the Municipal Board for their consideration. It is expected that they will give their approval."

Approval of the Board would mean a vote of the ratepayers is not necessary.

Mayor Swanston, Ald. H. Dodds, City Clerk Outram and City Engineer Chalmers composed the deputation. They visited several other departments on city business.

Rockland Airway Asks Charter Chemong Base

A hearing on the application of Rockland Airways for a licence to operate a non-scheduled chartered commercial air service from the base on Chemong Lake was held to-day in the County Court House.

C. R. Younger Air Transport Board examiner, heard evidence and representations on behalf of the applicant. The decision of the Board will be announced later.

Rockland Airways, operated by George A. Stephens and Thomas D. Mathias, already has a hangar and sea base on the north shore of Pigeon Lake. Payloads include passenger and express service and sight-seeing trips.

Apart from the convenience and facilities of having a base near the city of Peterborough, the Airways is desirous of the licence so a flying training service can be conducted.

Want Flight Students

If the student signs a contract with the Department of Transport, and if he is accepted by the firm giving instruction, he will on receipt of his pilot's licence get a $100 subsidy. And so will the instructors.

Mr. Mathias told the ATB examiner that during the summer season the population of the Kawarthas increases to as much as 80,000 people. An air service, with base near Peterborough, would be an advantage to the district, allowing tourists to fish and hunt in the so-called "backwoods" region.

Council Endorsed

Alex Elliott, KC, appearing for the applicants, submitted a letter giving the unanimous endorsation of the City Council for the proposed air service.

Clifford Brethour, Inspector of Air Regulations, Toronto District, Department of Transport, said the Department would grant a permit providing the ATB approved the service, and providing a nose hangar were built at the Chemong Base within 90 days.

At present Rockland Airways have four aircraft in operation: A four-passenger Fairchild (24), a Piper Cub holding two people, and two Piper Cub Prospectors, each holding two people (pilot and one other).

The present base is about seven miles north of the city on Lake Chemong.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

[illegible] Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada has planned a week-end visit to Des Joachims Sept. 24 to see the H.E.P.C. power development there. A bus will be chartered to take 35 passengers and if more than that number of members wish to join the party, the names will be drawn from a hat.

ALSO GOING UP

The insurance firm of Hill, Weddell and Hills have informed the council that the rate next year for the city's public liability insurance is to be increased. In the meantime the present insurance which terminated at the end of August is being extended to the end of Sept. pending a new contract.

CAR BAGS WOLF

Kenneth Turner of Apsley has applied to the County Clerk and Treasurer for a wolf bounty. And he is giving an assist to his car for the $25 reward. Recently he was driving down a road near his home when he struck a wolf and killed it. Last week he brought in his prize and related his novel method of exterminating the prowler.

NO LOOSE MONEY

"We should mail them all a copy of our financial statement," is Ald. Grant Miller's proposed stereotyped reply to any requests for financial assistance from the council. Several groups have recently been approaching some of the members for grants. But, there is no loose money lying around. They say that even the miscellaneous account is overdrawn. And as previously reported the treasury attitude from here to the end of the year is to scrutinize accounts more sharply than ever to fend off a deficit on the year's taxing and spending.

132 HOLSTEINS SHOWN

Holstein breeders of Ontario county showed 132 head of their best cattle at Port Perry Fair. It was the county Black and White Day. Winners are eligible for the Central Ontario championships to be held here next month. The strong Elmcroft Farm herd picked up eleven of the first prizes. Some of the other exhibitors were: Hugh Ormiston, Robert Flett, Ransom Farms, Orvan Chambers, K. E. Holliday, G. H. Walker and Son, H. A. Valentyne and Son, Armour McMillan.

Studying Cost Floodlights In Morrow Park

Groups interested in the more frequent use of Morrow Park appointed Tuesday a committee to [illegible] into the cost of flood[illegible]

The members of the committee are: Ross L. Dobbin from the Exhibition Board; R. M. Glover of the Morrow Park Trust; Vern Dawson of the Peterborough Baseball Club; Haig Kelly of the rugby club and Mayor Swanston and Hugh Waddell representing the city.

They are asked to obtain all the essential facts before the first of the year.

Those present were: G. A. Gillespie, Norman McConkey, Art McIntyre and R. L. Dobbin of the Exhibition Board; Mayor Swanston, Ald. Dodds, Waddell and Young; Hugh Campbell, Geo. Clarke and Dit Clapper representing the senior baseball interests; Herbert Bradburn and R. M. Glover of Morrow Trust; Gordon S. Matthews of the Utilities Commission and Armar Butcher, parks superintendent.

Approval of the general trend toward more general use of the big park in the south end was unanimous but it was obviously conditioned on the sentiment that it would not be long until the city will be in a position to proceed with the final details at Riverside.

Interest in athletics was expressed by all those present. Gordon Matthews, with the approval of the Utilities Commission, is hoping to put up floodlights for the rugby club. That experience, it was said, would be an indication of what baseball might expect next year.

Cost of showers under the grandstand was mentioned at a reasonable figure by Mr. Butcher. In the proposed improvements it was suggested that they should be submitted to both the Exhibition Board and Morrow Trust when they are drafted.

SUFFICIENT TEACHERS

This year there are sufficient teachers to staff rural schools K. G. Birkin, inspector, informed the Examiner. In past years some schools in the northern part of the inspectorate have been unable to open on the official opening day because no teachers were available.

Says Berlin Will Regain Status As German Capital

By FLORA LEWIS
Special to London Observer and Examiner

BERLIN, Sept. 8—General Sir Brian Robertson, British Military Governor and future High Commissioner of Germany, today predicted Berlin's re-emergence as the capital of the German Republic. He indicated that there has been a switch in the Allied policy of keeping the city separate from the West German State.

General Robertson indirectly supported proposals which have [illegible] city of Berlin provide jobs for [illegible] received Allied permission to join the new State.

He also said that very close ties between the city and the State should now be developed. He revealed the change in the Allied position by disclosing that there is no longer any opposition to "sensible and logical proposals" for close contact between the former capital and the Republic, although West Berlin will still not be allowed to become a fully fledged member of the Federation.

The change has followed sudden awareness here of a severe drop in Berlin morale as the result of economic stagnation and the move of Military Government headquarters westwards.

Establishment of a few Ministries here, though inconvenient, would make Berliners feel that eventually theirs will again [illegible] always devoted itself to national administration and finance and which now is cut off from its hinterland.

Urges Support Capital

At the same time, Western Germany has been reluctant to help keep Berlin going so long as it had no stake in the city. Solid grounds for expecting to see the capital again in Berlin are needed to solicit the financial aid required from the West.

General Robertson gave a push in this direction by calling a Press conference that he considered it a responsibility of the new German State "to support the future capital of the Republic by meeting its current deficit."

Until now, the Western Allies had refused German requests to integrate West Berlin politically and economically with West Germany because they thought that would prejudice negotiations with the Russians on the city's fate.

Two months of unproductive talks with Soviet authorities and the realization that West Berlin is just about bankrupt, have forced revision of those views. Bringing parts of the Western Government here from Bonn seems a drastic curative measure, especially as communications running through the Russian zone remain tenuous and difficult.

Obviously such Ministers as those for Labour, Finance and Transport, which must be in daily contact with the people of the State cannot be moved outside its actual borders.

Bonn's Status Temporary

But it is hoped that some other more self-contained department could work almost as well in Berlin, and make up for the loss of efficiency by the psychological fillip its presence here would give.

Thus far, there has been no particular opposition to this idea among West Germans, who, under ordinary circumstances, might be expected to object to having their affairs run "from outside". Their willingness reflects their belief that Bonn cannot be more than a temporary capital of a temporary State, and any move back towards Berlin must some how mean a move towards a more normal Germany.

Berlin has eight observers at Bonn, but they have no vote in the West German Parliament. Their role will very likely be enlarged when firmer ties are established between Berlin and Bonn. (OFNS Copyright)

NAME PERPETUATED

The term "maverick" for stray cattle is derived from a Samuel Maverick, who took advantage of the U. S. Civil War to steal any cattle he found straying.

Rovers Tell of Travels Through Europe To Norway

Underneath the tale of an errant dunnage bag that was a week travelling from Halifax to Peterborough lies another story that is filled with the glamor of a trip to a Rover Moot in Norway. The bag, which belongs to Jim Webb, 698 Charlotte St., accompanied him and 28 other Canadians to the banks of the Otto River to be part of an international meet of Rovers. Also attending from this city was Jack White, Sherbrooke St. W.

The two youths left Peterborough on July 14, and sailed from Quebec City on the 16th, on RMS Samaria. They landed at Liverpool, [illegible] from there to the site of the moot, Shjak (pronounced Shook). They arrived there at six o'clock in the morning of Aug. 1 in a dismal rain.

Prince Takes Salute

The moot opened Aug. 2, with a march past of 2,000 Scouts before Crown Prince Olaf of Norway. Also present was the chief Scout of Norway. There were more than 2,500 Scouts in the camp, with nearly every nation outside the Iron Curtain represented.

Features of the camp were overnight hikes with mixed nationalities in groups into the [illegible] was in good supply under the rationing scheme. The Rovers were issued ration cards by the government. The morale of the British people, as they found it was good. "Nobody worries about austerity," Webb said.

The Canadian group joined a British contingent, and travelled with Scouts from the Commonwealth on the way to Norway. There were 800 on the special train that took them from London to Dover, including youths from Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, The Gold Coast, Jamaica and Canada. Original plans were that the group was to go to the Norway Moot by boat direct from England, but a dock strike forced the Scouts to go by train across Europe.

After landing at Ostend, they travelled through Belgium into "what once was the Ruhr Valley of Germany," Webb said, and to Denmark. They went from Denmark to Sweden by water and went again by train into Oslo, Norway. The rail line ended at Otto, Norway, and they took buses [illegible] moot, Webb said, were English, French and Norwegian. He and White were amazed to find the Norwegians could speak English very well. The secret of their mastery of the language is that they are taught to speak it in Grade 5 of their school system. The same condition is prevalent in the other Scandinavian countries, Webb said, adding "they are certainly away ahead of us."

The camp, which covered about six acres of land, beside the Otto River in a deep valley, broke up on Aug. 12. It had a 'simplicity' theme, with everyone living in tents and drawing rations from a central depot. The Canadian contingent was broken into three patrols of ten each and each patrol was then placed in a "lag" (Norwegian for patrol), along with four or five other patrols from different countries.

England, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland and India were represented in the "lag" Webb and White were in.

Live In Cellars

Norway and Germany are poles apart in living standards, the Peterborough boys said. In Germany "they just haven't anything. Everybody lives in cellars and is dressed poorly. The houses are still a mass of rubble and only a few factories are going. After the first hour it palls on you and after a day of seeing it, it gets you. You don't want any more," they said.

In Norway, everything is clean and neat. Although there is rationing there is an ample supply of staples, milk, eggs, butter, and cheese. Denmark is beautiful, and has much the same standards as Norway.

[illegible] itors. It was a gala pageant of entertainment given by all the countries in the camp.

The return trip to England followed the same course and once there the Canadians had ten days to do as they pleased. Some went back to the continent to see Paris, some went to Ireland, and some to Scotland.

The Canadians met again in Southampton on Aug. 24, and returned to Canada on the SS Aquitania. The crossing was completed Aug. 30 and the Peterborough boys came from Halifax by train.

Two Inspecting Gun Accidentally Shot

SUDBURY, Sept. 8.—(CP). — Two men are in hospital here suffering from accidental bullet wounds. They were shot when inspecting a gun, not knowing it was loaded.

Yves Leblanc, Canadian National Railways station agent at Bayswater, some 30 miles south of Burwash, is wounded in the left hand.

Fail To Give Signal Car, Truck Collide

Failure to signal a turn was reported to have caused an accident at the corner of George and Parkhill Rd. about 2.45 p.m. Wednesday. A truck driven by N. Little, Warsaw, going east on Parkhill Rd., had nearly crossed the George St. intersection when hit on the left side by a car driven by Clifford Pearson, Smith township, near Lakefield. The Pearson car was traveling west on Parkhill and Pearson was turning south on George.

Investigating constable S. Keliele reported Pearson admitted he didn't signal before making the turn. The truck suffered no damage. The whole front of the Pearson car was smashed in and will cost an estimated $250 to fix.

Highway Subsidy To Be Sought

BETHANY, Sept. 8 (ENS). — Matters having to do with road maintenance largely engaged the attention of members of the Manvers Township Council at their monthly meeting held here recently. On motion of Councillor Miller and Deputy-Reeve McGill, the clerk was instructed to write the Workmen's Compensation Board applying for compensation for road employees. The Council also accepted a motion of Councillors Wright and Beer that the treasurer and road superintendent apply for the usual interim subsidy on road expenditure up to August 31, 1949.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

Hydro-Electric Power Commission, street lights, Bethany, $47.25; SS 10, school money, $300; Township Treasurer, Road Voucher 9, $4,074.44; J. C. Cummiskey on account salary $90, relief $15; SS 15, school money, $300; H. V. Shea, on account salary, $35; Allen Beer, sheep killed, $156; Dalton Brown, sheep killed, $10.

Council adjourned to meet on Tuesday, October 4, at 1 p.m.

IT'S STRAIGHT NOW—This informal farmily scene took place at Calgary airport last week as Prime Minister St. Laurent waited for local Liberals who had arranged a reception for him. A rough air trip resulted in his hat being tilted so Mrs. Madeleine O'Donnall, his daughter, sets it at the proper angle.

Request Policy On Liquor Sales

WINDSOR, Sept. 8 (CP)—The Ontario Liquor Licence Board is being requested to outline "an established policy" on the sale of liquor to Negroes.

Mayor Arthur J. Reaume Wednesday sent a letter to Liquor Commissioner Welch on the situation in Windsor and district after councillors Tuesday night criticized the board for not taking action against hotel owners who discriminate against Negro clientele. Councillors also criticized the board for allowing certain types of taverns and beverage rooms to operate.

Both Controller Gordon B. Ellis and Ald. W. M. Riggs charged there is racial discrimination in many Windsor drinking places and asked for LLB or Liquor Control Board action.

Six Grandsons Act As Pallbearers

PEAS ... AND NEW WAYS TO SERVE THEM!

Green Peas . . . hundreds of acres of them . . . were grown this summer under our special instructions. I want you to try our peas—for we've done many things to make them tender, delicious, and rich with full, fine flavour. Even the seed was selected by us . . . and the garden cultivation carefully planned by us step by step. You can get this new pack now in YORK BRAND . . . the fine delicate flavour sealed in cans at the peak of its fresh-picked perfection. So ask for York Brand . . . and see if we have not brought you something really worth while!

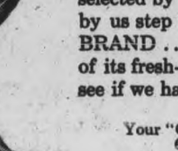
LAURENTIAN PEAS

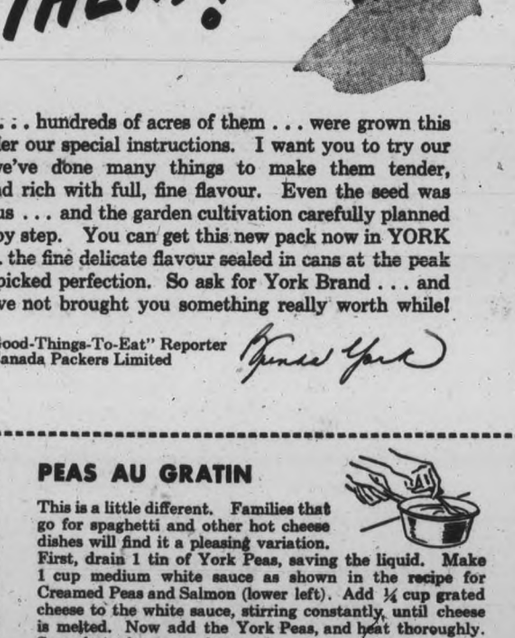
Take 1 tin of York Peas, drain off liquid and heat this in top part of double boiler. Mix 1½ tablespoons cornstarch and 1½ teaspoons granulated sugar in a small amount of cold water, and add to the liquid, cooking over hot water and stirring until thickened. Now add ¼ cup of chopped onion boiled until tender, 1½ tablespoons finely chopped parsley and the peas. Salt and pepper to taste. Serves 4—and is it ever good!

PEAS AU GRATIN



This is a little different. Families that go for spaghetti and other hot cheese dishes will find it a pleasing variation. First, drain 1 tin of York Peas, saving the liquid. Make 1 cup medium white sauce as shown in the recipe for Creamed Peas and Salmon (lower left). Add ¼ cup grated cheese to the white sauce, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Now add the York Peas, and heat thoroughly. Serve hot, alone or on buttered toast.

MINTED PEAS



Here's a nice variation, and it's simple. Turn 1 tin of York Peas into a pot, and add a few sprigs of mint to the liquid. Heat slowly so the mint flavour will be absorbed by the peas. Drain off liquid, and serve hot. Incidentally, minted York Peas are delicious in salads—so save any that are left over. And did you know? Liquid from York Peas is a good basis for soups, gravies. Don't waste it.

CREAMED PEAS & SALMON

Take 1 cup of canned, diced or cooked salmon. Add 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 drops Tabasco sauce, and 1 cup medium white sauce. Then add the York Peas. Serve hot as is, or on buttered toast. To make medium white sauce, put 2 tablespoons flour in a cup, blend with a little cold milk. Add milk until the cup is half full, then fill to top with liquid from the peas. Add 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ teaspoon salt, and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Cook in double boiler, stirring until thick.

DOROTHY DIX

Philandering Married Man Dangerous to Gay Divorcee

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a divorcee, age 22, in love with a married man. eH lives with his wife and three children. My parents are trying to prevent a scandal. I am giving up my family to go with the man.

Would it be better for me to marry a despised rich man? Would any one benefit by my committing suicide? Is there any way to make the wife release the husband? Would I make the married man miserable by making him choose between the children and myself?

PERPLEXED DIVORCEE.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Don't you think that is for you to fade out of the picture and leave the married man to fulfill his obligations toward his wife and children?

This may require self-sacrifice and you may suffer for a time, but in the [illegible] find greater [illegible] breaking up a [illegible] shame upon your mother and father.

In the first place, the man does not love you well enough to give up everything for you.

Lots of married men like to philander with young girls. It flatters their vanity to win young girls away from the boys. They like to take girls out and have a good time, and it is part of their technique to tell the girls how unhappily married they are and that their wives don't understand them and that there has long ceased to be any love between them. This naturally makes the girls feel that these poor, misunderstood husbands, tied down to middle-aged wives, would simply jump at the chance to break their matrimonial bonds and marry them.

The fact is, my dear, that making love to a girl and getting a divorce and marrying her are two entirely different propositions. When a man goes on living with his wife, it is proof that he wants to no matter what he tells you. You see, the queer thing about a man is that he can be unfaithful to his wife and still love and re[illegible] above all [illegible] ried.

Also, many a philandering man is devoted to his children and does not want to be parted from them. Another reason why a man who carries on clandestine affairs does not want a divorce is that it hurts his business standing. Very often the wife has powerful family backing or is a popular and admired woman. The public invariably sides with the forsaken wife and turns thumbs down on the woman who broke up the home.

A married man has to be very much in love with a girl to be willing to divorce his wife and marry her, but unless he is willing she may be very sure that he cares nothing for her and that he was just amusing himself and in the end will be unfaithful to her as he was to his wife. That is why, in affairs between married men and girls, the girl loses out.

Don't talk foolishntss about committing suicide nor about marrying a despires rich man. The thing for you to do is to forget the married man, absorb yourself in your work and wait for a cleaner love to come along.

DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Why is it that my husband is so quiet at nome, but if we go anywhere or anyone comes into our house he seems to do all the talking and joking? He is the same about children. Our boy must not make any noise and his father is always finding fault with him, yet he plays and jokes with other children.

B.F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Nobody can explain this peculiarity of husbands, B.F. They are just that way.

Many a man who is the life of the party when he goes abroad is a wet blanket at home Many a man who sets the table in a roar when he is dining out never opens his mouth at his own table except to put food in it. Many a man who pets and coddles other people's children regards his own as brats.

Perhaps he considers his wit is too scintillating for home consumption. Perhaps he is too lazy to make an effort to be entertaining and agreeable to a mere wife. Perhaps it is vanity that makes him want to show off before the company. Perhaps new people stimulate him and he can put more pep into telling a story to some one who has never heard it before than he can in repeating it to one who has heard it a dozen times.

Sometimes men are quiet at home because experience has taught them that they can't start any subject withou provoking an argument with their wives.

Sometimes they don't talk because their wives never read or think and have no interest outside their homes andcan only discuss the baby's new tooth and the price of butcher's meat. Sometimes because their wives never listen to anything they say.

And sometimes the man doesn't talk at home because he has had to talk all day to customers and clients and is just talked out.

DOROTHY DIX.

St. James' W.A. Opens Season

The WA of St. James' United Church met Tuesday evening in the Wesley Hall with good attendance. Devotions were led by the Rev. F. W. Craik who took as his topic "Unselfishness." He also made special reference to the loss of a valued member, the late Mrs. J. O. Fife. With Mrs. G. Harris in the chair, plans were made for the fall work. The WA will cater for the district school teachers' convention on October 7. Report on work at the Peterborough Exhibition was most gratifying, made possible through the co-operation and generosity of members and friends. Miss Patsy Barry of the CGIT was present and gave a detailed report on the summer camp at Clear Lake which was much appreciated as the Association had sponsored a camp girl this year.

Harrison—Gillespie Nuptials

Amid a profusion of multi-colored gladioli and asters at the altar of George Street United Church, the marriage vows of Mildred Ellen Gillespie and Wallace Everett Harrison were pledged on Saturday afternoon. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Gillespie and the groom the son of Mrs. Harrison and the late Howard Harrison, all of Peterborough.

Rev. M. J. Aiken performed the ceremony and Miss Mary Robson sang "Because" and during the signing of the register "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length dress of white faconne crepe with full three-quarter length sleeves, plain bodice, and a full skirt. She wore a finger-tip embroidered veil held in place by a silver tiara and carried a bouquet of white gladioli. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Lorne Fallis, sister of the bride, wore a gown of blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli.

Mr. Sidney Parsons was the groomsman and ushers were Robert Dixon, Buckhorn, and Roy Hadwin, Peterborough.

Guests gathered at the home of the bride's parents for a reception afterwards. They were received by the bride's mother wearing grey crepe with black accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli. The buffet luncheon was served by friends of the bride, Miss Pauline Smith, Mrs. Ben Smook, Mrs. Nobel Mahood and Mrs. Del McConnel, all of Peterborough.

For travelling to points North, the bride chose a light green suit and brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will live at 180 Wolsley Street.

Mark St. Baby Band Meets

Mrs. R. Wood, Monroe Ave., was hostess Wednesday evening for the meeting of Mark St. Baby Band Mother's Auxiliary. The [illegible] of tomorrow [illegible] Guppy and the scripture was read by Mrs. G. Davis. A reading by Mrs. K. Hopcroft was entitled "Land of fuss and fret." Guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. A. Haddow who told about the people of Bolivia with whom she had worked as a missionary. Refreshments were served at the close by the committee in charge.

Harvest Season Portrayed By Baby Band Aux.

[illegible] told the [illegible] ing in the church parlors Wednesday evening.

The mantle was gay with the rich color of zinnias and gladioli, their brilliance enhanced by lighted red tapers. Flanking tables bore a profusion of varied autumn blossoms and large bowls were brimming with luscious apples and deep purple grapes.

In absence of the president Mrs. W. R. Philp, the meeting was conducted by vice-president Mrs. E. Edmondson. The devotional period dealt appropriately with the harvest season. Prayers were taken by Mrs. J. Marshall and Mrs. M. Knox and the scripture read by Mrs. W. Davidson. Mrs. K. Kemp accompanied the hymns.

Highlight of the evening was a movie "Your children and you" shown by Allan Parker. This film traced development of the child from birth to five years and humorously and skillfully suggested solutions to many problems which all parents face at one time or another.

Tea was served by the hostesses at the close.

PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER

Miss Mary Greer, regent, opened the first fall meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter, IO DE, Wednesday evening in the YWCA Green Room.

Further plans were made for the cooking school being held October 18 to 20 in the Collegiate Auditorium, with joint sponsorship by the 57th Regiment Chapter.

Splendid reports were given by Mrs. N. Gell, post war convener, and Miss Doris Burgess, welfare convener, on clothing sent to Britain and children of the city looked after during the summer season.

A vast amount of information was gained from a talk by Miss Alexandria Howson who told of her activities and experiences during the past two years on a trip to New Orleans, San Diego, and Vancouver, and short intervals spent teaching Indian children at Alert Bay on the BC coast, in the Peace River district and at Cardston. She also toured much of the north country in connection with teaching and mission work. Some samples of the art work done by children of each of the schools was displayed to show the great difference in their interests.

Appreciation of the members was expressed to Miss Howson by Miss M. Bailey. Refreshments were served by the social committee.

American Author Features Russia In New Thriller

NEW YORK. (CP) — Author Judith Kelly thought up a plot for a thriller but discarded it because she was sure no one would believe it.

Then along came the Canadian spy case and Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina's leap for freedom in New York a year ago. Miss Kelly decided no story she might spin could be as fantastic as the facts.

The result is her new novel, "A Diplomatic Incident."

Set in Washington, the book shows how dealings between Russia and the United States are based on the "human factors" of their representatives. Although she describes the book as a thriller, she says she also has a serious purpose—to awaken people to the need for world government.

Before writing the novel, Miss Kelly studied Russian grammar. Right then, she says, she decided Russia would never be a democracy.

No Short Cuts

"The set-up is very much like Latin," she says. "Nothing easy and no short cuts. I think it shows a very rigid and formal approach to living. . . Russians must have something to hold on to."

But she says the church may again take over as it once did, and in her book she deals with the Christian background of the country. The deep religious feelings of generations of Russians have not subsided permanently, she says.

Miss Kelly, married to lawyer William D. English and the mother of three children, writes every day from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in a room over the garage. She doesn't discuss her writing at home.

"I don't think you can be a big shot around the house and have a happy marriage," she says.

Her daughter didn't even know her mother is an author until she heard about it one day at school.

36-inch Length Best in Fur

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—(CP). — Jean Courtot, fur designer, predicts that the three-quarter length fur coat will be a popular style this fall.

The former Paris stylist who has settled in Toronto said Wednesday at a press showing:

"The three-quarter length is flattering to the majority of women. It can be worn comfortably and fashionably at all times, regardless of any change in dress skirt lengths."

Watches Design Of New Kitchens

HALESWORTH, Suffolk, England. (CP)—Mrs. Penelope Aitken wife of Lord Beaverbrook's nephew, is trying to iron out the snags in Halesworth's post-war housing.

As part of her job as town councillor, she's interviewing wives to find out what's wrong in the new houses. She hopes the mistakes will not be repeated as new buildings go up.

Blonde, 38-year-old Mrs. Aitken, a mother of two children, wants to know if kitchen closets stub the housewife's toe, if the sink is in the wrong place, whether the wife would like a "parlor" as well as the living room [illegible] kitchen is well [illegible] nor if space is wasted," says Mrs. Aitken.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are spending a social evening with your husband's employer and his wife and a group of other people.

WRONG WAY: Single out your husband's boss for your attention and turn your charm on him.

RIGHT WAY: Treat your husband's employer the same way that you treat the other guests, except, perhaps, to be a little more dignified with him if he is an older man.

I Believe In Being Bright And Early with my favourite Fall housecleaning tip! I've always found ENERGINE Cleaning Fluid a marvellous help at cleaning time . . . and I'm sure that you will, too! You see — it's so very versatile! It gets rid of grease spots on upholstery, slipcovers, drapes, bedspreads — so easily! And Energine will remove chewing gum from practically anything. To make your refrigerator, your bathtub and basins gleam like brand new, just rub them with an Energine-damp rag. Clean clothes do not attract moths — so before you store your summer woollens, use this wonderful cleaning fluid to remove any grease spots. You can get Energine for as little as 25c at your drug or department store.

A Reader Writes: "After days of struggling with my youngster's hair, I read about Cuprex in your column — tried it — and it works like magic in just fifteen minutes!" Yes, if your children are afflicted with hair lice (and it happens to the cleanest!) — CUPREX is the ideal cure! It completely destroys lice and their eggs in just 15 minutes! — Here's how:— Just rub Cuprex gently and thoroughly on your youngster's hair and scalp, using a small quantity at a time. After 15 minutes, wash the hair with soap and water and while it's still damp, comb through with a fine comb. Works wonderfully! — just be sure to follow the directions with every bottle of Cuprex — available at drugstores everywhere!

The Crop's In! . . . The Soup's On! Yes, every year at Leamington and Wallaceburg, Ontario, thousands of pickers gather a rosy, rich harvest of specially grown tomatoes for Heinz and you! So that all year 'round you can have the deliciousness of HEINZ TOMATO PRODUCTS . . . Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup — Heinz Tomato Juice — Heinz Ketchup and Heinz Chili Sauce! I'm stocking up now on these "famous four" . . . and counting on them to liven up meals from this September to next! The soup as a steaming first course — the juice as a cocktail — the ketchup and chili sauce to add zest to the flavour of main dishes . . . your family will love them all! That's why I suggest you keep well supplied . . . "pick" the pick of the Heinz tomato crop from your grocer's shelves now!

I'm Delighted to be able to help give you this very special offer! For just 10c, a 30c-bottle of the new KREML SHAMPOO is yours! . . . And I'll wager that, once you've used Kreml, you'll never again put up with drying shampoos that make your hair brittle and lack-lustre! The new Kreml Shampoo has a natural oil base that leaves your hair shiny as a new penny! And Kreml Shampoo contains a truly marvellous ingredient called "Folisan" ® that makes rinsing quick as a wink in even the hardest of water! So, for your special 30c-bottle of Kreml Shampoo, simply send me 10c . . . Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

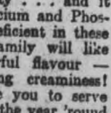
You'll be so glad of this special B of M Savings Account when holiday-time comes 'round again. No money worries to take the "edge" off your vacationtime fun! So why not decide now how much vacation money you're going to need? . . . put one-twelfth of this sum each month into your B of M "Sunshine Account"!



Sing A Song Of Breakfast Cheer . . . and smo-o-o-th, richly delicious 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT"! For the "Cream of Wheat" habit is an all year 'round habit that your family will take very happily to! You'll like it — for 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is so quick 'n' easy to prepare — takes only five minutes of boiling for full digestibility . . . and it contains Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements! Your family will like it for its wonderful flavour — its appetite-pleasing creaminess! That's why I urge you to serve "breakfast cheer" the year 'round . . . you'll find it in every scrumptious bowlful of 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat"!

The Talk Of The Dinner Table . . . freshly delicious HARVEST MARGARINE is so flavour-right — so nutritious — yet, wonder of wonders in this time of high prices . . . so budget-wise! Spread it generously on bread — add extra deliciousness to meats and vegetables with it — make it a vital part of your cooking! Try this "Harvest" recipe tomorrow at lunch:— Combine ½ cup creamed Harvest Margarine, ½ cup prunes, pitted and chopped, ½ cup chopped walnuts, and ¼ cup marmalade.

When Guests Come For Dinner — when the family asks for something "special" for dessert . . . BENSON'S CORN STARCH is a real "menu-friend"! It makes scrumptious custards, puddings and meringues . . . you can count on it for desserts that are guest-festive successes! And, speaking of meringues — 1 teaspoon of Benson's added to 1 tablespoon of sugar for each stiffly whipped egg white makes the fluffiest, smoothest meringue imaginable! Truly, you'll find results are near perfection when you cook with Benson's!

Surprise For Your Youngsters' Back-To-School Lunch Baskets! . . . the special treat of these scrumptious Peanut Cookies made with FIVE ROSES FLOUR. That's the famous "for all-purpose baking" flour thousands of home-makers insist on. And you can be sure your Peanut Cookies will be the height of mouth-watering perfection when you make them with "Five Roses" like this:—

2 cups sifted Five Roses Flour
2 tspns. baking powder
½ tspn. salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ tspn. vanilla extract
¼ cup milk
1½ cup chopped peanuts

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and vanilla extract. Beat well. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Add peanuts. Drop by teaspoons on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven 400 deg. F. for 10 minutes. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

Three Sisters Attend Bride Elmhirst-Killingbeck Union

In Oak Heights United Church the marriage took place on Saturday of Doris Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Killingbeck, R.R. 2, Warkworth, and Bruce Sexsmith Elmhirst, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Elmhirst, R.R. 4, Campbellford. The Rev. J. E. Griffith performed the ceremony in a setting of ferns and autumn flowers.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Ward Archer of Campbellford. Mrs. Donald Nicolson, sister of the groom sang "Because" before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You" while the register was being signed.

The bride's gown of white slipper satin was in full flowing style with wide circular train which had an insert panel of scalloped Irish lace. Trimming on the net yoke of the fitted bodice was matching Irish lace and the same material was used for the long sleeves which came to points over the wrists. Her full length veil of embroidered silk net fell from a crown of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Grace Killingbeck as her sister's maid of honour wore a heavenly blue marquisette dress with bustle back falling into a long train, a matching headdress and mittens and carried pink gladioli. Miss Olive Killingbeck was bridesmaid and wore a pastel green dress of embroidered organdy with yoke of plain organdy matching headdress and mittens and carried yellow gladioli. Miss Ferne Killingbeck was junior bridesmaid and chose embroidered organdy in pastel pink for her frock and accessories and she carried blue gladioli.

The groomsman was Mr. Wm. Curie. Ushers were Wm. Morris and Donald Nicolson, brothers-in-law of the bride and groom.

At the reception following at the home of the bride's parents, her mother received, gowned in grey flowered silk crepe with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother assisted, gowned in black taffeta with matching hat and black accessories.

The buffet luncheon was served by Miss Zella Gummer, Warkworth, Miss Luella Herrington, Belleville, Miss Rheta Patrick, Campbellford, and Mrs. Iden Bonds of Hastings, assisted by Mrs. L. Tucker, Mrs. Gordon Carr, Mrs. Dave Greenly and Mrs. Douglas Langford.

When leaving later on a wedding trip to New York city, Palmira and Rochester, the bride was wearing a navy tissue faille dress, matching accessories, and a shortie coat of natural beige. On return the couple will live in Seymour Township (Campbellford.)

Guests attending were from Rochester, Brantford, Toronto, Peterborough, Belleville, Havelock, Harold, Hastings, Campbellford and Warkworth.

6—In Memoriams

BELL—In loving memory of our dear mother, Harriet Bell, who passed away nine years ago, September 8, 1940.
Take her in Thine arms dear Lord,
And ever let her be,
A messenger of love,
Between our hearts and Thee.
—Always remembered by daughters Lucile Leone and Alberta and son Vaughan.

CROWE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George Alfred Crowe who passed away three years ago, Sept. 8, 1946.
Oh, what would I give to clasp your hand
Your dear kind face to see,
Your loving smile, your welcome voice
That meant so much to me.
No one knows the silent heartache
Only those who have such can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one I loved so well.
—Sadly missed by Nellie, Ottie, Keith, Clinton and Lou.

7—Cards of Thanks

Mrs. A. Goodwin and family express their heartfelt thanks and deep appreciation to friends and neighbors, Rev. E. W. Rowland and Kaye Funeral Home who were so kind and thoughtful during their sad bereavement in the loss of a loving husband and father.

Named Superintendent

COBOURG, Sept. 8—(ENS)—Miss R. P. Sharpe, acting superintendent of nurses at the Ontario Hospital in Whitby, has been appointed superintendent of nurses at the Ontario Hospital in Cobourg. She will take over her new duties on September 15. Miss E. Porter has been acting superintendent of nurses here.

Cold, Rainy Weather Dampens Lakefield Fair

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 8 (ENS)—Despite a cold, rainy afternoon, which the fair board attempted in vain to avoid by advancing the fair day two weeks, were more than a thousand people sloshed through sodden grounds as the annual Lakefield Exhibition opened Wednesday. They saw an excellent array of stock and general exhibits.

A bigger than usual midway was well attended with the pony rides proving popular with the children.

Outstanding horses at[tended] the dairy and beef cattle exhibits with the Black and White Day being outstanding as usual.

The saddle race—run in three heats, was quite exciting— the exhibits in the ladies work and flowers were good.

Children's exhibits, due to school opening, were down a bit this year.

A new feature was the Peterborough-Durham Ayrshire Breeders red and white show.

The fine arts exhibits was exceptionally good.

President Clarence Coons welcomed the patrons. Hugh Stewart president of Peterborough Fair, also spoke briefly.

Sam Staples did a splendid job announcing the afternoon events.

OUT OUR WAY By J. R. WILLIAMS

HER BID'S IN—Audrey Wright, a member of the Brandon, Mass., Salvation Army Band, is shown with Arthur Thompson, director of the internationally-famous Sioux Falls, SD, high school band, as she became the first to apply for membership in the Canadian-United States all-girl concert band which Mr. Thompson is organizing. He will select 75 girls — 50 American and 25 Canadian — from all parts of the two countries for membership in the organization. The band, sponsored by the Brandon, Man., Lions Club, will tour both countries next summer and Europe the following year.

Plan Forming All-Girl Band From Canada, United States

BRANDON, Man., Sept. 7 — (CP). — Seventy-five United States and Canadian girls will be selected near the end of the coming school year to form an international all-girls' concert band.

The band will tour the United States and Canada under the direction of Arthur R. Thompson, who for the last 20 years has trained and conducted the internationally-famous Sioux Falls (Dakota) High School Band.

Mr. Thompson will select the personnel—50 American and 25 Canadian girls— after auditions through the two countries.

During July, 1950, they will be given intensive training at their headquarters in the host city of Brandon. In August of the same year, the band will start the international tour, giving concerts at major cities.

The girls will return in the summer of 1951 for more training and a concert tour of European cities in the interest of international friendship.

All rehearsing and training, including private help, all meals and lodging, will be free to the 75 girls chosen. Two hundred other girls will be listed as alternates.

The project is sponsored by the Brandon Lions Club with the City of Brandon and other organizations assisting.

Insignia of both nations will be worn on all uniforms and flags of both nations will be displayed at their concerts.

The gathering was under the auspices of Mrs. Earl Waldie and Neil Adams. Ralph Rosebush was in charge of the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sherwin, Peterborough, were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Sherwin.

See How Much Better You Feel

Sufferers of Stomach Trouble, Weak Kidneys, Lazy Liver, Nervousness, Backache and General Rundown Condition.

Here is a medicine that has helped thousands of men and women to find relief from common disorders of stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Syntona Herbal Compound acts within 10 minutes to stop gas, indigestion, heartburn and sour acidity. Corrects many associated symptoms such as constipation, headaches, backache, and rheumatic pains.

At the same time Syntona helps build up the entire system. Promotes better assimilation of food and relieves nervousness, poor appetite and fatigued, rundown feeling.

Mr. Francis Edwards, 147 Clarence Street, London, Ont., said in a recent report:

"I was rundown and suffered from headache, backache and rheumatic pains in all my limbs, joints and muscles. Many days I felt sore and lame all over. I was subject to gassy cramps and sour acid risings after my meals. My sleep was very restless and I would awaken mornings feeling almost as tired as I did the night before.

"But since I've been taking Syntona it is just wonderful how different I feel. First thing I noticed was that my food began to digest without causing gas and sour acidity. Then, as I continued using it, the aches and pains began to go away, my sleep became more sound and restful and that tired, wornout feeling disappeared. Now I feel fine and I am glad to recommend this medicine to other sufferers."

MR. FRANCIS EDWARDS

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Blind Man Drowns In Trough

Takes Weak Spell Doing Chores Falls Into Water

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 9 — (ENS)—Blind for 30 years, George Stollery, 49, was drowned Thursday afternoon when he fell into a watering trough on his father's farm, English Line, eight miles east of here. The body was recovered within 15 minutes, but attempts to revive him failed.

Stollery, who had been blind since he was 19, was subject to weak spells. He and his father Fred Stollery, had gone to the back field of the farm to pump water for the cattle. His father went over to a stack about 100 yards away to throw down hay for the cattle. When he returned, his son was lying dead in the trough.

It is believed he took a weak spell while pumping water.

This is the second tragedy to touch this family within two weeks. His brother-in-law's mother and sister were killed in the disastrous train-car crash at Campbellford, August 30. Their farm is just two miles south of that where Kenneth Milne lived.

Does All Chores

Although he was blind, George Stollery could do anything on the farm. He looked after milking 18 head of cattle night and morning with a milking machine. He was in complete charge of the poultry which consisted of 400 chickens. The victim also had a hobby of basket making.

Surviving are his father, Fred Stollery, three sisters and three brothers: Mrs. Elliott, Embury, Shannonville; Mrs. Orval Grills and Mrs. Douglas Ingram of Seymour; Will and Edgar of Seymour, and Fred at home.

GEORGE STOLLERY, blind for 30 years, was drowned on his father's farm near Campbellford when he took a weak spell and fell into a watering trough.

Anglicans Vote To Keep Church Name

HALIFAX, Sept. 9—(CP) — The Church of England in Canada will keep its present name, for another three years at least.

A motion to change the name of the church was shelved Thursday after the upper and lower houses of the General Synod in session here split in a standing vote.

The motion to make the name "The Anglican Church of Canada" carried with a big majority in the lower house—composed of laity and clergy. But the upper house—the bishops—voted about 2 to 1 against it and the motion was lost automatically.

A majority in both houses is required to approve a motion. No announcement was made about the actual count of the voting.

The House of Bishops then presented a motion advocating that the matter be studied by a joint committee of both houses and referred to the next General Synod, which will meet in another three or four years. This was carried.

Two other motions concerning a change of name were lost. One asked that the matter be referred to the church's 20th Diocesan Synods for study and the other asked that a committee be named to study the matter and report back before the end of the present Synod.

The motion to adopt a new name came from J. P. Bell, a layman from Hamilton. It was seconded by Most Rev. Philip Carrington, Archbishop of Quebec

Bus Operators Seek Increases

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—(CP). — Street car and bus operators here are preparing to seek wage increases amounting to more than $1,000,000 a year.

This was disclosed Thursday by Ald. Harold Fishleigh, who told reporters he had been approached by a representative of the Street Railway Employees' Union. The union man asked the alderman to support the wage demands of the workers, employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission, if the issue were brought before city council.

It was said the Toronto operators will ask for $1.30 an hour, plus an extra 25 cents an hour for the men operating the new trolleys and trailers. The present two-year contract, which expires Sept. 30, provides for payment to the operator of a one-car tram of $1.19 an hour, including cost-of-living bonus.

Ald. Fishleigh said that with the subway project causing disruption of some downtown street-car services, citizens would be opposed to any increase in fares resulting from a wage boost.

Quebec City Paralyzed By Garage Strike

QUEBEC, Sept. 9. (CP)—The strike of 122 garage employees today virtually paralyzed this ancietn capital of 200,000 inhabitants.

The Quebec Railway, Light and Power Company, announced on Thursday night that it had ordered all of its 187 buses to remain in their garages as a result of the garage workers dispute.

The garage employees, members of a Catholic syndicate affiliated with the Canadian Catholic Federation of Labor, went on strike Thursday to enforce wage demands, which, they claimed, would put them on an equal footing with commercial garage employees.

The whole wage dispute hinges around a one-cent salary increase sought by the workers. The company has already agreed to pay a seven cents hourly wage boost, but the union's final demand is eight cents.

Air Bases To US Planes

Will Not Keep Pact Till America Does Canada Declares

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 — (CP). — Canada indicated Thursday that she won't keep her part of an air agreement unless the US does.

In addition, the Air Transport Board, which regulates air traffic in the Dominion, said it might stop US air lines from using the Newfoundland airports such as Gander, unless the agreement is kept.

The agreement, in which the two countries exchanged traffic rights in each other's territory—was signed last June but its validity has been challenged in the US courts.

J R. Baldwin, chairman of the Air Transport Board, told a conference of representatives of US lines Thursday Canada would find it "extremely difficult" to give them concessions under an agreement that has been formally challenged, and Canada should not proceed any faster than the US in implementing the pact.

The agreement gave Trans-Canada Air Lines rights to a non-stop route from Montreal to New York. In return, American lines got traffic rights in Newfoundland and at Edmonton.

Newfoundland rights — important in trans-Atlantic flights — have been given US lines on a temporary basis pending implementation of the agreement. They are due to expire at the end of this month.

Colonial Airlines, previously the only line to fly the Montreal-New York route, claims the agreement is unconstitutional. As an executive agreement, it was not submitted to the US Senate for ratification. Colonial claims it is actually a treaty and needs Senate approval.

Lawyers associated with Colonial said in Washington there will be no clarification of the legal tangle for at least a month.

Mr. Baldwin said he hoped it would not be necessary for the Board to take action regarding Gander and that "action in Washington in the near future will make it possible for us to go ahead." But in fairness to Canada, the Air Transport Board should not proceed any more quickly than the US.

Bury Differences

BRIDLINGTON, Yorkshire, England, Sept. 9 — (Reuters)—Britain's Trades Union Congress, representing 9,000,000 workers, ended its annual conference today after a striking week-long demonstration of loyalty to the Labor government. The Congress closed its ranks and buried its differences to an almost unprecedented degree. It did so after impassioned appeals by Prime Minister Clement Attlee. Sir William Lawther, T.U.C. president, and James Griffiths, Minister of National Insurance.

Tip Vermont Police

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—(CP).— All New England law enforcement agencies were warned by Vermont police today to be on the watch for two groups of counterfeiters believed to have entered New England Thursday from Canada.

The warning came after the Royal Canadian Mounted Police asked Vermont state police for assistance in tracking down the counterfeiters.

100 Volunteer To Aid Police Crush Strike Violence

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 9 (AP) —nearly 100 volunteers swelled police ranks today at the strike-bound Bell Aircraft plant where two days of pitched battles have brought warrants for the arrest of 24 persons.

Sheriff Henry E. Becker of Niagara County swore in the special deputies Thursday night. He had called for volunteers after 14 persons were injured in Thursday's fighting.

Picketing at the plant was peaceful this morning. About 15 unarmed pickets took their stations at the main gate of the plant in nearby Wheatfield at 7:55 a.m.

Under-sheriff Arthur Muisiner of Niagara County said "about a dozen men" were arrested this morning on charge of disorderly conduct as a result of previous disorders in the strike.

Meanwhile, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, and a State mediator tried to prevent further bloodshed.

The Governor summoned leaders of striking Local 501 of the United Auto Workers (CIO) and the top law enforcement officials of Niagara and Erie counties to Albany for a conference.

But union officials said they would not make the trip until Dewey instructed the District Attorney of Niagara County to "withdraw the trumped-up warrants for arrest of our leaders."

On the other hand, the union promised Rt. Rev. John P. Boland, State mediator, that it would urge "all members and friends" to maintain "peaceful picketing" pending an effort to arrange arbitration of the strike.

Warrants for the arrest of the 24 on charges ranging from burglary and assault to riot, were issued Thursday night. District Attorney William E. Miller of Niagara said they would not be recalled.

Cripps Ready To Accept Streamline Selling Advice

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps said today that the "only satisfactory solution" for Britain's economic plight is to sell enough goods for dollars to become self-supporting. The Chancellor of the Exchequer made that statement in a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon.

Indicating British acceptance of American advice to streamline selling techniques, he said that "on the question of exports to dollar markets, I believe that there is a most urgent need for more intensive salesmanship."

Sir Stafford pictured the solution of Britain's economic crisis as essential for the co-ordinated political and military strength of the west in its struggle with Communism.

He said that State Secretary Dean Acheson and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin have made "remarkable progress" toward building the western political and defence structure but added:

"All this progress will be in vain if we fail to provide a sound economic basis for these combined efforts of the free democracies."

The twin themes of Sir Stafford's address were hard work for the British people in their struggle to live on their income and hope for the success in the Anglo-American financial talks which opened here Wednesday.

Get Limited Help

Out of the talks already have come indications of limited American help to Britain in meeting its current dollar crisis. Long

Badly Burned In Explosion

GALT, Sept. 9—(CP) — Mrs. Norman Boehmer, 73, is in a critical condition in hospital here from burns suffered in an explosion at home of her son-in-law, Thursday night.

The explosion occurred after Mrs. Boehmer went to the basement to light a gas furnace. Neighbors heard cries for help and Mrs. Boehmer was seen enveloped in flames as she ran out on a side verandah of the house. A coat was thrown around her to douse the flames.

Mrs. Boehmer suffered severe burns to her body, arms and face. Hospital authorities reported her condition was very critical.

The force of the explosion bulged the front and rear walls of the brick-veneer house to a maximum of about 18 inches, dislodging large sections of brick. Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Destroyer Fleet Being Refitted

OTTAWA, Sept. 9. — (CP).— Canada's destroyer fleet is undergoing a complete refit and five ships will be transferred to the reserve fleet within the next three months for a thorough going-over.

Naval Headquarters announced today they will be replaced on operational duties by four ships due to finish refitting during that time.

The navy also said the cruiser Ontario is due for a two-month refit and the aircraft carrier Magnificent will be back in service in mid-October.

Magnificent has been undergoing repairs in a Saint John, N.B., drydock after it ran aground of the east coast this summer.

The destroyers Nootka, Haida, Athabaska and Crescent will be paid off into the reserve while the tribal-class destroyer Iroquois, brought into active commission this summer for a reserve-training program, will also be re-equipped.

Coming out of reserve are three tribal destroyers—Huron, Cayuga and Micmac—and Sioux, a fleet class ship.

The navy said the refitting of the four destroyers coming back into service was the first phase of a "modernization program." On Sioux, for example, a cafeteria messing system with dining quarters separate from sleeping quarters was introduced.

Robber Holdup $3,000 Loot

Thief Flees On Foot After Failure To Get Toronto Car To Start

TORONTO, Sept. 9 — (CP).— A lone gunman held up the Armour Heights branch of the Bank of Montreal in North Toronto today and escaped with about $3,000 while the manager fired six revolver shots at him.

The bandit failed in an attempt to commandeer a car parked near the bank and fled on foot, dropping $20 inside the vehicle in his haste to get away.

G. F. Elwood, bank manager, said that because of people who gathered about on the street, he had to fire low at the fleeing bandit.

He said the man looked suspicious a slouch hat pulled down low over his face, as he entered the bank. There were no customers in the bank at the time.

"I waited on him myself. He shoved a note through the teller's cage on which was written: 'How would you like to be a dead hero? Fill the bag with cash.'

"I said, 'You're joking, of course.' But when he pulled a German automatic pistol, I knew he meant business and told the teller we had no alternative but to carry out his order."

$3,000 In Cage

Elwood estimated the teller's cage contained $3,000.

He described the man as having a "crazy air" about him, with something like a clamp in the lower jaw. He wore a dark blue suit, and blue-striped shirt, and was between "40 and 60."

William Cranfield of Toronto, who was parked in the car which the bandit attempted to commandeer, said the man looked as if he had "gone berserk."

"He ordered me to open my window. I lowered the window in the car door, but by this time I heard a shot behind me and sort of froze.

Owner Runs

"The bandit raced around to the driver's side of the car and got in. He tried to start the car but couldn't. He told me it was a holdup and when he said that I scampered."

He said one of the bullets fired by Elwood lodged in the trunk of the car.

Robert Hirtle, a salesman in a shop next door to the bank, said he had a brief glimpse of the bandit as he raced by, and described him as a young man.

Arrest 2, Seek Third In Double Kidnapping

TORONTO, Sept. 9. (CP)—Police said today it was only a matter of hours before the third man involved in the double kidnapping and armed robbery at a Toronto cleaning establishment would be in custody.

William Robertson, 24, and Bruce Goobie, 20, both of Toronto, have been charged with the kidnapping of the two cleaning plant night watchmen and theft of a safe containing $400.

The two watchmen, William Jardine, 56, and George Seward, 77, told police that three gunmen had forced them out of the plant at gun-point and taken them for a five-hour ride through the city and suburban Scarborough. The trio, they said, forced them to open the safe in a deserted field.

Calder Candidate

nounced Thursday night that he will be a candidate for the Ontario Liberal leadership. He was asked by a reported whether he intended to seek the position from which Farquhar Oliver, leader of the past two years, resigned Wednesday. Mr. Calder visited Sudbury with a delegation of members of the Legislature on a fact-finding tour of northern Ontario.

Report 21 Killed In Quebec Plane Crash

MONTREAL, Sept. 9 (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines said today one of its DC-3 planes crashed 40 miles from Quebec with 17 passengers and four crew members aboard and so far as known none survived.

The plane was on a regular flight. It left Montreal at 8 a.m., made its regular stop at Quebec and continued on for Baie Comeau.

Wreckage of the aircraft was said to have been found by employees of a sawmill.

The plane was said to have plunged into the woods about 1,000 yards north of the Canadian National Railways line skirting the St. Lawrence shore between Quebec and La Malbaie.

Reports of the crash were given to the CNR station agent at St. Joachim by section men. They advised the agent that a fisherman named Patrick Bouchard had reported the crash about 11 a.m.

The fisherman said he thought the aircraft was a bomber and that it was on its way to Quebec.

Chief Justice Harvey Leading Jurist Dies

EDMONTON, Sept. 9—(CP)— One of Canada's leading jurists, Chief Justice Horace Harvey, of the Appellate Division of the Alberta Supreme Court died today after a brief illness. He was 86.

His death ended 45 years of service as judge of courts of Northwest Territories and supreme courts of Alberta.

He was born in Elgin County, Ont., Oct. 1, 1863, son of William Harvey, at one time member of the House of Commons.

When Saskatchewan and Alberta were created provinces in 1905 he became puisne judge of the Supreme Court of this province, and in 1910 was appointed chief justice.

A Crippling Blow

OSHAWA, Sept. 9—(CP) Oshawa Merchants, contenders for the Central Ontario Baseball League title, suffered a crippling blow Thursday when their star second baseman, Russell (Red) Jubenville, was taken to hospital in Toronto suffering from poliomyelitis. The Merchants lead their best-of-seven final series with Peterborough 3-0. Jubenville was a member of the 1936 Oshawa team which won the O.B.A. championship.

Loaded Bus This Truck Two Injured

5 Ambulances Sent To Crash Scene After First Report

HAMILTON, Sept. 9—(CP) — Two persons were injured, neither seriously, when a Toronto-bound bus struck the back of a loaded gravel truck at nearby Aldershot today.

Margaret Dryland suffered a bruised ankle and Bryan Perry a cut chin. Both are from Hamilton and were passengers on the bus.

Drivers of the two vehicles received only minor injuries.

First reports indicated the accident may have been serious. At least five ambulances rushed to the scene.

Miss Dryland and Perry were taken to hospital for treatment. Some other passengers who received minor cuts were treated on the spot.

Passengers praised bus driver Gerald Arbour, of Toronto, and said his skilful handling of the heavy vehicle averted a more serious accident.

Exhibition Special

The bus, carrying passengers from Hamilton to the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, skipped across the highway and came to a lurching stop in a private driveway. Arbour, pinned behind the wheel, was pulled from the bus by Joe Lukasiewicz and John Otrosine, of Hamilton. They helped other passengers as well.

Aldershot was the scene of a bus-train crash Sept. 10, 1943, when 11 passengers in a Canada Coach Lines bus were killed. A Canadian National Railways train hit the bus, slicing it in two.

Eyewitnesses said the truck when hit slewed across the road, ploughing between two trees, into a garden where it struck a concrete abutment. The truck back was damaged and the impact shattered the windscreen.

Bar Refugees Without Visas

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 — (CP). — European refugees who sail for Canada in small ships without first obtaining Canadian visas will be refused admission in the future, the Resources Department said Thursday

"Inadmissible immigrants who are brought to Canada will be refused admission and will be returned on the ships by which they arrived," a departmental statement said

The Department said the government was "concerned" at the number of refugees who had been arriving from Sweden in small ships without visas

The Department, which supervises immigration regulations, said owners of small ships had begun to bring immigrants to Canada in recent months and that these owners "together with their agents and masters of vessels are subject to prosecution in any cases of violations of the Immigration Act. In future such prosecutions will be carried out."

Plunges 1,000 Feet Lives To Tell It

COLUMBUS, Ga., Sept. 9 (AP) —Sgt. James R. Hendrix, 24-year old winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor—highest United States award—plunged 1,000 feet to the ground from an airplane Thursday as both of his parachutes failed to open completely.

But he lived to tell about it, suffering only jangled nerves and bruises.

After leaving the plane, Hendrix said, his suspension lines became entangled, in his boot buckle, holding him to the chute, and the plane's prop wash held him horizontal in air.

At 500 feet he pulled the rip-cord of his second chute. It opened only for a second before becoming tangled in the first one.

Just before hitting the ground the paratrooper pulled himself up into the lines of the tangled chutes and held his body in a "V" position.

Scots Catching Independence Germs

Discuss Severing Ties With England

EDINBURGH, Sept. 9—(CP)— An up-and-coming Scotland is wondering whether it should have a greater degree of independence from its English neighbor.

The issue is not yet pressing, and arguments for and against are about equally balanced. But the subject is being raised more and more often.

Few Scots seem to favor complete independence for their country, but many say they would like to exert a greater control over their affairs, perhaps through a parliament modelled on that in Northern Ireland.

They argue that after a long period of dwindling, Scotland's population (about 5,000,000) is on the increase again. Her economic position is strengthening. London is too remote for quick and understanding decisions on administrative problems.

Many Opponents

Opponents of independence say that Scottish affairs are too inextricably mixed with England's to be separated.

They also contend that Scotland already has a large measure of self-government through its secretary of state, who is a member of the United Kingdom government, and the Scottish Council of State, which has under its control such departments as health, agriculture, fisheries, education and home affairs.

Present political leaders say that if Scots want more power they can show it at the polls by voting for Nationalist candidates. In the last general election most of these representatives polled so few votes that they lost their cash deposits.

Probably their ideas are too radical for most voters. There does, however, seem to be a considerable measure of support for proposals for self-government circulated by the Scottish Convention, a group of moderates which broke away from the Nationalists in 1942.

This non-party organization urges a single-chamber parliament which would deal with all affairs not affecting the United Kingdom as a whole.

An early step toward this goal was the meeting of a Scottish "national assembly" in Glasgow in March, 1947.

1 Dead, 2 Hurt In Mysterious Canton Shooting

CANTON, Sept. 9 (AP) — An American explorer who may have found the world's highest mountain was critically wounded on Thursday in an unexplained shooting drama in which another American also was wounded and a British business man was slain.

The wounded were Leonard Clark, 41-year-old explorer from San Francisco, and Willard Freeman of Bridgewater, Mass., vice-president of the International Suppliers Corporation.

The dead man was Harold Harris, Shanghai-born British subject who was export manager of Freeman's company.

Mrs. Freeman reported she found the three sprawled on the living room floor of the Freeman home in suburban Canton when she came downstairs at 9:30 a.m. She had left them at 2 a.m. and said she had not been disturbed by any noise during the night.

On the floor lay a .32-calibre pistol. With it Harris had been shot three times, bullets penetrating his neck, stomach and abdomen. Clark had been shot once in through the chest and Freeman once in the abdomen.

Find No Motive

Clark and Freeman underwent operations this afternoon. Clark is expected to recover but Freeman's condition is described as doubtful.

Chinese police said they have discovered no motive and has no suspects, but are continuing to investigate.

Mrs. Maya Freeman, a Polish girl whom Freeman married four years ago today in Chungking, is under a physician's care for treatment of shock. She had been planning a wedding anniversary party for tonight, which is also her birthday.

Clark, a widely travelled explorer, had recently returned from an expedition to the Amne Machin Mountains of Western China. He was rumored to have found there a peak much higher than the 29,140-foot Mt. Everest, which is recognized as the highest spot on earth.

Tropical Hurricane Passes Harmlessly

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 9—(AP)—A mighty tropical hurricane churned harmlessly through the Atlantic today after brushing past the honeymoon isles of Bermuda.

The king-sized storm, with winds still up to 130 miles near the centre, moved northeast toward the Atlantic shipping lanes without posing a threat to any land.

All shipping in the Atlantic was advised to give the big twister a wide berth.

Bermuda experienced sustained winds 80 to 85 miles an hour and gusts of near hurricane force. But there was no property damage and no injuries.

The island has been boarded up and waiting for the storm for two days.

Seeking U.S. Wages

CALGARY, Sept. 9 (CP) — Canadian members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen were told Thursday the brotherhood will seek wages and working conditions putting them on a par with United States members. W. P Kennedy of Cleveland told the two-day meeting the brotherhood will seek the 40-hour work week—Canadians now work 48—for yardmen and a dominion-wide pension system similar to the U.S. Railroad Retirement Act. The brotherhood has 20,000 members in Canada.

Golds Slip Slightly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 9 — (CP). — Appearance of selling pressure in mid-session today on the Toronto Stock Exchange tended to push prices downwards from their opening advantages here today. Golds slipped slightly from Thursday's gains and Western oils were also lower. Industrials were about balanced while base metals trengthened.

Activity was brisk at the opening when prices in mining issues edged forward, but at the first sign of pressure, trading slowed to a crawl.

Upper Canada returned as the highlight of the gold list, churning briskly for a 15-cent advance at $4. Sladen-Malartic, yesterday's high point was under pressure of profit-taking.

Sherritt Gordon was the most active of the base metals for a moderate advance. Consolidated Smelters rose 1½ at 98 while Quemont and Noranda dipped from early gains.

Bell Telephone climbed to a new high at 43⅜ in a slowly firming industrial list. Canadian Locomative added 1¾ at 29, while CPR and BA Oil slipped fractions.

Offer To Build Oil Pipeline Save 30 Million

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP) — A huge business enterprise which may help Canada to be more self-sufficient in oil was outlined on Thursday before the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Representatives of the Interprovincial Pipe Line Company, a subsidiary of Imperial Oil, appealing for permission to construct the crude oil conduit, described it as a $90,000 00 deal which will eventually save Canada $30,000,000 annually in United States dollars.

And they promised the pipe line will be constructed and in operation by the end of next summer. This would be a five-month project in which 1,150 miles of pipe would be laid from Edmonton to Regina to Gretna, Man., and thence to Superior, Wis. The oil would then be taken by boat to the Imperial Oil refineries at Sarnia and to other central Canadian points.

The Board listened to the application with interest but adjourned hearing until Monday, as Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald, the chairman, sought assurance from the Trade Department that the line would run into no export difficulties once it crossed the border at Gretna.

Dr. Oliver B. Hopkins, president of the Pipe Line Company and a vice-president of Imperial Oil, said the line would cost one-quarter to one-third of the amount which would have to be paid for rail freight charges.

range aid, however, may be slow in developing. Congressional action likely will be required on several major proposals.

On the long-term problem of boosting Britain's sales to the United States to a point where the island country can become self-sufficient there is, however considerably less certainty.

On specific measures of early aid to Britain, American negotiators in the conference have indicated full co-operation with the British in several ways: In trying to approve the marketing appeal of their goods in the United States, in doing all possible to speed government purchasing of strategic materials, in helping the British exporters iron out their difficulties with American customs, and in recognizing Britain's need to buy as much as she can in areas where dollars are not necessary.

Suggested Aids

Among long-term aids which have been suggested authorities say several would require Congressional action. That means they would be months in the making. Such measures include:

1—A substantial further reduction in American tariffs. The subject is one which provokes a hard fight among the legislators. Yet the best-informed officials agree that if British sales in the United States are ever to skyrocket, a drastic revision of American tariff policy will be necessary.

2—Modification of the 1946 British-American loan agreement. Britain promised in this agreement not to discriminate against American goods. Now Britain has requested suspension of this provision on the ground that it must discriminate in order to conserve dollars.

3—Revision of customs procedures. Britain and Canada both have requested a review of basic customs methods to make it easier for their exporters to get goods into the United States.

4—Greater freedom for Britain in spending of the economic co-operation administration funds.

Recapture Jucheng

CANTON, China, Sept. 9 (AP) —Chinese press reports Thursday night said the Nationalists had recaptured Jucheng, key position 70 miles north of Canton. The defence ministry declined to confirm it, but a spokesman said the Nationalist position was much improved.

Canadian Girl Gets Top Spot

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 9 (AP)—Are girls from the west prettier than eastern or southern belles?

Preliminary results in the 1949 Miss America pageant seem to point that way. All of the preliminary winners announced in the talent and bathing suit divisions are from the west, including Miss Canada.

Tonight's third and final preliminary contest may give the westerners the upper hand in the finals tomorrow night, but no one will know until the 15 finalists are announced then.

A demure Canadian miss, Margaret Lynn Munn of North Vancouver, pulled down the top spot in the talent division Thursday night with a rendition of "Sempre Libera" from the opera "La Traviata." And another west-of-the-Mississippi beauty won in talent the night before—Miss Minnesota, Gloria Yvonne Burkhart of Minneapolis.

Sylvia Canaday, an 18-year-old eyeful from Denver, Miss Colorado, took first honors in the bathing suit preliminary Thursday night. The night before Miss Arizona, Jacque Mercer of Litchfield, and Jone Ann Pederson of Santa Rosa, Miss California, tied for the classy-chassis award.

But eastern and southern gals may make up for their losses in the personality and evening gown divisions, in which nighty preliminary winners are not announced.

Gunplay Mars Debate In Colombian Gov't

BOGOTA, Colombia, Sept. 9—(AP). — Debate flared into gunplay between Liberal and Conservative factions in the Colombian Chamber of Deputies Wednesday midnight, and four men were shot, one fatally.

Gustavo Jimenez, a Liberal deputy from Boyaca, was killed. The wounded are Jorge Soto Del Corral, a Liberal, and two Conservatives, Amadeo Rodriguez and Ricardo Silva.

Chamber officials said Jimenez exchanged insults with a Conservative, Carlos Del Castillo, and then fired a pistol at him, but missed. Within seconds, other guns were barking. More than 50 bullets were fired. Officials said it has not been learned who killed Jimenez.

Held On Drug Count

MONTREAL, Sept. 9 (CP) — Norma Jasper, 26-year-old native of St. Louis, Mo., appeared in criminal court here Thursday on a charge of illegal possession of marijuana and was remanded for sentence until Sept. 22. Miss Jasper was one of three women arrested by Verdun police when they raided the verdun auditorium Aug. 25 where the trio was participating in a walkathon at the time.

Ambitious Program

WESTERVILLE, O., Sept. 9 — (AP) — The North American Council of the United Christian Youth Movement approved an ambitious 1950-51 program at its meeting here today. The program: "Enlistment of 1,000,000 Protestant youth of a thousand communities in a mid-century call to united Christian youth action."

Dream House Has Become $41,000 Mountain Of Debt

TORONTO, Sept. 9. (CP) — Louis Ceifets told Thursday how his $9,765 dream home turned into a $41,000 mountain of debt — in mortgages, liens and other obligations.

An accountant, Ceifets was testifying at the second day of the investigation into the collapse of the Kershaw Construction Company's $1,000,000 housing project at nearby Pelmo Park.

Ceifets related that he began by paying $500 down on his new home. Later he paid another $1,000 and then $765—the balance of his down payment. An insurance company provided a $6,000 first mortgage and the Ontario government a $1,250 second mortgage. The construction company appealed to him for more funds so Ceifets arranged with a friend to borrow $7,500 from a bank. Then he discovered two further mortgages on his home, totalling $4,500. These had been arranged by the Kershaw firm.

Then to top it all, said Ceifets, a general lien of $19,000 was slapped on the house by suppliers.

The inquiry was ordered by the Ontario government after the project collapsed last May 13 with an estimated loss of $93,000 to 55 prospective home owners. Another 24, whose homes were near completion, put up another $1,000 each and reached an agreement with an insurance company to finance the rest of the building job.

Expect Ottawa To Help Solve Housing Scheme

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP) — Housing construction is on the increase in Canada but government action to help solve the still-serious housing problem is expected at the session of parliament which opens next week.

Indications are that parliament will be asked to approve legislation that would eventually mean the expenditure of millions of dollars to clear the way for low-rost housing.

During the election campaign, Prime Minister St. Laurent issued a request for provincial housing proposals. Since the June 27 voting, Reconstruction Minister Winters has been having conferences on housing with provincial and municipal officials.

It is believed a housing plan already has been placed before the cabinet. It is expected that the plan will involve federal financial aid to projects—to be administered locally—proposed by provincial and municipal authorities and approved by the federal government.

40,000 New Home

Some 40,000 new homes have been built in Canada during the first half of this year and some 56,000 were under construction at the end of June.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which collected those statistics in conjunction with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, reported that completion of homes during that period is 30 per cent higher than in the same period of last year.

In the first six months of 1948, 30,528 were finished.

During the first half of this year, construction of 40,199 houses was started in the Dominion as against 39,768 in the first half of last year.

Ontario completed the largest number of dwelling units—14,059—during the first six months of the year. That was an increase from the 11,784 homes built in the same period of 1948. Quebec completed 10,756 compared with 7,688 and British Columbia finished 4,905 as against 4,543. In the prairie provinces 7,693 were finished, compared with 5,008 and in the Maritime Provinces 2,313 were built, as against 1,503.

60 Cycle Area Opposes Costs

PENETANGUISHENE, Sept. 9 —(CP). — Strong opposition to charging 60-cycle areas with any portion of the cost of consumer equipment conversion in 25-cycle areas was expressed Thursday by delegates to the Georgian Bay Municipal Electric Association convention.

C. J. Halliday of Chesley, a director of the association, led the opposition. "We do not object to bearing our fair share of cost," he declared, "but our share should be confined to costs of transmission and generating stations."

The Georgian Bay Association has an executive committee authorized to join with the Eastern Division of the OMEA in a discussion of the apportionment of costs with HEPC.

Special Conference

TORONTO, Sept. 9—(CP)—Delegates sat down today for a special meeting of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec in Park Road Baptist Church here to discuss the church extension campaign, which includes the raising of $300,000 next year. The campaign, approved recently at the annual meeting, is to increase capital funds for the new sites for churches and give assistance in the erection of sunday schools and church buildings.

To Send Ambassador

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 9 — (AP). — Brazil has decided to return an ambassador to Madrid, the Foreign Ministry said Thursday night. Brazil was among the countries which sought unsuccessfully last May to repeal the United Nation' ban on top diplomatic representation in Spain. The UN put the ban into effect in 1946 as a gesture of disapproval against the regime of Generalissimo Franco.

Lose Their Licences

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP) — The city's investigation of alleged scalping practices in the sale of hard-to-get theatre tickets on Thursday cost two more ticket brokers their licences. The action brought to 26 the total of revoked or surrendered licences since the opening of the investigation several months ago.

Families File Suit

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9—(AP)—The families of 10 persons who died during a smog at Donora, Pa., last October have filed suit for $556,000 against the American Steel and Wire Company. The suits, filed in federal court Thursday by Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, charged the company with "wilful neglect" in permitting dangerous fumes to hang over the nearby milltown for the five-day period during which 22 persons died.

Bishop, McConkey Holsteins Win Championship Titles

Grand championship titles were awarded to the entries of James Bishop of Otonabee and Norman W. McConkey in the Peterborough county Black and White Day show at Lakefield Fair Wednesday. Mr. Bishop's two-year-old bull also won the senior honors in the male section.

Mr. McConkey's Lifloc herd carried off the junior male championship, and the grand, senior and junior female championships, with ten first places in the day's awards by James T. Brown of Newcastle, judge of the Holstein section of the fair.

Wet and chilly weather tested the enthusiasm of the Peterborough breeders of the Black and White cattle, but they responded by showing around one hundred head from ten herds.

MAY BUILD POOL

Students of the Kingston Collegiate and Vocational Institute are making plans to raise funds for a war memorial to be erected at the school. Suggestions have been made that a swimming pool might be built as a memorial to district men killed in the Second World War.

Operation Death Said Accidental

BRAMPTON, Sept. 9.—(CP).—The death of a 14-year-old boy on an operating table here Aug. 10 was due to asphyxiation during an emergency operation to clean an arm wound, an inquest jury decided Thursday night.

The jury attached no blame to two doctors in attendance. It found that the anaesthetist, Dr. H. H. Hetherington, and the surgeon, Dr. W. W. Bartlett, were justified in performing the operation.

Evidence was that the boy, William Gorman, had eaten at noon. His arm was severely gashed about 2.30 p.m. when he shoved it through a greenhouse window during a tussle with a friend. The operation was performed soon afterward.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, chief coroner for Toronto, said during the inquest that no anaesthetic should be administered to a patient following a meal except in cases of extreme emergency.
